Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

The last living American veteran of World War I died on March 1 at age 110. His name was Frank Buckles. Maybe he was related to my mother's family. But he lived in West Virginia.

Wow, it has already been 100 years since what they once called the "war to end all wars." Sadly, that did not come true even a little bit. Within one generation, Germany launched a world war again in Europe.

Then it was time for southern Asia to be the center of warfare. First, there was the Korean War, which is still not fully resolved. Then America began our longest war, which was ironically first called the Vietnam "conflict." America was involved in that "conflict," fighting in Vietnam from 1964 to 1975. Eleven years. I can't remember how many American young men died, but it was a very large number.

It is possible, but dreadful, to think that perhaps America's involvement in Afghanistan will last even longer. Already, it is more costly in money terms.

The next hot spot was around the Persian Gulf in the Middle East, and many smaller wars occurred across the globe since World War I. It shows no sign of stopping.

Frank Buckles represented demands for more honor and respect for his fellow World War I veterans.

There is confusion about the last name Buckle or Buckel, which has never been fully resolved, even in Bittinger. The original spelling in the earliest document was Buckle. But even brothers used different spellings, like Edward Buckel, while his brothers were Charlie Buckle and Lawrence Buckle.

It was a bit of a shock that, just when the last patch of snow visible from my window shrunk away, on Monday afternoon a major snowfall put a fresh half-foot of new snow everywhere. It definitely looks like winter again. It is foolish to think that winter really ends in Bittinger before April (if then). It's rarely before Easter, and that is very late in April this year. I have not seen any sign of a robin yet.

The big April birthday is coming. It's on the 5th, and includes Lea Stanton and the Glotfelty twins, Darryl and Elliot. I think Lea's son Max has a birthday very close to his mother's.

I wish I had several hundred to invest in a company that turns algae into crude oil. It can be used just like gasoline in diesel fuel or heating fuel, without any negative impact on our environment.

I heard a piece of good news about our economy recovering. It was that there were 200,000 new private sector jobs added last month. At least the unemployment rate is below 9 percent, the lowest for two years. But it will take 300,000 per month within the next two or three years to replace the number that was lost during the most recent, long recession. As long as unemployment is high, then consumer demand is not as high as we wish.

All moral issues are complex, and two that are by far the most complex are abortion and homosexuality. If anyone seriously examines them, they often find a puzzling question. Regarding abortion, is it more moral to carry a fetus to full term, give birth to a live baby, and then put it in a plastic bag and put it in a trash can? The practice is far too common than I can bear to think about.

And is it all right for a young man to accidentally father a baby with a girl he is not married to and then just walk away from her, when she is probably completely unable to care for the expected baby?

I believe it would be much better if America put in place a compassionate way that a girl facing an unwanted pregnancy could carry it to term and then be able to give the baby to a couple that wants a baby. But without enough money to get medical care, a decent diet to ensure a healthy baby, and legal assistance, it is a very hard task for a girl all by herself.

I was happy to help a former student go through that process successfully. It was a wonderful and very rewarding experience for me. I was even able to be present at the birth of a beautiful little girl, and saw her birth mother hand her to her new mother. It was only possible with free medical care and legal help from some personal friends of mine.

It wouldn't have worked for her to be greeted with an unaccepting attitude and to be treated like a prostitute. That is not the way to encourage a girl in trouble to make the right and difficult choice. That is the superior attitude often displayed by some very conservative "Christians."

It almost seems to me that their standing as a good Christian would be determined by showing only serious disapproval to people not living up to their personal standards of what appropriate sexual behavior is. And that I very sad. It is not what Christ would want. At least judging from his example: choosing a former prostitute, Mary Magdalene, as one of his closest disciples.

Very few followers of Christ paid any attention when he said, "Judge not, or you shall be judged." And, "Love your neighbors as you love yourself." It is God's job to judge our sins, not other people who believe they have the ultimate wisdom about right and wrong.

And they shouldn't deny someone who falls short of their standards their essential humanity. They need to realize that they also are children of God. As Christ once said when a crowd gathered to stone an adulteress to death, "Those who are without sin, throw the first stone."

I saw a segment on CNN at 5 a.m. about something that was part of my childhood: square dancing. A square dance was held regularly at the fire hall when it was in the old building that was once the Bittinger School, which closed around the time I started school in 1958 or so. About 1960, America changed big time, moved away from the old time way of life, and entered the Modern Era.

That was about when the huge infrastructure program was begun by President Dwight Eisenhower – the interstate highway system. It linked all parts of America, and at that time, the lifestyle of our nation in our local communities was based on social life.

During my childhood, most of my activities were in Bittinger: church-based activities like Sunday School and Sunday worship service, where I was a member of the junior choir. That meant that we had a weekly evening choir practice led by our choir director Phyllis Buckel and our long-time organ player Martha Glotfelty, who was my great-aunt and widow of my grandfather Orval's brother Kermit Glotfelty.

They lived in the farm around the intersection of Rock Lodge Road and Mosser Road, now known as Cherry Glade Farm, which is now for sale. Kermit served as our delegate to state legislature, and when he passed away, Martha replaced him.

Their farm was on the west end of a large area including several Glotfelty family farms. Next door to Kermit's farm was the farm where Nathan and his sister Lucille lived. It is where the Glotfelty cemetery is close to Rock Lodge Road. On the oldest graves, we do not know what year they died because they are only marked by flat fieldstones. There are several of them. But the earliest grave stones with the name engraved have the original spelling of our name, Gladfelder, which is how it was spelled in Switzerland in a small town along the Rhine River about 20 miles from Zurich.

Across the river are the foothills of the Alps, and it looks exactly like what one would imagine a rural collage in Switzerland would look like.

I visited it during my European trip in 1976, and I met the last residents who had the name Gladfelder. It was an elderly couple. The husband was named Jacob, and he strongly resembled my grandfather Orval and his brothers Elwood and Kermit. I had no doubt that we had found the right house when I first laid eyes on Jacob because the resemblance was truly striking, even though it was 200 years since one family immigrated to America in the late 1700s and first settled around York, Pa.

The American automobile industry's response to the huge hike in the price of gasoline is to come up with new models which get as many as 40 miles per gallon. But they are quite expensive, and only come in cars with manual transmissions, so that makes two big barriers for people like me. I can't imagine that I would be able to buy a new car, especially high-tech ones.

I am confronted with the AWAITING NEW HOMES – Four canines that were given up by their owners are currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter awaiting new homes. Left to right above they are an energetic male bulldog mix that would do better in a home with a man; a male "Heinz 57"; a sweet, short, stout male corgi-mix; and, below, a female beagle mix. "Several dogs went to rescue with HART last week, but more dogs were brought to the shelter by owners who were moving or could no longer care for them," said a Garrett County Humane Society spokesperson. "Please have your pets spayed/neutered to prevent unwanted litters. A female cat can have three litters a year, and a female dog can have two litters of puppies. Don't add to the overpopulation problem, be part of the solution." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

HUSKY Notes

AFTER-PROM MEETING

There will be an after-prom meeting on March 16 at 7 p.m. held in Room 200 of Northern High School.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The Somerset Rural Cooperative plans to sponsor students with parents who receive electricity from the group with $1,000 scholarships. Applications are available at: www.somersetrec.com. Application materials may also be obtained by writing: Somerset Rural Electric Cooperative, P.O. Box 270, Somerset, PA 15501. Those interested may also call the cooperative at 814-445-4106 or 800-443-4255, ext. 245, to speak with Caroline Mitchell.

SERVICE LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES

The First Christian Church in Friendsville is requesting student help. Those interested may contact Pat Schmidt at 301-746-5829 to learn about the service learning opportunities available.

NHS ATHLETIC BOOSTERS

The Northern High School Athletic Boosters club invites all alumni, fans, families, and friends to join them. The group's next meeting is scheduled for Sunday, March 13, at 7 p.m. in the NHS cafeteria. The group has planned its annual raffle and auction for May 22. Only 250 tickets are available for the raffle and dinner. They will be available for a $30 donation. Cash prizes will be awarded throughout the evening, including a grand prize of $2,000. The group also requests donations of goods or services for the evening's auction. Athletic Boosters relies on this event and its Garrett County Fair booth for funding. Interested individuals may contact Sandy Derato at 301-746-8579 or by e-mail at NorthernAthleticBoosters@gmail.com.

YEARBOOKS ON SALE

The yearbook staff will be taking orders for this year's book during lunch shifts through March 11. This will be the last opportunity of the year to order a yearbook at the school, though parents may still order directly from Jostens. The cost of the book is set at $62 plus 6 percent tax. Payments may be made in cash or by check. Checks must be made payable to Northern High School.

Thank You, Margroff Construction

After a bad experience with another builder, Margroff Construction came to our rescue. To Phil, Keith, Bird Dog and Mitch, thank you for all of your help and support.

Also, a special thank you to Doug Ringer of Ringer Electric.

HAPPY 40TH ANNIVERSARY TO MY HUSBAND IN HEAVEN

On November 13, 1970, I met the love of my life
March 13, 1971, is when I became his wife.
We spent a wonderful life together,
Raising 3 great kids and watching our grandkids grow,
Thinking it would last forever,
But little did we know.

In 1999, oh how our lives changed
When we got the news of the cancer
And the treatments that were being arranged.
Not much hope was given
When we found it was in stage 3
But God had other plans
When it came to Mike and me.

After 12 years of growing closer to the Lord every day
Knowing that no matter what we were going through
He was never going away.
Many testimonies were given and Mike would always say
The power of prayer and divine healing
Is what got him through each day.

Mike was a true inspiration to many,
And being his wife is a feeling I cannot describe.
He would say, "If I stay here with you, I win,
But I also win when I cross over to Heaven's side."

On September 15, 2010, my life came crashing down.
God said, "Mike," it's time to come home
And meet the one wearing the crown."

So here I am 40 years later asking,
"What do I do with my life?"
Everything has changed but one thing is for sure
I was so proud to be called his wife.

My husband, best friend and companion
Is no longer with me, I know.
He's waiting in Heaven for me to come home
And oh to imagine Heaven's glow.

Words cannot tell how much he's missed.
The Lord knows how much I've cried.
My only hope is to stay close to God
So we'll be together on the other side.

Your Loving Wife,
Sue

ANIMAL ADVOCATES MEET WITH COMMISSIONERS – The Garrett County commissioners on Tuesday met with the three local animal advocate groups: HART for Animals, Garrett County Humane Society (GCHS), and PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare & Safety). Introductions were made and each president gave an overview of their programs. Michael Pellet began the discussion reporting that HART's low cost spay and neuter clinic had performed 846 surgeries in 2010 and HART volunteers had rescued 638 animals. He noted that HART plans to break ground for its new animal adoption center in May. Lisa Baker's introduction included information about GCHS being the oldest animal group in the county. Its primary focus is education, helping sick and injured animals, and spay/neuter. Last year, she noted, GCHS responded to 348 neglect/abuse reports, resulting in two cruelty to animal trials. Baker also stressed how closely the three animal groups work together and with the county's animal shelter. Tom Hertz explained that PAWS is run entirely by volunteers and that its mission is to provide financial assistance to help eligible Garrett County residents spay and neuter their dogs and cats. Pellet noted that over the last three years HART, GCHS, and PAWS have worked together with the county shelter to reduce the number of homeless animals, find homes for those that are abandoned, and reduce animal abuse through enforcement and education. "We look forward to working with the commissioners to create a pet-friendly county for all to enjoy," he said. Left to right are Commissioner Bob Gatto, Baker, Commission Chair Gregan Crawford, Hertz, GCHS animal control officer Denise Lohr, Commissioner Jim Raley, and Pellet.

Shepherd Of Hills To Host Weekly Lenten Services

Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church at Deep Creek Lake will host community Lenten worship services on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. on the lower level of Will O' the Wisp. Reverend Paul Blank will lead the worships.

Each Wednesday, starting with Ash Wednesday last evening, the services will provide evening prayer (vespers) services, with the theme of "The Promise of New Life in Christ." All are welcome.

"Traditionally, the church has viewed God's acts of redemption in the Old Testament as prophetic signs pointing to the ultimate redemption to be brought about through the death and resurrection of Christ. This will be the focus of our reflection together," Blank said.

Will O' the Wisp is located along Route 219, just north of Glendale Road. Further information about the church can be found on its web site: www.shepherdofthehillslutheran.org, or by calling 301-387-0400.

HONORED FOR 50 YEARS OF SERVICE – Grantsville resident Lela Bender was honored at a special American Red Cross blood drive this week at the Grantsville fire hall for her 50 years of service as a Red Cross volunteer. A goal was set to collect one unit of blood for every year of service provided, and that goal was met. Bender was presented with a commemorative plaque, a gift basket, a cake, and balloons. Pictured from left are Carey Toth, field representative for the American Red Cross; Bender; and Paul Edwards, Grantsville mayor.

Special Events

The births of four babies were announced this week, three girls and one boy.

A son, Jamison Michael, was born to Daniel and Jessica (Bietka) Gallagher, Accident, on Jan. 22 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Carrie Ann Beitzel, was born to Elizabeth A. Cummings and Christopher A. Beitzel, Oakland, on Feb. 17 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Camilya Jayde Burley, was born to Randi Wiley and Steven Burley, Grantsville, on March 2 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Jaxon Ray Harvey, was born to Katie Harvey, Accident, on March 8 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

As a fundraiser for the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department, representatives from Classic Camera will be in the area for the next several weeks going door-to-door to sign people up for family photographs.

Photos will be taken at the fire hall on May 7 in conjunction with a chicken barbecue.

Questions may be directed to members of the fire department at 301-895-5200.

same problem with my outdated oil furnace, but to convert it to either electric heat or propane would cost at least $5,000. That is totally hopeless. My wood stove is in the basement, and is pretty much unreachable to me. It would be hard to manage fire wood. So I am pretty stuck with my unsatisfactory status quo. And since Bill Rozell retired, it would be hard to find even an affordable used car for me.

The Northern High girls' varsity basketball team won the regional championship, so the Huskies are among the final four. This is the first in a long time. The last Northern girls' team that got that far was when Lea Stanton was playing. Now, Lea is a happily married young woman with two adorable children.

I watched a game between WVU and Louisville with my Claire. It came down to the very final seconds. WVU tied the score with a timely 3-point bucket, and then won the game when Louisville fouled with less than a second to play.

Midweek Lenten services in the Bittinger Lutheran Parish continue with a Taize Service at St. John's of Meadow Mountain on Wednesday, March 16. The service will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by soup and bread.

Emmanuel Women of the ELCA will meet March 14 at 6 p.m. at the church. Linda Buckel will present the program "Living a Life of Daily Bread." A light meal of bread and soup will be served. All women of the parish are invited.

DONATION MADE TO SALEM – The Classy Chassis Car Club recently made a donation to Maryland Salem Children's Trust of Frostburg, a non-profit organization that provides a home, shelter, and school for children who have been abandoned or abused. Pictured from left to right are Shanna King of Classy Chassis Car Club; Donna Brenneman, development director from Salem; and Michael Shockey of Classy Chassis Car Club.

RE: County Ridgeline Protection

Dear Messers Raley, Crawford, and Gatto:

Consider these words from the county's Development Plan. County Government should:

- encourage patterns of compatible land uses that provide for variety while respecting each site's important natural features;
- "protect rural areas, preserving open space, retaining the rural character of the countryside; and
- guard against development destructive to scenic views "by orienting uses to enhance natural views, matching the scale and character of any buildings and other uses with the scale and character of the site and surrounding environs, avoiding placing buildings on cleared ridgelines and minimizing the height of proposed structures, especially on ridgelines and in very visible locations."

And consider these words from the Heritage Plan, which promotes "the entire county as a single identity known as the state's Western Maryland Frontier Heritage Area":

This Plan identifies "specific natural...resources worthy of protection, such as the state forests, the entire Backbone Mountain range, Eagle Rock," and, more generally, the county's "rugged topography" as a "significant feature when compared to other parts of Maryland, as well as specified "scenic routes," which the county should preserve by minimizing the size and number of commercial signs, maintaining adequate building setbacks, ...[softening] incompatible development, and working with adjacent property owners." Perhaps it's worth noting that real mountains–elevations above 2000 feet–are one of Maryland's rarest resources, for they constitute less than one-tenth of one percent of the state's total land area. They also harbor some of the state's most threatened wildlife.

Now consider the words of our state's motto, the only one in Italian: Fatti Maschii; Parole Femine–literally, manly deeds, womanly words–but, in its modern translation, strong deeds that stem from straight talk. In Garrett County, this means TALK IS CHEAP. Words, even good and gentle words, mean little if they aren't accompanied by right and meaningful actions.

Thank you for–at long last–beginning to address the hypocrisy that exists between the gentle words of our Development and Heritage plans and recent dastardly deeds, done dirt cheap –incompatible development encouraged by county government completely at odds with its charge.

Hear the words of Harry Caudill, written more than forty years ago in his book, Appalachian Wilderness: "The hill people have a strange relationship to their land. They have prostituted the land they love. Their relationship to their hills has been much like that of a man who sells his wife into prostitution: adoring her while pocketing her tawdry earnings. Industry has always treated the mountains with extreme contempt...."

All laws, all ordinances, express a community's values, preserving what people hold dear. It's too late to salvage the southern end of the county–but not to preserve the remainder. Let's recount some of the reasons, beyond what I've stated already, why ridgetop protection is so important and consistent with our basic values:

- The Alleghenies are older than the Atlantic Ocean, formed in violence 220 million years ago and, for much of that time, were taller than the Himalayas. The relatively accessible slopes of our mountains today give powerful testimony about the effects of 200 million years of erosion.
- Their antiquity is what endures–and what defines the county's character; our lakes and farms are of very recent vintage, and Deep Creek Lake seeks always to return to what it once was–a series of meandering streams.
- The ridges symbolize our heritage, to be sure, but they also are the reason many people choose to live here–and not elsewhere. This choice has rippling economic consequences for the services necessary to maintain quality of life–and implies strong stewardship responsibilities.

An enforceable ridgeline protection measure would clarify what we value, setting rules for doing business–developers would know beforehand what they couldn't do. Which is very good business. It's not that development can't take place but rather that any development must be compatible with the look and feel of the mountains; it must not radically alter how they appear, as is now the case along the entirety of Backbone Mountain, with moving structures rising higher above the ridgelines than the mountains reach above the valley floor, taking away the view of the mountain itself.

This blight will remain for a century, perhaps more, in sight of our posterity, requiring children here to grow up in full view of what ignorance, greed, and a far too casual disdain for civility can achieve. These wind projects will long be a source of humiliation for this region, and their existence should make every decent adult deeply ashamed. They embody the worst aspects of an exploitative Appalachian culture that maintains we must accept, endure, do business with such awfulness.

With your leadership, I trust that our practices will be at one with our values, that your words will match your deeds, that ridgetop protection will not only acknowledge the importance, if not the sacredness, of our mountains–but will also thwart those who would defile them.

Sincerely,

Jon Boone

TERRA ALTA NEWS

LIBRARY

Grades 5 through 8 were invited to participate in a Presidents' Day presentation, in which students chose and spoke on their favorite presidents. Jillian Keller won first place for her presentation on Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln was also chosen by Cheyenne Welsch, who placed second. Sarah Hart placed third with her presentation on William H. Taft. Prizes were given to each.

A presentation on recycling will be given on Monday, March 21, at 6:30 p.m. by the Recycle employees. The public is invited to attend. A question/answer session will follow.

A quilt in a frame has been set up for those interested in volunteering time and energy to completing it. Once it is finished, it will be donated to the library to raffle off. Proceeds will benefit the annual Summer Reading Program party.

The Summer Reading Program will begin in June for grades K through 8. This will run for six weeks, and registration will be held in May. A parent/guardian needs to sign each student up in the library.

The library is having a book sale daily. This is replacing the annual book sale that is held each November. There are several racks containing adult, young adult, and easy books. They cover mystery, fiction, horror, western, and romance.

Terra Alta Community Educational Outreach Service will begin its story/craft hours at the library on Wednesday, May 4, at 3:30 p.m. The programs are held the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

A week of activities is planned for the National Library Week, April 11–16. Something different is planned each day. Details will follow.

Donating books and periodicals were Doug and Pat Auvil, Diana and Fred Harrison, Lawrence Sypolt, Cindee Cramer, LaDonna Ringer, Brian Schoolcraft, and Margie Dixon.

Buckwheat Cake Dinner Scheduled

Maple Spring Church of the Brethren in Eglon will hold a buckwheat cake and sausage dinner and a bake sale on Saturday, March 26, from 3 to 8 p.m.

The cost of the meal is $7 for adults, $4 for children, and free for preschool and under children.

The event is sponsored by the Family Life Center.

Service Adopts Conservation Plan For Canaan Valley

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's regional director has approved the Canaan Valley National Wildlife Refuge Comprehensive Conservation Plan, according to acting refuge manager Ken Sturm. The plan will serve as a blueprint over the next 15 years for managing wildlife resources, enhancing public use programs, and protecting land within Canaan Valley.

"This plan represents several years of effort among agencies, communities, and other stakehold-ers," Sturm said. "Of the alternatives we considered, this approach best allows us to protect the biological integrity, diversity, and environmental health of Canaan Valley while, at the same time, offering high-quality public use programs on the refuge."

The plan and other related information can be found online at http://www.fws.gov/northeast/planning/Canaan%20Val-ley/ccphome.html. Paper copies and CD-ROMS will be available at refuge headquarters at 6263 Appalachian Hwy., Davis, WV, 26260-8061; by telephone at 304-866-3858; and via e-mail at canaanvalley@fws.gov.

The service will immediately begin implementing several priority projects, Sturm said. This year, the refuge will begin working on its habitat management plan that will step down the biological goals and objectives in the CCP. The refuge will also modify the "no rifle hunting" zones on its hunt map, and will begin to gather the necessary information for officially opening the refuge to fishing. Increased early successional management for focal wildlife species will also occur this year. Additionally, the service will continue to purchase land of high wildlife value from willing sellers within the refuge acquisition boundary.

Sturm explained that the service adopted its preferred alternative (Alternative B), with minor modifications, based on public comments on the draft plan. The final plan allows the service to conserve native fish, wildlife, and plant species, and to improve visitor services by:

•Balancing the conservation of a mixed forest matrix landscape with the management of early successional habitats and the protection of wetlands;

•Improving hunter access to refuge lands;

•Officially opening the refuge to fishing; and •Creating more trail connections.

The 16,193-acre Canaan Valley NWR was established in 1994 to conserve and protect fish and wildlife resources and the unique wetland and upland habitats of this high-elevation valley. Located in Tucker and Grant counties, the refuge includes the largest wetland complex in the state and encompasses the headwaters of the Blackwater and Little Blackwater rivers.

The mission of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is working with others to conserve, protect, and enhance fish, wildlife, plants, and their habitats for the continuing benefit of the American people.

AURORA/EGLON

YARD SALE

The Family Life Center Committee in conjunction with Maple Spring Church of the Brethren will participate in the annual Rt. 50 yard sale on May 21 at the Aurora School. The sale will begin at 8:30 a.m., with a chicken barbecue dinner set to be offer beginning at 11 a.m.

Those wishing to donate items to be sold should call Dan Spaid at 304-735-3475, Mark Teets at 304-735-3481, or Devin Hauser at 301-334-3475.

Spaces will be available for individuals interested in displaying their own items. The fee is $20, and interested persons should contact Clara Spaid at 304-735-5202.

PHOTOS

The Aurora Area Historical Society is in search of pictures or information concerning basketball, baseball, and cheerleading teams from 1929 to 1936 and 1940 to 1946. The historical society is attempting to print a book of such information/photos, as there were no yearbooks made for those years. Photographs must have identifications. Those with such items are asked to contact John Adams at 304-288-6850.

RECYCLING SATURDAY

This Saturday is recycling day at Aurora School from 9 to 11 a.m. Paper, plastics (#1 or #2), tin, aluminum, cardboard, and catalogs are accepted.

BLOODMOBILE

An American Red Cross bloodmobile will be set up at the Union squad hall, Aurora, on Friday, April 8.

HELP NEEDED

Aurora Elementary School principal Angie Varner is asking the community for volunteers to help in various areas. Volunteers are needed to come once each week to listen to students read, review math facts, tutor students, etc. Those interested in becoming a volunteer should contact Varner at 304-735-3781.

Another area in need of volunteers is the Academic Boosters Club, which addresses financial problems/needs. The school is in need of technology equipment to be used in the classroom. This equipment is expensive, and a source of funding in larger sums is required. While these item allow use of various approaches to learning which increase understanding, the major portion of funding must come from the local school. To implement this requirement, the Title 1 Parents Advisory Committee recommends that the school, parents, and community form this club. Those willing to work in this group to formulate ideas to obtain the needed funding should contact Varner at the above-mentioned number. Those calling should note dates and times for the group to meet.

BUCKWHEAT DINNER

A buckwheat cake and sausage dinner with gravy, will be offered at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on Saturday, March 26, from 3 to 8 p.m. Meals for adults cost $7, meals for children age pre-school and up are $4, and younger children eat for free. The church is south of Eglon along Rt. 24. Proceeds will benefit the Family Life Center.

LENTEN SERVICES

Union District Lenten services will begin at 7 p.m. (unless otherwise noted), with the following schedule planned: Shaun Roberts will speak on Luke 23:24 at Maple Spring on March 9; Scott Rush will speak on Matthew 27:46 and Mark 15:34 at Maple Grove on March 23; Chaz Stoner will speak on John 19:28-30 at Brookside on April 6; Gary Meeks will speak on the Last Supper at Aurora Methodist on Maundy Thursday (April 21); a Cross Walk will begin at 10:30 a.m. from Aurora Methodist to St. Paul's Lutheran on Good Friday (April 22); sunrise service on Easter Sunday, April 24, at St. Paul's Lutheran, with John Foy set to speak. All are invited to attend.

MUSICAL PERFORMANCE

To get a head start on St. Patrick's Day, Aurora Celtic will perform traditional music at the Brookside Inn this Saturday, March 12, from 8 to 11 p.m. The inn is located across from Cathedral State Park, Aurora.

PERSONAL

Ralph Hauser and his friend Gary Martin, Temperance, Mich., were visitors of his cousin, JoAnn Helton, at her Aurora home.

A party was held in celebration of Patricia "Pat Hauser Stemple's 80th birthday on Sunday. The party was held at the Union squad hall, Aurora. She is the wife of the late Adrian Stemple and daughter of the late Wade and Maxine Hauser.

Carl and Betty Fint, Aurora, were accompanied on a weekend trip to Columbia, S.C., by Debbie Wagner, Oakland. An outdoor ceremony on March 5 united Beth Mullenax and Brad Rouse in marriage. Beth is the daughter of Betty's brother Kenneth, and both the bride and groom are employed in the Columbia area. The rain ceased just prior to the wedding and allowed a beautiful ceremony, but the Fints were welcomed back to West Virginia when they ran into heavy snowfall at Bluefield.

Janet Knight Alstead remains a patient in a Spokane, Wash., hospital, but is at this time displaying signs of improvement. It is hoped that she can be moved to a rehabilitation center in a few weeks.

Benn, Horne To Perform At GC Foundation Gala

by Peggy Santamaria

The easy rhythms of light jazz, traditional gospel, and original compositions will lend to the festive atmosphere when Raizel Benn and LeMichael Horne perform piano and vocal arrangements at the Garrett College Foundation Gala at the Wisp on April 9. A fundraising event, the gala is part of "Celebrating the College in the Community," commemorating the inauguration of Garrett College president Dr. Richard MacLennan.

Benn and Horne, students at GC, recently performed in the first event of the Joan Crawford Lecture Series, "Still I Rise... Black History Monologues." In the role of Billie Holiday, Benn crooned the soulful jazz piece "God Bless the Child." Horne provided the musical interludes for the presentation.

Horne and Benn share a passion for music that has directed their lives since they were children. Both are self-taught and play and compose "by ear."

"I was 5 or 6 years old when I first discovered the piano," said Horne, whose grandmother played. From that point on, music became the focus of his life as he grew up in Washington, D.C. "My love of music brought me through some difficult times," he added.

Currently in his first year at GC, Horne is not certain where he will continue his studies after he graduates, but his career goal is clear.

"I would like to teach music so I can reach children who wouldn't be able to afford lessons otherwise. I was one of those," he said.

Though no one in Benn's family is musically inclined, there was a piano in her home in Baltimore where she grew up.

"I was about 5 when I first began banging on the piano keys," she said, adding that from that moment on she was captivated by the idea of making music. She took a couple of piano lessons.

"But I got bored pretty quickly," she said. "I didn't want to just place scales; I wanted to play music."

Benn, who is completing her sophomore year at GC, plans to transfer to California University of Pennsylvania and purse a double major in music technology and journalism.

"We are really pleased to have two such remarkably talented young people to provide music for our gala," said Fred Learey, executive director of the Garrett College Foundation. "I am sure those who attend will enjoy it."

Persons may purchase tickets for the gala by telphoning the GC Foundation office at 301-387-3131.

Guard, Percussion Workshops Set At Southern Saturday

Joshua Elmlinger, director of the Southern Garrett Marching Band, announced that he will host color guard and percussion workshops on Saturday, March 12, at the high school's band room.

Any students from fourth grade through 12th interested in either guard or percussion are invited to attend.

Persons interested in the guard should plan to attend from 10 a.m. until noon. The percussion session will last from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., which current members are expected to attend. Others who are interested in learning more about the percussion line may come to the band room any time during those hours to observe and/or take part.

The purposes of the workshops are to introduce prospective new members to the two groups, as well as to work with current members on new tasks.

Brent Furr, the band's percussion instructor, will lead the drumming session, and Elmlinger will lead the color guard instruction.

Entries Sought For FSU Poetry/ Imagery Exhibit

In collaboration with National Poetry Month, the Frostburg Center for Creative Writing has issued an invitation to all artists who reside in western Maryland to enter its first poetry/ imagery exhibition. The exhibition will celebrate the combination of poetry and visual arts. The deadline for entering is March 30, and show dates are April 7 through May 17.

All entries must have a published poem incorporated into the image with the author cited, and the poem must be submitted in its entirety in the text body of the e-mailed entry. Any original two- or three-dimensional work, installation, or video projection will be considered. Accepted two-dimensional entries must be framed.

To submit an entry, the applicant is to send a 5-inch by 7-inch, 72-dpi jpeg image of the artwork to sedodge@frostburg.edu.

Artworks will be displayed in selected venues on Main Street in Frostburg. Entries will be judged by Gerry LaFemina, director

Local Pipes & Drums Corps To Offer Classes

The Garrett Highlands Pipes and Drums of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department has announced spring/summer classes for beginning piping and drumming students. Teaching centers will be set up in both eastern and western regions of Garrett County, a spokesperson said, and will be scheduled at a time that best suits students.

There will be a fee for instruction, one-half of which is refunded when students have been members of the band for one year. There are fifteen lessons at $20 each for both piping and drum instruction.

The band was formed in August 1979 as the Garrett Highlanders, founded and organized by Charles P. "Chip" Evans and the late Hon. Fred A. Thayer. The band's first public performance was in 1980. Officially adopted by Garrett College in 1989, the band continued as an affiliate program of the institution until 2007, when the organization accepted an invitation to associate with the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Among its many engagements over the years, the band played for the Sept. 11, 2002, dedication of the Flight #93 Memorial Chapel in Shanksville, Pa., as well as for the opening ceremonies for the Whitewater World Championship

IF I COULD KEEP YOU LITTLE

by Marianne Richmond

C. 2010, Sourcebooks, $15.99; 32 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

You can't wait 'til you grow up. The big kids get to do all the good stuff. They can stay up later and they get to go places you can't go because you're "too little." They get to try things you're not allowed to try and nobody treats them like babies. Big kids are so lucky, and you wish you were one of them.

Chances are, your Mama doesn't, though. She wishes you could be a baby forever, but in the new book If I Could Keep You Little by Marianne Richmond, you'll both see that, if that would happen, you'd miss out on a lot of things.

When you were a little baby, your mother loved to hold you and take care of you. There were so many times she thought you were growing up too fast, and she wished she could keep you bundled up and sing lullabies to you forever. But if she did that, she wouldn't have a chance to hear you sing in your own voice.

When you were younger and you went anywhere, Mom held your hand and she wished it would stay little forever. But if that happened, she wouldn't see you wave good-bye with a hand that was growing every day.

Even today, if you get "owies," Mom puts bandages on them and kisses them to make you feel better. Your mom wishes she could make sure you never have "owies" any more, but if that happened, you wouldn't learn from your mistakes or have any fun climbing or exploring the world around you.

Mother knows best, and she used to dress you in the finest, best of fashions. Sometimes, she wishes she had reason to buy cute little suits and fancy little dresses again, but if that happened, she would miss a chance to see your creativity when you dress yourself every morning. And if you didn't have your creativity, she'd miss your stories and your artwork, too.

Without a doubt, Mom wishes she could stop time and freeze you forever. But as you can see, you'd both miss out on an awful lot of good things to come!

Does it make you cry when you think about how your baby is growing up? Then here's an extra chance to hold some time in your hands: Grab the little one, grab a warm blanket, snuggle in, and enjoy If I Could Keep You Little.

With a cute rhyme and scribbly watercolor drawings, author and illustrator Richmond tells the story of growing up, and the wonderful discoveries that come from becoming a big kid and from watching that process unfold. I liked this book because it speaks not only to every mother who longs to stop time, but to kids everywhere who can't wait to speed it up.

If your 2-to-5-year-old loves a good read-aloud story – and if you don't mind getting a little teary-eyed while paging through it – this is a book to find. If I Could Keep You Little is a big delight.

The Walworth Farce
by Enda Walsh

It's morning in a dingy apartment on the Walworth Road in south London. In two hour's time, as is normal, three Irish men will have consumed many cans of Harp, fifteen crackers with spreadable cheese, ten pink wafers and one oven-cooked chicken with a strange blue sauce. In two hour's time, seven people will have been killed.

This play contains violence and coarse language and is recommended for age 16 and over.

The Walworth Farce is presented under special agreement with Curtis Brown Group Ltd., London, England, is funded, in part, by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Cabin Fever Fundraiser Set For March 26

The fourth annual "Cabin Fever Fundraiser" to benefit Friends of New Germany and Savage River Watershed Association will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, March 26, at New Germany State Park.

The entrance fee covers an evening of homemade soups, breads, and desserts, plus door prizes and live music by Joe-Pye-Weed. There will also be a 50-50 raffle and a silent auction, where individuals can bid on a variety of items and services. New this year will be a "treasure trove" table filled with previously owned items available for a donation on a first-come basis. Only cash and checks can be accepted (no credit cards).

Local businesses have once again donated various items to support the fundraiser. Products and services that will either be featured at the silent auction or given as door prizes include: artwork from Appalachian Studio; gift items from Herbal Innovations, Main Street Books, Total Biz Fulfillment, and Whispering Pines; gourmet treats from Brenda's Pizzeria, Capital Meats, FireFly Farms, Mountain State Brewing Co., Penn Alps Restaurant & Craft Shop, Santa Fe Grille, Sisters' Cafe, the Casselman Inn & Restaurant, the Four Seasons Dining Room at Will O' the Wisp, and Trader's Coffee House; home, auto, and garden items from Grantsville Ag Service, Grantsville Foodland, Green Valley Foods, Martin's Food in LaVale, and Red Ridge Auto; relaxation and recreation opportunities from Confluence Cyclery, Garrett 8 Cinemas, Morbheanna (Celtic piping), Spring Creek Outfitters, and the Herb Barn; and special event tickets from Music at Penn Alps and the Western Maryland Scenic Railroad.

Goehringer Catering will once again be donating food services for the event.

Other items that have been donated for the event include: artisan items, blacksmithing lesson, bluebird box, books, collectibles, a cord of firewood, computer tech service, eco-tour, French dinner for six, guided bird walk, massage session, ping-pong table, rain barrel, silk flower arrangement, and Maryland and U.S.A. flags.

A "buy-it-now" option has been added this year to allow busy individuals the opportunity to pay a premium price for their desired item(s) and check out at their convenience.

Admission at the door is $10 for adults and $5 for children ages 6 to 12; however, advance-ticket prices are $8 and $4, respectively. They may be purchased at Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville or Red Ridge Auto in Frostburg.

The event will be held at the New Germany Lake House and Rec Hall. In the event of severe weather, it will be postponed until the following day, Sunday, March 27, from noon to 3 p.m.

For more information, persons may contact the Savage River Watershed Association at 301-689-7156 or srwadirector@gmail.com or Friends of New Germany at 301-895-5453 or newgermanyfriends@yahoo.com.

Friends of New Germany is a non-profit organization of local and statewide persons interested in enhancing and preserving the beauty and quality of the recreational resources of New Germany State Park. Savage River Watershed Association (SRWA) is a group of local landowners and other citizens dedicated to preserving and enhancing the rural nature and natural resources of the Savage River watershed, by assisting interested landowners and public land managers with environmental stewardship efforts and educational outreach.

CABIN FEVER ITEMS – What do a guided bird walk, glass goblet, cord of firewood, and Celtic piping performance all have in common? They are all silent auction items that will be featured at the annual Cabin Fever Fundraiser, scheduled for March 26 to benefit the Friends of New Germany and Savage River Watershed Association. The musicians of Morbheanna pictured above are Marci McClive, Lynn Farnsworth, Kenny Braitman, and Annie Bristow. See story for details.

"I'm against the ridgeline protection amendment or any other type of zoning," said Mason School Road resident Bill Janoske.

He noted that four wind turbines are located on his family's Backbone Mountain property. Lease revenue from those structures – along with timber, gas rights, and farm-use rentals – will enable them to pay property taxes on their 700 acres and keep it in the family, Janoske indicated.

"When I see those wind mills up there, I think they're beautiful; they're progress," said Pleasant Valley resident Don Riley, who has one turbine on his Backbone Mountain property.

He indicated the county needs progress and people might as well get used to the turbines.

"We don't need zoning, and we don't need this amendment," Riley said.

Farmer/CPA Jeff Conner, Avilton, said he supported the proposed amendments, noting the need to move forward with some type of regulations to protect ridgelines.

"How close is too close?" he asked about a home located near a turbine.

Local attorney William Saltysiak represents property owners who brought unsuccessful injunctions against Synergics' Roth Rock project.

"There is no regulation whatsoever in Garrett County, none, zero," Saltysiak said about turbines. "There is also, at this point, given the interpretation two times by our Circuit Court, no legal remedy to prevent a land owner that is adjoining to where these wind turbines may be located to stop that intrusion upon their property rights."

He noted that one agreement between Synergics and a property leaser states that no one should be within 1,000 feet of an operating turbine between November and the first of April, unless they are willing to sign a document stating they wave any and all liability to injury.

The November–April timeframe was chosen, Saltysaik said, because of the danger of ice being thrown from turbine blades.

One of his clients, Suzanne Harvey of Tacoma Park, said she and her Garrett County native husband, Dale Harvey, had planned to build a retirement home on their Backbone Mountain property, which is now located 378 feet from a Synergics turbine.

"We can't retire here now because we can't build on the property; we couldn't get our money back; our children would be left with a house that would be totally worthless," Harvey said.

She said she used to enjoy hearing the wind in the trees on their property; now all she hears is the "swoosh, swoosh, swoosh" of turbine blades.

"We're not against renewable energy; the house plans we had included geothermal heating," Harvey said. "But there were other people's property rights that were not taken into consideration. I don't know how it all happened, but the last board of commissioners wouldn't listen to us, and as Bill (Saltysiak) said, the courts aren't listening to us. It's really disappointing. So while we need to balance progress, we also need to look at everyone's property rights, not just the people's who are putting up turbines."

McHenry businessman Jonathan Kessler stressed the importance of growth in Garrett County.

"The only thing more frightening than zoning, is not having it," he said, noting, however, that it should be smart, good zoning.

Planning Commission members will leave the record open on the proposed amendments until Tuesday, March 22. They will then take up the issue at their next meeting, scheduled for Wednesday, April 6, at 1 p.m. at the courthouse. As always, the public is welcome to attend, Ellington noted.

The proposal will then be forwarded to the commissioners for their adoption or rejection.

Persons may mail their written comments to the Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, 204 South Third Street, Room 210, Oakland, MD 21550. For more information, persons may call 301-334-1920.

DOVE CENTER BUILDING ON SCHEDULE – Heather Hanline, executive director of the Dove Center, noted this week that Gosnell Inc., builders of the new facility for the domestic violence prevention organization, is four to six weeks ahead of schedule on the facility's construction. The weather has allowed much of the outside work to continue, and on inclement days, the crews have accomplished significant work inside. Gosnell noted that changes to be made have gone smoothly, and credited the efforts of project manager Dr. David Tuel, architect Marta Hansen, and the Interior Design Committee, which is led by Odette Lueck. Hanline added that that the five women on the committee (Hanline, Lueck, Judy Finkel, Dorothy Tuel, and Sherry Bradshaw) have agreed on appliances, lighting, and the decorating scheme. The committee is now compiling a cost list of needed new items to distribute to organizations interested in sponsoring a room. Plaques will be placed on the door of said rooms, noting the donors. It is hoped that the new domestic violence/sexual assault resource center will open in October of this year.

TOP DOG TEXAS HOLD'EM TOURNAMENT RAISES $4K FOR HART – The Texas Hold'em Tournament held by HART for Animals at the Oakland Elks Lodge on Feb. 26 made everybody a winner, according to event organizers Candy DeGiovanni and Caroline Robison. Officiated by Eric Robison and sponsored by various community businesses, the tournament had 90 players and a payout of $5,200, with $4,000 of the total proceeds going to HART's Animal Adoption Center Building Fund. The camaraderie created during the buffet dinner for players and spectators continued throughout the night. With 90 players entering the tournament, there were many chips and cards flying at 6 p.m. when playing began, the organizers noted. After 4½ hours of playing, the final table was formed. The decision of the 10 finalists was to evenly split the over-all payout of $5,200. Left to right in the front are finalists Kimmie Hamilton, Sheryl Hershman, Gary Hawk and Cynthia Simpson. In the back are finalists Nathan Ellis, Jeremy Crosco, Willie DeWitt, Harold Taylor, Bill Moon, and Dave Tasker. "The spirit of generosity and community demonstrated by the finalists is the same force that drives our many volunteers," said HART president Mike Pellet. "With an anticipated early summer groundbreaking for the center, we are grateful for the funds raised and for the support of so many wonderful people." For a complete schedule of HART's monthly poker tournaments, persons may visit hartforanimals.org.

Loving Memories

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true
Ah, bitter was the trail to part from one so good as you.

You are not forgotten,loved one.
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by we miss you more
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.

Happy Birthday in Heaven

Maryland Life Lists The Free State's Finest

Maryland Life magazine has announced the winners of the publications first-ever reader's poll, titled the Free State's Finest. The winners representing Garrett County are currently featured in the April issue of the magazine, released earlier this week. They are: the Autumn Glory Festival, Bill's Marine Service, Chanteclaire Farm, Deep Creek Cellars, Deep Creek Lake, Honi-Honi Bar, Lisa Goodfellow of Goodfellow Realtors, Mountain Coaster, New Germany State Park, Sante Fe Grille, and Swallow Falls State Park.

"We are very excited to honor the Free State's Finest winners," says Dan Patrell, publisher.

"The winners were selected by Maryland Life readers in print and online and reflect what they love and cherish about the Free State. The results truly are a snapshot of what's great about Maryland."

The reader's poll ballot consisted of more than 40 categories, ranging from crabs and coffeehouses to galleries and sunsets. The magazine tabulated and compiled the results from over 2,000 ballots, which ran in the October and December issues of Maryland Life, before naming the winners.

In addition to being celebrated in the magazine, the winners will be honored at regional parties across the state during the week of Maryland Day (March 25).

"We're hosting five parties, one every day of the work week, to honor the winners and bring them together with friends of the magazine," says Patrell.

"We're hoping to see not only the winners, but also many of our readers at one or more of these events. The celebrations are as much about our readers as they are about the Free State's Finest."

Those interested in further information, including a complete list of winners and events, may visit www.MarylandLife.com. The magazine is also available on Twitter, www.twitter.com/MarylandLife, and Facebook, www.facebook.com/MarylandLife.

Fair Set

tors, sales representatives, and more. A full list of participating employers can be found at www.garrettcollege.edu/jobfair.

"Even though there are signs that the economy is improving, this is still an extremely competitive job market," said Carbone. "In order to have the best chances of success, job seekers must be proactive and take advantage of every opportunity to make connections with employers and make the best possible impression. You can't just wait for opportunity to knock. The Job Fair is an amazing chance to talk to and market yourself to a whole gymnasium full of employers in just a few hours."

According to Carbone, job seekers will increase their chances of success at the job fair by being well-prepared. She encourages job seekers to do the following:

•Write a professional resumé that presents one as a qualified applicant for the target position. "Employers appreciate and often expect to be handed a resume that demonstrates your qualifications, past experiences, education, skills, and accomplishments," said Carbone. Job seekers who come to the job fair without a resume may find themselves at a disadvantage and most likely will not be seen as favorably as those who do have resumés. A handout on writing effective resumés can be found on the job fair web site noted above.

Additional information on developing effective resumés can be found at the Garrett County One-Stop Job Center, at 221 South Third Street, 301-334-3972, according to Cheryl Angle, Maryland Workforce Exchange supervisor and member of the job fair planning committee. The professionally trained resumé writers at the Job Center provide advice and assistance with resumé writing to anyone.

•Review the list of employers who will be participating in the fair. Identify the "must see" employers and research each. "Knowing about the employer organization can help you better answer questions," noted Angle. "Show that you are enthusiastic about the possibility of working for them." Links to the employer web sites are available online at the job fair web site.

•Plan in advance to make a good, professional impression. One way to do this is to wear an outfit that is similar to one that would be worn to a one-on-one interview. "Every year, some job seekers come to job fair in clothes that are dirty or are far more appropriate for a day hiking in the woods," said Angle. "Employers often are left with the impression that these job seekers are not serious about finding employment."

There are other ways to prepare for the job fair and to increase one's chances of success. A brochure can be downloaded and a slide presentation titled "Making the Most of the Garrett County Job Fair" can be viewed, which gives additional tips and suggestions.

The job fair is sponsored by Garrett College, the Garrett County One-Stop Job Center, Western Maryland Consortium, WMD Radio-werks Broadcasting (104.5 'KHJ/92.3 The Train/1050 AM WMSG), and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

Those seeking additional information may contact Carbone at 301-387-3046 or via e-mail at judy.carbone@garrettcollege.edu or check the job fair web site at www.garrettcollege.edu/jobfair.

MCKENZIE, FRATZ RISE TO THE OCCASION — The above photos were taken during last Thursday's West Section Championship game in which the Northern High School girls' basketball team defeated Allegany, 75-57, before topping Smithsburg, 52-47, on Saturday to become one of the four remaining teams in the state. Terra McKenzie, pictured left, was instrumental in the Regional Championship win over Smithsburg, as she came off the bench to score 10 points in the fourth quarter for the Huskies. Kaitlynn Fratz, seen above elevating for two, remained the center of Northern's offense, as she had team-high 24 and 25 points scoring in the games, respectively. Photos by Branden Wilt. TOP-FOUR HUSKIES TAKE WEST REGION TITLE — The Northern High School girls' basketball team became West Region Champion on Saturday after defeating Smithsburg, 52-47. The Huskies' victory made them one of the top four teams in the state. The West Region Champs will begin State Tournament play tomorrow at the University of Maryland Baltimore County. Tip-off is scheduled for 9 p.m. The Northern girls' team plans to provide updates throughout the tournament on its Facebook page: Northern Lady Huskies Basketball 2010-2011. The above photo was taken after the Huskies, players and coaches completed the traditional net-cutting ceremony. In the front row, from left to right, are Terra McKenzie, Morgan Brosnihan, Kaitlynn Fratz, and Jenny Shaffer, team manager. In the back row are: Dave Monahan, Ron Opel, Jason Rice, Allison Yommer, Kiersten Butler, Laura Yeager, Heather Vincent, Sydney MacFarland, Taryn Brenneman, Pete Brosnihan, and Steve Fratz, head coach. Best-In-The-West Huskies Off To States After Defeating Campers, Leopards For Region Title

The recent success of Northern High School girls' basketball was explained Saturday by the team's coach after it clinched a spot in the state tournament.

"It's a dream come true," stated head coach Steve Fratz. "Being one of the four best teams in the state left in 1A has come about because of the tremendous hard work of these girls."

That hard work allowed Northern to play one of its most cohesive games of the year and to beat a favored, #1 seeded Allegany on the road, 75-57, in last Thursday's West Section title game.

It also served the Huskies well in their following matchup with Smithsburg, a game in which they roared from behind to win in Frederick on Saturday, 52-47, and earn a spot in tomorrow's state semifinal.

In the West Section Class 1A Championship game, Northern dismantled Allegany with big offensive production from four of its key players. Husky standout Kaitlynn Fratz scored 24 points, as Morgan Brosnihan put up 23, and Allison Yommer and Terra McKenzie combined to net 20.

"We were focused for this game from the time we started practice Wednesday," Coach Fratz said. "It's almost like it was destiny. The big hump to get over was Southern, because of what happened last year." (The Rams upset Northern in last year's playoffs, 50-45.)

"Before we left Northern I said we were due to have Kaitlynn, Tara, and Morgan all have good shooting nights. A lot of times one or two shoot well, but its been a while since all three did. And tonight was that night."

For Allegany, Leah Wormack scored a game-high 29 points, pulled down 18 rebounds, and blocked three shots, though her individual effort proved no match for the hot hands of the Huskies. Wormack fouled out late in the fourth quarter.

Camper teammate Brooke Wharton scored 10 points, while Courtney Landis put nine on the board, and Bailey Ellsworth tallied a game-high seven assists.

"We cut it to six or seven points a couple of times, but couldn't get over the hump in the second half," conceded Allegany head coach Jim O'Neal. "It just wasn't going to happen."

Two days after being held to five field goals in the first half against Southern, the Huskies had five three-pointers in the first five and a half minutes. Fratz accounted for four of the five and Brosnihan tacked on the fifth as Northern won the first period, 21-16.

Fratz hit her fifth three-point shot just four minutes into the second quarter to make it 28-20, but left after picking up her third foul with 3:49 left before halftime.

With the school's all-time leading scorer watching from the bench, the Huskies extended their lead, as Yommer knocked down four points, Brosnihan hit another three, and McKenzie went in for a three-point play to make it 38-26 at the half.

Northern was ahead 53-40, after Brosnihan ended the third period by sinking a three-point shot and opened the fourth with a three-point play.

Kiersten Butler iced an offensive run that got Allegany to within seven with 3:38 left in regulation, by nailing a three, her only points of the game, to reestablish the Huskies' double-digit lead.

Brosnihan, Coach Fratz said, had a career night. She scored 10 points in the fourth quarter, was a clutch 5-for-6 from the foul line in the final 1:31, and played solid defense.

"I wasn't nervous. Not really. The big thing was we didn't want this to be our last game," said Brosnihan. "The confidence we had trumped any nervousness. We have a lot of heart, and you can't underestimate heart. Anything can happen."

The Huskies had only three turnovers in the first three quarters, while 10-for-23 three-point shooting allowed them to overcome a rebounding deficit of 39 to 21.

"I had a good feeling today, but I've had good feelings about games before and I didn't want us to become overconfident," said Kaitlynn Fratz. "We all felt good, believed we could do it, and put it all together."

"Assistant coach Pete Brosnihan said before we left that it was our game and to shoot the lights out. It happened and it feels great."

The win over Allegany gives Northern the season advantage between the teams at 3-2. The win was also the first ever for the Huskies at Allegany and ended the Campers 18-game winning streak.

Unlike Thursday's win over Allegany, Northern shot just 8-for-26 in the first half against Smithsburg and trailed by as many as eight before entering the half down 27-21.

When the Huskies needed a player to step up, it was McKenzie who answered the call, as she opened the third quarter with a three-point and fast-break buckets to quickly tie the match at 28.

A jumper by sophomore Allison Yommer knotted it again at 32, but McKenzie picked up her fourth foul with 1:41 left in the period, and went to the bench.

"I wanted to get out there and help my team all that I could, but I knew I couldn't at that time with four fouls," said McKenzie. "I felt kind of helpless."

When McKenzie did return, however, she returned to dominant form and scored Northern's last 10 points with a two-point shot, a three-point shot, and 5-for-6 high-pressure foul shooting.

Fratz hit a three-point shot to tie it at 39, then had a three-point play after being knocked to the floor on a drive down the lane to give Northern a 42-4' advantage.

Not available for the picture were Jeff Michaels, Margaret Muskgrove, and Jamie Riley. "All of the athletes bowled extremely well," said Coach Sizemore. "I'm very proud of them and their progress throughout the year."

Rams' Quest For State Title Dashed By Wildcats, 42-39

The quest for a first-ever state high school boys' basketball championship ended for the Southern High varsity on Saturday when the Rams were edged by Williamsport, 42-39, in the Maryland Class 1A West Region title game played at Frederick Community College.

The Rams led most of the game, and were on top by as many as 10 points early in the third stanza, before too many turnovers caught up with them.

Southern concluded its season with an overall record of 16-9, while Williamsport will take a 22-3 mark to College Park this weekend as one of just four teams left in the state to vie for the state championship. The Wildcats will face Pocomoke in a state semifinal on Friday.

The Rams seized and maintained the momentum through the first half of action, making good on 11 of 17 shots (65%) of their shots, and out-rebounding the Wildcats by an 8-2 margin in the second quarter.

Southern was on top 10-8 at the end of the first quarter, stretched their lead to 26-20 by halftime, and scored the first four points of the third stanza to take a 30-20 advantage, the biggest of the game.

The third period ended with the Rams on top 32-26, but then things began to turn in favor of the Wildcats, who stepped up their defensive efforts that forced numerous turnovers. In fact, just considering the 21-6 lead in turnovers by the Rams, one would have thought that the Wildcats' margin of victory would have been much greater. Part of the reason for that was the 11-for-35 shooting effort by Williamsport.

Fourteen of the Rams' 21 turnovers came in the second half, and they had eight in the final period, when they were also out-scored by a 16-7 margin.

A three-point bucket by scoring leader Steven Christy cut the Rams' lead to 34-31 midway through the fourth quarter, and with 3:25 remaining in the contest, the Wildcats finally took a 38-36 lead on a layup by Brandon McCauley. It was their first lead since holding a 6-5 edge in the first period.

Ram point guard Kurt Gangler got the Ram lead back with a three-point shot at about the 3:00 mark, 39-38, but it would be the final points of the day for Southern.

A shot by Connor Arnone gave the Wildcats the lead for good at 40-39. The Rams were ultimately forced to foul, and Williamsport could not seem to convert their opportunities at the line. But the Rams were unable to take advantage of the missed free throws and committed three crucial turnovers in the final minute.

Arnone finally was able to connect for two insurance free throws with 17 seconds remaining in the game, and a three-point shot at the buzzer by the Rams was no good.

Gangler led the Rams in scoring with 10 points, and also dished out four assists. Joey Kisselovich netted eight points, pulled down 11 rebounds, and had a pair of blocks, while D.J. Ritchie also had 11 boards and four assists.

Christy hit a game-high 15 points for the Wildcats, McCauley recorded 13 points, four assists, and three steals, and Arnone contributed six points and four steals.

"Our first half was just about perfect by our standards," said Ram head coach Jon Hegeman. "But down the stretch in the second half, we had some poor passes and had very few shots on numerous possessions. We also didn't get the ball inside enough and rarely made it to the foul line."

The Rams had only five shots from the charity stripe for the game, and made good on three of them.

Williamsport coach Scott Mowbray said that he told his players at intermission that they really needed to pick up the pressure on defense.

"We went to a man-to-man, jump-and run, and it really worked for us," he said. "Southern is a very disciplined team and good at what they do. They shot the ball extremely well in the first half, while we were just not getting our shots to fall."

The Rams hit 50 percent for the game (16 of 32) and also finished with a 29-18 advantage in rebounds, but it was the turnover stat that ultimately did them in.

"We weren't a very good team three years ago," Hegeman said, "but our players dedicated themselves and worked hard during the summer months, so we have really improved. We started strong this year (11-2), went into a slump late in the season, and then got back on track at the end. We are still working to be more consistent, which will come with time."

The Rams won only five games two seasons ago, 13 last year, and finished with 16 this year.

"I want to thank all the great Southern fans for their support at Frederick and throughout the season," Hegeman said. "A special thanks to all the Northern fans for their support at Frederick, and especially the Northern girls' team. We are all rooting for them to bring home a state title this weekend."

the first since its 12-11 first quarter lead.

Later, with the Leopards up 45-42 after two foul shots by Elise Owens, McKenzie went to work. She hit in the lane, and then made two foul shots.

"Terra started feeling it, and she really had the hot hand with about four minutes to go," said Coach Fratz.

The turning point came with 1:44 left. On an inbound-pass play, Fratz connected with McKenzie, who knocked down a deep-three shot from the corner and put the Huskies up 49-47.

"The shot from the corner off the inbounds play...that was the big shot," Smithsburg coach Katy Barnhart said afterwards.

"That was sort of the turning point in a game that certainly could've gone either way."

Smithsburg missed shots on its next two possessions and McKenzie came up with both rebounds and went 3-for-4 from the line in the final 1:21, effectively sealing the win.

"On the shot off the inbounds pass, I didn't feel any pressure," said McKenzie. "It felt good when I shot it, and I put a good follow-through on it."

"I was nervous at the foul line, because I knew if I could make two we had the game. It was a good feeling after I made them!"

Smithsburg, which had two three-point goals and two three-point plays in the first quarter, shot 11-for-34 over the final three quarters, including a 4-for-15 performance in the fourth.

"This was a tough one, but I knew if we kept it close we would have a chance at the end," said Fratz, who tallied 13 points scored in the game's first half and 12 in the second. She also had team highs with six rebounds, four assists, and three steals.

"It seemed like every time we scored they would, too—until the end. I believe we wore them down," explained Coach Fratz. "In the second half, when we started pressing their guards, I think it unnerved them. I think it kind of got their guards out of sync."

Smithsburg committed eight turnovers in the third quarter, and had 17 total to Northern's 10.

Katie Sprecher, a 5-foot-10 forward, had 22 points and seven rebounds, and 6-2 center Sara Righell 11 points and 18 rebounds for Smithsburg, which ended its season at 23-2. The loss to the Huskies snapped the team's 17-game win streak.

"Once again our defense and 1-3 chaser was big for us. This time, though, we didn't chase anyone. We were aggressive with our guards at the top of the zone, and sent the others inside and tried to clog up things in the middle as best we could," said Coach Fratz. "Allison Yommer did a very good job against their big center."

The West Region Champion Huskies will take a 22-4 record and an 11-game winning streak to the state tournament. The team's first game is slated for this Friday, when it will play East Region champion Mardela (25-1) in the semifinals at the University of Maryland Baltimore County in Catonsville. Tip-off is scheduled for 9 p.m.

Northern's only other trip to the state tournament was in 1997. The Huskies beat Rising Sun 43-23 in the semifinals that year before falling to Francis Scott Key, 53-23, in the championship game.

The Northern girls' team plans to provide updates throughout the tournament on its Facebook page: Northern Lady Huskies Basketball 2010-2011.

Rams Scheffel, Ozias Brothers Earn Maryland Wrestling Titles

While the Southern High wrestling team fell short of defending its two-time Maryland State 1A/2A wrestling team championship, three members of Coach Dave Taylor's team came home with individual titles, and the Rams amassed enough points to place fourth among 66 teams that were represented in the tournament, held Friday and Saturday at College Park.

Northern High School also fared well at the tournament, finishing in eighth place with a total of 58 points.

Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel, and Lex and Coy Ozias each captured the individual title in their respective weight classes for the Rams, with Scheffel winning the 171-pound division, Lex Ozias the 152-pound division title, and Coy Ozias bringing home the 103-pound division crown.

Scheffel and Lex Ozias, both seniors, are also now ranked #1 and #2, respectively, in Maryland high school wrestling history for the number of individual career victories. Scheffel's four wins in the state tourney gave him a four-season total of 167 as a Southern Ram, while Ozias finished just four behind him at 163.

Scheffel, who broke the previous state record of 162 wins at the 1A/2A West Region tourney, finished this season with a 44-1 record, while Ozias had a perfect 44-0 mark.

Freshman Coy Ozias also concluded his first year as a Ram with an undefeated record of 43-0, and is thus on track to eventually challenge the overall win records of Scheffel and his brother Lex.

As a team, the Rams amassed 93.5 points, just ½ point behind third-place Glenelg with 94 points. Winters Mill was the team champion with 126.5 points, and runner-up was Owings Mills with 107.5.

Northern High School also fared well at the tournament, capturing eighth place with a total of 58 points. The Huskies' top BOCCE TEAMS COMPETE AT STATES –The new Northern and Southern high school bocce ball teams competed and were successful in the Maryland State Invitational Tournament last Thursday in Sykesville. Southern took two teams to the tournament and brought home a silver medal for second place, and a fourth place, while Northern placed third to capture a bronze medal. Pictured from left, kneeling, are Meghan Bequette, Cara Bauermeister, Whitney Murphy, B.J. Burns, Jillian Yant, and Jenny Shaffer. In the second row are Coach Terry Jo Stough, Summer Mossman, Lindsey Smith, Jordyn Livengood, Cara Stough, Kassi Smith, Sydney Legeer, Kendra Georg, and Chelsea Kling. In the back row are Coach Kris Dewitt, Zach Smith, Brady Benton, Mitchell Beeman, Lake Sherrard, Natasha Craver, Brian Burns, Coach Ryan Wolf, and Coach Rodger Bowman.

Lakers Receive Post-Season Honors

RODNEY CLARK

CALLUM JENKINS

Garrett College basketball standouts Rodney Clark of Waldorf and Callum Jenkins from Australia were awarded post season honors for their exceptional play this past season. The Lakers finished the 2010-11 campaign with a 16-12 record.

Clark, a 5'10" sophomore guard, was selected to both the MD JUCO second team and the Region XX third team. As point guard he averaged 14.5 points and 6 assists per game, and also led the team in free-throw shooting percentage with 79.7% and in steals with 33.

Jenkins, a 6'7" freshman forward, was awarded second-team All-Region honors. He led the team in rebounds with 8.6 per game and scored an average of 13.2 ppg, second best on the team. In addition, his 72.6 accuracy on shots from the field led the nation at the end of the season.

"Callum was a warrior for us all year," said head coach Dennis Gibson. "He was a leader in attitude and hard work at all times. Coaches will appreciate the fact that he took 14 charges for the year, which means he had to attempt about 30, and that takes a special player. He missed three games because of injury sustained attempting to take a charge, but he came right back and took two the first game he returned. He was also very unselfish and could have scored more points for us."

His praise for Clark's performance was similar.

"Rodney's stats show the level of player he can be," Gibson said. "He led us in free-throw percentage, steals, assists, and scoring. His best basketball is still ahead of him, as he matriculates to an NCAA school. The guys on the team really enjoyed his fun-loving personality."

SGAA Will Host Awards Assembly

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association will host the 2010-11 Winter Sports Awards Assembly in the school cafetorium this Sunday, March 13, beginning at 6 p.m. Athletic director Matt Redinger encourages all winter sports athletes to attend and be recognized for their accomplishments.

Inter-Scholastic Bowling League Standings Update

The girls' Adjusted Championship of the Allegany County Inter-Scholastic Bowling League was determined last Thursday at Wilson Lanes, with Hampshire defeating Southern 20-16.

In the match, Hampshire had the lead after the first game 10-2, but Southern rolled back in the second game and scored 10-2 to go into the third game with both teams tied at 12-12. The third game had the teams splitting the individual points, but Hampshire winning the team points.

With this win, along with the Showcase Championship, the Hampshire girls have capped a successful season. Members of the team, coached by Tricia Maxwell, are Kristen Gilreath, Ashley Day, Samantha Day, and Karisa Saville.

Calvary Christian took second place followed by Frankfort and Southern, which tied at third (9.5-6.5). Fort Hill (8-8), and Mountain Ridge (6.5-8.5). Keyser and Bishop Walsh tied for sixth place (5.5-10.5) ahead of Allegany (4-12).

The Mountain Ridge girls' team took the Actual Championship with a perfect record of 16-0. Since the founding of Mountain Ridge, the girls' team has compiled a record of 60 wins, 2 losses, and one tie over four years. Leading the team in that effort were Ali Eller and Ashley Jenkins.

Fort Hill and Southern tied at 13-3 to take second place, while Hampshire took third with a record of 8.5-7.5. Calvary Christian recorded an 8-8 record followed by Bishop Walsh (5-11), Keyser (4.5-11.5), Frankfort (3-13) and Allegany (1-15).

In the boys' Actual Division, Fort Hill rolled to a perfect 16-0 record behind the league-high average of 213 held by Tanner Smith. Smith's team members include Joe Thomas, Ryan Diehl, Trey Bennett, Daylynn Andrews, Adam Brant, and Kevin Patch.

Second place was shared by three teams with records of 11-5; Mountain Ridge, Allegany, and Hampshire. Keyser took third at 9-7, Frankfort went 8-8, Southern 5-11, Bishop Walsh 2-14, and Calvary Christian 0-16.

Southern took the boys' Adjusted Division with a record of 12.5-3.5. Team members include Charlie Frazee, Austin Glotfelty, Ryan Schrier, Kenneth Hardesty, Andrew Inman, Christian Glotfelty, and Greg Tichnell.

Girls' high games rolled during the season were by Mystie Benson (236, Fort Hill), Sarah Bryan (233, Keyser), and Ali Eller (212), Bre Grove (211), and Ashely Jenkins (210) of Mountain Ridge.

Next was Brooke Spiker (217, Southern), Brittany Holtscheider (201, Fort Hill) and Steffani Shingle (200, Frankfort).

Mountain Ridge's Eller had the high set among the girls with a 583 (204, 179, 200), followed by Benson (571, Fort Hill), Bryan (550, Keyser), and Mountain Ridge's Grove (547) and Jenkins (540).

On the boys' side, Smith (Fort Hill) had the high average of 213 and the high set of 736 (224, 257, 255). His teammates Patch (710) and Brant (700) had the next highest sets. Keyser's Michael Bane had a 688, Mountain Ridge's Danny Walch a 670, Allegany's Ryan Keifer a 658, and C.J. Edmiston a 655.

Rolling the next highest games were Walch (259, Mountain Ridge), Patch (257, Fort Hill), Matt Riley (248, Allegany), and Diehl (247, Fort Hill).

Rolling 245 games were Nick Ward (Hampshire), Aaron Kerns (Allegany), and Adam Brant (Fort Hill), with Matt Folmer (Frankfort) and Keifer (Allegany) knocking down 244 games.

SMC STATE GRAPPLERS – Several members of the Southern Mat Club recently competed in the Maryland Wrestling Association for Youth state tournament at Smithsburg, two of whom came home with individual state titles in their age/weight divisions. Pictured kneeling, from left, are Jake Sweitzer, state champ in the age 7/8, 60-pound division, and Devan Hamrick, champion in the 11/12, 75-pound division. In the second row are: Quentin Van Gorder, sixth place, 5/6, 45; Aiden Schwab, third place, 7/8, 45; and Anthony Smith, seventh place, 5/6, 45. In the back row are: Marshall Smith, fourth place, 7/8, 45; Nathan Tasker, eighth place, 9/10, 65; Jimmy Schwab, sixth place, 11/12, 85; Joey McComas, fifth place, 7/8, 55; and Reid Schenk, seventh place, 7/8, 50. Not present for the photo was Josh King, fourth place, 13/15, 91. Devan Hamrick represented the SMC in the Bethel Park Ted Gates Memorial Open at Bethel Park, Pa., this past Sunday and captured the 13U, 75-pound division title. A story that appeared in last week's issue noted previous SMC members who had won state championships, and one of those persons, Austin Shaffer, was inadvertently omitted from that list. The others, besides Sweitzer and Hamrick this season, were Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel, George "Brutus" Scheffel, Lex Ozias, Coy Ozias, and Ryan Bennett.

Pen-Mar-W.Va. Baseball League Meeting Slated

The Pen-Mar-W.Va. Baseball League will hold its second open meeting of the 2011 season this Sunday, March 13, at 4 p.m. at the Ridgeley, W.Va., American Legion. All managers and officers, as well as current players, are strongly encouraged by league president Gary Bennett to attend this organizational meeting.

This season will be the 63rd consecutive one for the semi-pro adult, wood-bat, baseball league that has comprised teams from Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

"The league is a showcase for many current and past area college baseball players," said Bennett, "and has featured many players who went on to play professional baseball. Most of the tri-state area baseball coaches have played, at one time, in the league."

Bennett added that the league also provides an opportunity for many adults who want to continue playing the game of baseball beyond high school and college.

New teams are always welcome to join the league. Persons interested in playing or managing a team are asked to telephone Bennett at 301-268-1563 or James Altobello at 304-738-4565.

Former Ram Carr Qualifies For Nat'l Event

Daniel Carr, Oakland, will be among the competitors in the National Collegiate Wrestling Association national tournament this weekend in Macon, Ga.

The Southern High graduate and senior at University of Maryland Baltimore County qualified for the national event by winning his conference tournament last week. He now holds the all-time personal win record for UMBC.

Carr is the son of Maria Carr, Oakland, and Rob Carr, Accident.

finishers were senior Adam Finzel, who placed third in the 125-pound division, senior Matt Thomas, who earned a third place in the 140-pound division, and senior Jason Opel, who was the third-best wrestler in the 189-pound division. Kody Osselburn, a freshman, won fifth place in the 119-pound division.

Southern's Kevin Miller, a junior, won two of his matches in the heavyweight division to add points to his team's total; junior Mikey Skipper won one match in the 145-pound division; and freshman Austin Shaffer won one match in the 112-pound division.

Northern senior Anthony Cervi also competed in the 215-pound division.

It was the third straight state title captured by both Scheffel and Lex Ozias, both of whom have been recruited by the Virginia Tech wrestling team for this coming fall.

Scheffel's path to his third title this past weekend featured three straight pinfalls and a 17-4 major decision over David Pruett of Glenelg in the title bout.

Lex Ozias reeled off two pins, followed by a major decision in his third bout and a 17-2 technical fall of Lucas Zeigler of Francis Scott Key in the final clash.

Coy Ozias recorded two pins, then a major decision, and won the 103-pound title when he pinned Antonio Brockington of Carver Vo-Tech.

Northern's Finzel claimed third place in the 125-pound division when he recorded a 5-1 decision in the consolation final over Adam Hefflefinger of Rising Sun. His only loss was a 5-3 decision to eventual state runner-up Micah Haas of North Carroll.

Matt Thomas claimed third place at 140 pounds via a 3-1 decision over Jimmy Peacock of Kent County in the consolation final. His only loss in the tournament was to eventual champion Tyler Hinton of Carver Vo-Tech.

Opel earned a 6-1 decision over Bucky Miller of Boonsboro to place third in the 189-pound division. His lone defeat was a 3-1 decision by eventual runner-up Tom Kuegler of Bel Air.

Osselburn of Northern won three of his five matches to take fifth place in the 119-pound class.

Glotfelty Seeded Fourth In Third National Event

The NCAA released its brackets for the 2011 NCAA Division III wrestling championships, to be held this weekend in La Crosse, Wisconsin, and McDaniel College's Brock Glotfelty, Grantsville, is seeded fourth in the heavyweight division.

Competition will begin at the La Crosse Center this Friday at 10 a.m. EST and continue through Saturday.

Glotfelty enters the championship with a personal record of 30-2 for this season. He received the lone Centennial Conference (CC) wild card spot after a second-place finish at the conference championship. This is his third appearance at the national meet. He is a two-time CC champion.

Both of Glotfelty's losses this season were to Merchant Marine's Jud Connell, the third seed in the national bracket.

The # 4 seed marks Glotfelty's highest seeding in his three appearances. As a sophomore, he entered as the sixth seed before finishing eighth to become the program's eighth All-American. In 2010, he entered unseeded and dropped a pair of matches in his attempt to repeat as an All-American.

Glotfelty, a 2007 graduate of Northern High School, will receive a first-round bye before facing the winner of a bout between Jeremy Klein (Loras) and Tom Foote (Williams) in the second round.

If Glotfelty advances to Saturday's competition, he would be guaranteed a finish of no lower than eighth place and thus be named an All-American a second time. Only two other McDaniel College wrestlers have ever earned All-American honors twice.

Mountain Laurel Club To Meet On March 15 At DCL

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet at the Will O' the Wisp on Tuesday, March 15, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Becky Wilson, a native of Cumberland, will present the program "Tree Planting and Care: So You Think You Know How To Plant a Tree!", after a short business meeting.

Wilson studied biology and forest management at Elizabethtown College in Pennsylvania, as well as Duke University's School of Forestry and Environmental Studies.

Her career with the Department of Natural Resources began in the Maryland Park Service in 1989. She joined the Maryland Forest Service in 1991 and was assigned to write regulations for the Maryland Forest Conservation Act the same year.

After completing the assignment, Wilson served three years as a project forester and prepared forest management plans, while planting stream-side forest buffers in Baltimore County.

Returning to work in her hometown in 1995, she now assists communities in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties to understand and manage the urban forest.

Wilson recently led the development of the Marylanders Plant Trees program as part of Maryland's Smart, Green, and Growing initiatives.

A certified arborist in the International Society of Arboriculture, Wilson is currently in the role of Western Region coordinator of the Urban and Community Forestry program for the Forest Service.

Those interested in further information about the Mountain Laurel Garden Club may contact Ginni Neff at 301-387-7387 or Barbara Sanders at 304-789-6450. The club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc., Central Atlantic Region, and the National Garden Club Inc.

After Hours Event Planned For March 15

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce will host its inaugural Business After Hours event at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, March 15, at the Will O' the Wisp.

The event is an "Economic Forecast" presented by Dr. Joel Naroff, president and founder of Naroff Economic Advisors. The forum begins with breakfast and networking, followed by the program from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. The event is sponsored by Susquehanna Bank.

A nationally recognized economic forecasting expert, Naroff has received numerous honors and frequently appears on CNBC, Fox Business News, and Bloomberg Television.

The cost of the event is $15 in advance or $20 at the door. The cost for non-members is $30. Interested persons may register online at www.deepcreek.com or by calling Charlotte at 301-387-6171 by March 13 to receive the advance payment discount for members. Space is limited. Early reservations are recommended.

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce's Business After Hours breakfast programs are bimonthly events designed to focus on specific topics with formal presentations. The topics slated for 2011 include State of the County in July, Mayor's Update, Tourism Update, and Legislative Wrap-up. The goal is to host some of these topics on an annual basis. Non-competing sponsorship opportunities are available for each forum. Those interested in sponsoring should contact Charlotte at the above-mentioned number.

MAJOR BOOST FOR ROBOTICS TEAM – FIRST Robotics Competition (FRC) Team 1629 received a generous donation from Wilson Supply Inc. of Cumberland in the amount of $3,000 during a recent open house. These funds will be used to help cover traveling expenses while the team competes in two regional events, one slated for March 9-12 in Pittsburgh, and the other in Cleveland April 6-9. Pictured from left are team co-captains Jeffrey Trautwein, a senior at Northern High School, and Jake Bramande, a senior at Southern High School, and Francis Bramande of Wilson Supply, who gets "a hand" in presenting the check from Team 1629's robot Meshach 7.0. Jeffrey and Jake have both been members of the local team throughout their high school years and were members of the FIRST LEGO League (FLL), a program geared for middle school students. They also attended the summer technology camps when they were in elementary school. For more information about FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) and its programs in Garrett County, persons are invited to go online to http://sites.google.com/site/team1629 or call 301-334-8926.

Annual Lenten Soup Suppers, Services Set At St. Mark's

St. Mark's Lutheran Church of Oakland will again host its traditional soup suppers and midweek worship services throughout the season of Lent. The public is invited to attend.

Soups, salads, rolls, and desserts will be served each Wednesday during Lent, beginning at 5:45 p.m. in the church fellowship hall. A service of vespers (evening prayer) will follow the suppers at 7 p.m.

The services will include song, prayers, and scripture readings, as well as short presentations on "faith in daily living" by members and guests of the congregation. Special music and congregational singing will be led by St. Mark's choir.

"Our Lenten services are ecumenical in nature," said Pastor C. Scott Robinson. "Non-Christians and Christians of all denominations are invited to join us for food, fellowship, and a contemplative service of worship."

St. Mark's is located at the corner of Second and South Center streets, across from the Ruth Enlow Library. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

Zion Lutheran To Host March 24 Sacred Concert

The a cappella and chamber choirs from Lutheran Northwest High School in Rochester Hills, Mich., will be performing a concert of sacred music on Thursday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m. at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident.

Comprising sophomores, juniors, and seniors, the groups perform a repertoire ranging from the Lutheran chorale style of L.L. Fleming to the music of composers such as Tallis, Duruflé, and Rachmaninoff. The groups also perform a variety of music by modern composers, such as Randall Thompson and Moses Hogan.

Interested individuals are invited by the church to come and listen to the message of the Gospel as expressed through music.

The church is located on 209 N. Main St.

RAM Notes

PARENTS NEEDED TO LEAD AFTER-PROM

Southern High School's after-prom tradition began 20 years ago, and parents are needed to step forward and manage this year's event.

Teenagers are faced with tough choices everyday. Dangerous decisions are often made when it comes to drugs and alcohol. Safe alternatives are needed in every community; this is why it is important to be able to offer this fun, safe activity.

It takes many volunteers to manage this all-night event. Participants are needed to plan the event, decorate, send letters of request, and gather donations and prizes. Please plan on becoming a part of this wonderful activity for our students. Without parent involvement, after-prom will not occur.

Those interested may contact Kayla Cathell in the Main Office. A meeting for after-prom is scheduled for Tuesday, March 15, at 6 p.m. at the high school.

COLLEGE OF THE ATLANTIC SUMMER OPPORTUNITY

This year marks the fifth summer that the College of the Atlantic has offered interdisciplinary courses for high school students. Students who participate in COA courses spend two weeks in Maine working with faculty members and exploring remote places. Students earn college credit (3.3 semester hours) while studying ecology, history, marine biology, music, sociology, photography, geology, literature, and more. Those interested in learning more may visit http://www.coa.edu/itch, call program coordinator Marie Stivers at 207-801-5631, or come to the Guidance Office.

YEARBOOK INVOICES MAILED

The 2011 Highlander Yearbook invoices have been mailed by Jostens. Any parent who did not receive an invoice for a 2011 yearbook should contact Maria Zumpano at mzumpano@sh.ga.k12.md.us. To purchase online, one may go to Southern's web site, http://cardinal.ga.k12.md.us/Schools/SH/, click on the 'students' link at the top of the page, and then click on the 'yearbook' link. Jostens also takes orders over the telephone at 866-282-1516. Parents and students are advised to keep all canceled checks, credit card statements, and official receipts of payment until the yearbook is received in September. Yearbook orders and payments must be made by May 2.

YOUNG SCHOLARS PROGRAM FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS—UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

High school sophomores, juniors, and seniors are invited to attend a college experience. In the Young Scholars Program, coordinated by the University of Maryland, high school students will select one three-credit course and devote a large part of the course's three-week schedule to attending classes, attending field trips or guest speaker lectures, studying, working on projects, and preparing for exams. The Young Scholars Program offers courses in a broad range of areas. Whether one chooses to live on campus or commute from home, he/she will fully experience university life. Those interested may visit www.ysp.umd.edu for more information. Program flyers are available in the Guidance Office.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CIVIC CLUB SCHOLARSHIP

The Junior Woman's Civic Club is offering a scholarship to one graduating senior from each local high school. It is available to students wishing to pursue higher education. The amount of the scholarship is a one-time $500 award. The scholarship recipient will be notified at the Senior Awards Assembly of each high school. Scholarship guidelines and applications can be picked up in each school's Guidance Office.

Military Family Support Group Slates Meeting

The Military Family Support Group will meet on Wednesday, March 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad building, Mtn. Lake Park.

This event will include discussion of the organization's future activities for 2011 and continuing effort to provide care boxes to deployed military members.

The group is open to anyone who has family or friends serving in any branch of the military. Meetings are designed to give families/friends an opportunity to provide support to each other while their loved ones are serving and/or deployed.

More information is available by visiting supportlocalmilitary.com or calling Mel or Cathy Menker at 301-334-5906 or Larry Scholossnagle at 301-746-5723.

Local Parks To Host Maple Syrup Demos, Breakfast

A demonstration of the boiling of maple sap into maple syrup will be held at Swallow Falls State Park on Saturday, March 19, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Representatives from Steyer Brothers, a local sugar camp operation, will be on hand to answer questions and to demonstrate the use of an evaporator in the syrup making process.

Pure maple products will be offered for sale during the demonstration.

A syrup demonstration, along with a pancake breakfast, will also be held on Sunday, March 20, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Herrington Manor State Park.

Pancakes, buckwheat cakes, pure maple syrup, sausage, orange juice, and coffee will be served. The cost of the meal is $7 for adults and $4 for children under 12.

For more information, persons may call Herrington Manor State Park at 301-334-9180.

RSVP Program Slates Meeting For March 24

The Retired and Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) of Allegany and Garrett Counties, sponsored by Allegany County Human Resources Development Commission, will host a gathering of current RSVP volunteers and individuals or agencies that wish to learn more about the program. The event is scheduled for Thursday, March 24, from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m. at the HRDC building, 125 Virginia Avenue, Cumberland.

The purpose of the gathering is to provide updated information about RSVP to current volunteers and a program overview for those interested in learning more about it. A light breakfast will be available. Staff will also be available to assist in the enrollment process and answer questions.

RSVP is America's largest volunteer network for people 55 and over, with nearly 500,000 volunteers across the country involved.

"Local RSVP volunteers are already making a difference in our community, but more are always needed," said Ed Zook, RSVP director.

RSVP offers volunteers the choice of where and how they want to serve, and the amount of time they want to give. Volunteers will receive pre-service orientation, training from the organization where they serve, and free supplemental insurance while on duty.

Persons planning to attend and/or those unable to attend but desiring more information, are asked to contact Zook at 301-783-1755 or by e-mail at ezook@allconet.org.

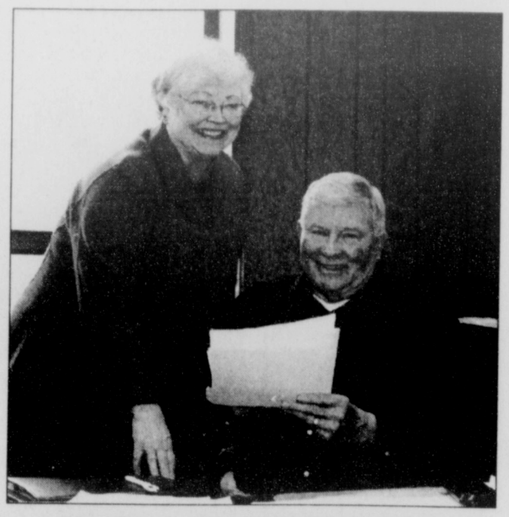
Open Invitation To Gala Extended By Foundation

To conclude the day of inaugural festivities for Garrett College's new president, Dr. Richard MacLennan, the Garrett College Foundation will host an evening Gala at Wisp on Saturday, April 9, 6 to 8 p.m. as part of "Celebrating the College in the Community."

"The gala, which is a fundraising social event for the foundation, will be a very joyful occasion for us all," said Fred Learey, executive director of the Garrett College Foundation. "We will be celebrating the inauguration of Dr. MacLennan and welcoming spring. This will be the first big social event since winter set in, so I'm hoping that many members of the community and Garrett College alumni will take this opportunity to join us in a relaxed social atmosphere."

The gala will include a reception and dinner, with music provided by GC students Raizel Benn and LeMichael Horne. Following dinner there will be a brief program about how the foundation supports the college and benefits the community.

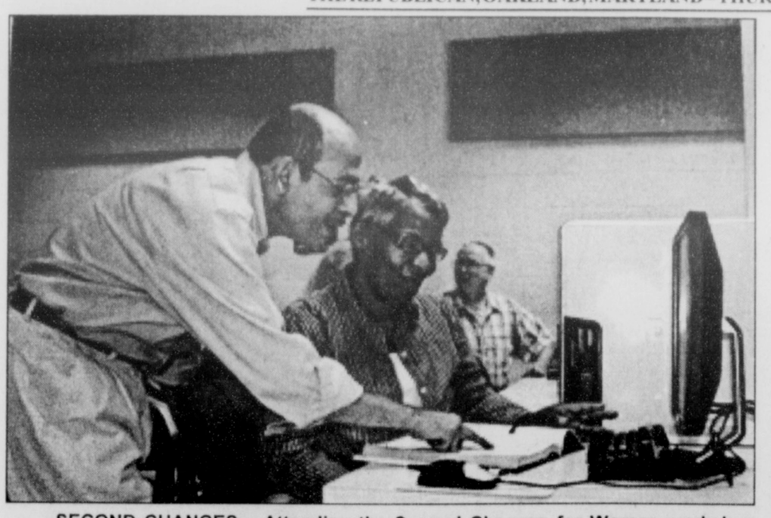


FINISHING TOUCHES – Garrett College Foundation Board chair Dr. Jeanne Neff and executive director Fred Learey put the finishing touches on plans for the GC Foundation Gala, to be held as part of "Celebrating the College in the Community" on Saturday, April 9, 6 to 8 p.m. at the Wisp in McHenry. Everyone is invited to attend the event, which a fundraiser for the foundation. To purchase tickets and/or obtain more information, persons may telephone 301-387-3131.

The purpose of the Garrett College Foundation, a non-profit charitable organization, is to enhance the educational opportunities and environment at Garrett College. The foundation raises funds to support the educational, cultural, and research activities of the college, so as to provide greater opportunities than would be available solely from governmental sources or from student tuition and fees. Funds raised and administered by the foundation support scholarships, faculty and program needs, and facilities development.

The foundation also awards competitive merit and needs scholarships to full-time and part-time students, based upon various criteria. For the fall 2010 semester, the foundation awarded 81 scholarships.

Tickets for the gala cost $100 per person, with $50 of that amount being tax deductible as a donation to the foundation. The event is open to all, and reservations can be made by calling the foundation office at 301-387-3131.



SECOND CHANCES – Attending the Second Chances for Women workshop set Melva Meadows on a new path. Having never attended college, she learned that doing so was within her reach. Now in her fourth semester at GC, Melva is pursuing a degree in accounting. Above, instructor Pramod Kapoor assists Meadows at her computer. See story.

Annual Second Chances For Women Workshop Scheduled For March 26

by Peggy Santamaria

Garrett College will host its annual workshop titled Second Chances for Women on Saturday, March 26, in the college's Learning Resource Center. This information forum is offered free of charge for area women who may be considering returning to college.

The Second Chances program is designed to help women realize their career dreams, even though their educations might have been interrupted by work or family responsibilities. The Garrett County Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW), along with the Business and Professional Women's Club, Garrett College, and the Women's Civic Club, sponsors this annual event.

"The Garrett County AAUW is very pleased to be working again with the college and other community groups to make this program available for women who are considering returning to school," said Marilyn Moors, AAUW president. "We know from past experience that this workshop has been an important and positive force in helping women transition back into college work. We who have interrupted our own educations know how important it is to feel welcomed and accepted when coming back to school. We are looking forward with great anticipation to meeting this year's group."

The Garrett College student panelists for the workshop will be Melva Meadows and Teresa Feather. Meadows participated in the Second Chances workshop several years ago, where she says she heard the words and met the people that changed her direction in life. She felt she had found what she had been looking for – a way to move forward.

"My children both finished college, and my daughter is working on her master's degree," Meadows said. "They have been telling me that I should go back to school and study something that I'm interested in."

She applied to Garrett College, registered, and started back to school to study accounting.

"I have now decided to go on for my AA degree in business administration and not stop with the certification," she said. She is now in her fourth semester of college.

Feather, a wife and mother of two sons, also attended the Second Chances forum and found out how she could turn a disappointing situation into an opportunity for growth. She had received her first AA degree from Garrett in 1981 in secretarial science. Since then, technologies and jobs have changed.

"In 2009, I was laid off from my full-time job," Feather said. But instead of being distraught by the situation, she took action.

"It was the perfect opportunity to go back to college and update my computer skills," she said. "I enrolled in the Computer Applications certificated program. After completing my certificate, I needed only about 20 more credits to obtain my second AA degree in business computer applications. I will graduate in May."

Roundtable discussions during the workshop will include information on scholarships and financial aid, career exploration, class scheduling, and developing support networks. Two Garrett College faculty members will talk about their experiences in aiding returning female college students.

The program will begin at 9 a.m., with registration and coffee starting at 8:30 a.m. Other activities will include a tour of the college campus and a drawing for a $500 scholarship provided by the AAUW. The program will conclude with lunch in the college cafeteria. Childcare will be available for participants who wish to bring their children. There is no charge to attend the workshop, but advance registration is necessary for childcare.

Women interested in attending Second Chances are encouraged to preregister with Rachelle Davis at Garrett College, 301-387-3044, or with AAUW president Marilyn Moors, 301-746-4057.

Be Still and Know

When we are in trouble, what do we do? Leap into action? Is doing something better than doing nothing? It is if that something is asking God for help…if we can stop trying to control things and listen for His guidance. Consider what God said to Job… "Pay attention, Job, and listen to me; be silent, and I will speak" (Job 33.31). Worship each week and grow closer to God, be ready to listen for His wisdom.

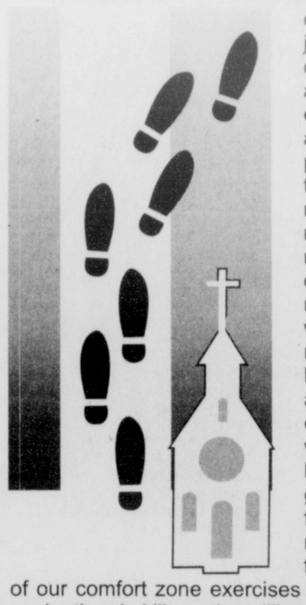
Wander Off the Trail



We are creatures of habit, and this is just as true in our day-to-day travels as it is in our everyday activities and rituals. The problem with always taking the usual route is that we rarely see anything new. The pleasure of the unexpected is much more likely when we try a new route. Most of us try hard to not go astray, but every once in a while it's worth seeing what happens when we get lost. Besides finding something new, we might also find that getting out of our comfort zone exercises new skills, such as navigational skills or the willingness to ask for help, and directions. In the end, we just don't know what we will find when we get off the beaten track. Serendipity, the finding of unexpected good things by accident, is perhaps the best reason to wander off the trail. It makes sense to take a look every now and then to keep track of where you are, but we should not be afraid to wander off a bit. We can always get home from wherever we are.

The LORD will keep yourgoing out and your comingin from this time forthand for evermore.

R.S.V. Psalm 121:8

Why 'Criminal Minds' is no longer Cook-ing

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: Why did A.J. Cook leave "Criminal Minds"? –David McCord, Federal Way, Wash.

A: The producers opted not to pick up her contract for the CBS crime drama, sparking more than a bit of protest from fans of the show when it happened. Cook did appear in the season's first couple of episodes to wrap up the story of her character, JJ, and that reportedly was a direct result of the outcry by audience members. Since her departure from "Criminal Minds," Cook turned up in an episode of NBC's "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit" that also featured Jeremy Irons,

Q: What ever happened to "The Starter Wife" with Debra Messing? I had anticipated more but lost track. –Rachelle Tucker, Columbus, Ohio

A: Depending on how much you saw, you may have seen all there was to see. After the favorable reception given the 2007 miniseries based on Gigi Levangie Grazer's novel, USA Network ordered a weekly version – in which Messing continued in the central role – that ultimately lasted only one season (2008-09).

Q: Marlee Matlin recently guest starred on "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation." Is the man who interpreted for her the same man who has been with her for years, going all the way back to the series she did with Mark Harmon years ago? I can't remember the name of the show. –Carole Zeiher, Kenmore, N.Y.

A: That NBC series was titled "Reasonable Doubts," and yes, Jack Jason has been "Children of a Lesser God" Oscar winner Matlin's longtime interpreter both on-camera and off. He's by her side again as she currently participates in the just-started season of NBC's "The Celebrity Apprentice."

Q: Why do they keep running reruns of the new "Hawaii Five-0"? I love the show but am really sick of reruns of it this early in the game. –Dot Foster, Fulton, Mo.

A: As we typically do with questions of this nature, we direct you to the phrase "Do the math." A series generally has 22 new episodes per television season; a television season has roughly 39 weeks, so ... do the math. There aren't enough new episodes for every week of the season, so yes, there will be repeats.

In defense of CBS and "Hawaii Five-0," though, the show had a healthy run of fresh episodes before it reverted to repeats. The network also wants to save some of the remaining new episodes for the end of the season. Therefore, expect some more repeats over the coming weeks.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was computer guru Jef Raskin who made the following sage observation: "Imagine if every Thursday your shoes exploded if you tied them the usual way. This happens to us all the time with computers, and nobody thinks of complaining."

• Most people think of Abraham Lincoln as an iconic president and the Great Emancipator, but many don't realize that he also was an inventor. He was issued patent No. 6,469 for an inflatable device he designed to help buoy river-going vessels over shoals.

• If you get squeamish around bugs, you might not want to read the following little tidbit of information: Nearly every human carries around tiny eyelash mites that live out their entire lives on our faces -- including mating and laying eggs there.

• Due to a series of earthquakes in 1811 and 1812, the Mississippi River ran backward for a time.

• An enterprising inventor named Andrew Schneider has come up with the latest geek apparel: a solar bikini. With it, you can tan while also charging up your iPod. No word on whether there are solar swim trunks in the pipeline for men.

• J.K. Rowling's Harry Potter books are so popular worldwide that now they're not even being writing by Rowling herself. The booming bootleg industry in China seems to have taken the Potter series to heart, creating such titles as "Harry Potter and th Leopard Walk-Up-To Dragon," "Harry Potter and the Chinese Overseas Students at the Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry," "Harry Potter and the Chinese Porcelain Doll," "Rich Dad, Poor Dad and Harry Potter" and "Harry Potter and the Filler of Big."

• On March 15, 45 B.C, Julius Caesar, the "dictator for life" of the Roman Empire, is murdered by his own senators at a meeting in a hall next to Pompey's Theatre. The conspiracy against Caesar encompassed as many as 60 noblemen, including Caesar's own protege, Marcus Brutus.

• On March 20, 1345, according to scholars at the University of Paris, the Black Death, also known as the Plague, is created from what they call "a triple conjunction of Saturn, Jupiter and Mars in the 40th degree of Aquarius. It is now known that bubonic plague was carried by fleas.

• On March 14, 1879, Albert Einstein is born, the son of a Jewish electrical engineer, in Ulm, Germany. Einstein's theories of relativity drastically altered man's view of the universe, and his work helped make possible the atomic bomb.

• On March 17, 1905, future president Franklin Delano Roosevelt weds his fifth cousin once removed, Eleanor Roosevelt, in New York. In 1918, Eleanor was devastated to discover that Franklin was having an affair with her secretary, Lucy Mercer. When Eleanor threatened to leave him, his mother intervened and offered to support Eleanor financially if she would stay in the marriage.

• On March 18, 1911, Irving Berlin copyrights the biggest pop song of the early 20th century, "Alexander's Ragtime Band." In the first two decades of the 20th century, musical popularity was based not on the sale of recorded performances, but on the sale of sheet music. Future Berlin hits would include "White Christmas" and "God Bless America."

• On March 16, 1926, American Robert H. Goddard launches the world's first liquid-fueled rocket at Auburn, Mass. The rocket, fueled by liquid oxygen and gasoline, traveled for 2.5 seconds at a speed of about 60 mph, reaching an altitude of 41 feet and landing 184 feet away.

• On March 19, 1957, Elvis Presley puts down a $1,000 deposit on a $102,500 house in Memphis, Tenn. The Southern mansion on a 13.8-acre wooded estate was later named Graceland. Today, Graceland is the second-most-visited house in America, after the White House.

Collecting
by Larry Cox

Q: I have a large collection of Avon bottles. Even though I don't have the Internet, I hope you can help me find out current values. -- Pauline, Manchester, N.H.

A: Since so many readers have written me recently about Avon collectibles, a brief history lesson might be in order.

The California Perfume Company was founded in 1886. Even though the "Avon" line was introduced by the company during the 1920s, it was not marketed as such until 1939. Collecting, especially the earlier items, is still brisk, but prices appear to have softened in recent years. For example, a 1960s globe bank that contained bubble-bath crystals was valued in a 1975 price guide for $35, and currently retails for about $15.

There are several fairly good price guides available that you can find online at www.amazon.com.

Q: I have an issue of Good Housekeeping, the Christmas edition, from December 1928. What is it worth? -- Linda, Cuba City, Wisc.

A: As with most collectibles, condition is paramount. Does your magazine have its original cover. Has anything been clipped from it, and does it show signs of obvious wear. Who designed the cover, and is there anything exceptional about the magazine's content? Good Housekeeping was first published in 1885 and was acquired by Hearst in 1911. It was without a doubt one of America's most successful magazines. Highlights include covers and illustrations by such artists as Jessie Willcox Smith and Coles Phillips. Look, too, for stories by Kathleen Norris, Pear S. Buck, Sinclair Lewis, Agatha Christie and Stephen Vincent Benet. The Rose O'Neill kewpies also are collectible.

If your magazine is fairly standard, it is probably worth about $20. If it has an exceptional cover or features any of the above mentioned talents, it is worth more.

Fresh Water

I know it's cold out there, but birds still need fresh water. Birdbaths don't have to be fancy. Just make sure they're easy to clean and shallow, so small birds will use them. Many online or local sources carry de-icers or heated birdbaths. The birds will thank you.

A BETTER ALTERNATIVE

Due to recent government incentives, short sales are becoming the darling of the distressed-property marketplace. A short sale keeps owners out of foreclosure, because the lenders allow the homeowners to sell their house for less than they owe.

Banks have really sped up the process, hiring large numbers to serve the short sale specialty. In early 2010, one of the very largest banks had more than doubled the number of short sales it approved, sometimes as quickly as 24 days. Compare that to last year, when short sales stalled indefinitely or took more than six months to complete.

The biggest roadblock to approval was often a second mortgage held by the seller. Since the primary lender must be paid first, the second lien holder could be left with nothing, and they would basically kill the sale. But now the Home Affordable Foreclosure Alternatives (HAFA) program provides money to primary lenders who share the proceeds with the second lien holders. HAFA also provides up to $6,000 to those secondary lenders if they release their claim.

Short sales keep borrowers out of foreclosure and reduce the impact on their credit. While foreclosure can shave 200 points off your score, the penalty for a short sale is only half of that. Hopefully, a boom in short sales will also bring us closer to ending the ongoing foreclosure crisis.

Paul Durham, Heritage Resource Photography, was the guest speaker at the recent Mountaintop Photography Club meeting. He presented works from his personal gallery, which he started as a teenager.

Durham also discussed the technique of visualization, which he demonstrated with photos of the American West, Appalachia, Ireland, the British Isles, Haiti, and Garrett County.

Following the program, the club held its bimonthly competition with categories that included Emotions, Special Effects, and Open. Guest judge and award winning photographer Guy Hinebaugh selected the first, second, and third places in each category. First place winners included Mike Reed, Beth Spencer, and Bill Schrider.

The club's next scheduled guest speaker will be Crede Calhoun of Vision Quest Studios on Thursday, March 24, at 7 p.m. in the Conference Room at Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty in McHenry. Calhoun will talk about his inspirations. Vision Quest is an award-winning photography and design firm specializing in weddings, family portraits, commercial, and adventure imagery.

For more information about the club, persons may contact club president Beth Spencer at 304-678-4063 or b9th@wildblue.net. One may also visit Facebook: Mountaintop Photography Club – Maryland for a complete list of events.

LIQUID NATURAL GAS
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. I read that United Parcel Service is introducing a fleet of trucks that will run on liquid natural gas. Do you think that fuel can someday replace gasoline?

A. Natural gas (methane, CH_4) definitely burns and works as a motor fuel. The only thing that is exceptional about liquid natural gas (LNG) is that it takes up less space when it's a liquid, cooled to -254 F = -162 C. The density of LNG is about 40% that of water, roughly 60% that of gasoline.

The great advantage of gasoline is that it's a liquid at room temperature and is easy to transport, easy to refill at a gas station.

Converting an engine to run on natural gas is not difficult. Already there are fleets of trucks, buses, and taxis that run on CH_4 (at room temperature), which is stored on board the vehicle as a highly compressed gas. If the methane were liquid, it wouldn't need to be compressed, but it must be kept extremely cold to stay liquid; so you take your choice of obstacles.

To get methane into a liquid state requires a cryogenic refrigerator, a more complex machine than your ordinary household refrigerator. Cooling methane to make it liquid requires considerable energy; the cost of running the cryogenic refrigerator is equivalent to about 1/3 of the energy in the gas. Meanwhile, compressing methane gas requires some energy too, but the main disadvantage is that any strong tank that holds compressed gas is heavy, which adds weight to the vehicle.

Either way, the foremost problem with methane is getting it to the vehicle. Today we face a "chicken and egg" problem: There are few vehicles that run on methane, so there is no reason to build "gas stations" that dispense methane; and because there is no place to fill up, people don't want such vehicles and there's no incentive to build them. The fleets that do run on methane have their vehicles come back to a central facility every night to be refueled. Natural gas arrives at that building through a gas pipe, just like any other large building.

What's special in the United Parcel Service announcement about LNG trucks is that these will be over-the-road trucks that don't come home at night, but cover hundreds of miles (routes like Los Angeles to Las Vegas). The company is big enough to have refueling facilities at both ends. Note that 50 trucks is a fairly small-scale experiment, out of 10,000 trucks. If experience is favorable, they'll probably do more later on.

Gradually, we can expect the "fleet" idea to catch on, and we'll see more methane stations and more vehicles, which will alleviate the chicken & egg problem. The fact that natural gas is likely to be a whole lot cheaper than gasoline for a long time is the primary incentive for fleet owners to invest in the entire system. Ideally, some day it will be easy for the average citizen to find a methane station for an ordinary car. When that comes true, auto manufacturers will build vehicles that run on it, and natural gas will partially replace gasoline in the national market.

When natural gas has to be moved across an ocean, it is first necessary to liquefy it. Huge ships comparable to oil tankers are able to dock at specialized terminals, such as the one at Cove Point on the Chesapeake Bay. Such ships are essentially gigantic thermos bottles, with insulation sufficient to prevent boiling away of very much liquid. The United States would be able to either export or import LNG, depending on foreign demand and domestic supply – but it will be only a tiny fraction of the total natural gas used.

Dr. Sheahen lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Fourth Annual "K-9s, Tunes & Brews" Slated

HART for Animals' "K-9s, Tunes & Brews" (KTB) event returns to Wisp Resort on Saturday, May 28, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The popular event raises funds for the HART Animal Adoption Center and has become a magnet event for the county, attracting visitors from as far away as Richmond, Va., and New York City, according to event organizes.

This year, KTB is expanding its dog-related activities by combining the HART event with the first day of a "Dock Dog" event put on by Three Rivers Dock Dogs, a club for people who like having fun in the water with their dogs. The club will put on demonstrations, trials, and competitions in the water sports of "Big Air," a long jump equivalent for canine athletes; "Extreme Vertical," a canine high jump contest; and "Speed Retrieve," a test of canine quickness in retrieving a toy.

POPULAR FUNDRAISER RETURNING – HART for Animals' fourth annual K-9s, Tunes & Brews will be bigger than ever, according to event organizers. Scheduled for Saturday, May 28, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Wisp Resort, the fundraiser will include dog demonstrations and competitions, music, children's games, and a beer garden for adults. See story for details. Pictured is a scene at the height of last year's KTB, which garnered $22,000 for the local nonprofit organization.

KTB is billed as "an event for the whole family, including the dog." As in previous years, award-winning breweries will create a beer garden setting for adults to taste a variety of brews. Live music will be played all day, and food will be sold on the terrace at the Wisp Lodge.

KTB's popular Kid Central, the area for children of all ages, will be expanded with a moon bounce, more carnival-type games, temporary tattoos and face painting, pony rides, and other activities.

The KTB dog ring will be the site for fun competitions, with prizes in such categories as "looks most like owner" and "longest tail," as well as hosting the Frisbee-catching MAD (Mid-Atlantic Disc) Dogs and dog obedience demonstrations.

Admission to the event is $10 for adults; and free for children 12 and under accompanied by an adult. Admission includes music on The Stage, dog ring events, and the Saturday Dock Dog competitions, and a souvenir mug (IDs will be checked and "Over 21" wristbands will be issued.)

Wisp Resort is located at 296 Marsh Hill Road, McHenry. For additional information, persons may visit the HART web page, hartforanimals.org, or the Wisp Resort page, wispresort.com.

On Dean's List At Frostburg St.

Jaclyn Skeweris, Frostburg, has been named to the dean's list at Frostburg State University for "outstanding" academic achievement for the fall 2010 semester. A senior majoring in music at FSU, Skeweris is a graduate of Southern High School.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must complete a minimum of 12 credit hours and earn a cumulative semester grade point average of at least 3.4 on a 4.0 scale.

Virginia Man Charged With DUI, DWI

A Virginia man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drinking and driving charges early Saturday morning.

Police responded to a single-vehicle accident on George Washington Highway near Ben Dewitt Road at approximately 2 a.m. Bradley Jay Creamer, 42, Gore, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad. He was charged with driving under the influence and driving while impaired.

Gorman and Aurora volunteer fire departments also responded to the scene.

Local Dentist Plans To Retire

Dr. W. Porter Welch has announced he will retire from the practice of general dentistry effective July 1.

Welch is a 1962 graduate of Southern High School and a recipient of the Danforth Award. He earned a bachelor of arts degree from West Virginia University in 1966 and graduated from the university's school of dentistry with a doctor of dental surgery degree in May of 1969.

Welch began his career employed by the Garrett County Head Start Program providing dental care for children. He then enlisted in the Army Dental Corps with the rank of captain. After receiving his honorable discharge, Welch returned to Oakland and established his dental practice at 139 Highland Dr.

All of the doctor's patients are reminded that if they wish to obtain a copy of their dental records they should call the office at 301-334-9545. All records must be picked up by 5 p.m. on June 30.

Fruit/Vegetable Conference Set

The third annual Mtn. Top Fruit and Vegetable Conference will be held at Garrett College on Friday, March 18, beginning at 9 a.m. The conference brings several extension, industry, and innovative farms together to share updated knowledge, research, and technology related to fruit and vegetable production.

Topics at this year's conference will be postharvest handling of tomatoes, postharvest handling for small scale producers, fertilizer programs for high tunnel tomatoes, crop enhancement products, tomato ripening disorders, corn earworm control and Bt sweet corn, energy efficient greenhouses, getting the most out of a high tunnel, marketing produce, and season-long production of fruit in Maryland.

The conference will also feature fruit and vegetable vendors in a small trade show.

The cost for the program is $12, which includes lunch. To register for the conference, persons may call the extension office at 301-334-6960.

Extension Office To Hold Tour Of W.Va. Program

The University of Maryland Extension in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties will conduct a tour of the West Virginia Bull Evaluation Program at Wardensville on Saturday, March 19.

The West Virginia test has used the "GrowSafe 4000E" system since 2003. This feeding system allows the test to calculate the feed efficiency of bull growth in addition to typical measures such as rate of gain.

Extension specialists from West Virginia University will meet the participants and explain the testing program and beef cattle genetics.

This program is being sponsored by a grant from the North East Center for Risk Management Education.

Anyone who would like to participate in the program should contact the Garrett County Extension office at 301-334-6960.

Participants should meet at the Garrett County Extension office at 8:30 a.m. The program at Wardensville will run from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., with lunch being provided.

MISSION VISION ATTENDS DARE2SHARE – The young adults of the local Mission Vision group recently visited Washington, D.C., to attend the evangelistic conference Dare2Share. The nationally known organization focuses on teaching young adults how to reach their communities and other youth with the Gospel message. During the conference, the group was assigned to a particular nearby area in order to put into practice the message they learned during the conference. Pictured above in the front row, from left, are Logan Lancaster, Zach Willmon, Frances Ford, Anna Ford, Melody White, and Cari Geer. In the back row are Nic Willmon, Melanie Wilson, Rachel Geer, Tyler Willmon, John Martin, and Brandon Roberts. Not pictured is Jodi Willmon. The Mission Vision group is currently serving the Special Olympics, The Anchor, Operation Christmas Child, the Dove Center, Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center, the Oakland Rotary Club, and Garrett Memorial Hospital. All interested young adults age 16 to 24 are welcome. They will have the opportunity to use their talents, skills, and individualities to serve others and to grow in character, patience, compassion, and responsibility. Recreational activities include camping, concerts, adventure sports, coffee house visits, hiking, swimming, and others. Training activities include mission training, mission trips, and teen conferences. For more information, persons may call Fran Ford at 301-616-1149 or Jodi Willmon at 301-334-1818. Mission Vision is a nonprofit organization, but does encourage donations in order to support goals. One hundred percent of all gifts and fundraising profits will be directly used to fund these services and activities. To make a donation, funds may be directed to Mission Vision, c/o WEPCO FCU, 12826 Garrett Highway, Oakland, 21550.

Town Hall

ACCIDENT

This month's town meeting was held on Thursday, March 3, at the town hall.

Council members Hahn and Scaffido were given the Oath of Office by Mayor Carlson.

County commissioners Jim Raley and Bob Gatto and county administrator Monty Pagenhardt were present to discuss the tax differential offered to the Garrett County municipalities.

The next town meeting will be held on Thursday, April 7, at 7 p.m. at the town hall.

Selected For Hall Of Fame

The Garrett County Commission for Women has announced the 2011 inductees for the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame.

Betty Ellington of Oakland and Carolyn Ganoe of Grantsville will be inducted into the hall at a breakfast at Will O' the Wisp on Saturday, March 26, at 10 a.m.

Reservations may be made for the event by calling Beverly Beard at 301-334-5987. Tickets for the breakfast buffet are set at $18 and may be paid for at the door.

Four "Champion Trees" Named In Garrett Co.

The Maryland Big Tree Program, which certifies the largest tree of each species in the state, has named four trees in Garrett County as "champion" trees.

Local University of Maryland master gardeners have recently measured four large specimen trees, two located in the southern end of the county and two in the northern section.

The first two were in the southern part of the county.

"A white ash (Fraxinus americana) is a beautiful specimen measuring 12 feet 7 inches in circumference," said Justin Hunt, Garrett County master gardener coordinator. "The other tree, a Norway spruce (Picea abies), was also a sight to see at 9 feet 9 inches. Both trees are absolutely astounding."

The owner of the property on which these two trees stand is Rick Bartlett, who allowed volunteer Jerry Crabtree and Hunt to ride his snowmobiles to the massive trees.

"We truly had a great time measuring these giants," Hunt said, adding that they appreciated Bartlett's cooperation and assistance.

An eastern hemlock (Tsuga Canadensis) and northern red oak (Quercus rubra) near Accident were named champion of their species in Maryland last week.

One, a red oak, is on the property of Ida Maust. The second is located on the property of the Keller Christmas Tree Farm. Hunt met with Susan Keller to find this tree, which is an eastern hemlock.

"This tree has a one-of-a-kind look about it," Hunt said, noting that songbirds of many varieties were clustered on the tree.

Hunt expressed thanks to both Maust and Keller for allowing the viewing and measuring of the trees.

Residents who know of large trees that may be eligible for the designation are asked to contact the University of Maryland Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960 or jhunt123@umd.edu.

The Garrett County master gardeners will assist in certifying eligible trees.

The Family of Russell Eugene Upole would like to extend many heartfelt thanks to everyone who called, sent cards, visited, and for the many prayers sent to our family during the illness and passing of my husband and the children's dad.

Thank you to those that made monetary donations, and those who sent flowers. Thanks to my neighbors, you went above and beyond for us.

Thanks to Walmart, and family members who brought or sent food for the meal, and helping with the dinner.

Thank you to the VFW for the use of your facility for the dinner.

Thanks to David Burdock Funeral Home for the helpfulness given to us during this difficult time.

Thank you to all the pallbearers.

A special thanks to Rev. Leslie (Les) Moats for your wonderful service. We were blessed by God by having a great husband and dad.

Loving and missing you always.
God bless you all.

Girl Scouts Speak During Swanton Church Service

The Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church invited the Swanton Honored Girl Scouts to speak at its worship service on Sunday. The three keynote speakers were Linda Glotfelty, Rita Savage, and Carolyn Livengood. Other Scouts in attendance were Mary Harvey, Mareva Teets, Wanda DeVore, and Sandra Schofield.

The Swanton Honored Girl Scout Troop began in 1950 with sponsorship from the Swanton Evangelical United Brethern Church through missions of the Ladies Aid Society. In 1951, Harvey became a Girl Scout leader and Teets the assistant Girl Scout leader. They received training in their positions in New York, and returned to share learning opportunities to serve God and community.

Livengood stated that, under the leadership of Harvey and Teets, she and Glotfelty trained to compete in the second annual Girl Scout Roundup, held in Colorado. At the event, 10,000 Scouts from 20 countries gathered at the base of Pike's Peak in 5,000 pup tents.

At this gathering, the Scouts celebrated the induction of the newly formed state of Alaska by flying its flag. To represent their home, Livengood and Glotfelty took maple candies and sassafras tea.

According to Glotfelty, on the day of their demonstration, high winds blew a nearby fire onto the demonstration tent, prompting the Swanton representative to douse the flames with the tea. After Harvey, Wanda Maphis became the Swanton Girl Scout leader and incorporated her family's pony ranch into the troop's activities.

Her assistants were Savage (then Rita O'Brien), Harvey, Lois Sweitzer, and Helen Bray. Savage attended the third Girl Scout Roundup, which was held in Idaho.

After attending another Roundup in Vermont, Schofield penned a history of the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church. Her research was guided and approved by Rev. Roy Butler in 1965.

Lawmakers May Ban Smoking In Cars When Children Are Present

by Holly Nunn
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – A bill to ban smoking in a car occupied by a child, which has been stopped in committee four years running, may finally make it to the floor of the House of Delegates this year.

The bill has more sponsors this year than in the past, especially in the House Environmental Matters Committee, where it needs a favorable vote to get to the floor for debate. Thirteen members of the committee are sponsors.

Its fate in the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee is less certain.

The legislation would impose a $50 fine for smoking in a vehicle in which there is a child under the age of 8, the same age at which children are required to be in safety seats.

"This is a common sense measure that really protects kids," said Delegate Ben Barnes, D-Prince George's and a bill sponsor, at a hearing Tuesday before the committee. "We've done this with regard to safety seats on the road, and this is the next natural extension of that."

Critics say the bill is an attempt to overrule parents with regard to children's health. During a Senate committee hearing, Sen. James Brochin, D-Baltimore County, likened it to legislating sunscreen requirements or restricting the foods that parents feed their children.

Supporters of the bill, including the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and the Center for Tobacco Regulation at the University of Maryland School of Law, cite studies that report toxicity in a closed car while smoking is 10 times the level deemed safe for children by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. With windows open, it's three times the toxic level.

Sen. Jennie Forehand is sponsoring the bill in the Senate, where it has seven other sponsors. Forehand, a Montgomery County Democrat with a long history of pushing anti-smoking legislation, is the only sponsor on the Judicial Proceedings Committee where the bill needs a favorable vote to make it to the Senate floor.

Forehand said the $50 fine isn't to raise money or penalize, but to educate.

"Sometimes the public doesn't get the idea that something is really important until we pass a law," Forehand said. "It's child abuse, subjecting kids to things that have been known to harm them."

Other supporters, including perennial sponsor Sen. Richard Madaleno, another Montgomery County Democrat, see the issue as a budget problem.

"It's a burden to the state when people on state-provided health care have smoking-related illness," said Madaleno's aid, Adam Fogel. "The state has a very real interest in preventing illness by smoking, and in reducing smoking in general."

A Johns Hopkins School of Public Health study from 2005 reports that second-hand smoke costs $73 million a year in children's medical treatment.

But Bruce Bereano, a lobbyist for the Maryland Association of Tobacco and Candy Distributors, has called the bill "over-the-top big-brotherism" and "death by a thousand hassles" for the tobacco industry.

"The assumption is that adults do not have common sense," Bereano said. "We, the state of Maryland, have to step in and be parents."

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY

527 Deer Run Lane, Swanton, MD 21561-2058

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from John A. Scourtis dated February 20, 2008, and recorded at Liber 1356, Folio 421 among the Land Records of Garrett County, MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at Alder Street Entrance of the Circuit Court for Garrett Co, located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD 21550, on:

March 11, 2011, at 3:00 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $18,000.00 by cash or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, MD. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. All public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit without interest. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement, the deposit shall be forfeited, and the property shall be resold at the purchaser's risk and expense. The purchaser agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00 plus costs, which fee does not include attendance at any hearings, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Hearings will be charged at attorneys' hourly rate. Additional terms to be announced at the time of sale. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement, to the Seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

The Town of Kitzmiller
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
MARCH 14, 2011

The Mayor and Town Council of Kitzmiller will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on community development and housing needs, and to offer citizens the opportunity to hear and review plans for applications which the Mayor and Town Council propose to submit to the MD Department of Housing and Community Development for funding through the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program. The project being considered for inclusion in the CDBG application is an amendment to the current CDBG project – the Levee Re-certification project. The amendment will request an extension of time for the current grant and additional funds needed to complete the levee re-certification process. The hearing will be held 6:30 PM March 14, 2011, at the Kitzmiller Town Hall.

In addition, Mayor and Town Council of Kitzmiller will take this opportunity to review the progress and status of various projects currently funded by the CDBG Program. These include the Levee Re-certification project (CDBG Grant # MD-10-CD-06 and the Slum and Blight Removal project (CDBG # MD-10-CD-05)

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development, in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development.

The Maryland Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

(1) give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;

(2) aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;

(3) meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

Efforts will be made to accommodate the disabled and non-English speaking residents with five days notice. Contact Diane Paugh at 301-453-3449.

Proposed School Closing Plan

The following Garrett County Public Schools closure plan is proposed for the school year commencing August 2011.

Proposed Closing of Kitzmiller Elementary School
A public hearing will be held:
Date: Thursday, March 24, 2011 (weather make-up on Thursday, March 31)
Time: 7:00 p.m.
Place: Kitzmiller Elementary Multipurpose Room

Testimony at the hearing will be limited to three minutes per person but written testimony and/or data may be submitted to the Board of Education at the address below in conjunction with the testimony or in lieu of an oral presentation. Any written testimony and/or data should be postmarked no later than April 1, 2011, so that it may be considered by the Board of Education.

Regular Board Meeting

The Superintendent will make his final recommendation at the regular monthly Board of Education meeting at Southern Middle School, 605 Harvey Winters Road, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on Tuesday, April 5, 2011*. Members of the public will be permitted three minutes per person to speak following the Superintendent's recommendation which will occur near the end of the public session which begins at 5:30 p.m. Written testimony may also be submitted.

Special Board Meeting

The Board of Education will conduct a special meeting at Southern Middle School, 605 Harvey Winters Road, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on Tuesday, April 12, 2011*, at 6:00 p.m. to vote on the proposed school closing plan. Members of the public will also be permitted three minutes per person to speak, or present written testimony or data, at this meeting prior to the Board's vote.

The Board of Education will, at a minimum, consider the following factors before rendering a final decision: (1) student enrollment trends; (2) age or condition of school buildings; (3) transportation; (4) educational programs; (5) ethnic and racial composition of the student body; (6) financial factors; (7) student relocation; (8) impact on community; and (9) such other factors enumerated by the Superintendent or which the Advisory Group finds to be relevant. The final decision will include contemplation of these factors and public input, and will set forth the rationale for the Board's decision to close or not close the school.

If the Board's final decision is to close the school, the rationale for the Board's decision shall address the impact of the proposed closing on the factors listed above. The final decision will be made in writing and announced no later than April 30, 2011. If the decision is to close Kitzmiller Elementary School, the affected students will be transferred to Yough Glades Elementary School in August of 2011, for the 2011-12 school year.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
AMENDMENT TO THE GARRETT COUNTY WATER AND SEWERAGE MASTER PLAN
PEE WEE HILL WATER SUPPLY REPLACEMENT PROJECT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Thursday, March 17, 2011, at 5:30 p.m. in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider an amendment to the Garrett County Water and Sewerage Master Plan. A summary of the proposed amendment is as follows:

Pee Wee Hill Water Supply Replacement Project

The Maryland Department of the Environment Land Management Administration's Abandoned Mine Land Division has requested inclusion of a water system to serve approximately 23 dwellings in the Pee Wee Road area near Kitzmiller, Maryland. The project will consist of a water booster pump station, approximately 14,700 LF of water pipeline, a 105,000 gallon water storage tank, fire protection, service connections and appurtenances. The water supply for the proposed distribution system will be obtained from the Kitzmiller Water System.

Mapping of the proposed project area and the complete text of the proposed amendment can be obtained from the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities located at 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Thursday, March 17, 2011, in order to determine if incorporation of the proposed amendment will promote public health, safety and welfare in the proposed service area.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AND ANY IMPROVEMENTS THEREON
65 Brobst Rd.
Accident, MD 21520

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Tracey L. Espada and Eric D. Espada dated June 24, 2009, and recorded in Liber 1452, Folio 291, among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $407,000.00 and an original interest rate of 5.00000% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD, at the East Alder St. entrance, on March 28, 2011, at 1:30 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with any buildings or improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, and any improvements thereon, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $41,000 in cash, cashier's check or certified check is required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public and/or private charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay, attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if ratification of the sale is denied by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $395.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for preparation of deed and review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS
Architectural Services for Green Acres Apartments Application to the WV LIHTCP

Garrett County (Maryland) Community Action Committee (GCCAC) is requesting proposals from qualified professional architects to provide architectural services and assistance in preparing an application to the West Virginia Housing Development Funds (WVHDF) Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program (LIHTCP) and financing the rehabilitation of the 58-unit Green Acres Apartments at 203 Pleasant Avenue, Kingwood, West Virginia.

Proposal specifications for the project are posted on the GCCAC website at www.garrettcac.org. The proposed decision will be based on the most qualified architect completing similar projects under the LIHTC Program and with the most contribution to the scope of work for the compensation of $25,000.

GCCAC is seeking a qualified architect knowledgeable of affordable housing developments and financing, energy conservation and rehabilitation techniques, and in working with non-profit affordable housing developers.

The GCCAC reserves the right, which is understood an agreed to by all architectural firms, to reject any and all proposals and to waive any omissions, errors, mistakes, defects or irregularities in any proposal.

For additional information contact Cindy Sharon at GCCAC at 301-334-9431, x110. Proposals will be due by 1:00 p.m. on March 30, to: Cindy Sharon, GCCAC, 104 East Center Street, Oakland, MD 21550. Proposals submitted by fax or email will NOT be accepted. 3/3-10(2)

NOTICE TO PUBLIC
OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT
AND
NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS
March 10, 2011
Garrett County Board of County Commissioners
203 South Fourth Street
Oakland, MD, 21550
301-334-8970

The purpose of this Notice is to satisfy two separate but related procedural requirements for activities to be taken by the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners.

On or about March 25, 2011 the above named Garrett County Board of County Commissioners, will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds from the Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project title: Habitat Infrastructure at Hopeland Village

Purpose of project: Construction of infrastructure in support of 21 houses to be constructed by Garrett County Habitat for Humanity in the Hopeland Village subdivision.

Location: Rt. 135, Deer Park, Garrett County

Total Project Costs: $349,900

Finding of No Significant Impact

Notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined said project will have no significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), as amended, is not required and no further environmental review of the project is proposed prior to requesting the Release of Funds.

The Finding of No Significant Impact is based on the following: A previous environmental review was completed in 2003 for funding under SHOP (Self-Help Homeownership Opportunity Program) and it was determined that the project would have no significant impact on the human environment. Phase I of the infrastructure was installed and several homes were constructed. There have been no other changes to the site.

The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available for public examination at the office of the County Grant Resource Director, Peggy Jamison at 104 East Center St., Oakland during normal business hours.

Public Comments on Finding

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments respecting the environmental impacts of the described project to the Office of the County Grant Resource Director and to the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development. All such comments must be received no later than March 25, 2011. All comments will be considered and the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners will not request the release of funds nor take any action on the project prior to this date.

Request for Release of Funds

The Garrett County Board of County Commissioners will undertake the project described above with Maryland Community Development Block Grant Funds. This Notice also certifies that Gregan T. Crawford, serving in the official capacity of Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews decision-making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners may use the Maryland Community Development Block Grant Funds, and also the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) will have satisfied its responsibilities under that National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objections to the Release of Funds

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners has omitted a step or failed to make a decision or finding required by HUD regulations at 24 CFR Par 58: or (c) the grant recipient or other participants in the development process have committed funds, incurred costs or undertaken activities not authorized by this part before Release of Funds and approval of the environmental certification by DHCD; or (d) another Federal agency acting pursuant to 40 CFR Part 1504 has submitted a written finding that the project is unsatisfactory from the standpoint of environmental quality. All interested agencies, groups or persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners via the County Grant Resource Director at 104 E. Center St., Oakland, and to the CDBG Environmental Officer, MD Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than April 14, 2011. 3/10

Man Sentenced To Six Months On Rogue And Vagabond Charges

An Oakland man was recently sentenced to six months by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert for three counts of rogue and vagabond. He was also ordered to complete 18 months of supervised probation, to be monitored by the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation.

Kodie Alan Dawson, 20, was found guilty on the charges that stem from numerous vehicle burglaries that occurred in the Loch Lynn area this winter. He had reportedly broken into multiple parked vehicles and taken various items, including tools, money, and credit cards.

Five months and 14 days of Dawson's sentence was suspended, and he was given credit for two days served. He was also ordered to pay restitution totaling over $800 to three of the victims. He was not prosecuted on five additional counts of rogue and vagabond, theft less than $1,000 value, and six counts of theft less than $100. Garrett County sheriff's deputies were the arresting officers.

In other court news, Daniel Karl Heilig, 54, Oakland, was given a stet verdict on a possession of marijuana charge stemming from an arrest in October by Maryland State Police.

Joshua Meshac Browning, 38, Oakland, was not prosecuted on three counts of violation of an ex parte/protective order stemming from an arrest by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in October.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent District Court proceedings, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Harold Franklin Moreland, 58, Maryland, was found guilty on a DUI per se charge and sentenced to 60 days with 58 suspended. He was also ordered to pay $200 of a $1,000 fine and complete 18 months of supervised probation. He was not prosecuted on DUI and DWI charges, which also stem from the December arrest.

Walter Joseph Ranalli, 51, West Virginia, was found guilty on a DWI charge and sentenced to 60 days suspended. He was placed on two years' supervised probation and fined $500. Ranalli was arrested by Maryland State Police in December. He was not prosecuted on DUI and additional traffic charges.

Joshua F. Arnold, 19, Md., was given a probation before judgment verdict on a DUI per se charge stemming from a December traffic stop by Garrett County sheriff's deputies. He was sentenced to 45 days suspended and fined $1,000, of which $750 was suspended. Arnold was placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation. He was not prosecuted on DUI, DWI, and additional traffic charges.

Harry Joseph Devlin Jr., 52, Md., was given a PBJ on a DWI charge that stemmed from a December traffic stop by Maryland State Police. He was ordered to pay $300 of a $500 fine and sentenced to 30 days suspended. He was also placed on one year of unsupervised probation. Devlin was not prosecuted on DUI and DUI per se charges.

Bryan Anthony Burns, 24, Pennsylvania, was given a PBJ on a DWI charge and sentenced to 30 days suspended. He was arrested in January by Garrett County sheriff's deputies. Burns was ordered to pay $200 of a $500 fine and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. He was not prosecuted on DUI and DUI per se charges.

Christopher Wade Thomas, 23, Md., was given a stet verdict on DUI, DUI per se, and DWI charges that stem from a traffic stop in September by MSP. The conditions of his stet are that he attend and complete an alcohol education course at the Garrett County Health Department.

Amber Nicole Stalnaker, 23, Md., was not prosecuted on DWI by drugs, alcohol, or drugs and alcohol and DWI by a controlled dangerous substance charges.

SCHOOL BUS VIOLATIONS

Breann Michelle Whitacre, 24, W.Va., was given a PBJ for failing to stop for a school bus displaying flashing lights and was ordered to pay a fine of $250. She was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in December.

Nicholas Lockhart Gwiazdowsky, 22, Oakland, paid a fine of $150 for failure to stop for a bus. He was arrested in October by Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Krysta M. Parker, 24, Pa., was given a PBJ for failure to stop for a school bus and fined $150.

Douglas D. Hinebaugh, 45, W.Va., was given a PBJ and fined $150. He was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in October.

Kyle Anthony Tressler, 20, was found not guilty on a charge stemming from a December arrest by the GCSO.

CHICKEN DINNER

The youth of Asher Glade Church of the Brethren will hold a chicken and biscuit dinner on Saturday, March 19, from 4 to 7 p.m. Guests may eat in or take out. The menu will consist of creamed chicken and biscuits, green beans, mashed potatoes and gravy, pie, and a drink. Proceeds will benefit the youth attending church camp. The church is located on Rt. 42, just seven miles north of Friendsville. The public is invited to attend.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Friendsville United Methodist Church will hold revival services the week of April 4–8 at 7 p.m. each evening at the church. All are welcome.

CARD SHOWER

Ralph Humberson will celebrate his 87th birthday on Tuesday, March 15. Cards can be sent to him at Henry Clay Villa, 5253 National Pike, Markleysburg, PA 15459.

LIBRARY NEWS

The Ruth Enlow Library board of trustees will meet at the Friendsville Town Hall on Thursday, March 17, at 4:30 p.m. Grant money is available for libraries and a new proposed town hall/library multi-purpose building. Patrons of the library are invited to attend.

The Friendsville branch recently purchased the following items with money donated from the Friendsville Rescue Squad: alphabet carpet squares in the children's section for seating for programs, two floor model display racks for books – one cat and one dog, and book display easels to be used throughout the library.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG ABUSE AWARENESS

There will be an informative meeting at the Northern Rescue Squad building in Friendsville on Monday, April 11, from 6 to 7 p.m. to inform citizens of the growing problem of prescription drug abuse. This meeting is intended to shed light on the increasing problems that are caused by prescription drug abuse in our area, and what the parents and community members can do to help alleviate the problem.

According to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, out-of-date prescription drugs are dangerous and contribute to a number of problems, including children using these drugs. Those attending the meeting will learn how to prevent abuse in our community. Refreshments and door prizes will be offered. This event is sponsored by Friendsville Community Watch and the Northern Rescue Squad.

There will also be a Drug Take-Back Day on Saturday, April 30, at the squad building from 4 to 6 p.m. for expired and unused prescription drugs. More details will follow at a later date.

GIRL SCOUT COOKIES

Girl Scouts will be selling Girl Scout Cookies for the next three Saturdays, March 12, 19, and 26, at the Northern Rescue Squad building from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. all three days or until gone. All varieties of cookies will be on site for purchase at $3.50 per box.

Red Cross Seeks Donations For Devastated Japan

The American Red Cross, Western Potomac Chapter is actively seeking donations to relay to Japan after the magnitude 8.9 earthquake and resulting tsunami left towns and villages in that country devastated.

The Japanese Red Cross has indicated that it would accept financial support from the American Red Cross to provide first aid, emotional support, and relief items to those displaced.

Those interested in making a donation may do so by: sending a check made out to the American Red Cross to 400 Cumberland Street, Cumberland, MD 21502; going online to www.redcross.org; or by texting "redcross" to 90999 to make a $10 donation.

Checks sent to the Red Cross should be noted with "Japanese Earthquake," to ensure that all funds are forwarded to the organization's national headquarters and become part of the monetary commitment to Japan. Those who elect to text their donation will see the $10 applied to their next wireless bill or deducted from their prepaid balance.

The American Red Cross has not received any requests for blood from the Japanese Red Cross, the Japanese government, or the U.S. State Department.

At this time there is no request for in-kind support form the Japanese Red Cross.

According to a spokesperson, many donations, though well-intentioned, have hidden costs and pose many complications. Collected items must be examined, sorted, cleaned, packaged, shipped, and then distributed at the site. This effort requires time, money, and personnel to process, all precious resources in a disaster relief effort.

SNOWDROPS OF A DIFFERENT SORT – While most folks on the mountaintop sigh at the thought of more snow, they most likely are happy to welcome these particular snowdrops. The cheery little flowers are definite harbingers of spring, and are popping up, at last, across the county. And they are dressed in green, appropriate for St. Patrick's Day. The temps are warm today, and there is no sign of real snow anywhere in the forecast over the next week. Let the snowdrops – the growing ones – keep coming! Photo by Lisa Rook.

Grand Jury Hands Down Indictments In Escapee Case

State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch has announced service of indictments handed down by the March 2011 term of the grand jury. She explained that nine of the 10 indictments involved the escape from the Garrett County Jail of Deandre Kelly in January.

The persons charged are identified as follows: Chiquita Annette Richardson, 27, Alexandria, Va.; Eric Mandrell Nibbins, 26, Alexandria; Richard Demoan Hall Jr., 26, Frederick; Dionte Pierre Coley, 29, Cumberland; and Robert Leslie Marshall, 27, College Park.

Each is charged with conspiracy to commit escape, escape, first degree assault (two counts), second degree assault (two counts), and use of a handgun in the commission of a felony/crime of violence.

These five all appeared before Judge Jim Sherbin for arraignment. Each was advised of his/her various rights, and they entered pleas of not guilty. Judge Sherbin set bond at $500,000 for each defendant.

Two additional related indictments were served with summonses, as those defendants had already posted bond when they were originally arrested on warrants issued by the District Court commissioner. Amanda Sue Lambert, 23, Cumberland, and Jamal Antonie Kelly, 25, College Park, are charged with the same seven counts.

Warrants and indictments remain outstanding for two additional persons, with one of those being Deandre Kelly.

Also indicted was Timothy Daniel Wilt, 46, Kitzmiller. Wilt had previously been charged with arson and arson/fraud following an investigation by the Office of the Fire Marshal into the fire at Wilt's residence last May. However, after further review of the evidence and Wilt's circumstances, the state has determined Wilt should be prosecuted for an insurance fraud violation. He was arraigned by Sherbin, who set Wilt's bond at $10,000.

Gov. O'Malley Meets With GC Chamber Of Commerce For Tourism Roundtable

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce welcomed Gov. Martin O'Malley (above left) and his staff on Monday to release the 2010 Maryland State Parks Economic Impact and Visitor Study, and to discuss tourism and trails in Garrett County. Also in attendance were Sec. John R. Griffin, Department of Natural Resources; Sec. Christian S. Johansson, Department of Business and Economic Development; and Sec. Robert M. Summers, Department of the Environment.

In this special tourism roundtable meeting at New Germany State Park, chamber members thanked the governor for his support of many county projects, and Nicole Christian (above right), chamber president/CEO, spoke about the importance of and the potential for tourism growth in Garrett County.

Tourism is the fourth largest industry in the state of Maryland, and Garrett County is a key component of the industry, she noted. Christian also pointed out that Garrett County is home to eight state parks and two state forests; Wisp Resort, the only ski resort in Maryland; Deep Creek Lake, the largest freshwater lake in the state; and Adventure Sports Center International, the only mountaintop re-circulating whitewater course in the world.

According to the chamber, 1.1 million people visit Garrett County each year, spending approximately $243 million, and the total economic impact of tourism is $347 million.

In addition, 59 percent of Garrett County visitors come from outside the state, bringing new money into Maryland, and, with Maryland residents making up the other 41 percent of the county's visitors, Garrett County helps keep tourism dollars from leaving the state.

The governor's visit comes on the heels of a strong tourism year for Garrett County, Christian noted. At $32.4 million, 2010 was a record year in the county's accommodation sales, and the trend continued into 2011, as the county had its best January ever with collections at nearly $2.8 million.

Based on national and international tourism trends, the forecast is for tourism to continue to grow; though the local chamber anticipates that with rising gas prices, the competition for tourism dollars will be very fierce this summer.

The chamber, however, plans to leverage its partnership with the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, particularly the staff in the state Office of Tourism, to continue to build upon the county's tourism.

The roundtable meeting also covered the importance of developing trails in Garrett County to continue to enhance the area's tourism. Christian explained how the development of local trails is a key tourism strategy that helps leverage the county's scenic beauty and unique natural characteristics.

The chamber and Garrett Trails group continue to work together on a comprehensive trail system for Garrett County, including the development of the Continental Divide Loop Trail. Steve Green spoke on behalf of Garrett Trails to explain what has been accomplished in Garrett County and how the governor can assist with moving forward.

Representatives from Allegany County also attended the roundtable to discuss Arts and Main Street programs.

Commissioners Hear Staff Reports; Roads Dept. Begins Spring Cleanup

The Garrett County commissioners held their first quarterly staff meeting of the year last Tuesday morning, hearing reports from 14 county department and agency heads. Topics discussed included Roads Department budget issues, Community Action funding problems, the new Dove Center, and Garrett College expansion projects.

Roads Department

General roads superintendent Jay Moyer reported that the Roads Department was winding down winter operations and was beginning its spring cleanup of tons of antiskid material.

"This is a drawn-out process, and, hopefully, we won't receive too many more snow events that require antiskid to be put down," Moyer said.

He noted that sweepers purchased a couple years ago enable his department to recycle much of the material for reuse.

"Anything that we can pick up that doesn't contain leaves, sticks, or a lot of dirt, we recycle," Moyer said. "We don't throw away any more than we absolutely have to."

As of March 6, he said, the county has received 145 inches of snow, according to the State Highway Administration. Last winter it received a total of 264 inches.

Moyer noted that most of this year's snow/ice events have occurred on weekends, resulting in much overtime for crews.

"As of today (March 8), we have used 11,311.5 main hours of overtime, and that is roughly half of what we had last year," he said.

Moyer added his department has spent 75 percent of its budget, even though it is 67 percent through the budget year.

"That occurs annually because of the fact that the vast majority of the budget is for winter operations," he said about the inconsistency.

Because of overtime, the cost of antiskid, and other factors, his budget is $95,000 in the red. Moyer noted, however, that amendments can be made to level out the budget.

"I'm hearing good things about how the roads are this year," Commissioner Bob Gatto told Moyer.

Community Action

President Duane Yoder reported that Community Action recently weatherized more than 300 Garrett County homes. He noted that local home improvement contractors were utilized and funding for the work came from the federal stimulus program.

Yoder reported that his agency had also recently received $1 million from the federal government to install renewable energy systems in the form of wind, geothermal, and solar power to local homes. That project will begin this spring.

Though Community Action received much federal funding for projects in recent years, it could be facing a large cut in Community Services Block Grants (CSBG). President Barack Obama noted in his state-of-the-union address that he wants to cut the grants to help reduce the federal budget deficit in fiscal year 2012.

"The only program that he mentioned in that whole speech that he was going to cut was Community Action," Yoder said. "It's interesting because the Community Action program, as he defined it, really has very little impact on the deficit, the reduction."

Nonetheless, Obama wants to reduce Community Action Partnership block grants nationwide from $700 million to $350 million.

"It has some pretty serious consequences," Yoder said about the proposal, noting that the CSBG Program has provided core funding for community services for several years.

The local agency receives about $250,000 from the program each year.

"That's the flexible money that we use to subsidize programs that we support and build," Yoder said.

He said if that funding were to disappear the local

O'Malley Once Again Attempts To Repeal Coal Industry Tax Credit

by David Saleh Rauf
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – For the third consecutive year, Gov. Martin O'Malley is attempting to repeal a multi-million dollar tax credit the Maryland coal industry says is vital for it to compete with neighboring states.

O'Malley's budget proposes abolishing the Maryland Mined Coal Credit, which awards energy companies a $3 per ton credit for purchases of coal mined in the state. Legislative analysts estimate the repeal would save the state $4.5 million in fiscal 2013 and an estimated $30 million more by fiscal 2020 – the year the credit is slated to expire.

The repeal attempts put O'Malley at odds with western Maryland's leaders.

Lawmakers created the credit in 1987 and the coal industry has battled back attempts to repeal it since at least 2004. In 2006, under Republican Gov. Robert Ehrlich, lawmakers and the coal industry agreed to phase out the tax by fiscal 2020 to coincide with the end of a fuel supply agreement at Cumberland-based AES Warrior Run, an electric generating plant that consumes most of Maryland's coal.

O'Malley, whose energy portfolio is laced with ideas to promote renewable sources like solar and wind, opposes state-funded incentives for the purchase of fossil fuels, spokesman Shaun Adamec said in an e-mail. It's simply inconsistent with the administration's policies, he said.

The O'Malley administration first proposed repealing the coal credit in 2009, but reached a compromise that slashed it by 50 percent. O'Malley unsuc-

STUDENT FORGOES CREATURE COMFORTS FOR CREATURES' COMFORT – Kayla Harris, a 5th grade student at Broad Ford Elementary, recently celebrated her 11th birthday in a rather unusual way. Instead of requesting the customary birthday party gifts, young Kayla asked her friends to donate items to the Garrett County Animal Shelter. Her friends obliged her unselfish wish, and the group made a substantial donation to help local dogs and cats. Pictured above with their donations, from left to right, are: Kayla Harris, Torri Miske, Maliya Teets, Brianna Graham, Hannah Wilt, and Kristen Kope.

Glotfelty Places Third In Nat'l Division III Wrestling Tourney

Northern High grad and Grantsville resident Brock Glotfelty wrapped up his final season of wrestling for McDaniel College by taking third place in the 2011 NCAA Division III wrestling championships and thus garnering his second year being designated as an All-American.

Glotfelty won his first two matches on Friday to secure All-American status, then went 2-1 on Saturday to finish third in the tourney, which was hosted by the University of Wisconsin at LaCrosse.

Making his third appearance at the national tournament, Glotfelty dropped a 3-2 decision in the semifinal match before winning two matches in the consolation bracket to secure the Green Terror's best individual finish ever at the wrestling championship.

Seeded fourth at heavyweight, Glotfelty received a bye in the first round before defeating Williams' Tom Foote on points, 10-4, to move into the quarterfinals.

In the night session, Glotfelty moved into the championship semifinals with a 3-1 decision over Centenary's Joseph Zitone to secure the top-eight finish, which is necessary to become an All-American.

On Saturday, Glotfelty earned a second-period escape before top-seeded John Helgerson (Wartburg) recorded a takedown. A second Glotfelty escape in the period sent the bout to the third period knotted at 2-2. Helgerson escaped from his choice of the down position to advance to the title bout.

In the consolation semifinals against Wisconsin-La Crosse's William Mayer, Glotfelty broke a 2-2 deadlock with a takedown in the third period to advance to the third-place bout, assur-

Terra Alta Man Arrested On Several Charges

A West Virginia man was arrested this past weekend after he was stopped by Garrett County sheriff's deputies for displaying expired registration plates that belonged to another vehicle.

Carl Devin Sliger, 18, Terra Alta, was identified as the driver, who was stopped on Maryland Highway near Weber Road. Investigation revealed that the vehicle was uninsured and unregistered, and Sliger's license was suspended. When he was placed under arrest, he was found to be in possession of marijuana.

He was charged with possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana paraphernalia, driving on a suspended out-of-state license, driving an uninsured vehicle, driving an unregistered vehicle, driving a vehicle with tags registered to another vehicle, and driving a vehicle displaying expired registration plates.

He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Three Earn Spots In Oakland Town Council Election

The Oakland town election was held this past Monday, with three positions open on the town council.

Incumbents Ryan Wolfe received 173 votes, Harvey "Jay" Moyer, 168 votes, and Jack Riley, 161 votes. The three will start their new terms with their swearing at an upcoming meeting. Also on the ballot was former council member Lois Swartzentruber, who received 71 votes.

LOCAL EDUCATORS JOIN RALLY – Over 50 educators from Garrett County were among some 15,000 teachers and union leaders from around the state who rallied at the State Capital in Annapolis on Monday. The goal of the group was to protest certain proposed funding cuts for education and to push the governor and state legislature to continue to fund their pensions. Governor Martin O'Malley spoke briefly to the group and to a certain extent allayed their concerns, promising to restore some $58 million to education in the state and to reinstate the Thornton law. This law essentially modifies the state aid formula by establishing a "base cost" per student that is considered to be adequate for the average child to reach high standards; provides additional funding to jurisdictions based on the number of students with special education needs, limited English language proficiency, and who receive free or reduced-price school lunches; creates a "Geographical Cost of Education Index" (GCEI) to provide additional funding for jurisdictions that have higher educational costs due to factors outside of their control; and replaces restricted state aid with unrestricted funding. Teachers pictured above, from left, are Glenda Newcomb, Sharon Caple, Lynne Elmlinger, and Jill Roberts.

Parents Named Semifinalists For Comcast Award

Maryland State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick and Comcast this week announced the 24 semifinalists for the 2011 Comcast Parent Involvement Matters Awards.

The semifinalist for Garrett County is Bette Gibbs, a parent volunteer at Accident Elementary School.

A collaboration between Comcast and the Maryland State Department of Education, the Comcast Parent Involvement Matters Awards is the nation's first statewide initiative of its kind – recognizing parents and legal guardians for their exceptional support of public education. Parents are nominated for demonstrating significant, positive impact in their education communities.

The 2011 Comcast Parent Involvement Matters Awards will be presented during an evening celebration on Friday, May 20. Five finalists and a statewide winner, selected from the 24 semifinalists named this week, will be announced at the awards ceremony.

"I continue to be astounded and grateful of what parents across Maryland are capable of achieving in our schools," said Dr. Grasmick. "From the mountains of Western Maryland to the ocean of the Eastern Shore, from our big urban facilities made up of vibrant communities to the expansive rural countryside, the contributions to public education that parents provide cannot be overstated. Parent involvement plays an intricate role in academic success, and recognition such as this could only be possible through our partnership with Comcast."

"Youth leadership development is a central focus in Comcast's community investment initiatives," said Tom Coughlin, regional senior vice president for Comcast. "Through our partnership with the Maryland State Department of Education, we are able to honor parents who play such a crucial role in the education and advancement of our future leaders."

The parents are nominated for their contributions in one or more of the five areas of parental involvement: communication, volunteering, learning, decision making, and community collaboration.

Many of the semifinalists from previous years have become parent involvement advocates on the statewide level, serving as members of task forces, presenters at statewide meetings, and participants in education conventions and focus groups.

Deputies Arrest Two On DUI, DWI Charges

Two people were arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drinking and driving charges this weekend. The following incidents are unrelated.

Deputies located a suspicious vehicle parked on Garrett Highway with its engine running and driver's side door open early Saturday morning. The driver, Denise Rose Homberg, 42, Oakland, was found to be asleep behind the wheel. Further investigation led to her arrest on driving under the influence and driving while impaired charges. She was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

In a separate incident, deputies made a traffic stop on a 1998 Lincoln passenger vehicle on Garrett Highway near Sand Flat Road. Prentice Bay Bryant Jr., 28, Baltimore, was identified as the driver and was stopped for suspected drinking and driving. Investigation revealed that Bryant had a loaded .40 caliber handgun in his waistband. He was arrested and charged with DUI, DWI, and concealing a deadly weapon. He was taken to before a District Court commissioner, where he was released on personal recognizance.

SGHS Alumni To Give Scholarships Again This Spring

The Southern Garrett High School Alumni Association board of directors recently announced that the association will once again award two $4,000 scholarships this spring to deserving 2011 graduating seniors. Each of the awards is in the amount of $1,000 per year for up to four years, provided that the student maintains a collegiate grade point average of at least 2.5 on a 4.0 scale.

Criteria for selection includes: financial need, at least a 75% high school GPA, plans to attend a four-year college or university, participation in school and community activities, academic and career goals, and a 250-word essay addressing the statement "What Southern High School means to me."

All applications for the scholarships will be reviewed by the faculty and staff at Southern, and the two recipients of the scholarship will be named during the senior awards ceremony.

"Our board is excited that the association is able to provide this kind of financial support to deserving seniors," said Rob Sharps, president of the SGHS Alumni Association. "The alumni who are funding these awards value the importance of higher education and appreciate the positive influence that Southern High played in their lives."

Also for the third consecutive year, the association will award $1,000 to each of the Danforth Award recipients, who will be named at the commencement ceremonies.

Sharps added that the total amount of scholarship and Danforth Award funds that have been presented to new SGHS grads by the association over the last eight years is $64,000.

My dog is more than my partner you see,
Because she is a very good friend to me.
She's the nose I don't have, the eyes I have not,
She's one of the best partners most cops ain't got.
Day by day we do what we do best,
Her four paws never seem to rest.
She always does whatever I ask,
Seeming to enjoy every task.
I know one day her work will be done,
But for now we can only have fun.
For my dog is more than a partner to me,
My dog is my best friend and she always will be.

Ganoe, Ellington Selected To Women's Hall of Fame

CAROLYN GANOE

BETTY ELLINGTON

The Garrett County Commission for Women has announced the 2011 inductees for the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame.

Carolyn Ganoe of Grantsville and Betty Ellington of Oakland will be inducted into the hall at a breakfast at Will O' the Wisp on Saturday, March 26, at 10 a.m.

Reservations may be made for the event by calling Beverly Beard at 301-334-5987. Tickets for the breakfast buffet are set at $18 and may be paid for at the door.

Ganoe was born in Cumberland in 1934. She married her husband, Ernest, on June 20, 1953 and moved from Wiley Ford, W.Va. to Garrett County in 1955. There she began her career at Potomac Edison and Later worked for Liberty Trust.

In 1955 she and her husband began a dairy farm in eastern Garrett County with just eight heifers. The farm eventually grew to 100 head of milk cows and 80 replacement heifers.

Currently, the farm produces 300 acres of corn, 350 acres of alfalfa, 100 acres of oats and barley, and 250 acres of hay.

Ganoe has been active in the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church for 45 years. She has been the pianist and organist for many years, playing, not only for church services, but also for weddings and special events.

She served as president of the United Methodist Women for eight years and has held other offices in that group. She was District United Methodist president for four years and sat on the UMC District Board for nine years. For a number of years she was chairman of the United Methodist Burlington Children's Home Auxiliary.

Ganoe served as local club president of the Northern Garrett Republican Women for 12 years and also held numerous other offices. Every fall she functions as the auctioneer for the fall auction benefit. She obtains the books that are donated to local school libraries by the club.

She has held positions in the Maryland Federation of Republican Women organizations at the bi-county, western regional, and state levels.

Ganoe served four years on the Garrett County Board of Elections and worked over 30 years at the polls. She has been active and involved in Woodmen of the World for over 10 years. She has served on the Agricultural Land Preservation Board for 15 years and is currently vice chair.

She served on the Farm Service Agency Board for 12 years and, for a time, was its chairman. She is currently employed part time collecting agricultural statistics for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Ganoe and her husband have been members of the Allegany Farm Bureau for more than 40 years and received an award in 2009 honoring their dedication and leadership in the agricultural community.

She has represented the local Farm Bureau and dairy industry at numerous meetings and conventions in Annapolis and Washington.

According to the Women's Hall of Fame, Ganoe is continuously striving to make her home, her church, her community, her county, her state, and her country a more humane place in which to live, worship, and raise families.

Ellington has been a resident of Garrett County and a member of the Civic Club of Oakland since coming to Garrett County from Virginia in 2000.

From 2002 to 2006 she served as co-president of the club. As president she spearheaded a March of Dimes Walk America event for club members. She currently serves as corresponding secretary.

For many years Ellington has been co-chair of the Autumn Glory Antique Show, the club's major fund-raiser. She takes a leadership role in the club's charitable-giving program, Warm the Children.

Through the program, and in collaboration with The Republican newspaper and the Department of Social Services, donations from the public are received and warm winter coats and boots are purchased for needy children.

Ellington also participates in the Dove Center Count Watch, the Volunteer Fair, and the Women's Lecture Series, all affiliated with the Civic Club.

She is a member of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, serving on the human resources and executive committees. For a time, she was chair of the fund-raising committee for which her leadership helped secure financial support from others.

Ellington is a member of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, president of Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. board of directors, and a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

In her spare time she enjoys reading, skiing, landscaping, and genealogy. A Women's Hall of Fame spokesperson described Ellington as "one of the best people I know. She is patient, funny, and wise. She gives of herself in so many ways and her efforts pay off. Plainly and simply—she helps people."

Two Injured In Weather-Related Vehicle Accidents

Two teenage drivers were injured in weather-related single-vehicle accidents this weekend. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to both.

Deputies responded to Hutton Road near Ashby Ellis Road last Friday at approximately 6:45 p.m. Investigation revealed that Kayla Renee Ashby, 18, was operating a 2005 Ford truck west, when she lost control on the snow-covered roadway. The truck traveled across the west- and eastbound lanes and struck a utility pole. As a result of the wreck, electric power was disrupted in the area, and Hutton Road was closed during Friday night and Saturday morning.

Ashby was taken to GCMH by Southern Rescue Squad. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Allegheny Power also responded to the scene. She was cited for failure to reduce speed in dangerous highway conditions.

In a separate incident, an Oakland juvenile driver was reportedly traveling south on Underwood Road at approximately 9:30 p.m., when the vehicle skidded on the icy roadway, slid into a ditch, and overturned. Southern Rescue Squad transported the driver to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries sustained. One additional passenger in the overturned vehicle reportedly had no injuries. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene. No charges were filed.

GCSO Seeking Info On Theft Of Traffic Signs

Garrett County sheriff's deputies are seeking information regarding the removal of numerous traffic safety devices set up on a roadway construction site in the area of National Pike and Finzel Road, Finzel.

Sometime during the evening hours of March 12 and early morning hours of March 13, unknown suspect(s) stole various orange road cones and large orange construction signs from the Carl Belt Construction job site.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the GCSO at 301-334-1911 or leave an anonymous tip at www.garrettcrimesolvers.org. Tipsters may be eligible for a cash reward.

Dr. Walch Slated To Be Guest Speaker At Annual Health Fair

Dr. Charles Walch, a general surgeon who serves patients locally, will be one of the featured speakers at the Garrett County Health Fair set for Saturday, April 16, at Wisp Resort, McHenry.

Dr. Walch will focus his talk on health screens that are typically performed by a surgeon. In particular, he will focus on colonoscopy procedures. He will discuss the reasons for having a colonoscopy, the preparation, and the polypectomy.

The polypectomy has become a routine part of colonoscopy, allowing for quick removal of polyps without invasive surgery. Dr. Walch will also focus on skin cancer, particularly skin neoplasms. Skin cancer is the most commonly diagnosed type of cancer and is usually detectable in early stages. Dr. Walch will discuss prevention, early detection, and surgical procedures associated with skin cancers.

Dr. Walch received his bachelor's degree at Washington and Jefferson College in 1986, majoring in chemistry. He then went on to complete medical school at the Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia in 1990. He completed his internship and residency training in general surgery at the Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1995. In Loving Memory of

Tiffany Ann Morgan

November 3, 1993 – March 21, 2007

Not by choice but by God's will,
We've been left with memories that will only fill
Like dust in the wind and soon to find
That although we have faith, the day has come
That this dream is real and we're no longer numb.
The presence of what I know in my heart
Will keep us together, never to part.
Tiff, you have blessed us all with something we lack,
We will learn from your and always look back.
God's will has left us with a part of you,
That will grace each day with a morning dew.
To wake up to butterflies fluttering about,
And the knowledge that we are not without
Your smile, your laughter, your love, your appeal.
This, my dear, must be God's will.

Tiff, we miss you each and every day.
Love, Mom, Dad, and Britt

Probably the greatest challenge to date for our new county commissioners will be the preparation of the budget for fiscal year 2012, a process that is under way right now. With various sources of state monies significantly reduced, the task will be more difficult this year than it has been for more than a decade.

It is hoped, however, that the commissioners will do absolutely everything within their power to maintain the quality of education in Garrett County, which happens to place our system among the elite in the entire nation. Providing adequate funding to the board of education is the most significant key to maintaining such a ranking. Because Garrett County has risen to rank 7th in the state of Maryland under the formula used to determine county wealth, because of a declining student population, and because of the loss of various other state monies, our board of education is facing a reduction of nearly $2½ million this year. Throw in the higher cost of health insurance along even a modest raise for teachers (which they did not get last year), and that number will likely swell to at least $4 million.

One thing that our commissioners must strongly consider is that, while the county is now ranked 7th in wealth, it ranks 14th in the percentage of education funding received from the county. In nearly every other county, that gap is much less. In fact, in a number of counties at least 45% of their budget is directed to education. For the current fiscal year, the Garrett County Board of Education received 35.4% of the county budget.

The board has been working to do its part to help with this financial crisis, with the impending vote on whether or not to close two of our elementary schools and the offer of a monetary incentive to employees who are eligible to retire from the system. There may also be some additional assistance coming from the state, depending on the outcome of current legislation.

However, the commissioners also must do their part, which means increasing the amount of local funding for education. And if that requires imposing a property tax increase, then it is hoped that they have the courage to take that step.

Spending money on the education of our young people should not be considered an expense, but an investment; an investment in our children, in our county, and in the future quality of life here on the Mountaintop; an investment that will ultimately yield significant financial gains in the future. An additional nickel added to the property tax rate for the average Garrett County household, assuming an assessment of $100,000, would amount to $50 – one nice dinner out for two, one average tank-full of gasoline, or less than 14 cents per day.

To the Editor:

The American Red Cross blood drive held March 7 at the Grantsville fire hall was not your typical blood drive.

Sure, there were donor beds and health history screenings, but we also had balloons and cake, all to honor Lela Bender of Grantsville on her 50th year of service as a Red Cross volunteer.

A total of 47 people came out to donate blood, and with several donating by the double red cell collection method, we ended up with 50 productive blood donations – one for every year of Lela's dedicated service, which was the goal of this blood drive!

We are grateful to everyone who helped to make the March 7 blood drive a success and a truly memorable event for Lela and her family. Lela's family have long served patients in need as Red Cross blood donors and volunteers; her daughter Lila has followed in her mother's footsteps as coordinator for Grantsville blood drives.

Thank you for helping us honor Lela and for supporting our efforts to help ensure a sufficient, readily available blood supply for all. We hope to see you at our next Grantsville blood drive, which is scheduled for Monday, May 2, from noon to 6 p.m.

Sincerely,
Carey Toth

To the Editor:

I am so proud of our NHS ladies! This comes from my whole body, my heart, my mind. You have given me memories that I will continue to cherish until the day I die.

Not only do I love and cherish my great-granddaughter Kaitlynn, but I love each and every girl on the team and feel honored to have become each and everyone of these girls' Nanny as well. How could I go wrong being "adopted" by such a great bunch of young ladies? I love each of you. Thank you from the bottom of my soul for the wonderful year of memories you gave to me.

I also want to express my pride for the NHS wrestling team and what a great job they did this year. I especially want to mention my great-grandson Adam Finzel for taking 3rd in the state championships.

I've been so very blessed and honored to be able to watch my great-grandchildren "shine" and to be very much a part of it.

To the Editor:

I know there are so many things that go on in our communities – sports, jobs, life in general. What I want to say is that the community planning groups are out there also, doing their volunteer work.

I am part of the Grantsville Involvement Group that is run in part by the Garrett County Health Department. This is part of my job, but I enjoy the people I plan with. They are and always have been a great bunch of people, and I am proud to know them.

Sadly, we are getting fewer and farther between these days. There are some good people out there trying to get things up and running for the people in the community to do – usually free of charge – that are family oriented. We try to put things together that families can do together. That's what it's all about, isn't it? Being a part of something, belonging, helping out....

We can't always have huge things to going on in our little town. Some things we just can't afford, but it's not for the lack of trying. Our little group is not the only one in the county; there are several throughout Garrett County. We all offer service learning hours for students, and community service and volunteer time for all persons.

It's not always possible to be at a meeting, but sometimes just to help at an event is helpful, too. Information is usually in the paper and on the radio, on flyers posted in different places, and in town newsletters. We ask for recommendations as to what you in the community would like to see happen so that maybe it will get more people out and about. We try our best to do things that all age groups can attend. It doesn't matter how old you are, just come out and enjoy.

There is also the SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) club for those in the middle and high school. There are service learning hours for those who need them to graduate, and volunteer hours for the middle school age group.

If you have questions about what goes on in your community, please give the Garrett County Health Department a call or talk to your community representative at 301-334-7730/301-895-3111.

Thanks to all who helped in the past and those who are still going strong. It's been a pleasure.

To the Editor:

I am a resident of Garrett County, and while I have no children attending school, I strongly believe we all should have an abiding interest in the education of our children. It therefore disturbed me when I became aware of the possibility of closing one or both of the Bloomington and Kitzmiller schools.

I attended the Board of Education and commissioners' meetings regarding this issue and was dismayed by the Board of Education's ultimatum which, in essence, pits these two communities against each other for their very survival. And most importantly, it creates the potential for the demise of two schools that consistently achieve outstanding results, and the consequential detrimental effect that would have on the children.

Those meetings also left me with the belief that the amount of money the board indicated it would save by closing these schools is arbitrary and does not reflect a realistic savings figure (which could well be far less than stated).

Moreover, even if the figure is somewhat accurate, it pales in comparison to the short-term and long-term costs of sacrificing one or more of these outstanding schools and the quality of education they provide.

Every entity, be it a government agency, business, school, household, etc., has waste, and all can tighten or eliminate spending somewhere. What is required, particularly in these tough economic times, is to "think outside the box." It also requires in this particular instance that our state representatives strive to convince the state to rethink and revise its skewed formula for determining educational funding, which, in part, has placed the aforementioned schools in jeopardy.

I urge the Board of Education and the commissioners to be creative and forward thinking, and formulate alternative plans to closing either school. We do have a responsibility to future generations. We need to do everything in our power to provide quality education for the children, because above all else, that is where the future's foundation lies. Please, let us not sacrifice that foundation and the future to current fiscal concerns.

To the Editor:

The article on Governor O'Malley's latest wind proposal should give pause to citizen rate payers and energy companies alike because of the more expensive costs of renewable energy along with wind's intermittency and unreliability. These arbitrary and soon-to-come state mandated energy price increases, massive subsidies, and increased taxes will dramatically reduce our living standards, while favoring government subsidized special interests over free market competition. The U.S. Energy Information Administration projects that the costs of electricity produced from coal-powered plants will actually decrease over the next 20 years. Let's not forget the 70% increase in energy costs by BG&E following deregulation.

Moreover, there will be little responsibility and accountability when the bills must be paid for in 25-year contracts when the governor is long gone from Annapolis.

While wind energy may give some a warm and fuzzy feeling, does anyone really honestly believe that wind power will replace or diminish coal, natural gas, oil, and nuclear energy?

To the Editor:

I attended the hearing of the Planning Commission which was held to review the proposed text amendments to the 2008 comprehensive plan. It was stated that ridge top protection would take away property rights of the landowners of Garrett County.

Yes, it was brought out that this change, called sensitive areas, was an effort to prevent the taxpayer/voter/landowner of having the privilege of deciding if he wants to sell or lease his property to wind developers. If our new county commissioners approve the change, then ordinances would be enacted – the first step to zoning, which has always been voted down.

Each landowner in Garrett County can provide input by voicing their opinions. Many landowners were very vocal at the hearing, speaking out against this type of control over their land unless someone is willing to pay their taxes and expenses to own property. Ridge top protection is all about having no windmills in Garrett County, no matter if it is profitable for the landowner and the county treasury.

People can still voice their opinions by sending a note to the Garrett county Planning Commission, 204 South Third Street, Oakland, by March 22. The next meeting of the commission will be on April 6 at 1 p.m. in the planning office. Please fill the room at the courthouse.

To the Editor:

In 2008, Daniel P. Aldrich of Purdue University published a paper titled, "Location, Location, Location: Selecting Sites for Controversial Facilities." In that paper, which is available on the Internet, he reported on research into how the Japanese government decided where to place nuclear power plants, including the ones that are currently melting down and threatening lives and the environment.

His paper "demonstrates that state agencies choose localities judged weakest in local civil society as host communities for controversial projects." Specifically, the paper finds that "the strength of local civil society impacts the probability that a proposed project will come to fruition; the greater the concentration of local civil society, the less likely state-planned projects will be completed."

We can now see the extent to which the ill-advised selection of sites for the Japanese power plants has resulted in an unprecedented natural disaster, impacting thousands, and perhaps millions, of people. We can also now better understand why the wind turbines came to Garrett County, and why the natural gas fracking wells will inevitably follow.

It is interesting that a place like Garrett County would actually prove to be "weak in local civil society." I would suspect that most of us believe that we live in a tightly-knit community, but that is apparently untrue, as evidenced by our inability to unite against controversial projects. The reality appears to be that our motto is "leave me alone" and "how dare you try to tell me what to do with my property." Those are, in fact, the hallmarks of "weak local civil society." We are not a community, but rather a group of people who don't get along very well, forced to live in close proximity to one another and not liking it very much.

No wonder we are such an easy target for those who would exploit the environment, endanger our people and wildlife, and make tons of money, which they then take away to wherever they live- – presumably some place with a "strong local civil society" that will not

Japan Crisis Casts Pall Over Md. Nuclear Power Expansion

by Andy Marso
Capital News Service

Maryland's only nuclear power plant is fundamentally different from the endangered Fukushima plant in Japan, but what's happening on the other side of the world could suppress the public's appetite for more reactors here.

The Fukushima plant, damaged by a 9.0 earthquake and ensuing tsunami on March 11, has six boiling water reactors. Maryland's Calvert Cliffs Nuclear Power Plant, located in Lusby on the southwest coast of the Chesapeake Bay, has two pressurized water reactors. Proposals to add a third reactor stalled in financial negotiations, and a French company's bid to take on the expansion now appears even less likely to come to fruition.

"Public opinion has changed in the last couple days," Maryland Comptroller Peter Franchot said.

Franchot said economics are still the biggest obstacle for proponents of a Calvert Cliffs expansion, but the situation in Japan would have a "huge impact on the Nuclear Renaissance" across the country.

Questions about the design of boiling water reactors appear to date back almost to the time Fukushima started operating in 1971. The Center for Public Integrity reported March 15 that in 1972 Stephen Hanauer, a senior member of the Atomic Energy Commission staff, said that the "pressure suppression" safeguards built into such reactors were not as effective as "dry" radiation containment structures like towers or domes.

As a pressurized water reactor plant, Calvert Cliffs does not allow water to boil within the reactor core, but rather transfers the heat to a steam generator which produces electricity. Pressurized water reactors have domed containment units that enclose the reactors entirely – including the steam generator and pressurizer.

Diane Screnci, of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Office of Public Affairs, said that the containment units are made of reinforced concrete with a steel lining.

Screnci said boiling water reactors and pressurized water reactors have similar safety records.

"Both of those types of plants are operating in the United States and operating safely," she said.

Constellation Energy owns the Calvert Cliffs plant. Mark Sullivan, director of communications for the company's nuclear group, said via e-mail that safety was the company's top priority.

"We have emergency response plans in place which are approved at the federal, state, and local government agencies," Sullivan said. "The plans have detailed procedures which are routinely reviewed and used in training of our teams. We have training exercises and drills to test our ability to effectively implement our plan and are formally evaluated by the NRC."

Sullivan also said Calvert Cliffs' reactors would be shut down if certain levels of seismic activity were detected in the area, and that the NRC required all plants to be designed to withstand natural phenomena like tsunamis.

Quakes and tsunamis are exceedingly unlikely around Calvert Cliffs. According to the U.S. Geological Survey, there has never been an earthquake centered in the Washington, D.C., area in recorded history (though the area has felt mild effects from quakes centered elsewhere).

Nathan Hultman, a University of Maryland professor in the School of Public Policy who is an expert on atomic energy policy, said reactor containment units in the U.S. are built to withstand tremendous impacts – even the force of a plane flying into them, a scenario that came up after the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001.

But Hultman said that the cooling ponds where used nuclear rods are placed at most facilities are sometimes more vulnerable. Spent rods must be radioactively cooled for several years before they can enter "dry cask" storage. Fires have broken out in some of the pools at the damaged Fukushima plant, sending high levels of radiation into the atmosphere.

"Even if someone did try to fly an airplane into a nuclear reactor ... it's likely not going to actually break the reactor and release radioactivity," Hultman said. "But if you fly the airplane into the pool of spent fuel, you can create essentially a dirty bomb from just this activity, and maybe even set the thing on fire."

Sullivan did not respond to an e-mail and phone message Wednesday inquiring about how Calvert Cliffs stores and protects spent nuclear rods during cooling.

Hultman said Fukushima was on the "knife edge" Wednesday – that there is still the possibility of containment, but the plant is teetering on the brink of disaster. He said that if containment fails, low levels of radiation might reach the U.S., which could sour the nation on nuclear power for a long time.

Even if the Fukushima crisis is completely contained right now, he added, it would still be the second-worst nuclear power accident in history, trailing only the Chernobyl disaster. That explosion at a nuclear power plant in Ukraine in 1986 gave off a cloud of radioactive fallout that caused thousands of cancer deaths.

Fukushima could lead to more U.S. regulations, which would make it more costly to operate old plants or build new ones. Hultman said that could be all it takes to stop a "Nuclear Renaissance" in its tracks after 30 years of safe operation.

"In the end, you're only boiling water to create electricity – that's all you're doing with a nuclear power plant," Hultman said. "You can create electrical potential in all kinds of other ways and move electrons in all kinds of other ways. So if a utility's looking at needing to fill a load, the combination of public opinion and changes in costs, both of those have to go into their decision. Clearly it's going to be more difficult, in the near term at least."

Hospital Earns Accreditation In Mammography

Garrett County Memorial Hospital was awarded a three-year term accreditation in mammography as the result of a recent review by the American College of Radiology (ACR). Mammography is a specific type of imaging test that uses a low-dose X-ray system to examine breasts. A mammography exam, called a mammogram, is used to aid in the early detection and diagnosis of breast diseases in women.

"Accreditation by the American College of Radiology and certification by the FDA/Mammography Quality Standards Act is assurance to our patients that our mammographers, equipment, and quality control/quality assurance program have met the highest and most stringent standards," said Mike Reed, director of radiology at GCMH. "Our mammography staff works very hard to meet these standards and consistently provides our patients with a high quality mammography service."

The ACR gold seal of accreditation is awarded only to facilities meeting ACR Practice Guidelines and Technical Standards after a peer-review evaluation by board-certified physicians and medical physicists who are experts in the field.

The ACR is a national professional organization serving more than 34,000 diagnostic/interventional radiologists, radiation oncologists, nuclear medicine physicians, and medical physicists with programs focusing on the practice of medical imaging and radiation oncology and the delivery of comprehensive health care services.

LEONA F. FRAZEE

Leona F. (Hauser) "Mammaw" Frazee, 85, Fayetteville, N.C., formerly of Fairchance/Uniontown, Pa., passed away on Sunday, March 13, 2011, at the home of her granddaughter Lisa Owens, Fayetteville, where she resided for the last few years.

Born Sept. 3, 1925, in Oakland, she was a daughter of the late Homer Bliss and Hazel (Roth) Hauser. She was also preceded in death by her husband of 55½ years, Harry Frazee, who died in 2001; one daughter, Debby (Frazee) Bandzuch; one grandson, Tommy Bandzuch; four brothers, Paul, Arvin, George, and Wayne Hauser; and one sister, Ruth Hauser.

She was a member of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Uniontown.

She was a homemaker and often worked cleaning house for others. She loved to bake – especially her famous reunion apple pies. She was a Sunday school teacher and Cub Scout leader. She was everyone's Mammaw.

Leona enjoyed spending time with her family, especially her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She enjoyed attending North Carolina street fairs and festivals, day trips to Myrtle Beach, S.C., as well as sight seeing and having family picnics and barbecues.

She is survived by one son, Thomas "Danny" Frazee, Uniontown; two granddaughters, Lisa (Frazee) Owens and husband Richard II, Fayetteville, and Nicole (Bandzuch) Hall and husband Philip Sr., Uniontown; six great-grandchildren, Brandon and Celena Hale, Fayetteville, Ethan Papke, Uniontown, and Philip Jr., Gabby, and Nickolas Hall, all of Uniontown; one son-in-law, Thomas Bandzuch Jr. and friend Dianna Lewis, Uniontown; three brothers, Robert Hauser, Oakland, Cecil Hauser and wife Kay, Alba, Mich., and Keith Hauser and wife Nell, Eglon, W.Va.; and three sisters, Reba Fike and husband Roy, Parkersburg, W.Va., Colene Santopietro and husband Art, Little One Egg Harbor, N.J., and Katherine Jenkins and husband Coit, Clear Spring.

She is additionally survived by close friends Donna (Hartman) (Lewis) Lynch, Morgantown, W.Va., Chrissy (Lewis) Palmer, Masontown, Pa., Doug and Adam Sepic, Uniontown, Jerry, Kathy, and Mary Catherine Shimko, Keisterville, Pa., and Chaplain Sam Harvin, Fayetteville; special friend Alegra, Fayetteville; many nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends; and her special dog Cali.

The family extends a special thank-you to the staff at LHC/Cape Fear Valley Home Care and Hospice, Fayetteville, especially her nurse, Terry Carpenter, CNA Leslie Johnson, Chaplain John Blackman, patient coordinator Tina Barron, and nurses Debra Howell and Helen Horn.

Friends were received at Donald R. Crawford Funeral Home, Hopwood, Pa.

A service was conducted today, March 17, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Paul N. Frank officiating.

Interment followed in Christ Lutheran Cemetery, Chalk Hill, Pa.

In lieu of flowers, cards may be sent to Lisa Owens, 4321 Winter Hawk Lane, Fayetteville, NC 28312.

ACCIDENT ELEMENTARY HOLDS CHARACTER ASSEMBLY — Accident Elementary School recently celebrated exemplary character traits and Accelerated Readers during February's Character Assembly. Students were entertained by a rendition of "The Boy Who Cried Wolf," which demonstrated the character traits of trust, honesty, and sincerity. During the month, all students were given the opportunity to earn Star Slips by demonstrating these character traits. The Star Slip award winners pictured in the front row, left to right, holding their certificates are: Matthew Yoder, Reagan Emery, Jaiden Adams, and Jeffery Eyler. In the second row are: Jason Sines, Wade Wilt, Bridget Seaman, Audrey Warnick, and Jacob Green. In the third row are: Shiann Lynch, Hunter Schroth, Lyndsay Fuller, Caitlin Hummel, and Emaleigh Gale. Accident Elementary also recognized the students who reached their accelerated reading goals. These students are pictured wearing their earned accelerated reader badges. In the front row are Devon Joseph, Jacob Rush, and Tiffany Niner. In the second row are: Damon Gardea, Xavior Pryor, Kaleb Dauberger, and Courtney Dillsworth. Also pictured is Rayven Francillon, who was presented a coin collection in celebration of exemplary character traits by school counselor Amy Piper-McConnell. The coin collection was donated by First United Bank & Trust.

Bear Creek Church of the Brethren will host a community dinner this Saturday, March 19, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. The menu will consist of chicken noodle soup, bean soup, cornbread, turkey and ham sandwiches, cookies, and beverages. Donations are greatly accepted, and the public is welcome to attend. The church is located just past Accident Elementary School at 1088 Brethren Church Road.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Friendsville United Methodist Church will hold revival services the week of April 4–8 at 7 p.m. each evening at the church. The following guest speakers will be present each evening: Monday–Bill Durst, Tuesday–Bill Linehart, Wednesday–Bonnie Cupp, Thursday–Lisa Fox, and Friday–John Conaway. A hymn sing will be held each evening. The public is invited to attend.

BUCKWHEAT SUPPER

Sand Spring Church of God will hold its annual buckwheat supper on Saturday, April 2, beginning at 5 p.m. at the church. The menu will consist of buckwheat cakes, sausage, pancakes, sausage gravy and biscuits, home fries, and more. The cost is $7 for adults and $4 for those 12 and under. The public is invited. There will also be craft and bake sale tables set up.

CARD SHOWER

Ralph Humberson celebrated his 87th birthday on Tuesday, March 15. Cards can be sent to him at Henry Clay Villa, 5253 National Pike, Markleysburg, PA 15459.

ANNIVERSARY

Ralph and Edna Sines will celebrate their 73rd wedding anniversary on March 29. Cards can be sent to them at P.O. Box 211, Friendsville, MD 21531.

GIRL SCOUT COOKIES

Girl Scouts will be selling Girl Scout cookies this Saturday and next, March 19 and 26, at the Northern Rescue Squad building, Friendsville, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days or until gone. All varieties of cookies will be on site for purchase at $3.50/box.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG ABUSE AWARENESS

There will be an informative meeting at the Northern Rescue Squad building in Friendsville on Monday, April 11, from 6 to 7 p.m. to inform citizens of the growing problem of prescription drug abuse. This meeting is intended to shed light on the increasing problems that are caused by prescription drug abuse in our area, and what the parents and community members can do to help alleviate the problem.

According to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, out-of-date prescription drugs are dangerous and contribute to a number of problems, including children using these drugs. Those attending the meeting will learn how to prevent abuse in our community. Refreshments and door prizes will be offered. This event is sponsored by Friendsville Community Watch and the Northern Rescue Squad.

There will also be a Drug Take-Back Day on Saturday, April 30, at the squad building from 4 to 6 p.m. for expired and unused prescription drugs. More details will follow at a later date.

TOWN NEWS

The mayor and town council will host a public meeting on Thursday, March 24, at 7 p.m. at the town hall. The guest speaker will be Michele Peterson, energy account executive from Honeywell. She will discuss the town's Energy Feasibility Study. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Anyone wanting to rent a pavilion in the Community Park should contact Alice Spear at 301-746-5739.

Anyone with information concerning the destruction in the Community Park or town limits should contact the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911; Crime Solvers at www.garrettcountycrimesolvers.org; or Maryland State Police at 301-387-1101.

FISHERMAN'S BREAKFAST BUFFET

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department is hosting a fisherman's breakfast on Saturday, March 26, from 7 to 11 a.m. The menu will consist of scrambled eggs, sausage patties and links, sausage gravy with biscuits, bacon, home fries, fruit, and beverages. The cost is $8/person. The public is welcome.

BPW Scholarship Applications Are Being Accepted

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Garrett County is now accepting applications for $1,000 scholarships from women working to further their education.

To be eligible, a woman must be a high school graduate over 30 who lives, works, or attends school in Garrett County. She must also be accepted to a vocational, technical, or academic program at an accredited institution leading to a certificate or degree.

Applications are available at Ruth Enlow Library branches, Garrett College, and Curves in Oakland.

To apply, women must submit a completed application, proof of enrollment, and three letters of references to any of the above locations by April 25. For more information or to obtain an application by e-mail, one may contact Robin McGill at rmcgillrn-@aol.com or 301-387-6528.

A DONATION OF LOVE was recently made by Skylie Savage when she gave an 11-inch ponytail to Locks of Love. The 5-year-old attends Accident Elementary School and is the daughter of Tim and Melissa Savage.

Notes From Bittinger

Remember, Brenneman's Store is open and ready to serve you. Their phone number is 301-245-4619.

A few days ago, when I first awakened, I thought I heard birds chattering outside. It seemed unreal, but when I got to my living room, I heard it again, and then I saw a few birds outside my living room window. They were mainly typical winter birds, like chickadees.

That was only a few days after my front door wouldn't open because there was so much snow and ice in front of it.

We still have below freezing temperatures one week before spring officially arrives this Sunday, March 20. Most years around that time, a huge flock of blackbirds gathers around my line of big pine trees, and you can't miss their sound. There are so many of them that they make quite a racket.

But I'm glad to say that the new snow is gone, and there is no sign of any more – a major step forward toward spring.

But I sure need some warm bright sunshine. My state of mind has certainly been hit hard by the dreadful events in Japan. Of course, there is nothing I can do to ease their massive suffering. It is hard to believe that so much could be destroyed in a few hours. It is hard to believe that anything could be worse than Haiti. But the earthquake caused far less damage than the tsunami. And it is at least as cold there as it is here. Now the only source of electricity, their nuclear power plants, is ready to have a total meltdown, and every few hours there is another big aftershock, and then more big waves come ashore.

Those nuclear power plants will probably be unusable forever, because they used ocean water trying desperately to keep the cores cool enough so they will not melt down.

It will be a long time until anyone gets electricity. There is no heat, water, or light. There is almost no food or drinkable water, even in Tokyo.

California has several nuclear power plants on top of the big fault, and did experience substantial tsunami waves from across a huge ocean. So we are definitely playing with fire, specifically the Pacific Ocean's Ring of Fire, which involves a big fault line with lots of seismic activity.

On Good Friday in 1961, a big earthquake hit Anchorage, Alaska, recently a big one hit Peru, and across the ocean we saw a bad earthquake in New Zealand just last month. The experts say it's not if California will get hit with the Big One, but when. So maybe America will face a similar disaster that Japan is suffering from.

The damage in Japan is not as great as in Haiti, because Japan has earthquake-proof building codes in its urban center. But there was widespread damage in the rural area, mainly a result of the tsunami.

So many people believe nuclear power is an excellent alternative energy source – safe and clean, at least if everything goes well. But when something goes wrong, there can be lasting harm to the surrounding area, like when the Chernobyl plant in Russia blew up.

Both our Air Force and Navy are responding to the crisis in Japan. Besides the damages at several nuclear power plants, about 85 percent of the oil refining plants are not functioning. So among the biggest challenges will be restoring power. You know how your life is when your power supply is interrupted. No water, no heat, no light.

A few communities in California sustained millions of dollars of damage from the very minor tsunami wave that hit the West Coast. But there were warnings that perhaps a larger wave might reach the California coast later. In spite of the urging of authorities, too many people can't resist the impulse to go to the shoreline to see the waves and take pictures of the surf.

Speaking of flooding, New Jersey is in deep water. I saw a news piece from a community a spent a little time in, Franklin Lake, a few miles from Manhattan. It looked like there was about three feet of water on the roads.

It is amazing how changed a relationship can become between two nations. Look at Japan and the United States of America. First, they attacked our Navy fleet at Pearl Harbor. Then, there were the many long, bloody years in the Pacific theater of World War II. Then we used the first atomic weapons bombing two major cities in Japan. That was enough to cause the Japanese emperor to surrender.

VJ Day marked the end of World War II. That was the main determiner of global superiority in terms of our economies, and there was never a clear winner, but America was able to creep back on top. Now the largest economy is the USA, second place belongs to China, and third place is now held by Japan. The USA and Japan were somewhat shaky allies. But now when tragedy has struck Japan, America rushed to offer all the help.

Because of the great risk for a big earthquake, the Japanese made a serious effort to build their nuclear power plants as safe as humanly possible. But apparently the reason for one reactor becoming overheated was the loss of electrical power. Then the backup pump powered by diesel fuel got flooded, so it also stopped functioning.

Caitlin was able to get in touch with her close Japanese friend. She was in Italy when the earthquake struck, so she only knows that her home town is all right. She is very worried about those nuclear reactors.

It is kind of hard to turn off the news, because what's at stake in Japan is so massive. Many, many lives are at risk, and those two damaged nuclear plants may melt down, which would be another horrible disaster for the Japanese. I am praying so hard for them.

I was pretty tired of the stress of watching it, so I was pleased to be able to find a very big basketball game for my Maryland Terrapins against Duke in the ACC tournament. It was a razor close game. Just before half-time, Duke was leading by three points. But after halftime, Maryland put together a good game, and was able to take the lead for a short time. This was a must-win for Maryland to go on in the "Big Dance." But with about 10 minutes left in the game, Duke opened up a 13-point lead. That's how it ended.

Bittinger and the rest of Garrett County are not under a similar threat as Japan. But just about any part of America has at least a small risk of earthquakes, especially on our West Coast.

I have pretty clear memories of when the big one hit in Alaska in the early 1960s around Easter.

Just moving the several huge war ships, including the Reagan aircraft carrier, to offshore Japan must have cost many millions of dollars. This kind of crisis is difficult to predict and put on any kind of budget proposal.

We are seeing an increasing interest in developing our nation's nuclear power plants. But many voices of caution are also speaking. Japan depends on nuclear power to provide most of its electricity. Although the Japanese government was spending $200 million per year on earthquake research and monitoring, the large earthquake still surprised them. And for the people who showed signs of exposure to radiation, no one knows what that means for their future health.

It's true that nuclear power is a positive step toward confronting climate change. But we see how vulnerable the coastal areas are to flooding, and that will grow larger and larger as the sea level rises, which will mean a major ice melt will occur in our polar areas.

Even the globe's average temperature rising a few degrees will have a serious effect on our crops growing in the heartland. And let's face it, the extreme weather we experienced in the last few years has not been pleasant or easy to deal with. Major blizzards and snow events are reaching farther into the southern areas of the country.

Adorable Adoptables

Does it sound good to you to have a massive global-wide famine? Of course, that is felt by the already struggling African continent. Let's face it, we are linked with faraway people of very different cultures by our shared humanity. Personally, I can't bear the thought of a starving child anywhere in the world. Or imagine how parents feel when they are unable to give their children food. Can you stand that?

Too many people think it's not important if it happens in Africa. But they are simply wrong. "What you do to the least one, you do to me," as Christ once said.

I am sure about one thing. America's farmers are increasing their corn production, because even domestic demand for corn is way beyond the current supply. It's not just used for food and feeding livestock, but now we also use it to produce ethanol, an important piece of the big puzzle of American energy policy.

And we are experiencing a global-wide shortage of cotton, leading to a higher cost for our clothes. It is far less profitable to Southern farms to grow cotton since slavery ended. But I can think of a few creative solutions to the problem of not enough really cheap laborers in America.

Many nations run large, successful guest worker systems without the necessity of offering a path to citizenship. I'm sure all of those thousands of migrants trapped in Libya would rather spend a month or so in America than risk their lives in Libya.

Does anyone living in the 21st century believe that the brief document of the Constitution could give serious guidance to modern America? It was simply a basic outline for government, but they didn't believe it was written in stone, or that it would meet all future challenges. I am sure that they realized that it would need significant adaptation and change to meet the changing American society.

The proposed public health care option would sharply lower the cost of health care, and if we have a system where all Americans can buy in at an affordable cost, and eliminate the profit of big insurance companies. They suggest that all older Americans discuss their wishes about end-of-life care with their doctors, because many Americans don't want to undergo long-term and very expensive care in a hospital when they are close to death.

I would much rather only get hospice care and control of any pain I am experiencing. I do not want to be hooked up to any high-tech, life-prolonging machines. My mother said on her death bed that she believed she was very close two times in the last few hours. Then with a smile she said, "Maybe three will be the charm." She was surrounded by her loved ones and fully ready to die.

One of my aunts told my Grandmother Glotfelty, "It's all right to go now." Each one who was gathered around her told her once again, "I love you." But most people who lived their three score and 10 years and are unlikely to recover are ready and willing to pass on to the next phase of life: death and, hopefully, entering paradise and being reunited with their loved ones who went before.

But end-of-life care is a huge part of all the spending in Medicare. And it should be something you can make a choice about.

It is a tough time for any woman when she is facing an empty nest. Most women should have at least a husband around, or maybe re-enter working life again. But unfortunately, my disability prevents me from doing that, resulting in a very low standard of living for me. Even with Social Security Disability and a medium-sized pension from my days as a college professor, it is not enough to live comfortably. But no one says that life is fair very often. Occasionally, yes, but in my case, definitely not. So I will just keep trying to make the best life possible with the cards I was dealt.

Since I know at least two people who died from a brain aneurism, I'm thankful that at least I survived long enough to watch my girls grow up into as fine as any mother could wish for.

Midweek Lenten services in the Bittinger Lutheran Parish continue with a Taize service at Emmanuel in Bittinger next Wednesday, March 23. The service will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by soup and bread.

A planning meeting for the 2011 Bittinger Parish Vacation Bible School is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. this Sunday, March 20, at the parsonage. It will begin with a covered-dish dinner, and everyone is welcome to attend.

Confirmation classes for the Bittinger Parish will meet this Sunday, March 20, at 1 p.m. at the parsonage.

"YOU OTTER LEARN Something New Every Day" is the message that was brought to Garrett College by the otter emissary from the Garrett County Health Department. This critter is the mascot for the current campaign on drug and alcohol avoidance. The message is that 87% of GC students do not smoke marijuana. In the photo from left are Daniel Hughes, Jules Nieman, Sharon Custer from the health department, the Otter, Lizeth Jaramillo, and Kelsey Henderson. See story.

Whimsical Creature Brings Positive Message About Healthy Choices

by Peggy Santamaria

There was a sighting of a six-foot-tall river otter in the halls of Garrett College this week. It was determined, however, that it was not a new species of otter. The enormous furry figure was a visitor from the Garrett County Health Department carrying the message "You Otter Learn Something New Every Day."

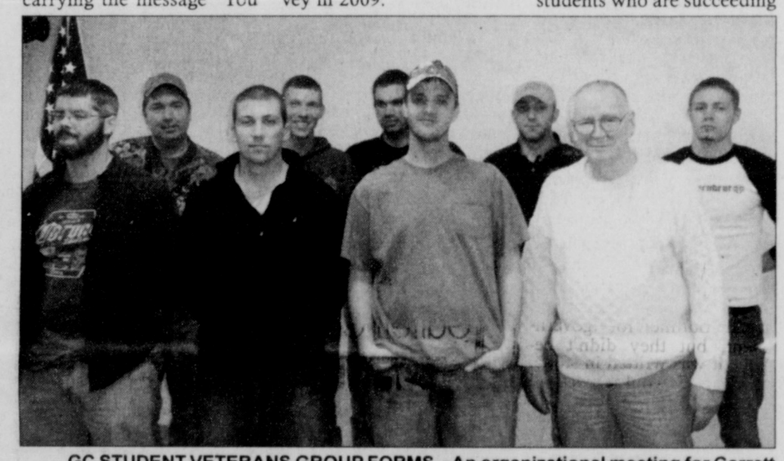
The whimsical otter was on campus to inform students, faculty, and staff that 87% of Garrett College students don't smoke marijuana. These statistics were gathered in an on-campus Core Alcohol and Drug Survey in 2009.

"This is part of an initiative sponsored by the Drug-Free Communities Coalition," explained Sharon Custer, certified prevention specialist at the health department. "The program, which will have several parts to it, takes a positive approach to encouraging students to remain drug-free. Rather than tell people to not do something, we emphasize the large numbers of students who are succeeding in avoiding drug use. It is an element of the 'Majority Rules' campaign that the health department mounted in the local high schools last year. "That effort demonstrated that a very large percentage of students do not use marijuana. This is a very positive outcome."

Custer also spoke to the effect that peer pressure can have on young people, pressure that can lead to unhealthy lifestyles or to healthier ways of life.

"In our approach, we want to underscore the large percentage of students who are making the healthier choice. They are choosing to not smoke weed," she said.

The poster for the "Otter Learn Something" campaign displays a cartoon otter dressed in swim shorts bearing the Garrett College logo. This mascot was designed by GC graduate Collen DuBose.



GC STUDENT VETERANS GROUP FORMS – An organizational meeting for Garrett College student armed services veterans was held last on the McHenry campus. The purpose of the group is to provide a central source of support for all veterans and qualified dependent students attending classes at GC. "We hope this organization will help in the transition from service member to student," said Kathy Fauber of the GC Office of Financial Aid & Veterans Affairs. The next meeting will be held Monday, March 28, at 7 p.m. in Room 511. Any veteran who attended Garrett College is welcome. Pictured from left are student veterans Rob Smith, Mark Shrout, Josh Armstrong, Aaron Miller, Bruce McClelland, Chance Lipscomb, Christopher English-Ramsey, Bob Paugh, and Steve Friend.

Preston High Students Visit Garrett College

Garrett College hosted a campus tour last week for students from Preston High School in Kingwood, W.Va. The group included 47 students in 9th and 10th grade, and counselors. GC admissions counselors welcomed the visitors from Preston County, and provided information on programs offered at Garrett, necessary steps for the students to take to prepare to enter college, and an overview of financial aid options.

The practice of introducing younger high school students to the consideration of college options can be very beneficial for them, according to Rachelle Davis, GC director of admissions.

"It's never too soon to start planning for college, but students often wait to begin the process and visit colleges when they're seniors," she said. "We're glad to have had the opportunity to show younger high school students our campus and one of their many options for higher education."

GC dean of marketing and enrollment management Ann Wellham was among the staff members who addressed the students and participated in activities with them.

"We enjoyed the opportunity to meet with the 9th and 10th graders from Preston High School," she said. "Our goal was to provide an educational opportunity for each of them to learn about what Garrett College has to offer, in addition to getting them to begin thinking about the steps that they need to take to be ready to enter college upon graduation."

According to Cissy VanSickle of the GC Office of Financial Aid, college visits for younger high school students can provide important information that may help them make choices that improve chances for success in college.

"We let them know that there are scholarships, grants, and loans available," she said, adding that through a reciprocity agreement between Maryland and West Virginia, Preston County students are among those who can enroll in specific Garrett College programs for in-county tuition rates.

"This provides a substantial savings for students," VanSickle said.

Kim Metheny, a counselor from Preston High, accompanied the students on the tour.

"Garrett College is at our back door, and with the reciprocity tuition rates, our students need to give Garrett a second look," she said. "What a great opportunity to begin their postsecondary training."

Plans are currently under way for two open house events at Garrett College on April 16 and 26. For more information, persons may telephone 301-387-3044 or go online and visit www.garrettcollege.edu.

Black & White Exhibit Now On Display By GCAC

"Black & White" is the title of a new exhibit now on display at the Gallery Shop in downtown Oakland. The show is a study in value and contrast. It features the work of four Garrett County Arts Council artists and includes photography, collagraphs, linocuts, and pen and ink drawings.

The black and white photography of Guy Hinebaugh is included in the exhibit. Hinebaugh's recent work is the study of 1880s dry-plate tintypes. Blackened metal plates are coated with a light-sensitive emulsion, dried, and placed into the camera for exposure. When developed, they produce unique positive images as the finished product. There is no negative, which makes them original one-only images.

"My inspirational canvas is drawn by the sense of beauty and nostalgia that I find in things that are old and have weathered the test of time," Hinebaugh said. "I have chosen to use old cameras and lenses from the 19th century and to employ the processes from that time to interpret my feelings."

Included in the exhibit is a work titled "Spear Road Oak," which won Best of Show at the recent Tri-State Photography Exhibit at the Saville Gallery in Cumberland.

Linocuts and collagraphs of Steven Matthews are among the works featured in the exhibit. Matthews studied art at Allegany College and received a bachelor of fine arts degree in art and design from Frostburg State University. He went on to obtain a master of fine arts degree at the Maryland Institute College of Art in Baltimore.

Matthews creates supposed scenes from everyday life through a curious filter, he said, making scenes that tell a narrative, often via a dark sense of humor. He is currently investigating an expanded stylized vision that abstracts the inspiration into a tactile representation that forces the viewer to interpret the images. Matthews is the current printmaking instructor at FSU. A native of Garrett County, he currently resides in Westernport.

A "BLACK & WHITE" SAMPLE – Pictured is one example of the "Black & White" exhibit now on display at the Gallery Shop in downtown Oakland. "Do Not Disturb" is the title of this work, created by illustrator Denise Moynahan. She has illustrated several books, including one for each of her 10 grandchildren. Her work along with Guy Hinebaugh's black and white photography, linocuts and collagraphs of Steven Matthews, and Julyen Norman's linocuts comprise the exhibit. See story.

Julyen Norman, another contributing artist, was born and reared in Nottingham, England, and attended art school in the industrial north at Huddersfield and Bradford colleges. Prior to moving to Garrett County, he lived in the Washington, D.C., area and worked as the executive director of the 1708 East Main Gallery in Richmond and as senior program officer at the Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation in Baltimore.

Norman is a multi-media artist who has worked in performance, photography, painting, and printmaking. The exhibit includes several examples of linocut prints from the Ulysses Suite, images based on James Joyce's novel of the same name, which has engaged the artist now for almost 15 years.

A fourth contributor, illustrator Denise Moynahan, said she is inspired by the world of imagination and fantasy. She received a BFA degree in illustration from the Rhode Island School of Design and first worked for Paramount Greeting Cards. She later established her own studio in Bowie, where she illustrated books and educational materials. In 1984, Moynahan joined the Central Intelligence Agency as a visual information specialist. She retired in 1999 as chief of the visual information staff in the office of the deputy director for science and technology.

Over the past 10 years, Moynahan has written and illustrated a fantasy book for each of her 10 grandchildren. She and her husband live on top of Backbone Mountain in the Oakland area. She said her home on the mountaintop has inspired her to write and illustrate a recently published mythology titled The Great Cavern of the Winds: Tales from Backbone Mountain.

The exhibit will be on display in the Backroom Gallery of the Gallery Shop during the normal business hours, Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. A public reception for the artists will be held on Thursday, April 7, from 5 to 7 p.m.

The Garrett County Arts Council is supported by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council. For more information about the local organization, persons may to go www.garrettarts.com or call 301-334-6580.

Bartlett Hosting Art Competition For HS Students

Congressman Roscoe Bartlett announced this week that he will sponsor the 2011 Congressional Art Competition, "An Artistic Discovery," for high school students who live within the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland.

"I believe that this competition provides an excellent opportunity to showcase the talent of students in the Sixth District and acknowledge our nation's gifted young artists," Bartlett said.

The deadline for submission of entries for the competition is April 29 to one of Bartlett's four district offices. The closest one to Garrett County is in Cumberland at 1 Frederick Street, Suite 2. The phone number is 301-724-3105.

Entries can be submitted in one of seven categories: paintings, drawings, collage, prints, mixed media, computer generated art, and photography. Further information regarding each category can be found on the web at bartlett.house.gov/Issues/Issue/?IssueID=2068 under General Issues: Related files.

Each student may only submit one piece of art. Entries will be judged by an independent panel of volunteer art experts.

The winners in each of seven categories and the Sixth Congressional District Best in Show will be announced on May 4. The Best in Show work will be displayed in the Cannon Tunnel to the Capitol for one year and may be awarded an Artistic Merit Scholarship in the amount of $1,500 per year by the Savannah College of Art and Design.

Invitations to participate in the competition have been sent to the public and non-public high schools and home-schooled students in the Sixth District of Maryland. Participating students must reside in the Sixth Entries must follow art competition guidelines and must be accompanied by a student information/release form. Each student must complete this form and attach it to the back of his or her artwork. The student's art teacher must also sign the form to affirm the entry's authenticity and originality.

Artwork must conform to the following restrictions:

Artwork must be two dimensional. Each piece can be no larger than 28 inches high, 28 inches wide, and 4 inches deep, including a frame. Framed artwork cannot weigh more than 15 pounds.

Each entry must be original in concept, design, and execution, and may not violate any U.S. copyright laws. Any entry that has been copied from an existing photo (not the student's own), painting, graphic, advertisement, or any other work produced by another person is a violation of the competition rules and will not be accepted. Work entered must be in the original medium (that is, not a scanned reproduction of a painting or drawing).

Artwork will hang in the Capitol complex for the entire year of the exhibition and cannot be returned to the students earlier. Students should, therefore, submit artwork they will not need for other purposes.

Reservations Now Being Taken For OTT Irish Farce

Our Town Theatre will present The Walworth Farce as its next stage production. The show, a dark Irish comedy written by Edna Walsh, will be given at the theatre in Oakland from March 30 through April 3. Persons may make ticket reservations now by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640.

The play is "a play within a play" about three Irish men, a father and two sons, who live in a rundown council flat on Walworth Road in south London, according to Jane Avery, who is assisting Richard Hill with direction.

"They never leave and have not left for 20 years, and each day they perform a farce," Hill said. "Each day the same, each day the same play. Only Sean leaves each day to buy the food for the play at Tesco, a supermarket in London."

The characters are Dinny, the father, played by Hill; Blake, Dinny's older son, played by Mikey Virts; Sean, Dinny's younger son, played by Dylan Barnard; and Hayley, a girl who works in Tesco, played by Jen Virts.

"Something happened back in Cork. Something tragic that caused Dinny to flee to London," Hill said. "His young sons followed him. To bring themselves some calm and peace of mind, Dinny told them a story. Then a new story, and soon the story became the reality. A routine to keep the family safe."

The play is dark and irreverent, yet "hysterically funny," Hill said. It is designed for mature audiences.

Gospel Singer Janet Paschal To Perform At PSC

Christian female singer/songwriter, author, and talk show host Janet Paschal will perform at the Church-McKee Arts Center on the campus of Potomac State College, Keyser, W.Va., on Saturday, March 26. The show will begin at 7 p.m.

Growing up in North Carolina, Paschal said her earliest recollections center around the church. For the past three decades she has been singing gospel music and is now one of the genre's most recognized female vocalists, a spokesperson said.

For the past decade she has been featured on the Gaither Homecoming video and concert tour. The Gaither Gospel Series released The Best Of Janet Paschal in DVD and CD format in May of 2007. Her latest release is Treasure.

Her recordings have been recognized with numerous Grammy and Dove Award nominations, and she is consistently named among gospel music's favorite soloists by the genre's top trade magazines, the spokesperson said.

After battling breast cancer in 2005, Paschal resumed her touring schedule, including concerts, women's conferences, and cancer awareness events. In November 2008, she released a book, Treasures Of The Snow, which chronicles her struggle with cancer and stories from three decades in gospel music. Her first literary work, The Good Road, was a best seller.

Paschal also hosts a weekly radio program, Walking the Good Road, which airs on more than 20 stations, covering seven states, as well as a two-minute daily syndicated program airing across the U.S., in Canada, and Europe. The programs focus on cancer awareness. For the past two years, she has hosted the annual Cancer Walk at the National Quartet Convention, Southern Gospel Music's premier weeklong festival. Proceeds from the event are presented to the American Cancer Society.

Complete show and ticket information may be obtained by calling 304-788-4021 or 304-813-8344, or by visiting www.janetpaschal.com.

Center To Host Evening Slate Painting Class

Peggy Nixon will be teaching a slate painting class at the Grantsville Senior Center on Tuesday, April 5, from 6 to 9 p.m. The cost is $25 for the class. Pre-registration is required. Those interested are asked to telephone Lois Ford at 301-895-5818 to reserve a place.

This project promotes the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of providing older adults with lifelong learning opportunities.

The Walworth Farce
by Enda Walsh

It's morning in a dingy apartment on the Walworth Road in south London. In two hour's time, as is normal, three Irish men will have consumed many cans of Harp, fifteen crackers with spreadable cheese, ten pink wafers and one oven-cooked chicken with a strange blue sauce. In two hour's time, seven people will have been killed.

This play contains violence and coarse language and is recommended for age 16 and over.

The Walworth Farce is presented under special agreement with Curtis Brown Group Ltd., London, England, is funded, in part, by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

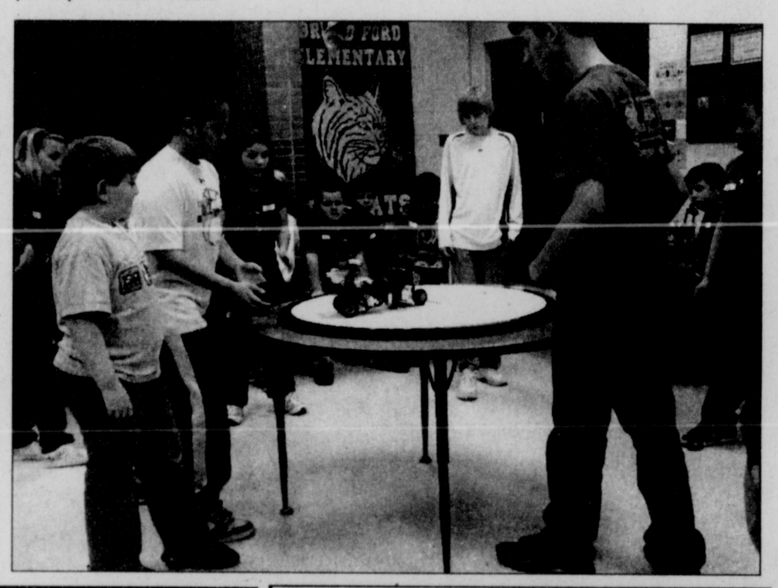
FTC TEAMS HEAD AFTER-SCHOOL ROBOTICS PROGRAMS – Local FTC teams recently visited Broad Ford Elementary School to head an after-school workshop. A total of 48 students showed interest and attended the event. The teams are currently visiting area schools with the hope of encouraging students to participate in the evolving extra-curricular activity. Above left are first and second grade students Baird Mead, Madeleine Savage, and Kasey Clements building the munching alligator. Students built LEGO models featuring working motors and sensors and then programmed their models while developing their skills in science, engineering, and technology. Above right, Baird Mead and Ben Jubb are fully engaged into programming their LEGO lion to stand up and roar and then lie back down and snore. The students learn basic programming skills quickly with friendly icon based programming. They create forward and reverse move blocks, incorporate different sounds, use sensors to manipulate their models, and can put them in a loop to repeat the actions. The third, forth, and fifth grade students worked on teams to design, build, test, and modify a SuGO (summo wrestling LEGO NXT Mindstorm) robot from scratch. Each team had an FTC team member to mentor it through its building process. The teams then took their robots to the ring, where each tries to push its opponent robot off the ring. The students design their robot with two light sensors to detect the black ring to back up to stay on the ring. They also strategically place a Sumo Eye sensor on their robot to detect other robots. When their robot sees the opponent, it accelerates toward it to push it off the ring. Below are Kaylee Baker, Billy Sweitzer, Justin Shafer, Kiara DiSimone, Alden Layman, Will Meagher, Kayla Harris, Mac Clements, and Keegan Brooks. "Everyone at Broad Ford had a great time, and the kids are still talking about it," commented principal Suzie Sincell.



Jobs, Safety, Trans., Environment Top O'Malley's Federal Priority List

by Laura E. Lee.
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON -- Gov. Martin O'Malley on Wednesday asked Maryland's congressional delegation to focus on job creation, public safety, transportation and environmental protection as they work through this session.

Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., welcomed the governor to Capitol Hill and introduced herself as "Coach 'B'" of "Team Maryland." Nine of the delegation's 10 members were present at the meeting with the governor.

Using a slideshow to outline his top priorities, O'Malley requested congressional support for the Workforce Investment Act, legislation to provide work training and placement funding.

"We will never be able to bring our cost curves down and to resolve the deficit until we get our people back to work," he said.

O'Malley called job creation an important priority, not just for Maryland, but for innovation on the national stage. "If we can create jobs in Maryland and move our state forward, we are moving an important part of our country forward," said O'Malley, chairman of the Democratic Governors Association.

Democratic Sen. Ben Cardin praised O'Malley's emphasis on creating jobs in the biotech and cybersecurity sectors.

"I think he has made the right decisions on his priorities," Cardin said.

The governor requested support for the community development block grant that gives Maryland $59 million in federal funds for affordable housing and improved infrastructure.

O'Malley said the work of Congress is essential to enabling the state to meet its objectives. He cited food stamps and nutritional programming as vital to the success of his goal of ending childhood hunger in Maryland by 2015.

O'Malley also put in a pitch for the Byrne Justice Assistance Grant program, which provides funding for targeted projects by state and municipal law enforcement agencies.

Rep. Dutch Ruppersberger, D-Cockeysville, discussed the need for expanding transportation options for the state.

"We talk about rail, but rail doesn't do us any good if you don't have buses to get people off of the train and get them to the job centers," he said.

O'Malley called Maryland Secretary of Transportation Beverley Swaim-Staley to the podium to discuss transportation issues. Swaim-Staley was one of several state Cabinet members in attendance.

Despite the characterization of the delegation as "Team Maryland," the meeting was not devoid of partisan jabs.

"We're kind of going broke," said Rep. Andy Harris, R-Cockeysville, one of two Republican delegation members and the only one present. Harris called balancing the budget "a strange concept in Washington."

"We're not estranged from balanced budgets," Democratic Whip Steny Hoyer responded. "As a matter of fact, we had balanced budgets during the Clinton administration. We are estranged, in my 30 years here in Congress, from balanced budgets from any Republican president's year, much less term."

Harris asked O'Malley if federal funding is not available for the implementation of Chesapeake Bay Total Maximum Daily Loads, or pollution diets, if he would consider delaying the measures.

"I'm not really the one that has the clock ticking," O'Malley responded. "I mean, it's Mother Nature." If funding cuts are "as reckless as what the Republican Congress has proposed," the harm to the bay could be irreparable, O'Malley said.

O'Malley criticized Republican spending cuts as "very, very fiscally irresponsible, as well as being very bad for our economy."

Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Frederick, did not attend the meeting.

Huskies Defeat Mardela, Fall To Dunbar In State Title Game

The record-breaking 2010-11 Northern High School girls' basketball season concluded Saturday with a loss to Dunbar in the Class 1A State Championship game, 80-62. Though losing in their final game together, the Husky seniors remain positive and point to their accomplishments.

This year, Kaitlynn Fratz became Garrett County's all-time leading scorer with a career total of 2,103 points, while the Husky's 23 wins is the record for a Northern basketball team of either gender. Also this season, Terra McKenzie became the second all-time in career three-point goals scored and Morgan Brosnihan earned the distinction of third best career free-throw shooter.

"Since the sixth grade we've accomplished an awful lot," said McKenzie. "From youth league championships to the AMAC—it's been a great ride."

In the first round of state tournament play on Friday, Northern earned its championship spot by defeating Mardela, 65-47.

In the game, Fratz netted 28 points on 11-of-27 shooting, hit three deep three-pointers, grabbed seven rebounds, and served up three assists. McKenzie tallied 18 points of her own in the win with a team-high 12 rebounds, and two steals.

Teammates Brosnihan and Allison Yommer scored eight and seven points, respectively.

Northern trailed only briefly in the beginning of the first quarter, and extended the lead into double figures for most of the fourth quarter, the largest spread being the final score. The Huskies were up 18-11 after one quarter, 39-22 at halftime, and made it 46-37 after three periods.

Taylor Siggers was Mardela's top scorer with 23 points. She also grabbed 14 rebounds. Aleisha Hobbs had 10 points and nine rebounds.

Both teams struggled with shooting accuracy in the match. Northern managed to hit 33 percent of its shots (19-of-58), while Mardela shot for 39 percent (25-of-64).

The Warriors held a slight edge in rebounds (44-42), though both teams grabbed 16 offensive boards. The Huskies played a cleaner game than their opponent, turning the ball over just six times compared to Mardela's 14.

The win marked 12 straight for the Huskies, a streak which was broken the next day by a Dunbar team that held a distinct height advantage.

Dunbar junior Michelle Wright (5-foot-9) scored 40 points and pulled down 21 rebounds, while senior Omaah Tayong (6-foot-3) added 19 points and 15 rebounds.

In the game, Fratz totaled 22 points, six rebounds, and three steals before fouling out early in the fourth quarter. McKenzie had 19 points and six rebounds for Northern. Teammate Yommer netted 5 points.

Dunbar took its fifth-straight state title with the win over Northern. Wright, whose 21 rebounds matched Northern's team total, and Tayong established a large presence in the paint. Seventeen of the Poets' 36 rebounds came on the offensive end. Dunbar scored 46 points in the lane and had 27 second-chance points.

"We battled all year with our size. We gave a Herculean effort and battled, and battled, and battled, always being outsized. We play with a lot of heart," said Northern head coach Steve Fratz. "Tonight size really caught up with us."

Dunbar led 42-33 at the half, but the Huskies felt they could close the deficit.

"We thought we could come back by playing hard, pushing and pressuring the ball, and boxing out," said McKenzie. "That was the attitude at halftime."

Northern's hopes were dashed, however, as it began the third quarter with a 4:55 scoring drought. The Husky dilemma was compounded as leading scorer Fratz was whistled for her fourth foul and had to sit.

Dunbar took advantage of the situation and began to put the game away in the third quarter, scoring after getting four offensive rebounds on its first five possessions.

A three-point play by Tayong made it 54-34 midway through the period. Dunbar, which won the rebound battle 31-11 in the second half, led 62-34 after three quarters.

With 7:12 left in regulation, Fratz committed foul number five. It was the first time this season the record-breaking scorer fouled out.

"They play a high pressure defense, and our shots weren't falling. Even our foul shots

Huskies To Open 2011 Baseball Campaign Monday At Keyser

The 2011 baseball season is set to open Monday at Keyser for the Northern High School varsity, and Coach Phil Carr is looking for the Huskies to improve upon their 12-9 record of a year ago.

The Huskies finished among the area's top five teams and were the fourth seed in the regional playoffs, where they defeated Manchester Valley before falling to Catoctin.

Now in his 22nd season at the helm of the Huskies, Coach Carr has a career record of 252-151 as head of his alma mater's program. Eight players who saw action last season, including five starters, are back this spring. Lost to graduation last year were Dylan Miller and Andy Umbel, who are both now playing for Garrett College, as well as Alex Smith, Andrew Sisler, Teddy Linton, Brian Umbel, and Corbyn Browne.

The Huskies will need to depend on the strength of their defense and their ability to hit the ball, Carr said, with his biggest area of concern being the lack of experience in pitching. Senior Steven Holtschneider is the only starting pitcher back from last season. Holtschneider tossed 40 innings, struck out 43, and had one win. Senior Cody Humberson and junior Cody Rodeheaver saw some limited time in relief.

Others expected to see time on the mound will be juniors Pat Sines and Derek Noble, and sophomores Jared Fike and Jeremy Bender.

"We have a group of pitchers who we think can throw strikes and keep us in games if we play solid defense behind them," Carr said.

Veterans returning to the Husky lineup include Holt-

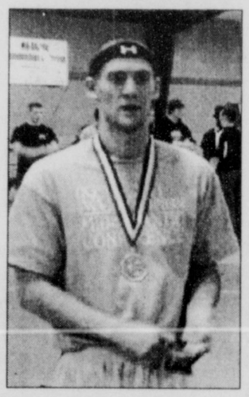
Daniel Carr Finishes Second In Nat'l Collegiate Wrestling Event

Daniel Carr, a graduate of Southern High School and former standout on the Rams' wrestling team, finished second in his weight division at the National Collegiate Wrestling Association (NCWA) national championships, hosted this past weekend by Mercer University in Macon, Ga.



Carr, who earned his runner-up title in the 149-pound division, is a member of the University of Maryland Baltimore County team.

Carr, who is pictured on the winners' podium above (fourth from left), defeated Trey White from Mercer University, Ga., on points, 10-5, in the preliminary round, then gained a 13-4 decision over Thomas Gillan from the University of Central Florida, and topped Dylan Cataline of California Baptist in the semifinals, 8-5. He then lost to Daniel Swain of Douglass College in the title bout.

A former Maryland high school state runner-up for the Rams, Carr finished the season with an overall record of 46-15, setting the UMBC record for the highest number of wins in a single season, as well as a new UMBC career win number.

Carr is the son of Maria Carr, Oakland, and Rob Carr, Accident.

ing he would at least match the program's best individual finish.

In the third-place match, Glotfelty earned a takedown early in the first period before allowing an escape by Concordia-Moorehead's Tom Bouressa to make it a 2-1 match heading into the second period.

Glotfelty chose the down position and earned a quick escape to push his advantage to 3-1.

In the third, Bouressa escaped, then was awarded a penalty point after a second stall warning was issued to even the match at 3-3 in the final 30 seconds. However, Glotfelty had racked up 3 minutes, 35 seconds of time advantage to notch the win, finishing his senior season on a high note and with a record of 34-3.

Glotfelty is the program's all-time wins leader, finishing his career with a four-season record of 126-23.

Glotfelty Named Scholar All-American

Brock Glotfelty has also been named a Scholar All-American by the National Wrestling Coaches Association.

As a team, the Green Terror ranked eighth in Division III in team GPA to earn the scholar team award. The team GPA is calculated as an average of the top 10 students on each team. McDaniel had a collective GPA of 3.4123 – one of only two Centennial Conference teams to make the top 24.

Glotfelty was one of 156 Division III wrestlers in the nation to earn the honor, which goes to individuals who have a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 3.2 and advanced to the NCAA championship.

Glotfety, an exercise science major with a 3.775 GPA, earned his second straight academic honor and advanced to the NCAA tournament for the third year in a row, where he finished third at heavyweight.

Glotfelty finished the season with a 34-3 record and team-best 14 pins.

Southern Mat Club Wrestlers Vie At Fort Hill

Members of the Southern Mat Club participated in the Fort Hill Open Wrestling Tournament in Cumberland on Saturday, with four of them bringing home individual titles.

The SMC champions in their respective age and weight divisions were Quentin VanGorder, 45 pounds; Joey McComas, 60 pounds; Jimmy Schwab, 85 pounds; and Devan Hamrick, 80 pounds.

Reid Schenk earned a runner-up trophy in the 50-pound division, and Anthony Smith placed third in the 45-pound class.

Lakers Drop To 4-7 With 12-2 Thumping By Allegany Trojans

The Garrett College baseball team dropped to 4-7 on Saturday, as the Lakers were hammered by host Allegany College, 12-2.

The Lakers nearly matched the Trojans in hitting, finishing with nine hits to their 10, but they also committed four costly errors and gave up a pair of grand slams.

The Lakers held a brief 1-0 lead when Jose Soto rapped an RBI double in the first inning, but the home team took the lead for good with four runs in the bottom of that frame. They were recorded via a grand slam by Kasey Clinton, who would later add a two-run shot in the fourth inning.

The Lakers cut AC's lead to 4-2 witn another single run in the top of the fourth, but once again the Trojans responded in the bottom of the same inning, this time with six runs.

Those runs were put on the board with another grand slam, this time by John Kemmer, and Clinton's two-run blast.

The Trojans (2-6) added a run in the sixth, and then ended the game in the bottom of the seventh with a walk-off homer by Jake Weibley, which activated the 10-run mercy rule.

Cory Brown stroked a double, Julius Niemand hit an RBI single, and Patrick Carter had two singles for the Lakers.

For AC, Brandon Miller chipped in with two singles, and A.J. Robinson hit a run-producing single.

Winning pitcher Curtis Harpster went the distance and struck out nine.

A twinbill for the Lakers with Rockville on Tuesday was postponed because of rain.

weren't," said Fratz.

The Huskies, one of the better free-throw shooting teams in the region, shot 10-for-19 from the line over three quarters and finished the game 18-for-31.

Northern, in the championship game for the second time in school history, ended its season as sectional and West Region champion.

"I'm proud of these girls," stated Coach Fratz. "It's a tough way to go out—but it's not. We made the state championship game. It's what we worked for a long time. It's bittersweet. I wouldn't trade it for anything, the memories I have of this team and these girls. Tonight Dunbar had a great plan, they knew our size and they exposed us."

Though the hopes of Northern capturing its first state title slipped away in the second half, the droves of fans that came to cheer on their team remained supportive.

"We beat Allegany, we beat Smithsburg, we beat tough teams and there is nothing much more you can ask for," Kaitlynn Fratz stated. "Our fans were great, even when we were getting beat by 20 they never stopped.

"It was an awesome trip and we had a great time. We fell a little short, but we are the second team in Northern history to do this, so it feels pretty great."

schneider at short stop when he is not pitching, who batted .403 last year with four doubles, three homers, and 14 RBI; senior Jake Bosley in right field, who hit .311 with one homer and 10 RBI; senior Justin Shaw in left field, who batted .278 with a home run and had eight RBI; Humberson at first base; and Rodeheaver at second, who batted .368 with a homer and 17 RBI.

Others who will see action in the infield will be Sines at third, junior Kyle Rosenberger at first or second, senior Nathan Mast at third, and Fike at shortstop.

Fighting for positions in the outfield will be senior Austin Tombley and juniors Noble, Josh Mason, Zach Meyers, and Dan Sisler. Handling the catching chores will be junior Josh Bittinger and sophomore Bender.

"Offensively, I feel we will be solid, and should be able to score runs and move runners along when we get opportunities," Carr said.

Carr believes the Huskies' biggest competition this season will come from Mountain Ridge, Southern, Frankfort, Hampshire, and improved Allegany and Fort Hill.

"We have a good group of players who have been working hard and have played a lot of baseball together," said Carr. "To be competitive in our league we will need to keep getting better as we progress through the season. Our practices have been going well, but have been mainly inside because of the weather conditions."

The Huskies did get a scrimmage in at Boonsboro this past week, which Carr believes was valuable in getting his squad ready to open against Keyser.

Other members of Carr's coaching staff are Jamie Workman, Ed Carr, Jeff Carr, Tim Stevens, P.J. Workman, and Kris Carr.

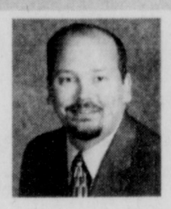
Do Some Spring Cleaning on Your (Financial) House



It's spring — time to clean out the gutters, tune up the lawnmower and wash the windows. But as you attend to these types of tasks around your home, why not take the time to do some financial "spring cleaning" as well?

Specifically, consider these moves:

• "Dust off" your investment strategy. If there's an area in your home that you haven't looked at for a while, you may want to dust it off in preparation for the new season. And the same principle may apply to your investment strategy — if you haven't examined it for a while, it may be time to clean it up to prepare for a new season in your life. After all, since you initially designed your investment strategy — that is, the total amount you invest, the percentages going into "growth" and "income" vehicles, the dollars going into taxable versus tax-deferred accounts and so on — many things may have changed for you, such as your employment situation, the number of children in your household and even your long-term goals. Consequently, you may need to revise your investment strategy in consultation with your financial advisor.

• "De-clutter" your portfolio. As you look around your house, you may find duplicates of many items, such as those five coffeemakers you've accumulated over the years — so you decide to "purge" a few. And when you take a closer look at your portfolio, you might find several investments that you've added over time and that are similar to one another. If that's the case, you might help yourself by selling the "redundant" investments and using the proceeds to buy different ones that can help you diversify your portfolio. (Keep in mind that while diversification can help reduce the effects of volatility on your portfolio, it can't guarantee a profit or protect against loss.)

• Prepare yourself for stormy weather. During springtime, we often experience heavy rains, hailstorms, high winds and other types of inclement weather. That's why we keep our roofs in good shape, keep branches away from our homes and take other steps to protect our houses and property from the ravages of Mother Nature. You and your family could go through some "rough weather" during the course of your lives, so you'll want to make sure you have sufficient protection in the form of adequate life and disability insurance. Review your coverage to make sure it's still adequate for your needs.

• Open the windows of opportunity. After a long winter, you may find it pleasant to open the windows and let in the sun and the fresh air. And as an investor, you may find "windows of opportunity" through which you can open yourself up to good investment possibilities. For example, even though we've been in a challenging economy the past couple of years, a number of factors – such as low interest rates, improved corporate earnings and favorable stock valuations (the price you pay for a stock, relative to its earnings) — have translated into a favorable environment for investors looking for quality stocks.

By doing some financial spring cleaning, you may find that you've swept away some of the obstacles to helping you achieve your goals.

Lakers Earn Post-Season Honors

Garrett College sophomores Alice Abiya and Tanisha Williams of the Garrett GC women's basketball team, pictured left and right, respectively, were awarded post-season honors, according to an announcement this week by Shawn Noel, GC director of athletics.

Abiya, who was named to the Second Team on the MD/JUCO All-Conference second team, averaged 18 points, 11 rebounds, and two blocks per game for the Lakers this past season

Williams earned Honorable Mention honors on the MD/JUCO All-Conference team and was named to the All-Region second team. She averaged just over 15 points, 6 rebounds, and 3 steals per game this season.

Both Abiya and Williams started in the Region XX All-Star game, which was held recently at Cecil Community College, and helped lead their team to victory.

Besides noting the skills of the two GC players, Noel also praised them for their season-long contribution.

"Tanisha and Alice were the driving force behind the our team all season," he said. They are both extremely talented in different ways."

Two Arrested On Possession Of Marijuana Charges

Garrett County Sheriff's deputies recently made two marijuana possession arrested. The following cases are unrelated.

Deputies conducted a stop recently along Hutton Road on a 1987 Jeep truck for failing to have the required rear tag light illuminated. Further investigation led to the arrest of Sky Ernest Collins. He was charged with possession of marijuana. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

In a separate incident, deputies stopped a vehicle being operated by Bonita Pauline Mash on Maryland Highway last week. Further investigation revealed that she had marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia in her possession. She was subsequently arrested and transported to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

State Anti-Abortion Lawmakers Propose Trio Of New Regulations

by Holly Nunn
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Citing recent incidents in Maryland and other states, some anti-abortion lawmakers are calling for regulations that they say the state health department has failed to provide.

Three bills respond directly to the case of New Jersey doctor Steven Brigham, who began late-term abortions in New Jersey and had patients drive to his Elkton clinic to finish the procedures. One such procedure in August led to the hospitalization of an 18-year old woman.

Delegate Michael Smigiel, R-Cecil, whose law office is within blocks of the Elkton clinic, said he crafted his legislation narrowly to avoid the controversy of taking on the legality of abortion.

"I'm not here to have a big fight over abortion," Smigiel said. "I want to stick to medical issues. If a woman is going to have an abortion, she deserves to live through the process."

Legislators, abortion opponents and abortion-rights advocates gathered Tuesday before the House Health and Government Operations Committee to testify on Smigiel's bills, and four others, regulating abortions. The proposed bills ranged in scope from the transportation regulations to one bill that would outlaw abortion in the state.

Smigiel's bills would require that abortion procedures that are started in the state stay in the state except in the case of an emergency, and that women who require transportation midprocedure be moved by ambulance to a hospital. Another bill would require that doctors report abortions to the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, including information like complications and injuries without identifying the patient or physician.

But abortion rights supporters say the legislation is designed to increase the cost of and limit access to abortions.

NARAL Pro-Choice Interim Director Melissa Kleder called the bills "a series of attacks on women's freedom and privacy," and said the health department has the objectivity, authority and expertise to regulate abortion.

The bills' sponsors and supporters say the department has failed to craft regulations as allowed under law since a 1992 referendum, leading to unsafe conditions for women seeking abortions.

"These things we read about in the newspapers are the exceptions, they're not the rule," said Wendy Kronmiller, assistant secretary for regulatory affairs at the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene."We have to strike the right balance between access and safety."

Kronmiller said in the hearings that while the department does not regulate the abortion procedures themselves, the physicians who perform the procedures are regulated by the Maryland Board of Physicians.

One of the bills would require the department to craft and adopt regulations by January. Kronmiller said the department is already in the process of doing so, and will have regulations drafted by December.

Other bills heard include one sponsored by Delegate Adelaide Eckardt, R-Dorchester, and Delegate Pamela Beidle, D-Anne Arundel, that would require abortion clinics to comply with regulations for ambulatory surgical facilities, which are much more stringent than current regulations. A similar measure was recently passed in Virginia, which abortion rights advocates say will result in the closure of a majority of Virginia's clinics.

The most sweeping bill introduced is one sponsored by Delegate Don Dwyer, R-Anne Arundel, that would define "personhood" in the Maryland Declaration of Rights to establish that the right not to be deprived of life is vested in all human beings from the beginning of their development.

Md. Hospital Association Urges Even Spread Of Assessment Fee

by Jessica Harper
Capital News Service

ELKRIDGE – The Maryland Hospital Association is urging the state to spread a hospital tax evenly among providers and the self-insured to avoid hitting its members too hard, a position highlighted last week during a Medicaid briefing at the group's headquarters in Elkridge.

"As the House and Senate leadership try to close the historic gap in the state budget, we want to be very clear: Spending is due to Medicaid enrollment," said Carmela Coyle, president and CEO. "As they look to a hospital tax as a solution, we need to look to spreading it to the broadest base possible and not have the 46 community hospitals in the state shoulder that burden."

Also known as hospital rate assessment, the tax is a state law that authorizes the collection of revenue from hospital providers.

The association's leadership highlighted the tax as part of a 39-page study of health care costs. Coyle kicked-off the meeting by explaining what it all means.

"So, how about hospital assessment – does that make sense?" she said, amid a couple of chuckles and confused faces. "It really is a strange creature.

"I once saw a headline (about this issue) that read, 'Hospitals would get a pay raise,' and I thought, 'Oh my goodness.' When the state raises rates, we don't get to keep that money," she said. "When there is a hospital assessment, we have to write a check back to the state."

The Maryland General Assembly is debating a 2.5 percent hospital assessment as part of HB 72, the Budget Reconciliation and Financing Act of 2011. The fee would be imposed on net patient revenue for Medicaid operations, according to its fiscal and policy note on the Maryland General Assembly website. Assessment costs, the note says, must be shared "equitably" among hospitals and purchasers of hospital services.

If the budget passes both chambers, the Health Services Cost Review Commission will implement the hospital fee.

As Medicaid spending grows in Maryland, it becomes a growing share of the state's budget, the association's study showed. It includes a chart projecting dramatic growth of Maryland Medicaid enrollees from 2008 to 2012, including a 30,000 beneficiary jump in 2009. The association expects the numbers to near 1 million by 2012.

Hospital assessment fits into the budget equation by raising revenue through Medicaid. Maryland's Medicaid system is funded on a 50-50 basis. For every dollar the state spends on Medicaid, it receives a matching dollar from the federal government. And closing the budget by raising assessment keeps federal dollars flowing in, Coyle said.

Maryland is the only state where a commission sets the rate of increase by which hospital charges can go up each year, she said. That means that hospitals could only recover a new assessment if the commission allows the facility to charge higher rates. Otherwise, the hospital would have to find other means to cover the assessment.

The General Assembly predicts the new fee would raise $370 million, making it the largest amount the state has ever put on the table for hospital rate assessment, Coyle said.

Jim Reiter, MHA senior vice president of communications, said hospitals should carry a portion of the load.

"We have 93,000 employees," said Reiter. "Hospitals are one of the largest employers in the state. We will be sharing our burden of the cost of this and will be paying our share as any other employer would. This would not just be water off of our backs."

But Simon Powell, a budget analyst for the Department of Legislative Services, said an "equal" spread of the assessment exists in theory alone.

"The hospital association favors the tax being spread to 'the broadest base possible' because they have a vested interest in making sure they pay as little as possible. So, from their per-

There's a lesson here, but I wonder if we'll ever learn it.

To the Editor:

A bill requiring thorough study of a controversial industrial drilling technology, and strict safeguards for water aquifers, community resources, and the natural environment was approved Wednesday by a key legislative committee.

The House Environmental Matters Committee voted to send the bill – the Marcellus Safe Drilling Act of 2011 (HB 852) – to the full chamber for consideration. A companion bill in the Senate (SB634) was the subject of a hearing there on March 1.

A different "Marcellus" bill sponsored by Del. Wendell Beitzel (HB 411) was voted down in a House committee, making it unlikely that a companion bill in the Senate (SB 422), sponsored by Sen. George Edwards, would survive. These alternate companion bills would have allowed industrial drilling to be permitted by year's end using existing regulations.

Many citizens from western Maryland offered testimony at legislative hearings on the bills.

Major environmental and public advocacy organizations back the Safe Drilling Act, as do directors of the two state regulatory agencies charged with approving industry plans for drilling. They said in Senate testimony that just over two years is needed to put in place public and environmental protections – including on 150,000 acres of state forest and parks. Opponents complain time is being wasted, and that the state need not wait to see results of a federal EPA study of the technology due out in 2012.

Safe Drilling Act supporters have worked with the O'Malley administration to craft a law that pays for a full analysis of shale drilling in Maryland and for enhanced, comprehensive oversight with a fee structure on permits that generates the revenue to run the regulatory programs.

People may learn about the legislation at the Maryland General Assembly Home Page, then continue their own investigations by following news surrounding the bills and the industry, especially in nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Local government officials have heard much about what drilling proponents say are benefits to the county's economy and to large landowners with gas leases; they've also heard much concern about the safety and long-term impacts of drilling. Only Mountain Lake Park has acted, by banning shale gas drilling.

Governor Martin O'Malley was in the region on Sunday night into Monday, and repeatedly voiced his preference for the Safe Drilling Act, which is headed for a vote in the full House sometime next week.

Mt. Storm Center To Grant Veterans Greater Access

Preston-Taylor Community Health Centers Inc. recently announced that it has begun a new project at the Mt. Stor.n Health Center, along with the Department of Veterans Affairs, to improve care for local veterans. The project aims to grant local veterans greater access to health care services and to assist them in learning more about potential VA benefits.

"The center is proud to serve our local veterans and their families. We know that among our patients there are veterans who may not know they are eligible for VA benefits and others who have challenges traveling to more distant VA facilities for specialty care. For those veterans who get their health care at both the VA and our centers, this project will provide a way to work with the VA to improve coordination of care," stated Linda Shriver, CEO of Preston-Taylor.

Shriver also commented that a high proportion of rural citizens serve in our nation's armed forces and these service members can face greater challenges in accessing care.

This project plans to enlist the health center's staff to call veteran patients to discuss their individual health needs and challenges. The clinic will also hold discussion sessions with local veterans to hear firsthand their views and opinions about health care.

With this feedback, the project leaders plan to establish outreach, educational programs, and ongoing communication between the Mt. Storm Health Center and the VA. The ultimate goal will be to provide rural veterans the highest quality medical service available within their community and to coordinate care among the doctors and other providers.

The health center believes the project will assist veterans by reducing their travel times to medical facilities, decrease trips to the emergency room, and increase satisfaction with care provided.

Arthurdale Group Schedules Annual Fundraiser Dinner

Arthurdale Heritage Inc. will hold its annual Elimination Dinner on Saturday, April 16, at the Reedsville fire hall in Preston County. Doors will open at 5 p.m.

A total of $3,115 in prizes will be awarded. Raffles and drawings will also be available.

Roast beef, meatless lasagna, wine, desserts, and other items will be served.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICES

Host to the March 23 community Lenten service will be the Maple Grove Assembly of God, Accident. Scheduled to speak that evening is Pastor Scott Rush of Brookside. The service is set to begin at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

BUCKWHEAT DINNER

A buckwheat cake and sausage dinner, along with a bake sale, will be held on Saturday, March 26, at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon. The meal will be served from 3 to 8 p.m. Adults eat for $7, children pre-school to age 12 for $4, and those younger eat for free. The Family Life Center Committee is sponsoring the meal.

SCHOOL NEWS

Aurora School is still in need of volunteers to come for a portion of the school day to help with student learning and other activities. The more volunteers there are to help, the shorter the time needed from each. Volunteers are also needed to put together a program to provide funding for the extra technical equipment needed for use in classroom instruction, such as computers. Those interested or in need of more information should contact principal Angie Varner at 304-735-3781.

PHOTOS NEEDED

The Aurora Area Historical Society is seeking stories, photos, and information about sports from 1929 to 1936 and 1940 to 1946. Residence are asked to search their collections. Those with photos without IDs are still encouraged to submit them, as someone else may be able to do the identifying. Persons should contact John Adams at 304-288-6850.

YARD SALE & BARBECUE

The annual Rt. 50 yard sale is set for May 21, and the Family Life Committee at Maple S[illegible] asking for community participation. Those with items to donate are asked to notify one of the following contacts, especially if there is a need for the items to be transported to the sale: Daniel Spaid at 304-735-3475, Mark Teets at 304-735-3481, or Devin Hauser at 301-334-3702.

BIRTHDAY OPEN HOUSE

Peggy Myers, Aurora, is being honored on her 80th birthday with an open house at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building on Sunday, April 3, from 2 to 4 p.m. Planned by her family, they invite everyone to stop by to greet her. They request that there be no gifts given. Those who are unable to attend are asked to send cards to 24245 George Washington Highway, Aurora, WV 26705.

UNION SENIORS

A total of 25 seniors were in attendance at the March covered dish luncheon at the Aurora United Methodist Church Memorial Building. Wilma Teets provided the devotional readings "Sad Choices" and "God Said No" before closing with a prayer.

Joe Seese of the Heartland of Kingwood Nursing Home was a special guest and spoke on long-term nursing care and short-term therapy. Heartland Centers are located in many areas of West Virginia, and the local unit has 152 employees with skills in many aspects of care including maintenance, food preparation, and business and medical records.

The annual area meeting is set for May 25–27 at Cedar Lakes Conference Center, Ripley. Those interested in attending should contact president Janice Tackett for more information. The March shopping trip has been canceled.

The healthy food information for the month was "Eat Right with Colors," which offers a rundown of the nutrition supplied by the various colors of veggies. Each has an importance. The county has not yet received applications needed to obtain home repairs this summer. Those with an immediate need are asked to contact president Tackett.

Ressie Conrad and Deanna Arnold each brought candy guess jars, which were given to Willard Roth and Wilma Mae Teets, whose guesses came the closest.

The meeting was closed by another humorous story from the president, and the afternoon was then spent playing bingo. Wilda Harsh will be responsible for the April devotions.

KINDERGARTEN REGISTRATION

Residents who have children who will be 4 years old prior to September are reminded that registration for pre-kindergarten and kindergarten will be held at Aurora School on Thursday, March 24, from 8 to 11 a.m. Requirements for pre-k registration include immunization records for diphtheria, polio, tetanus, rubella, and whooping cough, as well as a tuberculin skin test. Those registering for kindergarten are required to have the same, as well as a screening. Documentation is required.

HOME REPAIRS

The Catholic Church in Preston County will again be sponsoring a home repair project this summer. Those with low income or the elderly can obtain a registration form to complete and return it by 4 p.m. on April 15. Weatherization, plumbing, electrical, roofing, handicap ramp, and painting are among the projects offered. Aurora residents may obtain applications now at Deerwood and the Terra Alta Food Pantry.

AUTISM WALK

Leonard Parsons, Horse Shoe Run, is again heading a team to participate in the Allegany County Tri-State 9th annual Autism Walk, Cumberland, on Saturday, April 9. Anyone wishing to donate to the cause, which establishes funding for autism research, should send checks to 636 Maple Spring Highway, Eglon, WV 26716. Checks should be made payable to Autism Speaks, with Leonard Parsons' name written in the memo.

PERSONAL

Kimberly Moats, Eglon, graduated last year and has now passed her board exam to become a registered nurse. She is the daughter of Danny and Cathy Moats and the granddaughter of Catherine Bolyard, all of Eglon. She has been employed at West Virginia University Hospital, Morgantown, and plans to continue working there.

Jerry Brown, Aurora, is again a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he is being treated for an infection.

Martha Bolyard returned this weekend to her Aurora home after spending the winter visiting with niece Pam Wainscott and husband Bill, Mt. Ulla, N.C., and niece Patty Winningham and family, Sparta, Tenn.

Five-month-old Lydia Roberts was admitted to GCMH last week for treatment of pneumonia. Shaun Roberts, pastor at Maple Grove Assembly of God, and his wife Dawn are her parents. She returned home last Thursday.

A TASTE OF SUMMER was recently delivered to residents of Goodwill Mennonite Home when Red Rock Enterprises of Friendsville donated 12 flats of fresh strawberries. The berries were purchased from the Northern High School FFA, which is selling them as a fundraiser. FFA member Michael Frantz is the son of Red Rock's owners. "The residents of Goodwill always look forward to and enjoy eating seasonal fruit and greatly appreciate the donation," a spokesperson said. Pictured above, from left, are Martha Leese, Gladys Savage, activities aide Elaine Yoder, Betty O'Donnell, Michael Frantz, Pansy Merrell, activities director Patty Knopsnyder, Ardis Simon, and Mayo Shoemaker. Prescription Drug Abuse Rising In Maryland; Monitoring Proposed

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) released data yesterday showing that prescription drug abuse in Maryland is rising at an alarming rate, and to address this public health problem, the O'Malley/Brown Administration is proposing to create a Prescription Drug Monitoring Program (PDMP).

The program would identify individuals receiving inappropriate prescription medications from multiple sources, which would be helpful to physicians and help prevent abuse of the system, diversion, and harm.

Data released show:

•A 106 percent increase in treatment admissions in Maryland related to abuse of prescription opiates from 2007 to 2010;

•A 250 percent increase in Maryland poison control calls related to oxycodone from 2007 to 2010; and

•55 percent of all intoxication deaths in Maryland involved a prescription opiate in 2010.

"Prescription drug abuse affects every community in Maryland," said Joshua M. Sharfstein, M.D., secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. "Maryland needs the tools that 43 other states already have to reduce this serious threat."

Maryland is one of just seven states still without a PDMD.

"We know that prescription drug abuse is a major public health problem," said Frances Phillips, DHMH deputy secretary for Public Health Services. "Providing solid information to doctors and patients is a proven strategy to reverse this trend, to get people into drug treatment and stop the needless overdoses and addiction. This program will bring real help to countless Maryland families struggling with prescription drug abuse and misuse."

"This important legislation will stop drug dealers who exploit the current system in order to accumulate prescription drugs for illicit street sales in our communities," said Major Vernon J. Conaway, commander of the Maryland State Police Drug Investigative Command. "A prescription drug monitoring program will assist law enforcement investigations of those who are profiting from this expanding area of criminal enterprise in Maryland."

SB 883/HB 1229 would establish a comprehensive program to address the problem of prescription drug abuse and diversion, including:

Monitoring: Tracking the prescribing and dispensing of controlled substances to help doctors identify patients who are "doctor shopping."

Education: Providing information and analysis to physicians, pharmacists, patients, regulatory and licensing agencies, law enforcement, and the public on the dangers of prescription drug misuse.

Treatment: Identifying individuals with substance abuse and addiction problems, and staging medical and public health interventions to ensure access to treatment and/or proper clinical care.

Enforcement: Judicious use of criminal, civil, and regulatory enforcement powers to control illegal drug diversion and protect the public.

Disposal: Ensuring the proper disposal or destruction of unused, expired or confiscated prescription drugs.

Spotlight on Garrett County Non-Profits:

The Work They Do, The People They Serve

GARRETT COOPERATIVE MINISTRY INC. CHRISTIAN CROSSING THRIFT SHOP

This column, sponsored by the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, is one of a series of articles about local non-profit organizations. The purpose is to inform citizens about the services offered by the organizations, and to let them know about the volunteer opportunities available within these groups.

This week's feature:
Garrett Cooperative Ministry Inc.
Christian Crossing Thrift Shop
P.O. Box 707
Oakland, MD 21550
301-334-6339
Marcene Huebner, manager
marcene@thehuebners.net

How It Works

Christian Crossing Thrift Shop, located in Loch Lynn, is in a sense a recycling center. The shop accepts usable donations of furniture, clothing, housewares, toys, appliances, books, electronics, and many other items, and volunteers sort the hundreds of bags and boxes containing these items donated to the thrift shop. Other volunteers prepare them for display, then put them out, and maintain the shelves of items. They also assist with varied tasks throughout the store.

Strong volunteers are needed to pick up donated furniture from people who have no way to get it to the shop. The Christian Crossing covered trailer can be pulled behind a pickup. Pick-up times are arranged to suit both driver and donor.

The Mission

While our primary mission is to improve the quality of life for those with limited means and those in critical need, anyone is invited to shop at Christian Crossing. Critical-need items are also given free of charge to persons referred to the shop by the local helping agencies.

Funding

The sources of income for the organization are sales and contributions. No workers, officers, or directors are paid. After monthly maintenance expenses are paid, remaining funds are divided. Half is set aside for capital improvements, and the other half is available for cash assistance for individuals in crises or for programs designed to prevent families from getting into crises. Applications for this monetary assistance are handled through Community Action or the Garrett County Health Department.

The Beginning

People of compassion in the local community, tasked by Habitat for Humanity, in 1997 seized upon an opportunity to establish and operate a collection/distribution facility for donated household items to be sold for nominal amounts to citizens of limited means and given to those in critical need.

This idea was discussed with social service providers, service organizations, and pastors, among others. Out of these discussions came a heightened awareness of the need, as well as the even stronger commitment to fulfilling this need within the community.

Garrett Cooperative Ministry Inc. was formed as the vehicle through which an array of existing organizations and individuals could work in concert to make this vision a reality. Seed money was given by Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, and in May 1998, Garrett Cooperative Ministry purchased the property at 2 West First Avenue in Loch Lynn. Doors opened for business on Aug. 1, 1998. An addition was built in 2003.

Volunteer Opportunities

More volunteers are welcome to serve in the roles outlined above. Persons who wish to donate usable furniture, appliances, household items, clothing, gift items, electronics, books, toys, sports equipment, and other items in good condition may bring them to the store during open hours. Those with large items they are unable to haul may contact volunteers to pick them up. For more information about this, persons may call 301-334-6339.

Operating Hours

Open hours at the Christian Crossing Thrift Shop are Tuesday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Thursday evening, 5 to 7 p.m., and the first and third Saturdays of each month, 9 a.m. to noon.

SENIOR ATHLETES

The Minds in Motion Scholarship, sponsored by Allstate Insurance Company, awards four female and four male senior athletes a $1,000 scholarship for postsecondary education. Applicants must participate in a sport recognized by the Maryland Public Secondary Schools Athletic Association. The application is available on the MPSSAA web site at www.mpssaa.org. The deadline to apply is noon on April 8.

SENIOR GEAR-UP TRIP

The Gear-Up program will sponsor campus tours of Allegany College of Maryland and Frostburg State University. The tours are scheduled for April 7. Seniors and parents/guardians are invited to attend. Permission slips are available in the Counseling Center. Completed permission slips will be due to the Counseling Center by March 24.

CLASS OF 2011 RAFFLE TICKET WINNERS

MIKE FULMER

On November 13, 1970, I met the love of my life
March 13, 1971, is when I became his wife.
We spent a wonderful life together,
Raising 3 great kids and watching our grandkids grow,
Thinking it would last forever,
But little did we know.

In 1999, oh how our lives changed
When we got the news of the cancer
And the treatments that were being arranged.
Not much hope was given
When we found it was in stage 3
But God had other plans
When it came to Mike and me.

After 12 years of growing closer to the Lord every day
Knowing that no matter what we were going through
He was never going away.
Many testimonies were given and Mike would always say
The power of prayer and divine healing
Is what got him through each day.

Mike was a true inspiration to many,
And being his wife is a feeling I cannot describe.
He would say, "If I stay here with you, I win,
But I also win when I cross over to Heaven's side."

On September 15, 2010, my life came crashing down.
God said, "Mike," it's time to come home
And meet the one wearing the crown."

So here I am 40 years later asking,
"What do I do with my life?"
Everything has changed but one thing is for sure
I was so proud to be called his wife.

My husband, best friend and companion
Is no longer with me, I know.
He's waiting in Heaven for me to come home
And oh to imagine Heaven's glow.

Words cannot tell how much he's missed.
The Lord knows how much I've cried.
My only hope is to stay close to God
So we'll be together on the other side.

Your Loving Wife,
Sue

spective, it is the best option," said Powell.

Historically, there has been a 70-30 percent split, Powell said, with those with insurance paying the most. The real question, he said, is how this will play out in the future.

"Will there be a similar split or will the tax be allocated differently?" Powell said. "We won't know until after session. That's the big debate."

The legislature is scheduled to end on April 11.

Rate-setting commissions determine how high hospital rates can increase, with insurance companies playing a crucial role in the process.

"As the rate-setting commission determines how much of an increase there should be in hospital charges, one argument offered by the insurance companies is, 'If we have to pay higher charges for hospital care, we're simply going to pass all of this on to consumers in terms of higher premiums,'" Coyle said.

"That hasn't happened. Last year, we had insurance premiums that were going on at double-digit rates of increase anyway. And when we brought hospital rates down, we didn't see insurance premium rates come down (simultaneously)," she said.

America's Health Insurance Plan's Robert Zirkelbach disagrees.

"Medical costs drive premium increases. Data show that the growth in health insurance premiums tracks directly with the growth in underlying medical costs," said Zirkelback, the company's spokesman. "In order to make health care coverage more affordable for families and small businesses, the focus needs to be on the soaring cost of medical care, which is rising at an unsustainable rate."

Mike Robbins, senior vice president of finance, echoed his colleague.

"We clearly have seen for the last several years, a bending of the cost curve, a trending down in looking at total revenue of hospital growth," said Robbins. "Last year, that growth was only at 2 percent. I don't think we've seen premiums growing at the level. We've been seeing double-digit rates of growth in insurance premiums of 12, 13 or 14 percent."

So the question then becomes, Robbins said, if the hospital portion of those costs only grows at 2 percent, what makes premiums grow at a much higher rate?

"Our concern is that other costs are growing at a much higher rate, maybe at 20 percent, where there is no rate-setting," said Robbins. "We then start using the hospital rate-setting process to solve a much larger problem, which is growth in total health care costs as opposed to hospital costs."

FSU Foundation Presents Pinnacle Award To Alumnae

Frostburg State University recently recognized Gladys Wensel Faherty, a member of the Frostburg graduating class of 1955, with the Pinnacle Award, its highest honor. The award was granted during FSU's Sloop Leadership Institute, held at Bedford Springs Resort last weekend. She was recognized for the time and work she has contributed to the FSU Foundation in support of its mission.

Faherty, only the seventh person to receive this award, served two terms as president of the FSU Foundation and has been active in alumni affairs, including serving as past president of the Alumni Association. To show her gratitude for the opportunities and assistance given to her to attend college, she established the Wensel-Faherty Scholarship, providing financial support to FSU students from Allegany and Garrett counties in 1991 and has continued to build on that fund. A total of 62 students to date have benefited from the scholarship.

"Sam Ewing has said, 'Hard work spotlights the character of people: Some turn up their sleeves, some turn up their noses, and some don't turn up at all,'" said FSUF president Sam Griffith, who presented the award. "Whenever her beloved alma mater asks, Gladys Faherty shows up, rolls up her sleeves, and instead of turning up her nose, puts her nose to the grindstone."

RECEIVES TOP HONORS –Garrett County native Gladys Wensel Faherty was recently honored with the Pinnacle Award, the highest honor to be given by the Frostburg State University Foundation. She is pictured above with FSUF president Sam Griffith. See story.

Faherty, a native of Garrett County, taught physical education at Beall High School for nine years and served for 26 years as the media specialist at Mt. Savage High School, as well as the coordinator for the Gifted and Talented Program. She also volunteered as a computer teacher at St. Peter's School in Westernport for 12 years. Faherty has been involved with the Frostburg Pantry, Frostburg Museum, Meals on Wheels, Soroptimists, American Association of University Women, and the Allegany Bird Club. She is also very active with St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Frostburg.

"I have known Gladys for many years, and she has devoted much of her time, talent, and treasure to the foundation in support of the University," said Ken Kennedy, fellow Pinnacle Award winner and longtime foundation treasurer. "Her compelling interest in the financial aspects of the board has always been directed toward increasing and maximizing the monies available to students for scholarships."

Created in 1993, the Pinnacle Award recognizes individuals who have made significant contributions in support of the educational mission of Frostburg State University through the FSU Foundation. Previous winners also include Ralph Race, Lillian Wellner, Al Boxley, Walter Hedrick, and Leonard Schwab.

"Giving is contagious," said Faherty. "Once you start, you can't stop."

Those seeking more information about the foundation or interested in making a donation should contact executive director B.J. Davisson at 301-687-4161 or visit foundation.frostburg.edu.

Community Action would still able manage its assets and its housing developments because of long-term commitments from private investors, but the loss would probably change its involvement in communities and new projects.

Yoder said he did not know yet how Obama's proposal would "play out." He noted, however, that the minute Obama made his announcement, House of Representatives legislators made plans to "zero out" CSBG.

"We're going to make an effort to try to convince Congress and the president that we should at least try to preserve the Community Services Block Grant," Yoder said. "We'll probably be asking for letters of support from the community partners that we have here in Garrett County. Part of what we want to do is make the point that Community Action's role in Garrett County would be hurt a lot if we aren't allowed to do what we've been doing."

Commission chair Gregan Crawford said the commissioners would be happy to write letters and make calls in support of Community Action.

Dove Center

Executive director Heather Hanline presented Dove Center statistics for January. During that month the shelter served 57 domestic violence clients, 10 rape clients, three homeless women, and three persons in its batterers' program.

In addition, five adults and one child were sheltered for a total of 106 bed nights, and 58 domestic violence hotline calls were handled.

She reported that construction of her agency's new facility is about six weeks ahead of schedule.

"The building crew has been great," she said. "The exterior of the building is almost finished. Wiring and plumbing is almost done. They'll be drywalling before we know it. So we're very happy about the progress."

A ribbon-cutting ceremony is planned for October.

Hanline noted that the location of the facility, which will include a shelter and counseling/administra-tive offices, will be known to the public.

"In the past, domestic violence shelters have tried to keep their locations confidential, but that philosophy has changed through the years," she said. "Now it's sort of seen as the more the public you are, the safer you are, the more people who will be looking out for you."

She noted, however, the new building will have a very sophisticated security system.

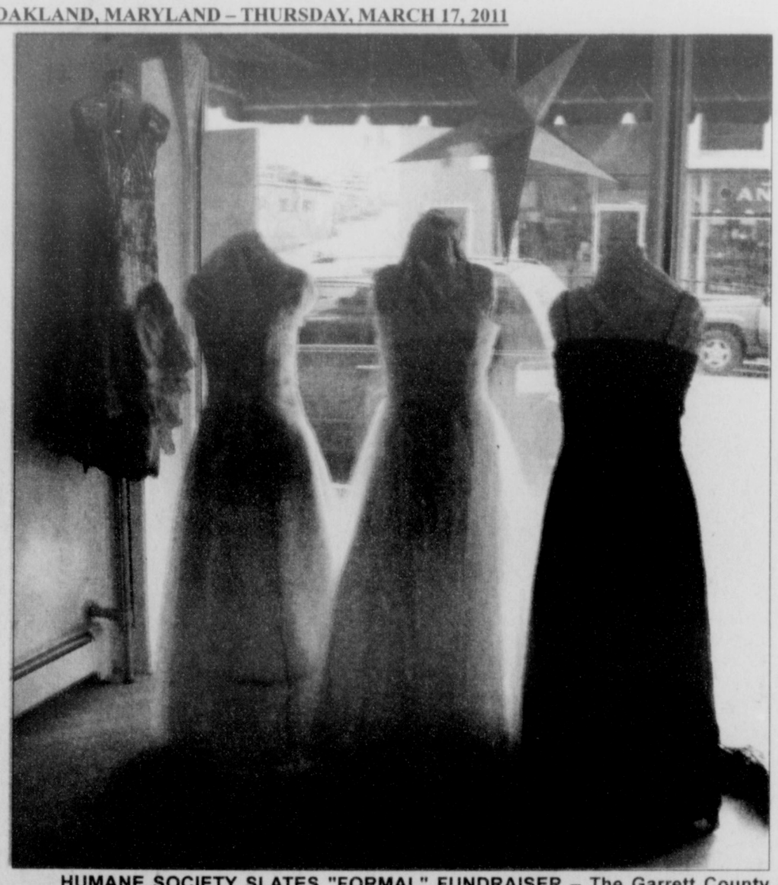
Garrett College

President Richard MacLennan reported that enrollment at Garrett College was still strong.

He also noted that renovations at the Southern Outreach Center have been completed, nearly doubling the college's space at the facility. Plans are also under way for Phase II of the Career Technology Training Center in Accident, which will add about 5,000 square feet for educational programs.

"And when the Community Aquatic and Recreation Center comes on board, those three additional facilities and some other renovation work we're going to have done will triple the college's footprint in terms of physical space," MacLennan said.

The president said construction of the recreation center has suffered a little bit because of winter weather, but a Sept. 1 opening is still planned.



HUMANE SOCIETY SLATES "FORMAL" FUNDRAISER – The Garrett County Humane Society will hold its second annual Formal Resale Shop fundraiser at the historical train station in Oakland next week. The sale dates and hours are Thursday and Friday, March 24 and 25, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturday, March 26, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. New and used wedding, mother-of-the-bride, prom, and other dresses will be offered for sale, cash or check purchases only. "We have one wedding gown that has never been worn that was valued at $1,000 that we will sell for $250, and others that we can offer for $99," said GCHS president Lisa Baker. "We have a few bluish bridesmaid dresses, one flower girl type dress, and some vintage dresses that would be perfect for a retro-type dance or party, so come in and look." Dresses are still being accepted for the fundraiser. New or clean used garments may be dropped off at Curves in Oakland until Wednesday, March 23. The business is open Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. and on Saturdays from 8 to 11 a.m. Donations may also be brought to the train station during the sale. "We need more prom dresses for sure, and I know there are lots of them hanging in closets that will never be worn again, so why not donate them?" Baker said. The GCHS is a nonprofit, volunteer organization that helps neglected and homeless animals, plus provides spay/neuter vouchers to residents to have their pets altered. "We are the only organization that has responded to the hundreds of animal neglect calls in this county in the last several years, so please support us how ever you can," Baker said. For more information, persons may call 301-616-4425. Left to right, in an Alder Street window in Oakland are a few of the garments that will be available for purchase: a shiny 1990s red sequined dress, a gold one, a pink tulle one, and a burgundy dress with a black overlay.

Attempts Repeal

cessfully tried again last year.

This time, however, the coal industry and western Maryland lawmakers appear unwilling to strike a deal.

"I'm not pushing for any compromise this time. Just leave it the way it is," said Sen. George Edwards, a Republican from Garrett and a long-time ally of the coal industry. "If this passes, you could see a lot of people out of work."

As the session starts to shift toward serious budget negotiations, a House Appropriations subcommittee will recommend how to proceed with the proposed repeal this week. A key delegate signaled Wednesday that members of the committee handling the proposal feel the state should honor its 2020 deal.

Maryland's coal industry says the tax credit is vital for its long-term viability. The subsidy, they say, helps Maryland coal prices stay competitive against a cheaper and higher quality product mined in West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

A full-blown repeal could shift jobs and tens of millions in economic impact from Maryland to those neighboring states, opponents say.

The issue is pitting O'Malley and a fiscally conservative Republican from Anne Arundel on one side against Comptroller Peter Franchot and Maryland's two westernmost counties on the other.

Allegany and Garrett are the only counties in Maryland with mining operations. Collectively, the mining facilities employ an estimated 560 workers and are responsible for another 2,800 spinoff jobs, Franchot said.

Franchot said attempts to repeal the credit are misguided because coal is the "life blood of western Maryland."

"Coal is to western Maryland what the citrus industry is to Florida," he said. "I think folks out there have a point, which is 'hey why are you picking on us."

O'Malley's proposal would repeal the tax credit starting in fiscal 2013.

Delegate Herb McMillan, R-Anne Arundel, is proposing a separate measure to eliminate the credit, but he wants it done away with one full year earlier. McMillan, who proposed a coal credit repeal in 2004, said the money saved can be used to help shore up the state's budget deficit.

"Why should taxpayers in Anne Arundel, Prince George's, Montgomery ... why should we be asked to keep energy prices low in western Maryland?" McMillan said.

McMillan's proposal is in the House Ways and Means Committee, where it's unclear whether it will advance to the full House of Delegates.

But O'Malley's proposal is part of the Budget Reconciliation and Financing Act of 2011, which helps balance the state budget, in part, by approving the transfer of special funds to the state's general fund.

The House Appropriations Committee will receive an initial recommendation about the repeal this week from a subcommittee, said Chairman Norman Conway, D-Wicomico.

The general sentiment among committee members, Conway said, is that the state struck a deal with the coal industry five years ago and should "honor the time frame" set forth in the contract.

QUILT CREATED SPECIALLY FOR OAKLAND TRAIN STATION – The Oakland B&O Railroad Station Committee was presented with a quilt created by two Garrett County quilting groups. The top, designed with the early 19th century pattern called "Burgoyne Surrounded," was made by Martha McGettigan of the Heritage Quilters. She used reproduced Civil War fabrics in colors that reflect the train station: brick red, sandstone tan, and slate blue and grey. The Friendsville Library Quilters designed the quilting pattern which was executed by member Janet Fike. Fike also bound and finished the quilt. Pictured from left are Asa McCain, McGettigan, and Terry Helbig. Helbig and McCain are members of the train station committee. The quilt was hung in the station for the Winterfest event last month. The king-sized cover will be on display at the train station when it is open, and arrangements are being made for other display opportunities in the Oakland area. The committee has put a price of $1,000 for the sale of it, which will aid the group in raising the funds for the modifications needed to create a museum in the train station. Anyone interested in purchasing the quilt should contact Helbig at 301-533-1050.

"COME ON DOWN AND WALK FOR HOSPICE" – The 16th annual Walk For Hospice will be held on Saturday, April 30, at Garrett 8 Cinemas, Deep Creek Lake. Registration will begin at 9 a.m., with the walk scheduled for 10 a.m. "'Come on down and walk for Hospice," said the group's executive director, Brenda Butscher. "The money raised at this event will be used to purchase medications for our terminally ill patients. Last year we served 135 terminal patients. Your support benefits those who are unable to walk for themselves. We welcome students who are in need of service hours. All money raised stays in Garrett County." This year's Walk for Hospice will have prizes for the top three teams and top three individuals. A team is two to four members. Prizes are awarded to those who bring in the most money on the day of the walk. Top team prizes are a $1,000 Wal-Mart gift card, a $500 Wal-Mart gift card, and a limo trip to Uno's for dinner for four people. The individual prizes are a $1,500 Wal-Mart gift card, flat-screen TV, and a laptop computer. The top individual gets first pick of the prizes, second gets second choice, and the third-place walker gets the remaining prize. Each walker will receive a T-shirt and a bottle of water, and all participants will have a chance to win door prizes. Refreshments will be available, and Jonny Rock will provide music. For more information or to receive a registration form, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151 (Oakland area) or 800-521-5252 (Grantsville area). MSDE Finds That Thousands Of Md. Drivers Violate Bus Stop Laws Drivers are bypassing the stop arms on school buses at an alarming rate, a Maryland State Department of Education-sponsored survey has revealed.

A total of 7,028 violations of school bus stop arms were recorded on a single day last month. Nearly 4,000 (3,997) were oncoming drivers who ignored the stop arm, 2,665 drivers moved past a stopped bus on the bus driver's side of the vehicle, and 366 drivers passed a stopped bus on the door side. Stop arms swing out from a bus and lights flash whenever it is making a student pick-up.

"It is simply illegal to pass a bus with its stop arm extended and its lights flashing, no matter the circumstances," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "Our number one priority as educators – and drivers – should be the safety of our Maryland school children."

MSDE coordinated the survey along with school transportation directors in all 24 systems. It is considered a snapshot of illegal activity on the roads. More than 4,712 school bus drivers took part in the survey, representing 65 percent of the school bus drivers in the state.

Large systems noted the most violators. Baltimore County school bus drivers tallied the most – 1,723 drivers ignoring the stop arm – followed by Montgomery County (1,645), Baltimore City (897), Anne Arundel (845), and Prince George's (745). Prince George's County found the highest number of door-side violations, with 136.

A few small systems found no violators on the day of the survey: Allegany, Caroline, and Queen Anne's, while Garrett County reported only one that particular day.

The survey was undertaken at the behest of a number of members of the Maryland General Assembly, which is considering several bills designed to strengthen school bus safety. The National Association of State Directors of Pupil Transportation Services is coordinating surveys of this type in all 50 states.

MSP Investigating Swanton Burglary

Maryland State Police are seeking information on a burglary that occurred at a Tooth Pick Road, Swanton, residence last month.

Sometime between February 17 and 18, unknown suspect(s) forced entry into the home. Anyone with information and/or who can provide further details is asked to contact Tfc. Huber, MSP McHenry Barrack, at 301-387-1101.

Board Recognizes Numerous Schools For Performance

The Maryland State Department of Education is recognizing 439 elementary and middle schools and 91 high schools across the state for the academic performance of their students.

The recognition program honors schools for their performance on the 2010 Maryland School Assessment (MSA) or the High School Assessment (HSA), and for improving the performance of special populations of students. Only schools that made Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) for the 2009-2010 school year were eligible for the recognition.

Garrett County schools so recognized were Blooming, Crellin, Grantsville, and Route 40 elementary schools, Southern Middle School, and Northern High School.

Special populations are subgroups that include race/ethnicity, special education, limited English proficiency, and students who are receiving free or reduced price meals. The program, established by the Maryland General Assembly in 1996, is now required by the federal No Child Left Behind Act.

"The School Recognition Program allows us to shine a spotlight on the tireless work of staff and students as they meet increasingly difficult standards," said Maryland State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "Maryland schools were recognized as the nation's best for the third straight year, and the effort put forth in the classroom is a primary factor for this success."

Title I elementary and middle schools will receive modest financial awards that can be used for instructional activities and equipment to improve student performance and family involvement.

A list of all schools being honored in Maryland can be found on the MSDE web site at: http://www.msde.state.md.us/SPR_2010.pdf.

End-Of-Life Care Program Slated At Health Dept.

The Hospice Foundation of America's (HFA) 18th annual National Bereavement Program, "Spirituality and End-of-Life Care," will be shown on Wednesday, April 13, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department, Oakland.

"Grief and loss issues, which are common to us all, can be especially difficult for those caring for a family member or other loved one," said Mildred O'Haver, Hospice of Garrett County's director of bereavement. "By understanding the demands that family caregivers must face, we can work to support them and provide them with effective coping skills."

Moderated by Frank Sesno, director of the School of Media and Public Affairs at George Washington University, this distance learning program will look at the differences between spirituality and religion. Also addressed will be spirituality during illness, death, and grief; spiritual assessment and empowerment; and life review.

Sesno will lead a panel of noted authorities, including Kenneth J. Doka, professor of gerontology at the Graduate School of the College of New Rochelle; Gary S. Fink, chaplain/Dementia Project coordinator for Montgomery Hospice; Carolyn Jacobs, dean/professor at Smith College School for Social Work; Betty Kramer, professor at University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Social Work; Reinette Powers Murray, owner of the Peaceful Journey End-of-Life Process Program; and Martha Ruthland, director of clinical pastoral endcation at VITAS Innovative Hospice Care.

Each year HFA presents its distance learning program to more than 125,000 people in 2,000 communities. The program provides an opportunity for a wide variety of professionals – including doctors, nurses, funeral directors, psychologists, educators, social workers, and bereavement counselors – to share and exchange ideas and obtain continuing education credits.

HFA acts as an advocate for the hospice concept of care through ongoing programs of professional education, public information, and research on issues relating to illness, loss, grief, and bereavement.

The program is open to the public at no cost. Interested persons must register in advance by calling the Hospice office at 301-334-5151 (Oakland area), 800-521-5252 (Grantsville area), or TTY 800-735-2258.

Area Agency On Aging To Honor Centenarians

The Area Agency on Aging plans to recognize Garrett County centenarians during Older Americans Month (May). Centenarians will be invited to a luncheon in their honor at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland.

Any individual who has, or knows someone who has, reached the milestone of 100 years old, or will be that age by Dec. 31, may contact the AAA at 301-334-9431.

Each invited guest will be permitted to bring one family member to accompany him/her at no charge. Additional family members may attend at a cost of $10 per person.

A brief personal history will be requested from the centenarians in attendance. Individuals will receive a certificate of recognition from the Governor's Office and a gift from the AAA.

To be recognized and to receive a formal invitation to the luncheon, one must contact the agency by April 1. Further information may be obtained by contacting Adina Brode, director, at 301-334-9431, ext. 143. This project promotes the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of providing older adults with lifelong learning and recreational opportunities.

In Loving Memory of

William C. Lohr Sr.

JULY 2, 1938 – MARCH 16, 2009

As time goes by without you and the days turn into years, they hold a million memories and a thousand silent tears. To me you were so special, what more is there to say, except I wish with all my heart that you were here with me.

If you were here today, things would be so different; but until we are together again some day, I will hold you in my heart.

Miss you dearly, Love forever

Computer Classes Scheduled In April At Grantsville Ctr.

Three computer courses have been scheduled by Garrett College at the Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville, in April: "Computer Skills I," "Managing and Editing Your Digital Photography," and "Computer Skills II."

"Computer Skills I" is set for April 5, 6, and 12 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Topics to be covered include desktop functions such as use of cursor, pull-down menus and taskbar, creating folders and storing files, and mouse use techniques, plus how to launch applications.

"Managing and Editing Your Digital Photography" is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. on April 8 and 15. The class will show students how to organize, edit, and share photos from a digital camera.

This course will help students master a few easy photo management tools in Windows. The instructor will show students how to use and share digital images in print and electronically by e-mail and on the web. Image transfer, editing, and adjustment will be covered as well as managing an image collection.

"Computer Skills II" is slated for April 19, 20, and 26 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. This course is designed for individuals who wish to obtain additional skills and knowledge of basic computer operations.

Topics to be covered include Windows operations, files, folders, diskettes/CDs, accessing the Internet, web pages, and e-mail.

In addition to the above mentioned classes, coming in May to the center will be "Microsoft Word I" and "Managing and Maintaining Your Computer."

For additional information about these courses and the fees, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator, at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrett-college.edu.

To register for these courses, persons may call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

COMMISSIONERS VISIT GEARS – The Garrett County commissioners recently visited GEARS, Accident, to learn about the FTC Robotics teams and their experiences throughout this competition season. Above, seniors Bryan Rippeon and Bryan Bowser demonstrate and explain the SuGO game that the teams run on the first Sunday of every month at GEARS. Families and friends form teams to design and build sumo wrestling robots to push their opponents' robots off the ring. The FTC teams are currently developing a marketable SuGO package to sell in hopes of supporting future FTC teams in Garrett County. "The team members are learning a lot of entrepreneurship hands-on skills as they develop SuGO for online sales," said mentor and coach Arlene Lantz. Below, The FTC teams ran a match with their championship robots to demonstrate this year's game. The robots are both balanced on the moving bridge for 20 additional points in the end game. Frank Shap is shown explaining the FTC game to Commissioners Gregan Crawford and James Raley, while Levi Lantz shares some of his team experiences with Commissioner Bob Gatto. The commissioners also had the opportunity to talk with and see the GaCo FRC Team 1629's robot in action.

Support Available For Weight Loss Surgery Patients

The Garrett County Weight Loss Surgery Support Group meets at the Community Building in Conference Room A at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, on the second and fourth Saturday of each month at 10 a.m.

Meetings usually run between 60 and 90 minutes and are open to anyone who is interested in or who has had weight loss surgery.

"The group's main focus is support," said a spokesperson. "No one in the group has a medical background, but they have all been interested in having surgery or have already had it."

Persons may visit gcwlssupport.com for more information.

Tawes Award Nominations Are Invited

Nominations are now being accepted for the 2011 Tawes Award for a Clean Environment and for the James B. Coulter Award.

The Tawes Award recognizes individuals, and civic, community, and non-profit groups that have demonstrated outstanding efforts to enhance Maryland's environment over a period of time or with a single project. The award, being given for the 34th year, is named for J. Millard Tawes, governor of Maryland from 1959 to 1967 and the first secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. There are separate categories for children and adults.

Nominations are also being accepted for the James B. Coulter Award, named in honor of Maryland's second secretary of the DNR. That award, established in 2006, acknowledges outstanding environmental contributions by a government employee.

The awards are co-sponsored by the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) and the Maryland Petroleum Council.

"We encourage Marylanders to nominate their champions of the environment for these awards," said MDE Acting Secretary Robert M. Summers. "This is our chance to recognize the individuals and groups making a real, lasting difference in protecting and restoring our environment – and setting an example for all of us."

The deadline for nominations for either award is April 8. Nomination forms are available on MDE's web site, and may be submitted by e-mail to tawesaward@mde.state.md.us or by regular mail to: Maryland Department of the Environment, Land Management Administration, 1800 Washington Boulevard, Suite 610, Baltimore MD 21230; Attention: Jennifer Hopper/Tawes Award.

This is the 34th year that the Tawes Award has been presented.

Gov. Proclaims March 20 Fresh Air Day In Md.

Gov. Martin O'Malley has proclaimed Sunday, March 20, as Fresh Air Fund Day throughout the state in recognition of the Fresh Air Fund's 135th summer of bringing together New York City children and volunteer host families in Maryland.

Families who participate in the not-for-profit organization's Friendly Town Program open their homes to the children for up to two weeks or more in the summer, allowing them to escape the hot, noisy city streets and experience life in a suburban or country setting.

"Sharing your home and the surrounding community with a Fresh Air youngster can be the beginning of a worthwhile and meaningful experience – for both the child and your family," said Jenny Morgenthau, executive director of the Fresh Air Fund. "This year, we are looking for new host families in western Maryland to celebrate our 135th anniversary and give youngsters a summertime break from the sometimes dangerous city streets."

She noted that families find hosting so rewarding that more than 65 percent of all Fresh Air children are invited to visit the same host families year after year.

First-time Fresh Air visitors are 6 to 12 years old, and Fresh Air hosts range from young families to grandparents.

"All it takes is the willingness to welcome a New York city child to your community," Morgenthau said.

For more information about becoming a host, persons may call Alice Orendorf at 301-245-4326 or the Fresh Air Fund at 800-367-0003, or visit freshair.org.

IT ALL ADDS UP

As you search and tour homes that appeal to you, how can you be sure that the asking prices are in line with current values? Begin by asking your real estate agent to collect comparables and prepare a Comparative Market Analysis (CMA). This report indicates market trends by showing whether similar homes in the area are selling for above or below the asking price of the home(s) you've selected.

Using the comparables that your agent researched, you'll be able to figure the average cost per square foot for the area, and determine if the home you want compares favorably with those figures. Total the square footage of several homes and divide by the number of homes to get an average. Total the "sold" prices of each home and divide by the number of homes to get an average selling price.

Now, divide that average selling price by the average square footage to produce the average price per square foot for homes in the area. When you multiply that average price per square foot by the square footage of the home you want, you'll discover how your choice compares, and then you'll know if you're looking at a fair price.

Other factors like the seller's motivation or urgency may also affect your offer, so talk to your agent about that CMA and take the next step!

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Patient Care Volunteer Class Begins in April

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will sponsor training classes for patient care volunteers from April 2 through 16. Classes will be held on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the hospice office.

The group utilizes patient care volunteers to provide companionship to terminally ill patients, run errands, and help with meals and housekeeping.

On the first Saturday of patient care classes, Brenda Butscher, hospice executive director, will present an overview of the program. Debbie Workman, volunteer coordinator, will give a presentation titled "Working with the Volunteer Coordinator." Nancy Nimmich, hospice social worker, will follow with the day's final presentation, "Family Dynamics, Stress Management, and Listening Skills."

During the second class, Millie O'Haver, hospice bereavement director, will discuss grief counseling skills, Audrey Kennedy, personal trainer from Garrett Rehab Services, will demonstrate proper transfer skills, and Shirley Fitzwater from First United Bank & Trust will speak on legal and financial pianning.

The final class will consist of Cheryl Scheffel, hospice director of clinical services, covering the issues of confidentiality, HIPAA, patient privacy, documentation, universal precautions, infection control and safety, signs and symptoms of approaching death, personal care, and sexual abuse.

Randy Richardson, chaplain, will then speak on the spiritual aspects of hospice before the class takes a tour of the Newman Funeral Home in Oakland. A question and answer session will follow.

HGC Inc. is also seeking volunteers for bereavement care, in which individuals maintain contact with a family that has suffered a loss for one year. Bereavement teams prepare mailings, make home visits, and maintain a relationship with families by telephone.

Individuals may register or obtain further information by calling the hospice office at 301-334-5151. Those in the Grantsville area may call 800-521-5252.

Local Company Helps Veteran Charity Project

At the annual dealer conference of San Juan Fiberglass Swimming Pools, held last February in Lakeland, Fla., Harris Pools of Oakland participated in the construction of a swimming pool project for the Divers 4 Heros organization.

Divers 4 Heros is a charity headed by Boris and Debbie Twillman, with the purpose of helping wounded military veterans learn to scuba dive.

The particular swimming pool model selected for this 2011 project was the Niagara, a 16-by-34-foot one-piece fiberglass pool which goes from 3 to 8 feet in depth. The installation was accomplished by a select group of pool builders known as the San Juan Seebees.

This is the fourth project undertaken by the Seebees for veterans or veteran organizations. All materials and products were donated by San Juan Pools and other manufacturers of pool equipment, along with labor from participating builders.

The project included the excavation of the pool, offloading of the pool shell, rigging and craning the pool into position, plumbing and installation of pool equipment, a handicap lift system, and the installation of an automatic pool cover.

The Harris Pools representatives who attended this year's conference were Rodger Uphold and Harold Harris.

Farming On The Mountaintop

National Ag Day 2011
Honoring "Homegrown Security"

by Charles C. Cawley
Maryland Executive Director
USDA Farm Service Agency

In the past few weeks, there has been much talk and media coverage about unrest in the Middle East driving up the prices of fuel in the U.S. There is a certain sense of vulnerability when we realize events that occur half a world away affect our quality of life right here at home... in our own backyard. However, when it comes to food, fiber and yes, biofuels, we suffer no sense of vulnerability. Why? Because, thanks to America's farmers and ranchers, we have what I refer to as "Homegrown Security."

Food, fiber, and alternative fuel sources are affordable and abundant right here in the United States. Agriculture is the backbone of our nation. Our ability to provide for our own plus a significant percent of the world's growing population is the envy of all other nations. For this reason alone, it is appropriate that we recognize farmers and ranchers on National Ag Day, which we celebrated Tuesday, March 15.

But let me make my point stronger. The agriculture industry has made significant progress in the past century. That progress has made the United States the most self-sufficient country in modern civilization. Take for instance the most common grain commodities grown in nearly every state of the union.

In 73 years (the average length of human life), agriculture has made America so productive and secure that its fundamentals are seemingly invincible. In that time, grains have become more than a food product or sweetener. Many are part of the burgeoning supply of renewable biofuels and resources for a variety of oils and plastics. They have become more versatile in their uses through technological advances and scientific exploration. Meantime, yields reach unimagined levels with each passing decade.

Because of agricultural ingenuity, we can feed, clothe and shelter ourselves, and provide life's necessities to all U.S. citizens at home and to our armed forces worldwide. Agriculture is the first line of defense in America. It is the first line of defense of America. We owe the proud men and women involved in agriculture an enormous debt of gratitude.

I hope you will join me in making good on that debt as I extend a much deserved "Thank You" to America's farmers and ranchers.

I, as well as the USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) employees in Maryland, understand and appreciate the amount of work that farmers and ranchers do on a daily basis to protect our natural resources and produce the nation's supply of food, fiber, and fuel, and I encourage consumers to learn more about agriculture and the people involved in the industry.

We never want to find ourselves dependent on a foreign food supply. It's America's farmers and ranchers who make sure our nation stays independent from the ground up. And as long as America's farmers and ranchers remain steadfast in their stewardship and productivity, America will remain strong. I ask all to show their appreciation for American Agriculture... our Homegrown Security.

Farm Service Agency Celebrates National Agriculture Day

In recognition of National Ag Day on March 15, Alfred Lewis, executive director for the USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) in West Virginia, noted his appreciation to farmers, ranchers, and others involved in agriculture for their hard work and commitment to the industry.

"Agriculture is an important part of our daily lives and is often taken for granted, but in these uncertain times, it should be remembered that American agriculture is not only important for obvious reasons, such as food, clothing, and shelter, but the industry also plays an important part in homeland security," said Lewis.

Lewis refers to American agriculture as "Homegrown Security." He adds that the U.S. agriculture sector is almost entirely under private ownership and accounts for nearly one-fifth of the nation's economic activity.

"So, on National Ag Day, when we stop to thank farmers and ranchers who work day in and day out to provide a safe, abundant, and affordable food, fiber, and fuel supply, we should also take a moment to thank these same individuals for serving as first responders and as the front line of defense in the effort to protect our food and water sources," Lewis said.

According to Lewis, FSA's mission is to provide farmers and ranchers with the federal farm commodity and credit support they need to insure they remain viable in an increasingly unpredictable and volatile global market.

Through more than 43 federal farm programs, FSA provides producers with an economic "safety net." These programs, authorized in the 2008 Farm Bill, stabilize farm income, assist agriculture producers to conserve natural resources, provide credit for farm ownership and operation, and help producers recover from the effects of natural disasters, he explained. FSA also maintains the USDA's feed, seeds and fertilizer data, which use geospatial information to maintain a detailed database on related storage facilities – another important component in homeland security.

"FSA understands and appreciates the amount of work that farmers and ranchers do on a daily basis to produce the nation's supply of food, fiber, and fuel," said Lewis, who encourages consumers to learn more about agriculture in their area and the people who produce the commodities.

"We never want to find ourselves dependent on a foreign food supply. And as long as farmers and ranchers remain competitive in a global market and remain steadfast in protecting what's theirs, that won't happen," he said. "So we take time on National Ag Day to show appreciation for American agriculture, our Homegrown Security."

PARTICIPATE IN STOCKMAN'S EVENT – A total of 10 4-H members from Garrett County recently participated in the Maryland State 4-H Stockman's Event at the Cattleman's Convention in Hagerstown. Members represented the Country Explorers, Maple Mountain, and Red House 4-H clubs. During the contest, the 4-H'ers had to identify breeds of sheep, beef cattle, and hogs; identify various feeds, equipment, and meat cuts; judge a class of hay, wool, and meat cuts; and take a written test on general agriculture knowledge. Pictured above, front row, from left, are Jacob and Isaac McCrobie (5th place junior), Kaya Rinker (10th place intermediate), Trenton Evans, and Madison Spurrier (14th place junior). In the back row are Greg Tichnell, Levi Lantz (13th place senior), Charlie Harvey, Aaron Lantz, and Theo Evans. The members expressed their appreciation and thanks to their coaches Willie Lantz and Kate Tichnell.

4-H Club News

SNOWY CREEK
by Kendra Friend, reporter

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club met on March 10 at the Sand Spring Church. The program activity, 4-H Speed Dating, was presented by Tammy Humberson.

Activities that members attended this past month were as follows:

4-H Ski Day on March 4 was attended by Madi Gallagher, Brianna and Riliegh Lowdermilk, Jordan Grove, and Tess and Koti Humbertson.

Derrica Friend attended the GCLA meeting on March 3.

Derrica and Kendra Friend, Madi Gallagher, Morgan McKenzie, Austin, Colby and Amber Lowdermilk, Carley and Kayley Sisler, and Brianna Lowdermilk attended Adopt-A-Senior Citizen on February 12.

Members went to Goodwill Nursing Home on March 12 for Adopt-A-Senior Citizen. Club members also signed up for Adopt-A-Highway for May and August.

Club president Derrica Friend also reminded members that Achievement Night is on April 2, and discussed what the club will be in charge of for coordinating the food.

Club members turned in hoagie orders, and they will be delivered on March 17.

Under new business, the club voted on helping with Blooming Rose's annual cemetery clean-up, which will be held on April 30 at 8 a.m.

Club leader Wanda announced the GCLA Producer Sale on April 10 and gave information on the W.Va. Beef Tour on March 19.

The next club meeting will be held on April 13 at the Friendsville Library to take the Online Quality Assurance.

CHILDREN CELEBRATE AMERICA — Thirty-two children at the Oakland Library celebrated America with an evening party of stories and crafts on March 7. They moved among four different activity stations, each representing a region of the U.S.—west, south, midwest, and east. In the photo, volunteer Erin Neil from the Health Department is reading Arrow to the Sun: A Pueblo Indian Tale at the western table, while the children decorate cardboard tepees. The eastern region of the U.S. was represented by the story Madeline at the White House and a cut-out paper craft of the famed building. At the southern station, children listened to Before the Storm and then designed their own coastal scenes using a variety of materials such as seashells and sand. The midwest theme focused on the story Elsie's Bird, a tale of a girl who had to move from Boston to Nebraska, and a craft about Mount Rushmore. Volunteers who helped with activities were Pat Shelton, Nancy Fazenbaker, Melanie Cooper, Barb Unger, and Joelle Downer. A listing of events and services at the Ruth Enlow Library may be found on the web site www.relib.net

The 'Chase' may be over, from NBC's view

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Kelli Giddish

Q: We haven't seen our favorite new show, "Chase," for some time now. Please tell us it has not already been canceled. -Jim Woods, Seattle

A: NBC hadn't given the Kelli Giddish-starring, Jerry Bruckheimer-produced adventure series an official pink slip at this writing, saying it was merely on "hiatus" ... but its prospects aren't good. The ratings were lower than NBC had desired, and what really sealed the deal was how much better the game show "Minute to Win It" performed in the same slot when it was tried out there. (That program ended up as the regular replacement.)

Another sign that "Chase" may be over? Co-star Jesse Metcalfe has signed for a regular role on TNT's upcoming reboot of "Dallas." That wouldn't happen unless the involved parties were reasonably sure he would be a free agent again soon.

Q: I am wondering if the actress who played Rachel's biological mother on "Glee" is her real-life mother. -Jennie Mooney, Cortland, N.Y.

A: Despite the resemblance, no ... but like Lea Michele, alias Rachel, Idina Menzel is a Broadway veteran. The real-life wife of "Private Practice" co-star Taye Diggs, she won a Tony Award for the musical "Wicked," in which she starred with fellow recurring "Glee" guest star Kristin Chenoweth.

Q: About a year ago, there was a show called "Find My Family," about people who were adopted or children who were put up for adoption looking for anything about their pasts. Is there any chance it will be back? -Marv Liss, Vero Beach, Fla.

A: Not unless another network decides to revive it. ABC decided against ordering additional episodes after the initial set aired during the 2009-10 season. Such a reboot is not unheard of, as with ABC's pickup of "Secret Millionaire" after it originally aired on Fox, but there's no word yet on a similar situation for "Find My Family." The show was inspired by a same-named Australian program that still continues there.

Q: When will "Eureka" be back on Syfy? -Betty Rankin, Denver

A: The series about a very brainy Oregon community typically starts back up each July. Therefore, look for its fifth round – for which it has been renewed – to begin then.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was 20th-century German-American poet, novelist and short-story writer Charles Bukowski who made the following observation: "The difference between a democracy and a dictatorship is that in a democracy you vote first and take orders later; in a dictatorship you don't have to waste your time voting."
• In the 18 months that the Pony Express operated, carrying mail across the Wild West and its myriad hazards and dangers, only one pouch of mail was lost.
• It takes approximately 10 months for a Las Vegas slot machine to pay for itself.
• Benito Mussolini, Italian dictator and leader of that country's National Fascist Party, grew up poor with a blacksmith father who, history indicates, spent most of his meager earnings on his mistress. When Benito was 27 years old, he met a 16-year-old girl named Rachele Guidi -- who was the daughter of that same mistress and her deceased husband. Rachele eventually became Mussolini's second wife.
• At one time, some churches banned the playing of Wagner's "The Bridal Chorus," also known as "Here Comes the Bride," because the music was considered to be sexy and vulgar.
• You might not be surprised to learn that editor, lexicographer and textbook pioneer Noah Webster lobbied Congress to make his plan for simplified spelling the law of the land. Had he been successful, the United States would have been the only country in which incorrect spelling would be legally punishable.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On March 15, 45 B.C, Julius Caesar, the "dictator for life" of the Roman Empire, is murdered by his own senators at a meeting in a hall next to Pompey's Theatre. The conspiracy against Caesar encompassed as many as 60 noblemen, including Caesar's own protege, Marcus Brutus.
• On March 20, 1345, according to scholars at the University of Paris, the Black Death, also known as the Plague, is created from what they call "a triple conjunction of Saturn, Jupiter and Mars in the 40th degree of Aquarius. It is now known that bubonic plague was carried by fleas.
• On March 14, 1879, Albert Einstein is born, the son of a Jewish electrical engineer, in Ulm, Germany. Einstein's theories of relativity drastically altered man's view of the universe, and his work helped make possible the atomic bomb.
• On March 17, 1905, future president Franklin Delano Roosevelt weds his fifth cousin once removed, Eleanor Roosevelt, in New York. In 1918, Eleanor was devastated to discover that Franklin was having an affair with her secretary, Lucy Mercer. When Eleanor threatened to leave him, his mother intervened and offered to support Eleanor financially if she would stay in the marriage.
• On March 18, 1911, Irving Berlin copyrights the biggest pop song of the early 20th century, "Alexander's Ragtime Band." In the first two decades of the 20th century, musical popularity was based not on the sale of recorded performances, but on the sale of sheet music. Future Berlin hits would include "White Christmas" and "God Bless America."
• On March 16, 1926, American Robert H. Goddard launches the world's first liquid-fueled rocket at Auburn, Mass. The rocket, fueled by liquid oxygen and gasoline, traveled for 2.5 seconds at a speed of about 60 mph, reaching an altitude of 41 feet and landing 184 feet away.
• On March 19, 1957, Elvis Presley puts down a $1,000 deposit on a $102,500 house in Memphis, Tenn. The Southern mansion on a 13.8-acre wooded estate was later named Graceland. Today, Graceland is the second-most-visited house in America,

Collecting

Q: I have quite a collection of G.I. Joes and accessories from the mid- to late 1970s. It is time for me to find out current values before I consider selling. -- Steve, Raymond, Minn.
A: There are several excellent price guides available. My personal favorite is The Ultimate Guide to G.I. Joe, by Mark Bellomo, which can be ordered at www.krause.com. There also is an excellent website, www.GIJoeprices.com. These two sources should get you started.

Q: I have a collection of Lenox china pieces (vases, candy dishes, decorative plates, etc.), all made in the United States. I am interested in knowing their values and, perhaps, finding someone who might want to purchase my collection. -- Angela, Elmore, Vt.
A: The Ceramic Art Company of Trenton, N.J., was co-founded by Walter Scott Lenox and Jonathan Coxon in 1889. Seventeen years later when Coxon left the company, the name was changed to Lenox, Inc. Although its decorative pieces have always been popular, it was dinnerware that helped establish the company's reputation. In fact, Lenox has been chosen the official White House china by each administration since about 1917.
Pieces vary in value. For example, typical are a vegetable bowl in the Wyndcrest pattern, $85; a cup and saucer, Autumn pattern, $48; a Kingsley soup bowl, $50; and a Rose teapot, $225. Selling china is a little tough in this sluggish market. Recently, at auction, a service for four in Kingsley sold for $225. This was undervalued but reflective of the current marketplace. To sell the pieces you have, I suggest you explore the possibilities of eBay.

Q: I have a large collection of salt and pepper shakers and would like to find out current values. -- Tina, Rio Rancho, N.M.
A: One of the better references is the Antique Trader Salt and Pepper Price Guide, by Mark F. Moran (Krause, $19.99). There also is the National Novelty Salt and Pepper Shaker Collector's Club, 828 Tucker Place, Dandridge, TN 37725. Closer to home is the Arizona chapter. Laura Aibanese is president of the Grand Canyon group, (623) 594-7939.

Goldfinches

A sure way to bring American goldfinches into your yard is to feed them thistle seed and/or sunflower heart chips. If you live in an area where the only time you get finches is during migration, putting out these two seeds will bring them back year after year.

If a new blossom is not protected from harm, the future of the flower is lost – but with the right tending and nourishment it blooms beautifully. Those of us who have children realize how difficult it is to protect a child from any harm. No matter how we try, at times we feel inadequate. We may become frustrated and sad as we see our perfect infant grow up and be influenced in ways we cannot control. God can help. This week, visit your chosen place of worship as a family and grow together in the garden of the Creator.

The Hedgehog and the Fox

The early Greek poet Archilochus is credited with the aphorism "The fox knows many small tricks; the hedgehog one big one." Isaiah Berlin's essay "The Hedgehog and the Fox" treats this aphorism as a starting point to examine different ways of knowing the world. But Archilochus' drift seems to have been more about cunning and trickery as weapons which the fox and the hedgehog use against each other. The fox does indeed know many tricks, but still gets caught, whereas the hedgehog's single trick of rolling up in a ball with only its spines exposed keeps him safe and sound from even the craftiest fox.

The lesson for us here is that we should put little trust in worldly wisdom in all its clever guises and trust solely in God. All end up caught in the trap; none will escape death. But the hedgehog at least has the simple integrity of trusting in his God-given spines.

Trust in the LORD with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding.

Child Care Worker Training Classes Slated In Oakland

Garrett College will offer the 99-hour Training of Child Care Workers Course beginning on April 5 on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Southern Outreach Center in Oakland from 6 to 9 p.m. The course satisfies the requirements for Maryland State Department of Education certification of child-care workers for ages 2 to 12.

Topics will include 45 hours of child development and 45 hours of curriculum. The last nine hours will focus on effective communications within the child care business.

The class is limited to 18 students and is offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more details, persons may contact Patricia Baer at 301-387-3781 or stop by the Southern Outreach Center at 14 North 8th Street.

GC Health Dept. To Discuss Legal Issues Of Elderly

Carl Miltenberger will give a presentation on legal documents and financial issues associated with growing older on Monday, March 28.

This presentation is slated to take place in the conference room of the Garrett County Health Department located at 1025 Memorial Drive in Oakland.

Topics will include information on wills, power of attorney, advance directives, long-term care insurance issues, medical assistance, paying for in-home nursing care, and where to get "good" advice.

For individuals who require respite services, the Area Agency on Aging will provide funding to cover the cost of care needed while attending the meeting.

Those interested may contact Branden Wilt at the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431 or 888-887-8403, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For more information on the Alzheimer's/Caregivers Support Group one may contact the Health Department at 301-334-7740 or 301-895-3111.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

TSUNAMIS
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. How do tsunamis happen? And is there any way to predict them?

A. A tsunami is a secondary effect of an underwater earthquake. The more powerful the earthquake, the more likely will be an associated tsunami. The disaster in Japan this past week began with an extremely powerful (magnitude 8.9) earthquake. Magnitude 9 earthquakes are very rare (a few per century), and may happen either on land or under the ocean.

The surface of the Earth is not uniform; it is broken into pieces thousands of miles across. Those are called tectonic plates. Where they touch is a fault line, and that's where earthquakes occur. If one tectonic plate slides underneath the other (known as subduction), then instantaneously there is a step several feet high that wasn't there before.

When an earthquake occurs under the floor of the ocean, it might trigger a massive landslide on the steep slopes of the nearby continental shelf. Instantly, the water in the ocean directly above starts to rush in to fill the void. That sudden motion of water is a pulse, a form of wave that is different from the usual waves on the ocean surface. The tsunami is under way. There will be a whole series of crests resulting from the pulse.

The pulse of water is only as high as the displacement of the ocean floor, maybe 10 feet for a combination earthquake and landslide. But the pulse is also extremely wide: 100 kilometers (60 miles) is common. That wave starts to move outward from the epicenter. It's classified as a "shallow water wave," even when the ocean is two miles deep. Unlike ordinary waves (even high waves, as in hurricanes) the tsunami wave moves very swiftly, typically about 500 miles per hour. Moreover, it tends to stay together and only gradually loses energy as it travels.

If you're out in a boat somewhere on the ocean as a tsunami passes by, your boat lifts up with the ocean surface. At 500 mph, a 60-mile wide pulse passes beneath you in about 10 minutes, and so you barely notice. If you're underwater scuba-diving, it's definitely unnerving because of the sideways drag, but that's over quickly too. As long as there's nothing in the way, the pulse of water just gently spreads out over a very wide ocean.

All the trouble happens when the pulse of water collides with some land in its way. The ocean floor, which had been thousands of feet down out at sea, rises up gradually. (The word "shoreline" means the place where the ocean depth is zero.)

We are all familiar with ocean waves "breaking" on the shore. The forward speed of a moving wave drops to zero, and all that water bunches up as it approaches the shore, so the crest becomes a lot higher. The tip of the wave falls over itself and crashes below. At the beach, it's fun to splash in such waves, which roll in about 10 or 15 seconds apart. If you're standing in shallow water, it passes over you in one or two seconds. Surfers enjoy the really big breakers where they can find them; a surfer who takes a wipe-out is underwater for 5 or 10 seconds. There's not much danger when waves have such a rapid repetition-rate.

When a tsunami shows up at the shoreline, that same bunching up of water takes place while the forward speed drops. Although the pulse might be just a few feet high out at sea, the enormous width of the pulse means that a gigantic amount of water is going to keep moving toward shore. When it reaches the shoreline, the height of the pulse might be 10 or 20 feet, but the volume of water is huge – it just keeps on coming. If the water pours in for 10 or 15 minutes, it can easily flood all the low-lying land near the shore. It knocks down buildings and drowns unsuspecting people.

In the tsunami of 2004, one fatal mistake many people made was to venture toward the receding first wave, not realizing than a larger second wave-crest was on its way. In Japan this time, people were educated about tsunamis and were better prepared.

There is a warning system for approaching tsunamis, but not for earthquakes. A seismic device that detects the earthquake automatically sets off a tsunami alarm. For people living near Sendai, Japan, the warning time was very short (about 5 minutes); also, the damage from a magnitude 9 earthquake is extremely severe anyway. But the warning system gave adequate notice to people in Hawaii and mainland America.

The science of predicting earthquakes is very uncertain. Just before the Indonesian tsunami of 2004, Science magazine contained an article about earthquake warning systems. Talking about Japan, it said that a magnitude 7 or 8 offshore earthquake has a 40% chance of occurring in the next 10 years. That's about as accurate as predictions get. Fortunately, a lot of buildings in Japan were constructed with earthquakes in mind. Haiti, on the other hand, was totally unprepared.

Notice of Public Hearings
Garrett County Board of Education
Proposed School Closing Plan

The following Garrett County Public Schools closure plan is proposed for the school year commencing August 2011.

Proposed Closing of Kitzmiller Elementary School
A public hearing will be held:
Date: Thursday, March 24, 2011 (weather make-up on Thursday, March 31)
Time: 7:00 p.m.
Place: Kitzmiller Elementary Multipurpose Room

Testimony at the hearing will be limited to three minutes per person but written testimony and/or data may be submitted to the Board of Education at the address below in conjunction with the testimony or in lieu of an oral presentation. Any written testimony and/or data should be postmarked no later than April 1, 2011, so that it may be considered by the Board of Education.

Regular Board Meeting

The Superintendent will make his final recommendation at the regular monthly Board of Education meeting at Southern Middle School, 605 Harvey Winters Road, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on Tuesday, April 5, 2011*. Members of the public will be permitted three minutes per person to speak following the Superintendent's recommendation which will occur near the end of the public session which begins at 5:30 p.m. Written testimony may also be submitted.

Special Board Meeting

The Board of Education will conduct a special meeting at Southern Middle School, 605 Harvey Winters Road, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on Tuesday, April 12, 2011*, at 6:00 p.m. to vote on the proposed school closing plan. Members of the public will also be permitted three minutes per person to speak, or present written testimony or data, at this meeting prior to the Board's vote.

The Board of Education will, at a minimum, consider the following factors before rendering a final decision: (1) student enrollment trends; (2) age or condition of school buildings; (3) transportation; (4) educational programs; (5) ethnic and racial composition of the student body; (6) financial factors; (7) student relocation; (8) impact on community; and (9) such other factors enumerated by the Superintendent or which the Advisory Group finds to be relevant. The final decision will include contemplation of these factors and public input, and will set forth the rationale for the Board's decision to close or not close the school.

If the Board's final decision is to close the school, the rationale for the Board's decision shall address the impact of the proposed closing on the factors listed above. The final decision will be made in writing and announced no later than April 30, 2011. If the decision is to close Kitzmiller Elementary School, the affected students will be transferred to Yough Glades Elementary School in August of 2011, for the 2011-12 school year.

For additional information: Contact the Central Office at 40 S. Second Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

*If cancelled due to weather or other reasons, make-up dates will be announced.

The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay, attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if ratification of the sale is denied by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $395.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for preparation of deed and review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Pine Mountain Coal Company, Inc., will be conducting blasting operations on Mining Permit SM-95-424 on the property of David Weir, Election District No. 11, Garrett County, at Maryland State Grid Coordinates N.644,500 E.234,500 in accordance with all applicable state and federal laws. Such activities will commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule of dates and approximate times, as approved by Maryland Bureau of Mines:

March 22, 2011, thru March 22, 2012
8:00 a.m. to noon and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
NO blasting will be conducted on Sundays

At least ten minutes prior to each blasting activity, all access roads will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry, and a warning signal will be audibly indicated by three 5-second blasts with an air horn at 2-second intervals. After the blasts, the all-clear signal shall be indicated by one 20-second blast with an air horn. These signals are in accordance with applicable state and federal laws.

Also, as approved by the regulatory authority, blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced without prior notification, or in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, or any other atmospheric condition, operator or public safety conditions dictate an unauthorized detonation.

Requests for pre blast surveys may be made by writing the director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, MD 21532.

The application is available in the Guidance Office.

SADD Members Take Training For "Kicking Butts"

March 23 is Kick Butts Day (KBD), an annual celebration of the power of youth and the kinds of things that they can do to make a difference in their community, according to a spokesperson from the Garrett County Health Department.

"Thousands of youth in every state are standing out, speaking up, and seizing control in the fight against tobacco companies," the spokesperson said.

Over 20 members of local SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) clubs gathered for a "Kick Butts" training session on March 4 that was organized by health department outreach worker Linda Lewis. Master instructor Ron Durham of the Maryland School of Tae Kwon Do led the special workshop for the SADD members.

"The members will take what they learned and share it with groups in their community to teach some very basic self-defense moves," said the spokesperson. "At the same time, they will educate about the sneaky ways that tobacco companies recruit underage youth to use their products."

Kendra Todd, health educator at the GC Health Department, added, "In the United States, 1,100 people die every day because of a tobacco-related illness. That means that tobacco companies need to get 1,100 new people started smoking every day to replace the ones who die. Their target is not adults who have already made their decisions about tobacco use, but youth, who are much more impressionable and could become long-term customers."

To illustrate one of the ways that tobacco companies target youth, a display showing the similarities between tobacco products and candy products will be moving around with the SADD clubs in their recognition of Kick Butts Day.

For more information about tobacco prevention or SADD groups, persons are invited to telephone the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111

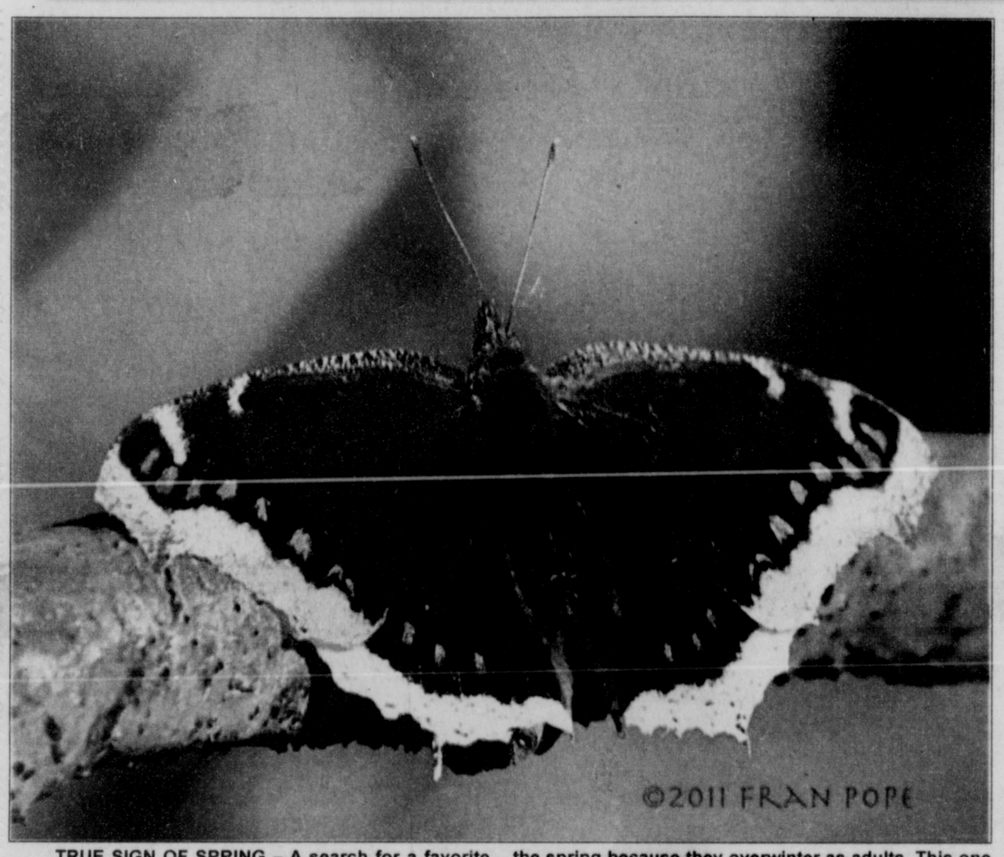
OUR TOWN THEATRE TO STAGE THE WALWORTH FARCE – Reservations are now being taken for OTT's next stage production, an Irish comedy titled The Walworth Farce. The show, a dark Irish comedy written by Enda Walsh, will be given at the theatre in Oakland from March 30 through April 3, with shows at 8 p.m. on each date except April 3, when it will be presented at 2 p.m. Persons may make ticket reservations by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640. According to Jane Avery and Richard Hill, co-directors, the play is "a play within a play" about three Irish men, a father and two sons, who live in a rundown council flat on Walworth Road in south London. "They never leave and have not left for 20 years, and each day they perform a farce," Hill said. "Each day the same, each day the same play. Only Sean leaves each day to buy the food for the play at Tesco, a supermarket in London." Pictured from left are Dylan Barnard as Sean, Mikey Virts as Blake, Richard Hill as Dinny, and Jennifer Virts as Hayley, an employee of Tesco. The play is dark and irreverent, yet "hysterically funny," Hill said. It is designed for mature audiences.



TRUE SIGN OF SPRING – A search for a favorite harbinger of spring was rewarded last Saturday to Mtn. Lake Park resident and wildlife photographer Fran Pope. What she was looking for, and found, was this "mourning cloak" butterfly (Nymphalis antiopa) resting in a sunny spot in the Potomac State Forest. Adult mourning cloaks are probably the longest-lived butterfly in North America, Pope said, some surviving in excess of 10 months. Often the species is the first butterfly seen in the spring because they overwinter as adults. This one shows a little wear and tear, Pope noted, but not so bad for spending a cold winter tucked into a safe place in the woods, perhaps a hollow tree. Mourning cloaks, which in 2001 were named the Montana state butterfly, are found almost everywhere throughout North America and range south to central Mexico. Hopefully he will weather today's chilly temps and flurries, which are to continue on and off for several days.

First Rabies Case For 2011 Reported By GC Health Dept.

Environmental Health Services of the Garrett County Health Department reports the first case of laboratory confirmed rabies for the county for 2011. This most recent case occurred on Tuesday, March 22, in the Oakland, Shady Dell Road, area and involved a raccoon.

The raccoon was sent for rabies virus testing to the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Rabies Laboratory in Baltimore, and the positive result for rabies was reported on Wednesday. It was determined that any possible exposure that may have occurred would have been with a dog, which has a current rabies vaccination.

The dog was revaccinated against the virus and will be closely watched for 45 days. There was no human exposure, according to a Health Department spokeswoman.

"This case is a reminder to pet owners to check the vaccination status of their dogs, cats, and ferrets," she said.

These pets can receive rabies vaccinations when they are 3 months of age. Maryland law requires these animals to have vaccinations when they are 4 months of age and older. The first rabies shot that a pet receives is good for one year. After that, the rabies shot for a dog or cat is good for three years. Ferrets must be vaccinated annually against rabies.

The Health Department will hold its first round of low cost rabies clinics throughout the county in May. Pet owners are advised to watch for posters at local businesses; radio and newspaper announcements; and reminder cards mailed for animals previously vaccinated at Health Department clinics that are due to lapse.

Any questions regarding rabies can be directed to the Environmental Health Services section of the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7760 or 301-895-3111.

Garrett County's FY 2012 Draft Budget Is Online

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt announced yesterday that the Fiscal Year 2012 Garrett County government draft budget is now online. Interested persons can find this link at garrettcounty.org/Commissioners/budget12/2012Requested.pdf.

The document outlines various revenue sources for the county totaling $69.2 million in the coming fiscal year. The county's income this year is $84.9 million.

Proposed expenditures in FY '12 include $28.7 million for the Board of Education, compared to $24.3 million in FY 2011; $500,000 for the Garrett

Educators, County Employees Offered Cash Incentives To Retire By June 30

As part of an effort to address a pending budgetary crisis facing the Garrett County Board of Education, all employees of the board who will be eligible to retire at the end of the current fiscal year – from teachers to administrators to non-certified staff members – received a letter this past week from superintendent Wendell Teets and union representative Steve Benson offering the employees a cash incentive to retire.

A similar voluntary retirement incentive plan was subsequently offered by the Garrett County commissioners to all county employees, most of whom received their letters yesterday.

"The board [of education] is faced with making some very difficult decisions for next year, including a possible reduction in force, resulting in loss of employment and the elimination of educational programs that are vital to our students," the letter from Teets and Benson said in part.

The board of education employees who have at least 30 years of service in the Garrett County system are being offered a one-time cash payment of 15% of their current salary if thev retire this year, up to a maximum of $10,000. Any employee age 55 with at least 25 years of service, and those who are age 62 with at least five consecutive years of service within the local system are eligible to participate in the incentive plan.

The percentage of salary offered decreases by .5% with each year fewer than 30, so an employee with 25 years of service is being offered 12.5% of his/her salary. Those with five years of continuous service and eligible to retire because of age would receive an incentive bonus of 2.5% of their current salary.

The plan will be presented to the Garrett County Board of Education at its April meeting, but only if a minimum of 15 certified employees and three non-certified employees agree to participate. Employees have until Wednesday, April 13, to render their decisions.

If the program is enacted by the board, then the decisions of the employees would be binding. If it is not approved by the board, then an employee agreeing to participate would not be obligated to retire.

GC Commissioners Approve Pee Wee Hill Water Project

Pee Wee Hill and Kitzmiller Road residents will soon have something many other people in Garrett County probably take for granted: a reliable, abundant supply of clean water. Immediately following public hearings last Thursday afternoon, the Garrett County commissioners approved the Pee Wee Hill Water Supply Replacement Project.

Creation of a new service area and water/sewer master plan amendment were also approved for the project.

The Abandoned Mine Land Division (AMLD) of the Maryland Department of the Environment's Land Management Administration will cover the entire $1.4 million project.

"A lot of those people there don't have water," Director Linda Lindsey, Garrett County Department of Public Utilities (DPU), told the previous board of commissioners last June when the project was being planned. "They've drilled numerous wells – over again, very deep. They might get ½ a gallon a minute, if they're lucky."

Last year, the AMLD hired CTL Engineering of West Virginia Inc. to determine if abandoned coal mines have impacted the quality/quantity of private water supplies in the Pee Wee Hill area.

Maps and records indicated that substantial mining activity occurred there and that all the deep mining was performed prior to the Surface Mine Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, making the project eligible for AMLD funding.

The CTL study found that water wells in the Pee Wee Hill area were drilled to depths that intersect the mined coal seams or at least the fractured strata zone above the seams, which creates a hydrologic connection between the wells and the abandoned mines.

The coal structure de-

Marcellus Shale Drilling Moratorium Poised For Passage By Md. Delegates

by David Saleh Rauf
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Legislation to create a temporary moratorium on natural gas drilling in western Maryland's Marcellus shale deposits appears poised for passage in the House of Delegates.

The full House gave the bill preliminary approval Tuesday after the chamber rejected five amendments and an attempt to shelve debate by the proposal's staunchest opponent, Delegate Wendell Beitzel, R-Garrett.

The bill, dubbed the "Maryland Shale Safe Drilling Act of 2011," would restrict drilling in Maryland's slice of the Marcellus formation until 2013, when two state agencies would be required to complete a study that outlines the potential environmental impact associated with a drilling method called hydraulic fracturing, or "fracking."

The technique, which pumps water mixed with chemicals into rock formations, has been touted as a technological breakthrough because it allows oil and gas companies to drill deeper and horizontally to extract natural gas from the formation for the first time.

But fracking has been the

THEY DON'T JUST SELL COOKIES – Local Girl Scout Quinn McClean is pictured as she scales a rock wall at Cooper's Rock, Morgantown, W.Va. This is just one of multiple activities in which the local Girl Scouts engage, from rock climbing to camping, from traveling to see Broadway shows to jumping into the ocean's surf. The Girl Scouts of America celebrated its 99th anniversary on March 12, and as the organization marches into its 100th year, local Scouts are charging ahead as well, with a wide range of events, activities, and service projects planned for this spring and summer. New members and adults volunteers are always welcome. See feature story.

Local Girl Scout Program Thriving As National GSA Enters 100th Year

by Mary Sincell McEwen, with contributions by Elizabeth Huxford

"Every contact a Girl Scout makes with her community is an opportunity for that community to invest in the life of a service-driven woman," said local Girl Scout leader Elizabeth Huxford. The Girl Scouting program in Garrett County, known as Girl Scouts Garrett Community, is alive and well, with girls participating in service projects, traveling, exploring, and learning about the world through experiences only available in the Scouting program.

As of March 12, 2011, the Girl Scouts of America has entered its 100th year, turning 99 on that date. In light of this milestone, a report on what the local girls are achieving is timely.

Girl Scouts Black Diamond Council, Garrett Community, currently serves over 100 girls in seven troops in Accident, Crellin, Grantsville, and Oakland. The Girl Scout mission, Huxford said, is to build girls of courage, confidence, and character, who make the world a better place.

This mission is being fulfilled in a number of ways by the active girls in the community. Service projects are often at the top of their priority lists. Some of the efforts made just in the past year or so include the following:

The painting of a fence at the local domestic violence shelter (Dove Center), and the donation of food and blankets to the Garrett County Animal Shelter, with the help of HART.

The girls made wreaths for the Festival of Trees last November, and helped in a painting project at the historic Friend's Store.

Scouts worked to collect and donate toys to an orphanage in China, and put together multiple shoeboxes for Operation Christmas Child.

A group of Girl Scouts cleaned the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad hall, and completed an autumn clean-up in the churchyards of St. Matthew's and St. John's parishes.

The girls donated hygiene kits to the Dove Center and overseas disaster relief efforts. They also donated infant caps to Save the Children, as well as to the natal intensive care unit at Ruby Memorial in Morgantown, W.Va.

Environmental efforts are often on the list as well. The

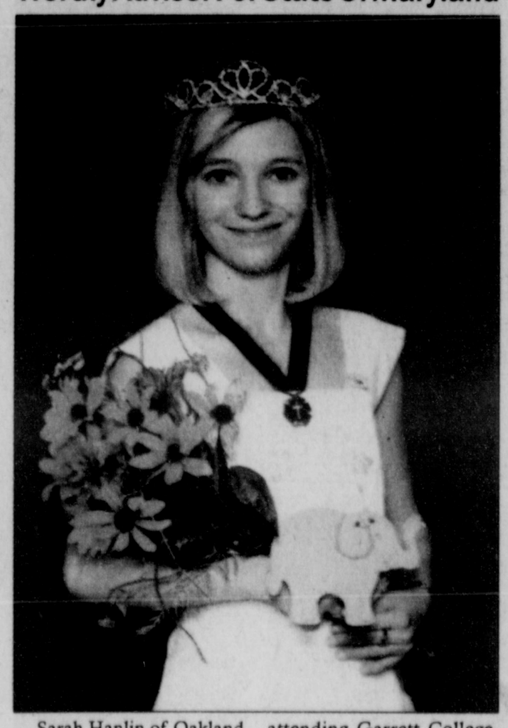
Hanlin Named As Rainbow For Girls Worthy Advisor For State Of Maryland



Sarah Hanlin of Oakland Assembly #8 was installed as Grand Worthy Advisor for the state of Maryland, International Order of Rainbow for Girls at the 51st Passport to the World annual Grand Sessions in Baltimore on March 19. Hanlin was crowned by Alyna Raynovich, Oakland Assembly #8's first Grand Worthy Advisor.

Hanlin is the daughter of Arthur and Dora Hanlin and the granddaughter of Letha Hanlin and Patience Fitzwater. She is a 2008 graduate of Southern High School and is currently attending Garrett College, where she will graduate in May. Hanlin plans to continue her education at Frostburg State University this fall, and pursue a degree in early childhood education with an emphasis in special education. She is a recipient of the Gayle Sakes Memorial Scholarship, presented by Maryland Grand Assembly.

Hanlin joined the International Order of Rainbow for Girls in March 2005. She has held many offices at the organization's state level since her initiation, including grand patriotism,

Elk Garden Man Arrested For DCL Area Burglaries

A West Virginia man has been arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in connection with several Deep Creek Lake area burglaries.

David Lee Armstrong, 19, Elk Garden, was taken into custody last Friday night. He was arrested in connection with a September burglary of a Lake Shore Drive residence. He is also wanted by Maryland State Police, McHenry, on additional burglary warrants.

He was seen by a District Court commissioner the following day.

Budget Debate Starts In House

by David Saleh Rauf
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – The House of Delegates began debate yesterday on a state budget proposal that reforms pensions for state employees, restores a large chunk of cuts to K-12 education funding, and raises several fees to generate tens of millions in new revenue to help shore up a dedicated transportation fund.

The House Appropriations Committee last week approved a series of budget cuts and fee increases to Gov. Martin O'Malley's budget proposal.

Lawmakers debated a series of amendments to the budget Wednesday afternoon. A final vote on the budget is expected Friday.

The budget approved by the Appropriations Committee would increase several fees to generate more than $60 million in new revenue. The bulk – about $50 million – will come from a proposed increase to the titling fee for vehicle purchases, which would double from $50 to $100. Another $2 million to $3 million in new revenue would come from doubling the fee for vanity license plates from $25 to $50.

The money generated from those two fees will go toward the state's Transportation Trust Fund, which O'Malley is planning to tap to the tune of $100 million this session to plug budget holes.

"This is designed to provide some help and relief for transportation instead of doing some sort of gasoline tax," said Delegate John Bohanan, a St. Mary's Democrat and key member of the Appropriations Committee. "We've got to come up with some funds for transportation."

The budget approved by the committee also increases a fee Marylanders pay to file property tax records from $20 to $40. That change is estimated to raise about $10 million, Bohanan said.

House Republicans fired back at the House spending plan Wednesday, saying the budget does little to address long-term debt and spending. The proposed fees, said House Minority Leader Anthony O'Donnell, amount to the government "taking money out of the private sector."

"We don't have a revenue problem. These are revenue mechanisms," said O'Donnell, R-Calvert. "We have a spending problem and this budget doesn't address our over-spending."

House Republicans were preparing to present amendments. O'Donnell did not elaborate on specifics, but said the amendments will "highlight greater opportunities to reduce spending in Maryland."

House GOP leaders presented a proposal earlier this month that outlined $621 million in additional spending cuts on top of the nearly $1 billion in reductions O'Malley proposed in his budget.

O'Malley's budget proposal would cut the state's structural deficit, which is estimated between $1.7 billion and $1.9 billion, by $730 million. The House budget goes a bit further and seeks to slash the structural deficit by $803 million.

That's not enough, Republicans say, and the GOP proposal presented last month would eliminate about two-thirds of the deficit in fiscal 2012 and the rest by fiscal 2013.

"The Democrat plan is silent with regard to when the structural deficit will be completely fixed," O'Donnell said. This budget "doesn't solve our problem and it kicks the can down the road."

Bohanan, the chair of the Education and Economic Development Subcommittee, said Democrats refused to cut deeper because any further reductions could "decimate" education funding. The committee voted last week to restore about $58 million of the $94 million O'Malley cut in funding for K-12.

"That's the one priority we continue to hold and maintain," Bohanan said.

The House gets the first shot at the budget this year. Bohanan said the Senate is "in sync" with the majority of the House plan, but the two chambers will likely have to reconcile differences on pension reform.

The House is proposing to change O'Malley's pension reform plan by requiring state employees to pay 7 percent of their salaries instead of 5 percent into their pension plans. O'Malley's proposal would have given state employees the option to choose between 7 percent and 5 percent contributions.

The Senate on the other hand could move toward a shift to have local governments help pay for pensions. The House last year rejected a "wholesale shift," Bohanan said.

"The main thing is going to be pensions," he said. "We'll be in sync on education funding, but pension reform will be different."

Beitzel Responds To Moratorium Bill's Approval, Turbine Setback's Rejection

The Maryland House of Delegates took action yesterday on two bills that would impact the energy resources of Garrett and Allegany counties.

The House voted to support the Marcellus Shale Safe Drilling Act, HB 852, in a vote of 98-40. That measure was sponsored by Montgomery County delegate Heather Mizeur (D–Dist. 20) (See "Marcellus Shale Drilling Moratorium Poised For Passage by Md. Delegates").

In addition, the House Economic Matters Committee, once again, defeated a measure that would have authorized the Garrett County commissioners to impose setback and decommissioning requirements for wind turbines.

"By placing a moratorium on Marcellus shale drilling, while providing no protection for the people of Garrett County in regards to wind turbines, it appears that the House of Delegates is pursuing a lop-sided energy plan that will do little to make Maryland energy independent," stated Del. Wendell R. Beitzel (R–Dist. 1A).

He presented a number of amendments to House Bill 852 on Tuesday. Those amendments would have set the membership of the commission created to study the issue, require a summer study, and alternatively limit the study to one year. Further, an amendment was offered to allow for an extended time period to provide notice of potential mineral rights..

During the debate, Beitzel shared with the body the potential economic impact from jobs created and increased taxes that could be imposed in Garrett County. He cited the 5.5 percent severance tax in Garrett County. The tax, passed several years ago by the Maryland General Assembly, provided 5 percent tax to go to Garrett County and 0.5 percent to municipalities for roadway improvements.

"This can be our BRAC (2005 Defense Base Regulation and Closure)," stressed Beitzel, referring to the influx of jobs relating to military base realignment that is beginning to provide jobs to Baltimore and Harford counties.

Beitzel further presented letters from the Office of the Attorney General and Acting Secretary Robert Summers stating that the Maryland Department of the Environment already had sufficient authority to deal with Marcellus shale exploration.

The bill is set to become law, if approved by the Maryland Senate and signed by the governor, on June 1, 2011. As passed by the House, those who own natural gas rights would be required to report these rights to the Department of the Environment by July 1, and then pay a $10 an acre tax by Aug. 1. They must further pay an additional $10 per acre the following year.

Beitzel noted that the two-year assessments do not cover the cost of the study, the owners of natural gas interest would be further charged a rate to cover the remaining costs without any limitation as to the study's final cost.

Approximately 70,000 acres have been leased in Garrett and Allegany counties. If the mandated fee is enacted by the Maryland General Assembly, the cost of the study could cost an initial $1.4 million, according to Beitzel.

Failure to provide adequate filings and pay the tax may result in the denial of any future permit if and when natural gas is drilled in Garrett and Allegany counties. No notice requirements were included within the text of the bill.

"With such a short window from enactment to the filing, and with such a great penalty that can be imposed by the department, this bill may have a number of due process issues that have unfortunately been overlooked by the House," Beitzel said.

Also, House Bill 116, which would give the Garrett County commissioners the authority to impose "commonsense" regulations regarding setbacks and decommissioning for wind turbines, was unfavorably reported by the House Economic Matters Committee, he added.

This bill had the overwhelming support of the Garrett County commissioners, who came to Annapolis to lobby on behalf of this bill, Beitzel noted.

Local Man Arrested On Second-Degree Assault Charges

A Swanton man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following a domestic dispute last Thursday evening.

Deputies responded to the Sears Lane home, where it was determined that Rory Stephan Bernard, 36, had assaulted an adult female the prior evening. He was arrested and charged with second-degree assault. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Shale Drilling

subject of scrutiny after explosions at drilling sites in several states. The Environmental Protection Agency in a 2010 report also raised questions about the impact fracking could have on water and air quality.

"Drilling in the Marcellus shale is not like drilling for natural gas in any other form that we have known," said Delegate Maggie McIntosh, a Baltimore Democrat and the chairman of the House Environmental Matters Committee. "We have a lot of questions to answer."

The Marcellus shale, one of the largest natural gas deposits in the country, lies beneath New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, and western Maryland. Production wells have been drilled in all of those states except Maryland, where Garrett and a small piece of Allegany have been pegged by the energy industry as anticipated areas of natural gas production.

Two companies have filed permit applications for fracking with the Maryland Department of the Environment, according to the bill's fiscal note. No permits have been issued, and the bill would delay issuance of any permits until 2013, creating the drilling moratorium.

Western Maryland lawmakers see the Marcellus formation as a potential goldmine for cash-strapped Garrett and Allegany counties.

Garrett County estimates that a severance tax charged on natural gas drilling could bring in up to $34.6 million annually, Beitzel said. Landowners could receive an average of up to $47,160 in royalties for each well in the first year.

"We're suffering out there," said Beitzel, who owns land in Garrett County above the Marcellus formation that he would like to have drilled for natural gas.

Beitzel filed legislation this session to force the state to start approving or denying permit requests for fracking. That bill failed in committee.

The House is expected to take a final vote on the moratorium bill by sometime today.

Supporters said they have enough votes to advance the bill. Beitzel also conceded Tuesday that he does not have the support to block its passage.

The measure still must be approved by the Senate, where one western Marylander lawmaker already is readying to amend the bill.

Sen. George Edwards, R-Garrett, said the bill will look different once it hits the Senate floor, but he didn't elaborate.

The bill has support in the Senate, but will face added hurdles because the oil and gas lobby "have been working the issue harder in that chamber," said Delegate Heather Mizeur, a Democrat from Montgomery and the lead sponsor of the moratorium proposal.

"It's a smaller chamber and easier to flip some votes in a certain direction," she said."We're hopeful the momentum from the House will help."

Two Arrested By MSP On Poss. Charges

Two Ohio men were arrested on Tuesday by Maryland State Police on possession of marijuana charges.

A 2010 Dodge Charger was stopped on I-68 east for speeding. A probable cause search was conducted on the vehicle, revealing approximately 5.6 grams of marijuana. Passengers Ryan Welch, 27, and Speed Walton III, 26, both of Cincinnati, were found to be in possession of the marijuana, along with a package of rolling papers.

The driver was given a citation and released at the scene. Welch and Walton were both taken before a District Court commissioner and were released on personal recognizance.

Bite That Bullet, Gentlemen...

For a number of years now the Garrett County Board of Commissioners has been able to really hold the line on the property tax rate, as it has been within a penny or so of $1 per $100 of assessed property value. The reason that they have been successful in maintaining that rate is not because the cost of county government has remained relatively unchanged. Indeed, the cost has continued to climb, just like the cost of living for individuals and families has also continued to climb. The only reason that the commissioners were able to hold the rate at about $1 per $100 is because property assessments continued to increase.

For example, while the tax rate for FY 2010 and FY 2011 was virtually unchanged, an additional $2.8 million plus was generated because of the increase in assessed property values in the county from 2010 to 2011. The same has occurred for several years, with the continued new housing starts and active buying and selling of properties in the county. However, because of the big slowdown in the economy, meaning fewer housing starts and sluggish sales in real estate, the projected revenue increase from FY 2011 to 2012 is a mere $244,000. So just in anticipated property tax revenue, the county will see a drop of over $2.5 million this coming fiscal year if the tax rate of $1 is maintained.

Throw into that the multiple millions of dollars lost in state funding, and we have a real funding crisis on our hands – one that has been "inherited" by our three brand new county commissioners. The focus of this column last week was primarily on the GC Board of Education and its major financial trouble, but every other agency and the county as a whole are facing a similar situation.

So it is reiterated once again this week that the commissioners are going to have to bite that bullet and raise the property tax rate. No longer do we have the ace-in-the-hole, annually increasing assessment value as the great budget leveler that it has been for at least the past decade. Not only is there such a huge reduction in state money and in anticipated property tax revenue, but the costs of things, such as major budget items like petroleum products and health insurance, continue to spiral out of control.

It's fascinating that Garrett County is one of the most generous per capita in the entire country when it comes to raising money for worthy causes. We absolutely give and give. We don't hesitate to reach deep into our pockets. Efforts such as the annual Relay for Life that supports the American Cancer Society, and our own Warm the Children program, just as two examples, generate tens of thousands of dollars every year. Our school children and their families donate thousands of dollars every year to so many worthy causes. The fundraisers for our fire departments and rescue squads are almost always highly successful.

Yet when one even mentions the suggestion to raise the property tax rate, the reaction is typically all negative, even though it is clear that our schools (our own children!) are the ones in need. Our own roads, our own libraries, our own law enforcement, ... our own future; this is what is at stake here.

Cutting waste wherever possible is always important, and obviously crucial when funding is short, and many efforts are under way throughout our agencies to do that. But we truly seem to be at a breaking point.

As the county commissioners continue their extremely difficult task of creating a budget for FY 2012, we implore them to take this courageous step. In fact, not doing so may well prove to be absolutely fiscally irresponsible on their part.

To the Editor:

According to a nationwide study, motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for 15- to 20-year-olds. Even more alarming is that traffic deaths among teens are much more prevalent during prom season (April 1 to May 31) than at any other time of the year, and over half of those fatal accidents involve alcohol use. These statistics, combined with increased incidents of drug use, unprotected sex, and other risky behaviors, concern many individuals each year during prom season.

After-prom activities have been proven to protect students on prom night from risky behavior. After-prom is a huge alcohol-free, drug-free celebration, beginning an hour after prom ends and lasting until 6 a.m. Students are checked in and parents of no-shows are called. In addition, the parents of any students who leave early are contacted so they are aware that their children are on the road.

The sad fact is that the after-prom committee is in desperate need of money to keep this 20-year-old tradition going. We realize that everyone is suffering economically this year, but if you can find it in your hearts and your wallets to contribute any amount to keep this safe activity for prom night going, please do so.

Donations can be mailed to Southern High School, 345 Oakland Drive, Oakland, MD 21550, c/o Kayla Cathell. Please help us keep our teen population safe on prom night.

To the Editor,

The Manta Ray Swim Team is gearing up for the start of a new season, and the members would like to thank Wisp Resort for letting them use its pool again this summer.

The CARC facility at Garrett College slated to open this fall will become the home of a year-round Manta Ray Swim Team, as well as two high school teams! The summer league is a great time to join the team and find out how much fun competitive swimming can be.

An orientation meeting for all swimmers will be Saturday, March 26, at 9 a.m. in the Timbers Room at Wisp Resort, located next to Rudy's Ski Shop. For more information, visit manta-ray.org.

We would welcome anyone with a valid lifeguard certificate or coaching experience to contact us as well. We are looking forward to a great summer season.

To the Editor:

March is National Social Workers Month. I have worked as a counselor for the Garrett County school system for the past 19 years. I have worked with some excellent social workers over the years. The jobs they have are not glamorous, nor do they often make the paper, unless it is the daily log. They have a desire and passion to help families, especially children, to lead healthy productive lives.

I have known many social workers who realize that their jobs will never be on a 9-to-5 schedule and are always on call to help our children. I remember a case in which there were many concerns with a troubled family. One social worker walked alone through the snow late at night to make sure the children were fed and well taken care of. There are many, many examples like this, but because of confidentiality, most people never hear of them.

I cannot emphasize enough how important these people are to our school system and our society. If you know anyone who is a social worker, please thank them for the job they do.

Sincerely,
Tim Watson

To the Editor:

I can tolerate most of the progressive musings of the "Notes from Bittinger" author, but I have to reply to Joan Sussman's paragraph about the Constitution.

In answer to your question, yeah, lots of us. But, Joan, your question should have been, "Does anyone in this country believe we would be in the situations we are now if we had adhered to the Constitution?"

The Constitution lays out and limits the power of the federal government. That is quite a bit more than a basic outline. What we have now is an ever-growing monster whose tentacles will soon reach into every aspect of our lives.

And, yes, Joan, we do have a process for changing the Constitution. It is called the amendment process. Last time I looked, we had 27 of them. The progressives especially like to ignore the 9th and 10th, which brings me to one more truth. The progressive (it is not really moving forward; we have seen it before in Liberal Fascism by Jonah Goldberg) agenda is to "fundamentally change" our government. Our Constitution has served us well and will do so again if we can return to it.

To the Editor:

In 1949 the Congress of the United States declared June 14 of each year as National Flag Day. Here in Garrett County for the last six years, we have celebrated Flag Day with an event called "Flag on Mountain Maryland." This event was started by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce with the help of the American Flag Foundation Inc., and has since been turned over to a group of patriotic citizens from the local area who wished to see the event continued.

As we plan for the 2011 Flag on Mountain Maryland, we find ourselves in the same situation as many other groups – needing to ask the public for donations to keep the celebration funded. We have found that many of our former sources of funds are struggling to meet the numerous requests for donations in this uncertain economy.

If at all possible, would you be in a position to help us financially to bring about this year's program? Even the smallest donation will help, and all donations are tax-deductible. Acknowledgment of your sponsorship will be listed in our program.

If you have never attended Flag on Mountain Maryland, we invite you to mark your calendar for June 14, 6 p.m. It is an event that in the past has featured patriotic music, speakers, displays, and the presentation of all 50 state flags. The presentation of the flag of the United States on the hillside behind the McHenry Room at the Wisp is inspirational. In recent years, we have specifically honored our Vietnam and Korean veterans. This year we are saluting women veterans who have also served so faithfully in our military services.

If you can help us financially or would like to be involved in staging our event, please contact Sandy at 301-334-5185, or send your donation to FOMM, c/o Marine Corps League, P.O. Box 292, Oakland, MD 21550. Checks should be made payable to MCL/FOMM.

We hope to see you on June 14. This day presents a great opportunity to teach your family about patriotism and about the things which make our country a great place to live!

For the Flag on Mountain Maryland Committee,

To the Editor:

There is a new, reliable, green, sustainable, world energy source under development now!

Once again, a flare-up in the Middle East is causing the U.S. economy to suffer? Oil prices are soaring, causing energy price spikes in everyday Americans' family budgets. Our leaders don't seem capable of finding a way out of this continuing cycle of energy crisis after energy crisis.

Recently at a mid-day press conference, President Obama suggested that maybe we need more nuclear fission power plants in order to help us out of this political foreign oil situation. But also on that same day, word out of Japan suggests that it probably isn't a good idea for more nuclear plants, which if affected by a severe natural disaster (earthquake in Japan) can cause more damage than the natural disaster itself.

Either way, whether it is a political situation or natural disaster, we still have not solved the U.S. energy problem in a satisfactory manner.

Well, there is a clear way out of this, and it has been available for over 30 years. It is called heavy ion fusion (HIF). An HIF system can be up and running in the same time as it takes to have a new nuclear fission power plant in operation, and the two cost about the same.

Our nation needs a new green energy source that is abundant, clean (green), renewable (does not deplete), and dependable (sunlight/solar, wind, and rainfall are all unreliable).

Although renewables such as solar, wind, and biomass have the potential to fill some of the ever-widening energy demand-supply gap, they all lack the advantage of fossil fuels; i.e., the ability to deliver energy output that is many times the energy input required to obtain them. Mostly these minimal green sources of energy are nothing more than a tax break for the oil, natural gas, and coal industries. Yes, they are so-called green, but they will be little help in reality.

The world needs a new energy source that will meet the demands of all the people and have a light environmental footprint. The new source must be comprehensively safe. And its costs must facilitate meeting these goals.

Fusion energy is that source. The technology exists. It was recognized in 1976 by the world fusion community. HIF will be the energy source of the future.

To the Editor:

At the beginning of the legislative session, there was not much hope for Garrett and Allegany counties. Governor O'Malley proposed the elimination of payments the counties receive in lieu of taxes, which are key sources of funding. He also sought to eliminate the Maryland-Mined Coal Tax Credit.

Local leaders from both counties came to Annapolis to join me in lobbying my colleagues to resist these cuts. Specifically, the administration proposed to eliminate the 25 percent annual reimbursement that Garrett County receives from Deep Creek Lake dock fees. Such was a condition to the state's purchase of the lake in 1999. The withholding of these funds and state forest and park revenues would have been disastrous. Luckily, the Transportation and Environment Subcommittee, of which I am a member, rejected the effort to cut this funding to our counties.

Also, the House Appropriations Committee rejected the governor's proposal to eliminate the Maryland-Mined Coal Tax Credit. In his State of the State address, the governor stated, "It's all about jobs." Here is an prime example of a tax credit that has had a proven track record of fostering job creation and retention. Yet, this is the third attempt to eliminate the credit. In a recent news article posted by Southern Maryland Online, a spokesman for Governor Martin O'Malley stated that a tax credit that retains and creates jobs in western Maryland was "simply inconsistent with the administration's policies."

Once again, my colleagues unanimously approved my effort to restore the tax credit for western Maryland. For that I am grateful.

The FY 2012 budget also restores some much needed funding to local governments by increasing funds to the Transportation Trust Fund. Restoring funding to local governments for the management of our roadways is vitally important. I believe restoring these funds can, and should, be done without an increase in the gasoline tax. The committee allowed for the increase in the vehicle titling fee by $50. Rather than imposing a 10 cent increase for each gallon of gasoline pumped, which would be disastrous for our still fragile economy, this is an increase in a one-time fee made when purchasing a vehicle.

Though subject to the approval of the Senate Budget & Taxation Committee, this budget, thanks to the efforts of the House Appropriations Committee, truly invests in western Maryland and its economies.

Sincerely,
Wendell R. Beitzel,
Delegate

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police are seeking information on a series of burglaries that have been reported at homes in the Deep Creek Lake area.

Twelve burglaries to secondary and/or rental homes around the lake have been reported since January. Most of the these incidents have occurred in the areas of Marsh Hill Road, Turkey Neck, Lake Shore Drive, Deep Creek Drive, and Sandy Shores.

Burglars are typically stealing flat-screen televisions and other related electronic entertainment equipment. There has been over $10,000 in property theft and over $13,000 in property damage in all, the officers said.

Anyone with information regarding these thefts is urged to contact the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911, or Maryland State Police at 301-387-1101. Callers may remain anonymous.

Persons may also visit the crime solvers web site at www.garrettcountycrimesolvers.org.

Persons who provide information that leads to the arrest of the individuals and/or recovery of the stolen property may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000.

The reward is being offered through the Garrett County Crime Solvers by Railey Mountain Lake Vacations.

Two Arrested On Drinking And Driving Charges

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested two drivers on drinking and driving charges stemming from traffic stops this past weekend. The following incidents are unrelated.

A 2004 Dodge truck was stopped on eastbound Maryland Highway early Saturday morning for failure to drive right of center. The driver was identified as James Cameron Baker, 59, Virginia. Baker was charged with driving without a license, driving under the influence of alcohol, and driving while impaired by alcohol. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

In a separate incident, deputies stopped a 1997 Pontiac four-door passenger vehicle on Maryland Highway for failure to drive right of center. Further investigation led to the arrest of Heather Marie Ridenour, 19, Rawlings. She was charged with DUI, DUI per se, DWI, and driving with alcohol in blood in violation of a restriction. She was taken into custody before being released on personal recognizance.

Annual Meeting, Banquet Set By Holstein Group

The Garrett County Holstein Association and Dairy One will host an annual banquet and meeting on Thursday, March 31, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, 975 Joni Miller Road, Oakland, beginning at 7 p.m.

The cost for the steak and ham buffet dinner will be $13 for adults, $7 for children ages 4 to 10, and free for children under 4.

Reservations are required no later than Friday, March 25, and may be made by contacting the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Persons should bring the correct amount to pay at the door or make checks payable to the Garrett County Holstein Association.

Dairy Princess Applications Still Available

The Maryland Dairy Princess Association is still seeking candidates for 2011 Maryland Dairy Princess.

Candidates must maintain residency in Maryland, own at least one dairy animal in a 4-H or FFA project and/or be enrolled for at least two years in a dairy-related project, be a daughter of a dairy farmer, dairy farm manager or herdsman or an employee in a dairy-related industry, and be between the ages of 16 and 21 in 2011.

In addition, candidates may not hold a farm queen or dairy breed queen title that would cross over for more than three months.

The committee is also looking for Dairy Maids to represent Maryland. Candidates must be between the ages of 13 and 16.

Dairy princesses are chosen to represent their county or region, and each county or regional princess goes forward to compete in the Maryland Dairy Princess Contest from July 13 to 14 at the Holiday Inn in Frederick.

Interested candidates may contact Heidi Qualls at 301-616-2310 or Nancy Savage at 301-746-8146.

"Pillow Palooza" To Benefit Union Rescue Mission

A "Pillow Palooza" to benefit the Union Rescue Mission and YMCA Housing will be held through April 3. Donations of new pillows, blankets, twin-size sheets, bath towels, washcloths, and trial-size toiletries will be collected.

The Rev. Dan Taylor, director of the Union Rescue Mission, noted that the facility is the only emergency shelter in a five-county area, covering Allegany and Garrett counties, Mineral and Hampshire counties in West Virginia, and Bedford County in Pennsylvania.

Last year, the mission reportedly served 40,000 meals and gave 300 food baskets to needy families in the region.

Currently, there is one drop-off site in Garrett County. It is Harvest Baptist Church in Grantsville.

For more information about the Pillow Palooza, persons may contact Donna Stivala at 240-344-2100.

JAMES F. LAWRENCE JR.

James F. Lawrence Jr., 60, Friendsville, passed away on the afternoon of Sunday, March 20, 2011, surrounded by family and friends while being treated for bone marrow cancer at the Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio. During his hospitalization, Jim faced difficult odds with optimism and his usual perseverance.

Born Jan. 10, 1951, in Cheverly, he was a son of the late James F. Lawrence Sr. and Edith (Husband) Lawrence.

Mr. Lawrence was an accountant for Anne Arundel County and a self-employed photographer. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Annapolis, and the Garrett County Arts Council, serving as treasurer.

Husband, father, son, faithful friend, super grand-dad, photographer, and artist are all ways in which we choose to remember James F. Lawrence Jr. He was all these things and more to those who knew him.

It is safe to say that Jim will be remembered for many qualities, including his tremendous sense of humor, warm smile, and good natured spirit. Some of his favorite pastimes were romping with his grandkids, photographing nature, hiking and camping, making blueberry pancakes, enjoying a good glass of wine with a wonderful meal, and appreciating the beauty of Garrett County.

His love in life was spending time with his family, soulmate Louise (Robitaille) Lawrence; children Anne Jenkins and husband Paul, Williamsport, and Matt Lawrence and wife Christine, Elkridge; stepmother Violet Lawrence, Grasonville; and grandchildren Mason and Willow.

Friends will be received at Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, on Friday, March 25, from 1 to 3 p.m., at which time a service will be held to remember Jim and his life, with Howard Metzger officiating.

Interment will be held in Blooming Rose Cemetery.

A memorial mass is being planned in the Annapolis area. Information with the date and time of the memorial mass will be posted on Caring Bridge or his daughter can be contacted at 240-446-3502.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Myelodysplastic Syndrome Foundation at Caringbridge.org or to the Garrett County Arts Council.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.newmanfuneralhomes.com.

Adorable Adoptables

SPECIAL NEEDS KITTY NEEDS SPECIAL HOME – Currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter is a deaf white feline (above left) who needs a special home where it can learn to be with people. "It likes to play and be petted, but it won't settle for being just a lap cat," noted a GC Humane Society spokesperson. Also in need of homes are a calico (above right) who was given up by her owner; Cloye (below left), a 6-month-old Lab/collie mix who needs a home where someone can play, walk, and talk to her and teach her what she needs to know to be a great pet; and a female bluetick hound dog who was picked up as a stray in Deer Park. These and other dogs and cats are available, and new animals come into the shelter weekly. "Last week's featured husky mix was reclaimed by her owner, and several dogs went to rescue with HART. But last week's rust/black shepherd mix whose owner died is still looking for a nice home," the spokesperson noted. For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

Special Events

The births of two babies were announced this week, one girl and one boy.

A son, Beau Raymond, was born to Eric and Stephanie (Foutz) Beitzel, Accident, on Feb. 17 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Margaret ("Maggie") Elizabeth, was born to Frederick Edward Jr. and Melody Dawn (Friend) Helbig, Oakland, on March 5 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

WHEN TOMORROW STARTS WITHOUT ME

When tomorrow starts without me, and I'm not here to see,
If the sun should rise and find your eyes all filled with tears for me,
I wish so much you wouldn't cry the way you did today,
While thinking of the many things we didn't get to say.
I know how much you love me, as much as I love you,
And each time that you think of me, I know you miss me too.

But when tomorrow starts without me, please try to understand,
That Jesus came and called my name and took me by the hand.
He said my place was ready, in heaven far above
And that I'd have to leave behind all those I dearly love.
When I walked through heaven's gates, I felt so much at home.
God looked down and smiled at me from His golden throne.
He said, "This is Eternity and all I've promised you.
Today your life on earth has passed, but here life starts anew.
I promise no tomorrow, for today will always last,
And since each new day is the same, there's no longing for the past.
You have been forgiven, and now at last you're free.
So come along, take My hand, and share this life with Me."

When tomorrow starts without me, don't think we're far apart,
For every time you think of me, I'm right here in your heart.

EMILY AND EINSTEIN

by Linda Francis Lee

C. 2010, St. Martin's Press, $24.99; 356 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Your dog can't talk. But you know exactly what he wants.

One woof means "out." A different grumble means he wants a treat. A certain look means "scratch my belly." Sure, he may not carry on a conversation with you, but he communicates just the same and he gets you to do his bidding.

One of you is very well trained.

Because of that, despite what scientists say, it's hard not to attribute human qualities to animals that share your home. But you'll never look at your dog again in the same way, once you've read Emily and Einstein, the new novel by Linda Francis Lee.

Alexander "Sandy" Portman was going to ask his wife for a divorce.

When he first laid eyes on Emily, he knew he had to have her – and since Sandy got everything he wanted, it was only a matter of time before he cajoled Emily into his arms, daring her to love him. She couldn't resist.

Alas, that was two years ago, and now it just wasn't working for Sandy. Divorce would break Emily's heart. Oddly, he didn't care.

But that was all before he died. It was all before he begged the old man in feathers for a second chance. Before the old man, cruel jokester that he was, gave Sandy a new body he wasn't happy having...

Saving the scruffy, wire-haired little mutt was all that was important to Emily in the days after Sandy's accident. Not her shaky job at Caldecote Press, not her wild younger sister, not the fact that Sandy's mother was being a harridan, nothing else distracted her like taking care of the dog she named Einstein. She had spent money she didn't have on saving the pooch, and though she initially had no intention of adopting him, she was ultimately glad she did.

He was a curmudgeonly little guy, kind of stand-offish, but he surely lived up to his name! Einstein was so smart. He seemed to know everything about Emily and he acted as if he'd lived in her Dakota apartment all his life. Strangest of all, he reminded her so much of Sandy...

Who really resides within the fur of the four-legged one at your feet? You'll think of plenty of possibilities to ponder when you're finished reading this adorably smart book. Emily and Einstein is one of those novels that captures your imagination and takes it for a ride.

I really enjoyed the way author Linda Francis Lee leads her readers with observations through the eyes of a small, fuzzy, accidentally quadrupedal man, and the way she envisions his spiritual life is just perfect. Lee was so good at creating Einstein, in fact, that you shouldn't be surprised if your mind is drawn to your own pet and his human-like characteristics: What, exactly, is going on behind those liquid "pet-me" eyes?

FIRST GLAF EVENT TO FEATURE IONA – Celtic music and dance will be the highlight of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's first performance of the season. IONA, the band pictured, will perform on Friday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Garrett College auditorium. A pre-show will be given by the local band Morbheanna. Tickets for the show are $20 for adults, $7 for students, and free for children 5 years and younger (tickets are required). See story for details.

GLAF To Open Season With IONA Concert

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) will present the first performing arts event of its 2011 silver anniversary season. IONA, a Washington, D.C. based Celtic band, will give a performance at the Garrett College auditorium on Friday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m.

"IONA treats its audience to high energy entertainment featuring Scottish fiddling, driving percussion, and strong vocals from all the Celtic nations, including America," a spokesperson said. "Presenting the music and dance of all the Celtic countries — Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Cornwall, the Isle of Man, Brittany, Asturias, and Galicia — IONA emphasizes that America is not only the repository of all these cultural influences, but also the progenitor of many of its own."

The audiences will be encouraged to clog along with the group, or dance Breton line dances, and to join in with the singing.

Conceived in 1986, IONA comprises co-founders Barbara Tresidder Ryan (lead vocals, Celtic bouzouki, guitar, and bodhrán) and Bernard Argent (wooden flute, whistles, doumbek, back-up vocals), joined by Air Force band veteran Jim Queen on fiddle, banjo, and vocals, and Chuck Lawhorn on 6-string bass guitar, whistles, and vocals.

IONA has released nine albums, the most recent of which, A Celebration of Twenty, is a commemorative double CD package that won the Wammie award for best folk/traditional CD in 2006.

Biblical Dramatist Slated To Perform At G'ville Church

Norm Arrington, biblical dramatist from Princeton W.Va., will perform at the Maple Glen Mennonite Church along Dorsey Hotel Road near Grantsville on Sunday, April 3, at 7 p.m.

Arrington performs annually at the Maple Festival in Meyersdale, Pa., and can portray 80 different Bible characters.

The public is invited to attend.

Intro To Auto Harp Slated At Southern Ctr.

GOLDIE PRATT

Introduction to the Autoharp, a three-session course, will be offered by Garrett College's Division of Continuing Education and Workforce Development. Classes will run from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays, April 5, 12, and 19 at the Southern Outreach Center (former armory) in Oakland.

The instructor, Goldie Pratt, is a local professional musician who performs at fairs and festivals throughout the region.

Participants will learn about the history of the autoharp and its role in bluegrass, folk, and old time country music. Topics will include tuning, replacing broken strings, and basic techniques to play.

Participants will learn a simple song and be given instructional materials to help with home practice.

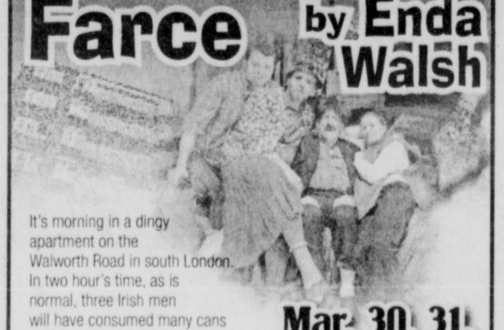
The Walworth Farce by Enda Walsh



It's morning in a dingy apartment on the Walworth Road in south London. In two hour's time, as is normal, three Irish men will have consumed many cans of Harp, fifteen crackers with spreadable cheese, ten pink wafers and one oven-cooked chicken with a strange blue sauce. In two hour's time, seven people will have been killed.

This play contains violence and coarse language and is recommended for age 16 and over.

The Walworth Farce is presented under special agreement with Curtis Brown Group Ltd., London, England, is funded, in part, by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I am as happy as anyone could expect. I was awakened by bird songs, I have my Mere and Caitlin home, we are watching their team, West Virginia, playing Kentucky, and it's all tied up. Plus, the Mountaineers are leading by eight points at halftime.

But you know that Kentucky will not allow this game to get away, not with their long record of being among the top teams in the country, especially against a relative upstart like West Virginia. The strongest part of the Mountaineers' game is their rebounding.

But today, the best try by West Virginia was not enough to upset Kentucky. Very disappointing.

Perhaps 2011 will be a turning point for all mankind. But this March has certainly lived up to the title "March Madness," with the dreadful events that hit Japan, the event in Libya, and even the "Battle of the Budget" in our Congress.

I don't know what happened last Tuesday on the Ides of March. Remember, "Beware the Ides of March"? That was certainly true for Julius Caesar, who was the leader of the Roman Empire. Someone close to him stabbed him.

We saw bravery and courage from the Japanese. In spite of the dreadful events that hit them again and again, they maintained calm and did not allow the natural disasters to lead to mass chaos. They seem united to confront the massive tragedy that hit them, which always leads to positive outcomes in crisis situations.

Many courageous Japanese people worked hard to combat the nuclear accident. The crippled nuclear power plant is only several miles away from the worse possible nuclear event in the city of Hiroshima, which was hit by the American atom bombs in 1945. Let us pray that that attack was the last use of nuclear weapons in any place around the globe.

I tried to turn the channel away from the news, which was featuring a rerun of the tsunami, but it wouldn't budge. Then I pressed the previous button that goes back to the former channel, which was basketball. Ironically, the first commercial was promoting nuclear power as a safe, cheap source of energy.

It is better that it is pitch dark at 8:30 rather than having sundown at 5 p.m.

The Earth has been in turmoil these last couple of weeks. And really, what kind of response should America have to major crises in other nations? Do we have a duty? Because clearly, America can't afford as much international involvement as we had during the entire 20th century.

World War I was once called the "war to end all wars." That certainly wasn't true. Only three decades later came World War II, and then the long Cold War, which did not end when the Berlin Wall fell.

I learned something new about an event that made American workers be organized. I probably walked past a building along Washington Square in Manhattan that was once the location of a major event in the early part of the 20th century. When a fire broke out, hundreds of young Italian immigrant women and children died because the owner locked the doors to keep out any union organizations. The workers were forced to jump down to the street.

That fire inspired many people's approval of the very young organization of the labor movement, and allowed females into leadership positions. That movement no doubt was the beginning of the formation of the International Organization of Seamstresses. It's the one that has the theme song, "Look for the union label..." I forget most of the words.

But without any doubt, many female workers were very abused by their employees. Hundreds of women were sewing in crowded, hot, dark rooms. Thus the term "sweat shop" came into the American English language.

I can't think of very many people who were members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union and the United Steel Workers. My job with the steel workers only lasted a few months, then I got my first theater job. I had enough of hard industrial work. And certainly it was very hard work at the brick factory in Jennings. None of my coworkers believed a female who very recently graduated from college could sometimes do very heavy lifting, and often a big crowd of male workers would stand around and watch me work. But I had lots of experience with heavy work on the farm and involving my equestrian pursuits.

I performed as well as anyone could expect. I am sure my suffering 4-H leaders Ethel Buckel and Evelyn Shawley struggled to help me with even pretty simple garment projects, like aprons and a gathered skirt. Even with my home economics teacher Polly Hanst, I was not able to make any kind of serious garment creations.

But I was able to go from a simple sketch and produce a beautiful, turn-of-the-century ball gown. That included making all the pieces of the pattern for it. That was hard and scary, but the next step was much easier for me, simply telling the talented seamstresses (immigrant women from all around the globe) what they should do, and they did most of the sewing on that particular costume. When you start to use a scissors on fabric that costs close to $100 per yard, you'd better be sure that the cuts are right.

My first production was a PBS version of The Scarlett Letter. The key costume for the female lead was made with $200-per-yard scarlet silk velvet. I never saw any fabric that was more beautiful. But then I was on the lowest rung – hand sewing, such as hemming and putting on buttons. Even that paid a good bit over minimum wage in the union.

And we did get overtime pay, because overtime is an essential thing in the theatrical costume business, especially when we were approaching an opening-night deadline. That was major pressure to finish anything beautifully, because opening night on Broadway is an important event.

In any kind of theater, opening nights are fun and exciting. The audience members are dressed to the nines, and the cost of the opening-night tickets back then was over $50. Now I am sure it is much higher.

But my income did not ever climb, no matter how much overtime I worked. It was very unusual that I could afford a Broadway play ticket, and certainly not ever on opening night, even if I had the right clothes. But I still experienced the excitement of a major opening night on Broadway.

I don't know how I will ever feel all right since I no longer have any control over anything. Most of my life, I always felt that I could affect events around me. But no longer. Now I can't control anything; not even my own financial life. I can't cut any spending, and I can't see any way to increase my income. Maybe I can't even count on my April Social Security coming in if some in the ultra conservative wing get their way.

Lenny and Sally Poholsky left Hawaii just in time to escape the threat of a possible major tsunami following the huge earthquake in Japan. They made it safely home.

MONTH OF THE YOUNG CHILD – April is the Month of the Young Child, with the theme of this year as "Early Years Are Learning Years." The Month of the Young Child is a time to recognize the importance of early learning for all young children. The focus is to encourage families, early childhood professionals, and communities to work together to support every Garrett County child's healthy development and early learning. The Family Fun Festival sponsored by the Kids First Committee is scheduled for Saturday, April 2, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Broad Ford Elementary School, located at 607 Harvey Winters Road, Oakland. The festival is free for children and their families. Children and families will receive resource materials, games, crafts, fun activities, books, face painting, and information about services available in Garrett County. For more information about the festival, persons may contact the Overlook Judy Center at 301-334-4211. Among the community agencies sponsoring activities at the festival this year are: Garrett County Health Department: Dare To Be You, Dental Care Center, Early Care Programs, Developmental Assets, Pandora's Box, WIC, Maryland Children's Health Program, and Parent Wisely; Garrett County Community Action Committee; Inc.: Early Head Start, Head Start, Wrap Around Child Care, Overlook Judy Center; and Dove Center, Garrett College Adult Education, Girl Scouts of Black Diamond Council, Early Childhood Professional Organization, University of Maryland Extension Office of Garrett County, Partnership for Children and Families, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Garrett County Health Department, HART for Animals, Landon's Library, Garrett Mentors, Maryland State Department of Education Office of Child Care, Mountain Laurel Medical Center, Our Town Theatre, Parents Place of Maryland, Partners After School Network, and Ruth Enlow Library. will be presented by local bag pipers, Morbheanna, beginning at about 6:45 p.m. outside the auditorium. Composed of three local pipers and a drummer, Morbheanna plays a blend of Celtic and modern Scottish and Irish music on the "small" pipes, which have a lighter sound, a GLAF spokesperson said. Members are Kenny Braitman, Annie Bristow, Lynn McClive Farnsworth, and Marci McClive.

A "meet and greet" the artist will follow the performance in the Garrett College gallery with light refreshments. A raffle will also be available for tickets to the Highland Festival and the Highland Festival concert.

Tickets for the Friday evening event are $20 for adults, $7 for students, and free for children 5 years and younger (tickets are required). Persons may purchase tickets by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082, or through the GLAF web site at www.artsandentertainment.org.

Southern High Names Students Of The Month

Faculty members at Southern High School have selected the following as Students of the Month for January: Amanda Sweitzer, English; Melissa Clary, math; Ben Rodeheaver, science; Johnny Lascaris, social studies; Summer Mossman, web design; Kelsey Perando, choral music; and James Dicks, career and technology building trades.

Amanda Sweitzer, a sophomore, is the daughter of Bob and Kim Sweitzer of Deer Park. She is an honor roll student and a member of the junior varsity soccer team, as well as the varsity basketball team.

Sweitzer received the Coach's Award for her involvement in soccer, and was a member of the All-Tournament Team at the Snowflake Classic. After high school, she plans to attend college and hopes to become an elementary school teacher.

Melissa Clary, a junior, is the daughter of Jason and Shannon Clary of Deer Park. She is part of the prom committee and the Wrestlerettes. She also enjoys playing the piano.

After graduation, Clary plans to attend Garrett College for two years before transferring to Potomac State College to study the culinary arts. She hopes to work on a cruise ship or in an upscale restaurant.

Ben Rodeheaver, a sophomore, is the son of Mark Rodeheaver and Lorena Fazenbaker of Swanton. He is a member of JROTC and the football team. He plans to attend Oklahoma University and join the U.S. Marine Corps.

Johnny Lascaris, a sophomore, is the son of Jim and Peggy Lascaris of Oakland. He enjoys competitive skiing and plans to attend college to major in architecture.

Summer Mossman, a senior, is the daughter of Joy Undutch-Jenkins of Swanton. She is a lettering member of the cross country and track teams and also joined the bocce ball team this year. She has won the Dedication Award and the Most Improved Award for cross country and the Most Outstanding Freshman Award for track.

Mossman is an honor roll student and a member of both the National Honor Society and Minds in Motion. She has participated in neighborhood clean-ups, triathlon aid stations, track camps for young children, and the Linus Blanket Project.

After graduation, she plans to attend a university and pursue a career in forensic psychology.

Kelsey Perando, a senior, was honored for her outstanding work in choral music.

James Dicks, a senior, was honored for his outstanding work in career and technology building trades.

The selected Students of the Month for February are: Nicholas Wolf, English; Doug Isinghood, math; Elizabeth Sines, science; Seth Holler, social studies; Paige Lucas, journalism; Cody Sliger, machine tools; and Karen Bonser, art.

Nicholas Wolf, a freshman, is the son of Brandon and Lana Wolf of Oakland. His future plans are currently undecided, but he hopes to do well in high school.

Doug Isinghood, a junior, is the son of Ronald and Wendy Isinghood of Mtn. Lake Park. He was nominated as Most Likely to Succeed in the eighth grade and participated in Random Acts of Maturity in the tenth grade. He plans to attend the University of Maryland and major in computer engineering.

Elizabeth Sines, a junior, is the daughter of John and Crystal Sines of Oakland. She is a member of Student Council and the mock trial team. She is currently serving as the student member of the Board of Education. She is also a member of the National Honor Society and the school improvement team, as well as an ambassador for the Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership program.

Sines is involved in the following community activities and organizations: Alumni of Global Young Leaders Conference, National Young Leaders, and Congressional Youth Council. She is also a student member of the Garrett County Board of School Health.

Sines plans to attend New York University and earn an undergraduate degree in psychology before attending law school. After completing her studies she hopes to become a senator.

Seth Holler, a freshman, is the son of Daniel and Debra Holler of Oakland. He is a member of the junior varsity football and baseball teams. He has received the Success in School Award and has participated in Hot Stove baseball.

Holler plans to keep a minimum 3.5 grade point average in high school in order to receive academic and athletic scholarships.

Paige Lucas, a junior, is the daughter of Karen and Joe Lucas of Kitzmiller. She is a contributor to The Acorn and a member of the yearbook staff. She enjoys helping others in her school and community.

Lucas plans to attend either West Virginia University or Potomac State College to pursue a career in dentistry or veterinary science.

Cody Sliger, a junior, is the son of Bo and Candy Sliger of Oakland. He enjoys playing baseball and works at Browning's Foodland. He plans to finish high school and then attend a two-year college in order to pursue a career as a machinist.

Karen Bonser, a senior, is the daughter of Bob and Suzanne Bonser of Oakland. She is a member of the National Honor Society and participated in the Gear-Up Young Leaders Conference of 2010. She recently played the lead role of Dorothy in Southern High School's production of The Wizard of Oz.

Bonser was the 2010 winner of the Maryland Distinguished Scholar Award. She volunteers for various community organizations such as Landon's Library, the Ruth Enlow Library, and her church's nursery. She plans to attend college and possibly continue on to graduate school. She hopes to pursue a career in animation or game/graphic design.

Master Gardener Classes Being Offered By UME

A Master Gardeners 40-hour training session will be offered by the University of Maryland Extension (UME), with the classes beginning on April 6 at the UME office in Mtn. Lake Park, starting at 6 p.m.

Students will become certified master gardeners after successfully completing the 40-hour training and subsequently completing 40 hours of volunteer work. They will learn about gardening techniques, as well as how to identify treatments for pests and plants.

Persons interested in participating should contact Justin Hunt at 301-334-6960 or jhunt123@umd.edu.

University of Maryland Extension programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, gender, disability, religion, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or national origin.

Lakers Play Seven Games This Week, But Record Just One Win

The Garrett College baseball team played seven games during the past week and managed just one victory in the effort, as the Lakers' overall record dipped to 5-14.

Garrett was edged in both ends of a doubleheader by host Catonsville CC last week, dropping the first game, 7-6, and falling in the second by the same margin, 8-7. The Lakers then dropped a 5-2 decision to Ancilla in Myrtle Beach on Saturday, and fell to Elgin at the same location on Sunday, 4-1.

They then defeated Ancilla on Monday, 4-2, fell to Parkland, 7-4, also on Monday, and finally absorbed a 15-2 defeat by Elgin on Tuesday.

In Friday's opener with Catonsville, the score was knotted at 6-6, sending the contest into extra innings. Finally, in the bottom of the eighth, the Cardinals scored a run to break the tie and immediately end the contest.

The Lakers put five runs on the board in the third inning to take a 6-3 advantage, but Catonsville rallied for one run in the bottom of the fourth and two more in the sixth to knot the score.

The Lakers' five-run fourth featured a two-run single by Drew Mason and a run-producing double by Louis Bomback. Dan Warnick also had two RBI.

Chad Murphy and Ryan Hubbard each hit a double and a single for the Cardinals.

The Lakers erupted for five runs in the first inning of the second game and led 6-1 going into the bottom of the fifth. The Cardinals rallied for three runs in that frame to make it 6-4, and then won the game with four more runs in the bottom of the seventh.

The four-run effort in the seventh was aided by the Laker pitchers, who allowed six walks in that frame.

Joe Lawler hit a three-run homer in the first inning for the Lakers, while Warnick and Julius Niemand each finished with a pair of singles.

Nick Hallas recorded a double, a single, and three RBI for the Cardinals, and Markice Curry hit two singles.

Saturday's game with Ancilla was also tied at 2-2 after six complete innings, but Ancilla put three runs on the board in the top of the seventh, and there was no more scoring after that.

Mason recorded two hits for the Lakers, and teammate Jose Soto had an RBI.

Darius Kincaid hit a two-run double for Ancilla.

The Lakers held a 1-0 lead in the top of the fifth against Elgin on Sunday, but their opponents took the lead for good with two runs in the bottom of the fifth, and then tacked on two insurance runs in the sixth.

Justin Kalusa led Elgin with two hits, including a two-run single in the fifth.

The Lakers were held to five singles by three Elgin pitchers. Dan Warnick hit two of those singles, and a single by Mason plated the Lakers' only run of the game.

Warnick hit two singles in Monday's win over Ancilla, while Cam King provided a double and a single for the Lakers. Former Northern High standout Dylan Miller earned his first collegiate win. He allowed two runs in six innings of work.

Yet again the Lakers held a lead in their second game on Monday against Parkland, as Willie Poteat rapped a three-run homer in the second inning to put Garrett up 3-0. They took a 4-2 lead into the bottom of the fifth, but Parkland scored four runs in that frame to take the lead for good.

Lawler had two of the Lakers' five hits and one RBI.

In Tuesday's game with Elgin, a 2-2 tie was shattered by the Elgin players in the bottom of the third, as they put eight runs on the board. They added five more runs in the bottom of the fourth.

Jason Ashby recorded an RBI single for the Lakers and Dan Warnick also singled, as Garrett was held to just three hits.

Leading in at the plate were Tom Roth with two doubles, a single, and four RBI, and Drew Stover also with three hits and two RBI.

The Lakers were slated to face Parkland again at 9 a.m. this morning, and then meet Jamestown at noon.

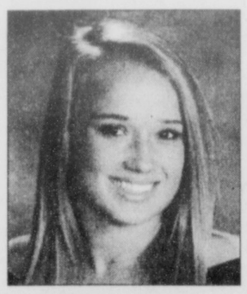
SHS Soccer Standout Wilkinson To Play Soccer, Study At Duquesne U



Southern High School senior Claire Wilkinson, who has excelled on the Rams' soccer pitch for the past four seasons, will continue her academic and athletic career at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh next fall.

A four-year letter award winner, Wilkinson was the leading scorer for the Rams for the past three seasons and has been named team MVP for the past two years. She was named to the All-Area and All-Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference first teams the past three seasons.

"Claire is a talented young player who can strike a ball and definitely has the ability to score some goals for us," said the Dukes' head coach Tim Zundel.

Wilkinson led the Rams in scoring until switching to a defensive position her senior year, after which she was elected the Defensive Player of the Year by a vote of area coaches, and was also selected Defensive Player of the Year for the AMAC teams.

She was also a member of the Charleston Elite traveling team that won the West Virginia state championship last fall, and played three seasons prior to that for the West Virginia Wildthings, a team that was state runner-up 2007-09.

"Claire always gave 100 percent in practice as well as in the matches, and led by example with her outstanding attitude and work ethic," said Ram head coach Sara Shaffer. "She is the most talented player we have had at Southern in a long time, and we are sorry that we will be losing her."

Wilkinson's performance in soccer is matched by her efforts in the classroom, where she holds an A+ average, placing her among the top handful of students in her class. She is a member of the 1800 SAT Club and is senior class president.

The daughter of Don and Marsha Wilkinson, Blakeslee Road, Clair intends to major in pre-law at Duquesne.

"Duquesne offers everything I am looking for, both in a university and a soccer program," she said. "After visiting the campus and meeting the team and coaching staff, I felt right at home. The combination of the university's law program and its Division I athletics made my decision very easy. I am excited to become a part of Duquesne women's soccer."

Hardesty One Out From Perfect In Southern Opener

The Southern High School softball team opened its season Tuesday in dominant fashion with a 10-0 win over Bishop Walsh at Cavanaugh Field.

In the matchup, the Spartans had no answer for the right arm of Rams pitcher Kendra Hardesty, who, after stricking out nine and walking none, took the mound in the final inning on the verge of a no-hitter.

With two outs in the bottom of the sixth, however, the otherwise shellacked Bishop Walsh team robbed Hardesty of her perfect game with a single off the bat of Sarah Bishop.

On the offensive side, the Rams lineup stayed smart at the plate and tallied 10 runs on 6 hits. Alycia Horner, who singled earlier in the game, swatted a two-run homer over the center field fence in the sixth. Teammate Lindsey Lipscomb added a pair of singles.

Southern committed a single error to the Spartans' five.

The Rams are scheduled to play at Petersburg today at 4:30 p.m., and at Hampshire Saturday at noon.

Race To Support Cindy's Fund Set Saturday, May 21

The first Cindy's Fund 6,000-meter run is scheduled for Saturday, May 21, at 9 a.m. at Herrington Manor State Park. The run will be on established and maintained hiking and cross-country ski trails within the park. A one-mile fun walk will be held concurrently.

According to a spokesperson for Cindy's Fund, the race is being held to draw attention to the need for early cancer screening and detection, and to raise support for the fund.

Cindy's Fund is a Garrett County organization whose purpose is to provide assistance for Garrett County citizens who have been stricken with cancer.

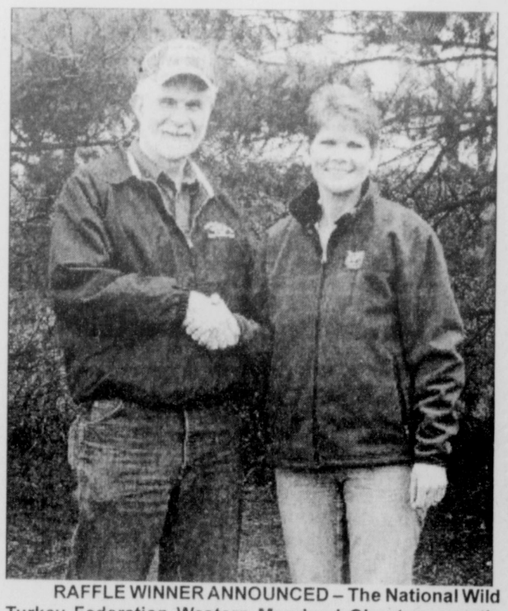
"Cindy's Fund is dedicated to helping end and alleviate the pain and heartache of cancer, and extending survivorship by pursuing early screening and evaluation of cancer victims," the spokesperson said.

Cindy's Fund also covers miscellaneous expenses not typically covered by insurance for those in need, such as gas cards, food vouchers, hotel stays and medical/nutritional supplies.

A $50 cash prize will be awarded to the top male and female runners. Non-cash awards will be given to the top two male and female runners in seven different age groups. The top two male and female walkers will also receive awards.

Refreshments will be available at the end of the race. Participants registering by May 7 will receive a choice of commemorative shirts ($15 registration for cotton; $20 registration for wicking). The registration fee after May 7 and the day of the race is $20 for a cotton T-shirt.

All participants will also be eligible for numerous door prizes donated by area businesses. Applications may be picked up at various community businesses or on line at www.cindysfund.org. For more information, persons may also telephone 301-616-0166.



RAFFLE WINNER ANNOUNCED – The National Wild Turkey Federation Western Maryland Chapter recently held a raffle. The drawing was held at the Northern High School track, with a member of the track team drawing the winning ticket. Dan Zinkland, Baltimore, won a three-day, three-night Wyoming wild turkey hunting trip. He will be hunting with Rough Country Outfitters of Glenrock, Wyo., and guided by Dennis Cease. Pictured is Zinkland, left, being congratulated by Bonnie Friend, chapter president. Proceeds from the raffle were divided, with ¾ benefiting the chapter's JAKES (youth) program and ¼ going to the chapter. Friend expressed her appreciation to Rough Country Outfitters, Cease, and all who supported the raffle and youth. "Our JAKES are our future, and the chapter is excited to announce two events scheduled for the upcoming summer," Friend said. In conjunction with the Accident Community Planning Group, JAKES Day and a fishing rodeo will be held on Saturday, May 21, from 8 a.m. until about 1 p.m. at the Accident pond. Then on Aug. 20, a Hunter's Field Day will be held for JAKES at New Germany State Park beginning at 8 a.m. Several activities are planned, including a BB gun safety/shooting event, a woods walk, a trapping demonstration, and a birds of prey demonstration. Lunch will be provided, and preregistration will be required. "The NWTF Western Maryland Chapter is looking forward to the two events and hope that they bring a new excitement regarding conservation and the outdoors to those that attend," Friend said.

Southern Baseball Opens With Tough Loss To Allegany

The Southern High School baseball team was held to three hits and one run Tuesday in its season opening loss at Allegany, 6-1.

Tyler Sweitzer doubled and singled to account for two of the Rams' three hits.

Allegany took a 2-0 lead in the first, after an RBI single from Cory McCagh and a bases-loaded walk to Aaron Leasure.

The lead moved to 4-0 in the third when winning pitcher Drew O'Neal doubled and McCagh followed with a two-run homer.

McCagh's two-run single made it 6-0 in the fourth. He went 3-for-4 in the game and finished with five RBI.

On the mound, O'Neal struck out 10 and walked no Southern batters.

Southern was scheduled to play Hampshire yesterday, but weather has caused that game to be rescheduled for May 5.

NHS Girls Top BW On Courts, But Boys Lose

The tennis teams of Northern High School opened their season this week by splitting a match with host Allegany on Tuesday.

The NHS girls edged their Camper counterparts 3-2, while the Northern boys' team was blanked 5-0.

Cara Stough and Ashley Miller both won in singles for the Huskies, and Hannah Bequette and Jasmine Francillon teamed up to win in doubles.

Singles winners for the Campers in the boys' match were Zach Ruppert and Matt Riley, who eked out victories over Northern's Austin Doerr and Dave Hall.

The Huskies are scheduled to play again Monday at Mountain Ridge.

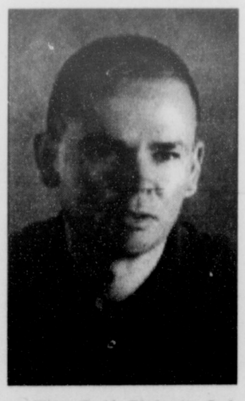
Oakland Club Welcomes Hill As New Director



The Golf Club at Oakland has announced that Max Hill has been appointed as the new director of golf. A long-time resident of Garrett County, Hill began his golf career at Oakland playing in junior events and was a member of the Southern High School golf team. He has also been a member of the Golf Club at Oakland for more than 20 years.

Hill has held a variety of positions within Garrett County, most recently as assistant golf pro/guest services manager at the Wisp Resort in McHenry.

"Max will be a great asset to the club, with his extensive knowledge of golf and the community," said Rob Heilig, chairman of the board.

Hill is currently preparing for the start of the 2011 season at the Oakland course and can be found in the club's pro shop on a regular basis, Heilig said.

"I'm looking forward to working with old friends and making new ones," Hill said. "We have some new and exciting things planned for the season. Friday evenings we will have a shootout competition and social gathering. We are planning to start a new men's league on Wednesdays. Golf clinics and lessons will be available for all levels throughout the season, and a variety of tournaments are in the works."

PenMar League Meeting, Golf Tourney Slated

The PenMar-W.Va. Baseball League will hold its third open meeting of the 2011 season this Sunday, March 27, at 4 p.m. at the Ridgeley, W.Va., American Legion hall. All managers and officers are strongly encouraged by league president Gary Bennett to attend this organizational meeting. All current players are also encouraged to attend.

This will be the 63rd consecutive season for the semi-pro adult, wood-bat, baseball league that has comprised teams from Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

New teams are always welcome to join the league. Persons interested in playing or managing a team in the league are asked to telephone Bennett at 301-268-1563 or James Altobello at 304-738-4565.

The league will also be sponsoring its second annual Golf Tournament at Rocky Gap Golf Resort of Cumberland on May 14. The event will be a four-man scramble, with cash prizes going to first, second, and third places. Anyone interested in playing or being a hole sponsor is asked to telephone James Altobello at 304-738-4565 for more information.

clines to the southeast toward the North Branch of the Potomac River, where there are several visible mine drains entering the river. This indicates that the aquifers are being dewatered at these locations and that during dry periods insufficient recharge of the wells would occur.

The study also included a field evaluation of the water supply for residences in the Pee Wee Road and Kitzmiller Road area, and drawdown tests were performed on four wells.

"Of 21 residents interviewed," Lindsey said, "eight indicated concerns with their wells regarding quantity, including minimal flow, slow recovery, and insufficient supply during dry weather conditions. One resident was currently hauling water for daily use. Seven residents stated their concerns regarding poor water quality."

Fourteen water samples were collected for laboratory analysis, some of which indicated noncompliance with the Environmental Protection Agency's drinking water standards for pH, iron, manganese, dissolved solids, and sulfate.

"Therefore, development of a public water supply for the area was initiated for public health and safety reasons," Lindsey said.

The new water system will serve 22 dwellings in the area and will consist of approximately 14,700 lineal feet of water pipeline, a 105,000 gallon water storage tank, fire protection, and individual service connections. Pee Wee water customers will only have to pay DPU's rate of $54 per quarter for up to 6,000 gallons and $6 per 1,000 above that.

A water booster station will also be installed at the location of the water storage tank serving the Kitzmiller Water System, which will supply water to the Pee Wee Hill distribution system.

"The additional 22 customers equates to approximately 4,400 gallons of water per day," Lindsey said. "The well currently serving the Kitzmiller Water System is appropriated for a daily average of 42,000 gallons. In 2010, the average daily demand for customers in Kitzmiller and Shallmar service areas was 20,000 gallons per day. Therefore, adequate surplus supply is available from the water source to serve the Pee Will Water Service Area."

The commissioners' next public meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, April 5, at 9 a.m.

Offered Cash

The offer by the county commissioners to county employees is similar; however, the incentive percentage increases for those employees with more than 30 years of service.

Those with 30 years of employment are being offered the same 15% of salary that is being offered to board of education employees, but that percentage increases by a half-percent with every additional year of service. One with 44 years of service who agrees to retire will receive a cash incentive of 22%, which is the maximum offer.

According to the letter from Jeanie Hetrick, assistant director of human resources, and Wendy Yoder, director of financial services, the plan will be implemented by the commissioners only if there is "sufficient response that would warrant a cost savings to the county."

County employees who are eligible for the plan have until Monday, April 11, to submit their decision to the human resources office.

grand recorder, grand treasurer, grand faith, and grand worthy associate advisor. Hanlin was selected to represent the state of Marland at the 2009 biannual Supreme Seminar in Kansas City, Mo.

Last summer, Hanlin attended the biannual Supreme Assembly, the International Gathering of Rainbow in Omaha, Neb. She has received all her merit bars, which she has earned through service. She most recently earned her Pot of Gold and Wreath award, which is earned through charitable deeds. She has been awarded the Grand Cross Medal of Honor, which is given to select Rainbow Girls and adults who show outstanding and selfless dedication to the Order of Rainbow. Hanlin has chosen Operation Smile as her charity project for the ensuing year.

According to a spokesperson, Rainbow Girls learn to live lives of service through charitable deeds in the seven lessons of the rainbow: love, religion, nature, immortality, fidelity, patriotism, and service. IORG is a nonprofit organization that strives to give girls the tools, training, and encouragement to succeed, while providing its members a safe, fun, caring environment.

In the program, members participate in various activities, as older girls mentor and assist their younger peers through family involvement. Members also volunteer for different charities work to improve their public speaking, and practice the lessons taught in Rainbow.

IORG is open to all girls 11 to 20 years of age. There is a sister organization for girls age 6 to 10. Those interested in further information may contact Charee Reckner at 301-616-2807, Debbie Raynovich at 301-387-4545, or Ardra Sharpless at 240-321-3299. PRESCRIPTION DRUG ABUSE AWARENESS

There will be an informative meeting at the Northern Rescue Squad building in Friendsville on Monday, April 11, from 6 to 7 p.m. to inform citizens of the growing problem of prescription drug abuse. This meeting is intended to shed light on the increasing problems that are caused by prescription drug abuse in our area, and what the parents and community members can do to help alleviate the problem.

According to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, out-of-date prescription drugs are dangerous and contribute to a number of problems, including children using these drugs. Those attending the meeting will learn how to prevent abuse in our community. Refreshments and door prizes will be offered. This event is sponsored by Friendsville Community Watch and the Northern Rescue Squad.

There will also be a Drug Take-Back Day on Saturday, April 30, at the squad building from 4 to 6 p.m. for expired and unused prescription drugs. More details will follow at a later date.

Prog. Thriving

girls have picked up trash at several locations, such as Rotary Park in Oakland, and they engaged in stream sampling for the Friends of Deep Creek Lake.

The girls assisted the theatre department at Southern High School in painting props for a show, and also went Christmas caroling. They donated bird seed to the Discovery Center. At the moment, two Scouts are in the process of helping to train puppies to be assistance dogs.

One of the most popular Girl Scout offerings is out this month, the famous cookies. In addition to selling them to raise money for the organization, the local girls have also donated more than 600 boxes to soldiers, the Dove Center, the House of Hope, and Believe in Tomorrow.

For those interested in picking up more cookies, troops will be manning booths this Friday in the evening at Foodland Fresh and at St. Peter's Catholic Church's fish dinner. There will also be troops at booths on Saturday at Lowe's in Oakland, Foodland Fresh, and at the Keyser's Ridge Little Sandy's.

While service is indeed at the core of the organization, fun and travel are also considered key. The local Girl Scouts engage in a wide range of activities that are both fun and educational. They go rafting, camping, climbing, and rappelling. They have built robots at GEARS (Garrett Engineering and Robotics Society), and they engage in the orienteering and GPS activity called "letterboxing." The girls participated in Science and Engineering Day, and took part in a photography program titled "Behind the Lens."

The Girl Scouts also engaged in a cookie rally to learn about budgeting for troop activities, and helped a sister Girl Scout earn her Gold Award by making 50 dog blankets for animals in need.

Plans for this spring, Huxford said, include rock climbing at Cooper's Rock, bowling, participating in an Engineering Day at WVU, and venturing on a five-day trip to Savannah, Ga., to visit the birthplace of Girl Scouts in the USA, while learning about ocean ecology at nearby Tybee Island.

The retention of members is high in Garrett County, Huxford noted, as 44 active members girls are in middle and high school, meaning they have most likely been members for several years, staying in the organization even as their lives have become much busier with other activities and school work.

Girl Scouts of the USA will be celebrating its centennial next year. From Juliette Gordon Low's original troop of 12 girls, the Girl Scout movement has since grown to include over 4 million girls in the United States alone. Garrett County hosts several troops of girls from Grantsville to Crellin, but Huxford said there is always room for more.

"Volunteers are truly the heart of Girl Scouting," Huxford said. "Whether it's large or small, you can make a difference in the lives of young women and girls. If you have a little time or a lot, Girl Scouts has a project for you."

Girl Scouts Garrett Community is currently in need of Troop leaders and co-leaders, Huxford said. Currently there are 118 registered Girl Scouts and 52 adult members.

"Every year there are more girls wanting to become Girl Scouts than there are troops to place them in," she said. "There is a desperate need for leaders for elementary age girls all over the county, and leaders for all ages especially in the Friendsville, Grantsville, Bloomington, and Accident areas.

Others may volunteer as program providers. Anyone with a special talent, hobby, or business who would like to share information with the Scouts is encouraged to do so, either through an hour-long visit, a day, or longer.

Troop assistants are also needed, as even established troops can use an extra hand with paperwork, cookie sales, or programming. The local organization also has a Community Service Team, or CST. The CST meets monthly to work on the "business" of Girl Scouts Garrett Community. Vounteers are welcome.

As the Girl Scouts of America organization heads toward the 100-year mark, the local Scouts will surely contiue their busy and engaging schedules. Need something to do? There's plenty of opportunity with the Girl Scouts Garrett Community.

For more information on joining or volunteering, persons may call 301-387-2280. Information is also available at the following web site: www.bdgsc.com.

AND FROM THE MOUNTAINS TO THE SEA – The Girl Scouts of Garrett County are not an idle bunch. The young women offer themselves as civic volunteers, help each other with projects, and travel when possible, even ending up sometimes in the waves of the sea, as pictured above. The girls traveled to Assateague Island in June 2009, and together braved some chilly waves. Pictured from left are leader Elizabeth Huxford holding onto Emily Tichnell, Rachael Huxford, Elizabeth McClean, Stephanie Owens, Megan Fazenbaker, Annika Naylor, and Madison Corley.

STREAM WADING PLANNED – Friends of Deep Creek invite area citizens to spend several weekends participating in the annual Stream Wading project in the Deep Creek Lake watershed. Stream Waders is a program developed by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources to obtain samples of streams throughout the state. They provide training to volunteers, and Friends of Deep Creek will organize the local activities. There are over 110 miles of streams which feed the lake, and the group will sample the streams for macro-invertebrates, the small water bugs that live in the stream. "[These bugs] are a excellent indicators of stream health," noted a spokesperson. The samples collected are then sent to the DNR Lab for scientific analysis. Approximately four to five hours is spent each day of sampling, with the following weekends slated: April 9 and 10, 16 and 17, 23, and April 30 and May 1. Volunteers are welcome to come for all or half of the day. Orientation will be provided on April 9 and 16. It is not necessary to attend training, but it is recommended, and all volunteers should bring waterproof boots. Youth groups are encouraged to participate, as well as any other community-based organization. "Those who have participated in the past have found it informative and fun," said the spokesperson. "It helps to increase the understanding of the watershed of our very special part of Maryland." Those interested in participating should contact Friends of Deep Creek at 301-873-1519.

Medical Coding Course Slated By Garrett College

A Medical Coding Specialist I course will be held at Garrett College's Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville, on Saturdays, April 9–May 14, 8 a.m.–5 p.m.

It will provide a basic introduction to International Classification of Diseases (ICD) and Current Procedural Terminology (CPT-4) coding. Topics will include current procedural terminology overview, review of conventions used in ICD, and fundamental coding guidelines.

"Correct medical coding is recognized as a critical element in the financial security of all medical practices," said a spokesperson. "Medical coders are vital members of the health care team. They are responsible for accurately coding diagnoses, procedures, and supplies for each patient seen in the health care system. These codes are then forwarded to the insurance companies or third-party payers and are the basis for reimbursement."

Coding professionals work in a multitude of settings throughout the health care industry, including hospitals, physician's offices and clinics, long-term care facilities, insurance companies, government agencies, home-care providers, and other places where medical procedures are performed.

Anyone seeking additional information about this course or fees to attend may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator, at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for these courses, persons may call 301-387-3069.

HIPAA Update Classes Set At Garrett College

A course designed to provide information and updates for HIPAA (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) will be held at Garrett College's McHenry campus on Tuesday and Thursday, April 12 and 14, 6–9 p.m.

Title I of HIPAA protects health insurance coverage for workers and their families when they change or lose their jobs.

Title II of HIPAA, known as the Administrative Simplification (AS) provisions, requires the establishment of national standards for electronic health care transactions and national identifiers for providers, health insurance plans, and employers.

AS provisions also address the security and privacy of health data. The standards were established to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the nation's health care system.

For more information or to register for this course, persons may contact Sarah Friend, Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division, at 301-387-3069 or sarah.friend@garrettcollege.edu.

Course Available To Help Students Who Struggle

A course designed specifically for struggling students will be offered by the Garrett College Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division on Mondays, April 4–25, 5:30–7:30 p.m.

These classes will focus on organization, reading, and writing skills as well as on technology tools to help the student succeed across the curriculum. The series is designed to enhance the student's academic tasks and is customized to meet individual needs.

Various types of technology devices will be explored, including low-tech tools and high-tech software and hardware devices, to assist students.

Individuals will assess and learn about their unique learning techniques rooted in sensory preferences, right/left brain preferences, and personality styles. CEUs (continuing education units) are available.

For more information, including fees for this course, or to register, persons may contact Sarah Friend at 301-387-3069 or sarah.friend@garrettcollege.edu.

SCOUTS TAKE A TRIP TO THE KEYS – Several members of Boy Scout Troop 22 recently traveled to the Florida Keys to participate in a weeklong adventure program. Hao Brooks, Kevin Harris, and Alexander "A.J." Savopoulos, all 14, and their Scoutmaster Dan Clark visited Sea Base, the Boy Scout facility located 23 miles north of Key West, in mid February. The facility offers programs such as diving, sail boating, keys adventures, and fishing adventures on the high seas. The group participated in the Out-Island-Adventure, which included paddling a Polynesian war canoe five miles out to an island, where they spent the next five days "roughing it." They camped on the beach and watched the sun set and rise each day. They snorkeled one of the top three snorkel spots in the world, Lois Key, and went deep sea fishing, where they caught yellow-tail and mackerel for their dinners. They paddled sea kayaks through a mangrove maze, caught and released a five-foot corn snake, found hermit crabs, saw Florida Key deer, and had to outwit the island raccoons in various ways to keep their food safe. The group also completed a service project while on the island. They were given the task of gathering trash along the shoreline and recycling what they could. Pieces of wood, logs, plastic, etc., were collected and utilized to construct the sign they built over the entrance to their camp site. Brooks, Savopoulos, and Harris have been participating in Scout activities since they were 5 years old. Each is on his way to becoming an Eagle Scout. From left are Harris, Brooks, and Savopoulos.

ARC Releases Schedule For April Classes

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross has scheduled several health and safety services courses for next month.

An adult, child, and infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) class will be held from 6 until 10 p.m. on Tuesday, April 5, and Thursday, April 26, at the Cumberland chapter house.

This four-hour course includes caring for and recognizing breathing and cardiac emergencies, including choking, in adults, children, and infants. Automated external defibrillator (AED) instruction for adults and children is included with CPR.

The cost is $30 for new certification and $25 for recertification, and includes text, a CPR kit and one-year certification.

A professional rescuer CPR/AED course will be held on Saturday, April 16, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Cumberland chapter house.

This is an eight-hour class developed for volunteers and career professionals who routinely respond to emergencies. It emphasizes how to recognize and respond to respiratory and cardiac emergencies in adults, children, and infants. Two-rescuer CPR and AED training are included.

This course meets the standard requirements for nursing, allied health professions, and emergency medical services.

The cost is $35 for new certification and $30 for recertification, and includes text, pocket mask, and one-year certification.

A lay responder CPR/first aid/AED course will be held from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Thursday, March 31, Saturdays, April 9 and 23, and May 7, and Wednesday, April 13, at the Cumberland chapter house; and Wednesdays, April 6 and 20, at the Oakland ARC office.

This eight-hour course combines adult, child, and infant CPR, AED, and first aid into one entire day of training. The cost is $40 for new certification and $35 for recertification, and includes text, CPR kits, a first aid practice kit, and two certification cards.

A first aid class will also be held from 6 until 9 p.m. on Thursday, April 7, at the chapter house in Cumberland.

This three-hour course offers recognition and caring for life-threatening emergencies in adults, such as burns, injuries to muscles, bones, and joints, sudden illnesses, bleeding, and poisonings, as well as heat- and cold-related emergencies.

This course meets OSHA guidelines and is designed to fit the needs of businesses and industries.

The cost is $25 for new certification and $20 for recertification, and includes text, a practice first aid kit, and a three-year certification card.

Registration and payment are required in advance for all courses. To sign up, persons are asked to contact Lorri Wharton, ARC health services director, at 301-722-1760, ext. 105, or lkwharton@allconet.org.

Lifeguard trainings have also been scheduled for April 28 through May 6 at Frostburg State University. For more information, persons may contact Wharton.

Personal Interest Classes Scheduled At G'ville Center

Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development has announced a variety of personal interest courses being offered through its Northern Outreach Center in Grantsville next month. They include Polymer Clay for Beginners, Cake Decorating II – Flowers and Borders, Slate Painting, and Beginning Watercolor.

Polymer Clay for Beginners will be held from 6:30 to 8 to p.m. on April 5, 7, and 12. Torria J. "T.J." Quesenberry, local elementary art teacher, will be the instructor.

"This course aims to explore the incredible versatility and potential of polymer clay," said a spokesperson. "This class is great for creative individuals who would like to learn about new artistic media. You will finish the class with a great understanding of the possibilities of the material, as well as a collection of creations."

Session one will cover marbling and sculpture. Students will learn the basics of how to handle the clay, as well as how to make a faux marble appearance within in the clay.

Session two will be caning, in which participants will learn how to cane clay to make embedded designs within a cross section.

Session three is veneer, and students will learn how to apply a design onto a structure for a decorative surface.

"During this class we will also cover any techniques students wish to expand on," said the spokesperson.

A supply list will be provided upon registration.

Cake Decorating II – Flowers and Borders is scheduled for Wednesdays, April 6, 13, 20, and 27, from 1 to 3 p.m.

Instruction will be given in creating flowers (rosebuds, chrysanthemum, apple blossoms, violets, daisies, daffodils, pansies, primroses, Victorian roses, to name a few), elegant borders, and the basket weave.

Students will be practicing the first three weeks and a cake is needed for the final session.

The course will be lead by Wilton instructor Bonnie Goebel, and a supply list is available upon registration.

Slate Painting is set for April 16 and 26 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. In this hands-on course, students will explore the use of acrylic paint on slate, and the theme will be "creating a welcome basket of flowers."

The instructor for this course will be Peggy Nixon, a local accomplished artist. She will provide demonstrations, examples, and one-one-one instruction.

"At the completion of the course, you will take home a beautiful, hand-painted slate ready for hanging," the spokesperson noted.

All materials for this course are provided, including slate, paints, and brushes.

Beginning Watercolor will be held on Mondays, April 18 and 25, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A supply list is available upon registration.

This two-day class introduces the fundamentals of successfully painting with watercolors to those with no watercolor painting experience.

The class provides information covering the materials used, mixing colors, the four fundamental watercolor techniques, and how to properly use the brushes for the greatest success. Several small paintings will be completed to apply the techniques taught.

The course is being taught by Judith Becker, an award-winning artist from Alpine Lake, W.Va. She is an art teacher and practicing artist who is a member of the Garrett County Arts Council and Watercolor Society of West Virginia. She regularly exhibits and sells her art at regional art shows in Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia, and conducts art workshops at Alpine Lake and for the Garrett County Arts Council.

In addition to the above mentioned classes, coming in May to the center are the following personal interest courses: Rock Painting, Cake Decorating III – Fondant and Tiered Cakes, Slate Painting: Creating a Garden Slate on a Stake, and Advanced Genealogy.

For additional information, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center director, at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for these courses, one may call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

JEFFERSON-JACKSON DINNER SCHEDULED – Plans are under way for the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner, sponsored by the Garrett County Democratic Club. This event will be held in the Crawford Room at Wisp Resort Hotel, McHenry, on Monday, June 13. A reception will be held at 6 p.m., followed by the dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets are $30 per person and may be obtained by calling Rosalee at 301-334-4076 or Doris at 301-334-3007. Ask The Everyday Scientist

JAPANESE NUCLEAR REACTORS
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. I don't understand what happened with the nuclear reactors hit by the Japanese quake and tsunami. Is the land around them now radioactive? Will those reactors explode? Will they ever function properly again?

A. The answers to your three questions are: no, no, and no.

The nuclear-reactor calamity in Japan was a very serious problem indeed, and a succession of additional problems created world-wide anxiety. The outcome is properly termed a "partial meltdown," and several billion dollars worth of hardware has become junk.

The feature that prevented a truly huge disaster was the containment vessel, an enclosure made of steel and concrete around each reactor. The Soviet disaster of 1986 at Chernobyl was much worse because there was no containment vessel.

A diagram of a boiling water reactor (BWR) appears in the adjacent picture. The way it works is somewhat reminiscent of a tea-kettle: It just boils water. The steam thus produced drives a turbine which generates electricity; but the sole purpose of the reactor is to boil water.

In the process of fission, neutrons cause uranium nuclei to break apart into several fast-moving fragments and gamma rays. That energy heats the surrounding water. The process is carefully controlled to produce just barely enough neutrons to keep everything steady while providing a little extra energy (enough to boil the water).

To shut down a reactor, the first step is to interrupt the fission process by eliminating neutrons. There are control rods that absorb neutrons, and they are normally mostly "out," but can readily be put "in." At the Japanese reactors, the moment an earthquake was detected, the automatic equipment inserted the control rods very quickly.

On an electric stove, when you shut off the burner, only a little more steam comes off while the burner cools down. At a coal-burning or gas-burning power plant, that's about what happens. In a nuclear reactor, cutting off the supply of new neutrons is akin to turning the burner down to "low" instead of "off" – to about the 7% level. The big difference is that in a nuclear reactor some of the fission fragments break up hours or days later, yielding still more heat, long after the reactor been shut down. If "flat out" is 1,000 MW, then 7% is about 70 MW. That heat has to be removed by additional cooling, which requires lots of water.

When the earthquake struck and the primary electric power failed, the emergency diesel generators started running the back-up water pumps. So far, the system worked as planned. But then within an hour the tsunami wave swamped over the protective barriers and clobbered the diesel generators. After that, batteries provided another eight hours of power, after which the cooling capability vanished. Without new cold water, bad news lay ahead.

A nuclear fuel rod contains uranium oxide pellets, enclosed within a cladding made of zirconium alloy. In normal operation, the rods are completely underwater. In this case, without cooling, the continuing heat-generation boiled off enough water that zirconium rods were exposed, and contacted steam. Above about 1,000 C, zirconium reacts with steam (water vapor) to produce $Zr(OH)_4$ and H_2. The hydrogen gas accumulated and pressure built up. Meanwhile, the overheating fuel rods began to melt down. Relief valves enabled the operators to vent H_2 out into the building surrounding the reactor.

Next, hydrogen gas mixed with oxygen in air and reached an explosive concentration, which blew apart the surrounding building. (Just a conventional explosion, not a nuclear explosion.) Subsequently, that happened again at two other reactors. To prevent further deterioration, it was decided to pump in sea water to cool the reactors. Knowing how corrosive salt water is, that meant the reactor could never operate again, so that decision amounted to abandoning several billion dollars worth of hardware.

Separately, old used ("spent") fuel rods continue to release heat from the decay of fission-product isotopes. These are customarily stored nearby in pools of water for radiation shielding and cooling. At reactor #4, which had been shut down for maintenance, the fuel rods had recently been removed and placed in the pool. They were still relatively hot, and without a cooling system active, that pool began to evaporate. After several days, the water level had dropped enough so that the zirconium fuel rods were exposed.

The dangerously low water level created another problem: Radioactive nuclear isotopes were exposed to the atmosphere. The radioactivity measurements in the surroundings increased greatly because of this failure of the cooling pool. The new problem became how to put in sufficient water to overcome the loss-rate and again cover the spent fuel rods, to reduce the radioactivity danger. Water cannons and helicopters flying overhead were used to deliver water, because a person who approached the pool would receive a possibly fatal dose of radiation.

Several precautionary measures were taken to protect people from released radioactive material: Citizens were tested for radiation exposure, tablets of potassium iodide were handed out, a 30-km zone was evacuated, and a no-fly zone was declared near the reactor complex.

As for the main reactors, the containment vessels did their job, and the meltdown was only "partial." Obviously a huge loss of capital equipment, but no large zone of radioactive contamination like Chernobyl, which has required decades of exclusion. This Japanese event was akin to the partial meltdown at Three Mile Island 32 years ago. A major distinction is that in America the release of radioactivity was essentially zero. (Moreover, the other adjacent reactor at Three Mile Island is still working well to the present day, and people go boating on the Susquehanna River all the time.)

After about a week, the water temperatures were below 100 C (boiling point), but the external radioactivity was still well above normal background levels. This exacerbates the overwhelming tragedy of the original tsunami.

BANK ACCOUNTS ARE CHANGING: WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

by Lynn Little, Extension Educator, Family and Consumer Sciences University of Maryland Extension

New federal rules limit the fees banks and other financial institutions can charge on some services, so it's possible that the costs of other services could increase.

Comparison shop so you don't pay more for accounts than you have to. Look at what is being offered by your bank, as well as by a few competitors. If your bank is among those that have eliminated free checking services, you may be able to find another bank offering them, especially if you sign up for direct deposit or electronic statements.

Whether you keep track of your account online or on paper, promptly check account statements for errors and fees that can cost you money. It's also important to review your account statement promptly to identify and dispute unauthorized transactions.

Consider signing up for electronic statements so you receive e-mail notifications when statements are available for your timely review.

If your debit or ATM card is lost or stolen, your liability for unauthorized charges is limited under federal law, based on how quickly you report a problem. To get the most protection, you must notify your bank within two business days of learning that the card is missing.

If your bank has changed account minimum-balance requirements, ask yourself if you can get by with a "no frills" checking account. These accounts typically offer basic banking services without a minimum balance requirement or a monthly maintenance fee, but may limit the number of checks you write or the number of monthly ATM or debit card transactions.

If overdrawing your account is an ongoing problem, look into alternatives to high-cost overdraft programs. The best way to avoid overdrafts is to keep a good record of your transactions and to have enough funds in your account to cover your anticipated withdrawals.

Find out if your bank will send you an e-mail or text message alert when a significant transaction posts to your account or if your balance drops below a specific amount. This alert service, which is offered free at many banks, enables you to consider moving funds to your checking account from a savings account so you can avoid an overdraft. Talk with a bank representative to determine what less expensive options may be available for you.

Under rules that went into effect July 1, 2010, banks must ask customers if they want to pay for overdraft coverage for debit card purchases and ATM withdrawals. If you "opt in" to this coverage, your bank can charge you a fee to process these transactions when they exceed your account balance. If you don't opt in, expect that these transactions will be declined.

Minimize fees at the ATM. Most banks don't charge their customers to use the bank's ATMs, so try to get cash at one of your bank's machines.

When you need cash and you're not near your bank or one of its ATMs, know your options so you can avoid paying two fees, one to your bank, the other to another bank for using its ATM.

Life can get a little wild and crazy, with responsibilities coming at us from all directions. Wouldn't it be nice to find a refuge? A safe place we can share with our close ones? We can trust our faith in God to protect us. "The Lord is good, a refuge in times of trouble. He cares for those who trust in him...." (Nahum 1.14) Find tranquility from the world's troubles at your house of worship this week. Go and give thanks to God!

Be Genuine in Your Condolences

Many of the popular expressions which are meant to console others are worn-out clichés which can be offensive. Telling someone that their loved one who has recently died is in a better place may or may not be true, but it almost certainly sounds like you are minimizing their loss. Likewise, telling someone that you know how they feel or that time will heal all wounds may come across as arrogant and insensitive. You don't necessarily know how or what the other person is feeling and time may never completely erase the pain which the grieving person is feeling. The best advice in expressing your condolences is to be genuine, tell the other person that you are sorry for their loss, and be willing to just be there for them. They probably don't want or need advice, or flowery words, and they certainly don't want to hear worn-out clichés.

Finally, all of you,have unity of spirit,sympathy, love of thebrethren, a tender heartand a humble mind.

Baker's career was cooking pre-'Mentalist'

By Jay Bobbin

Q: Can you tell me more about Simon Baker and what he's done in the past? –Steve Doboszynski, Seattle

A: While he's enjoying his biggest success to date with his CBS show "The Mentalist," the Australian actor has been around for a while. He did several series Down Under before shifting his career largely to America, a transition that began with a role in the Oscar-winning movie "L.A. Confidential." Baker then worked for CBS in two other shows, "The Guardian" and the very short-lived "Smith."

His other movies have included "Ride With the Devil," "Red Planet," "The Affair of the Necklace," "The Ring Two," "The Devil Wears Prada," "Something New," "Land of the Dead," "Women in Trouble" and "The Killer Inside Me." Here's an interesting side note about two of his three children with his actress wife, Rebecca Rigg: They have Nicole Kidman and Naomi Watts as godmothers.

Q: What happened between MSNBC and Keith Olbermann? Where will he be able to hear his political rantings now? –Jerome Bolle, Whitelaw, Wis.

A: Relations had been frosty – and evidently getting colder – between Olbermann and executives at his now-former network for some time, leading to what has been termed the "separation agreement" that prompted Olbermann's hasty farewell from his program "Countdown" in January. Some had speculated the circumstances of the departure were hastened by Comcast's then-imminent takeover of the NBC networks' ownership, though Comcast officials denied they played any direct role in Olbermann's exit.

As for where he'll appear next, he has made a deal with the Al Gore-operated Current TV not only for his own program (which he has said will start in June) but also to consult on that network's other primetime programming. He maintains he has complete control in his new gig, so if an unfettered Olbermann is what you want, it looks as if that's what you'll get.

Q: Please tell me about the boy who plays Max on "Parenthood." –Jackie Tandy, Bend, Ore.

A: Thirteen-year-old Max Burkholder was featured on such shows as "Brothers & Sisters," "Grey's Anatomy," "Private Practice" and "In Treatment" previously, but he also has a wealth of animation voice-over work under his belt. The series he's been heard on include "Family Guy," "American Dad," "The Cleveland Show," "My Friends Tigger & Pooh" and "The Land Before Time"; he also was in the voice casts of the movies "Astro Boy" and "The Ant Bully."

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was Kurt Vonnegut, one of the most influential writers of the 20th century, who made the following sage observation: "There is no reason why good cannot triumph as often as evil. The triumph of anything is a matter of organization. If there are such things as angels, I hope they are organized along the lines of the Mafia."

• That cork you pulled out of your wine bottle was made from the bark of a tree. The cork oak has to grow for 25 years before any cork is harvested, and then it's stripped only every 10 years thereafter.

• If you can predict the future by watching the flight patterns of birds, you are engaging in ornithomancy.

• The coldest place on earth is a place known only as Ridge A in Antarctica. The average winter temperature there is -94 degrees F. • According to archaeological research, the bikini is nothing new; evidence has been found that the two-piece garment was worn in parts of Italy as early as 2000 B.C.

• In 1950, 70 percent of all the cars, buses and trucks in the world could be found in the United States.

• According to the Consumer Electronics Association, the average television screen in United States homes is growing by 1 inch every year.

• It was Ambrose Bierce, in his "Devil's Dictionary," who defined "admiration" as "our polite recognition of another's resemblance to ourselves."

• Ever wonder why magazine publisher Hugh Hefner chose a rabbit as the symbol of his Playboy magazine? Evidently, when the mogul was a small boy, one of his treasured possessions was a blanket with bunnies all over it.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On March 28, 1774, upset by acts of destruction of British property by American colonists, the British Parliament enacts the Coercive Acts. The acts included closing the port of Boston and making British officials immune to criminal prosecution in Massachusetts.

• On March 30, 1820, Anna Sewell, author of "Black Beauty," is born. "Black Beauty," the first significant children's story in the English language to focus on animal characters, established the precedent for countless other works. The story, narrated by the horse, showed Black Beauty's progression through a series of increasingly cruel owners.

• On April 2, 1863, responding to acute food shortages, hundreds of starving women riot in the Confederate capital of Richmond, Va., demanding that the government release emergency supplies. At one point, Confederate President Jefferson Davis threw his pocket change at the mob from the top of a wagon.

• On April 3, 1882, Jesse James, one of America's most notorious outlaws, is shot to death by fellow gang member Robert Ford, who betrayed James for bounty money. James was shot in the back while his mother cooked breakfast.

• On March 31, 1931, Knute Rockne, the legendary Notre Dame football coach, is killed in a plane crash in Kansas. Studebaker decided to name its new line of low-priced vehicles Rockne after the revered coach, agreeing to pay his widow 25 cents for each car sold.

• On March 29, 1951, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg are convicted of espionage for their role in passing atomic secrets to the Soviets during and after World War II. Supporters claimed that during World War II, Russia had been an ally, not an enemy. The husband and wife were executed in 1953.

• On April 1, 1963, the ABC television network airs the premiere episode of "General Hospital," the daytime drama that would become the network's most enduring soap opera and the longest-running serial program produced in Hollywood.

Collecting

Q: I have a Coca-Cola calendar from 1899. It depicts a woman sitting at a writing table. The text includes the phrases "Delicious and Refreshing," "Cures Headaches" and "Relives Mental and Physical Exhaustion." Could you please give me an idea of its value? -- Jean, Salem, Mo.

A: Your calendar should be printed on cardboard stock and measure about 7 3/8 by 13 inches. Coca-Cola calendars printed before 1940 are rare and collectible. I found your 1899 calendar in Warman's Coca-Cola Collectibles: Identification and Price Guide by Allen Petretti (Krause, $24.99). Condition is, of course, extremely important. In good to excellent condition, Petretti values the 1899 Coca-Cola advertising calendar at about $15,000. This is assuming the one you have is an original issue and not a reproduction. Write to Larry Cox in care of King Features Weekly Service, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475, or send e-mail to questionsforcox@aol.com. Due to the large volume of mail he receives, Mr. Cox is unable to personally answer all reader questions. Do not send any materials requiring return mail.

Goldfinches

A sure way to bring American goldfinches into your yard is to feed them thistle seed and/or sunflower heart chips. If you live in an area where the only time you get finches is during migration, putting out these two seeds will bring them back year after year.

Health Department Urges Travelers To Protect Themselves

by Cynthia Mankamyer

Before traveling abroad, whether for leisure, business, or mission or volunteer activities, take time to plan for a safe and healthy experience. Find out what recommended vaccines may be necessary to protect you against illness during your trip. Since most vaccines take time to become effective, make an appointment with your health care provider 4 to 6 weeks before the trip. If your trip is within 4 weeks, still consult your health care provider.

Be sure you are up-to-date on routinely recommended vaccines such as measles, mumps, rubella, tetanus, pertussis, chickenpox, polio, pneumococcal, and hepatitis. To see complete schedules of recommended adult and child vaccines as published by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), go to: http://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/recs/schedules/default.htm.

It is also a good idea to get your yearly flu vaccine because traveling inevitably puts you in close contact with numerous people from many different places. Additional vaccines may be recommended depending on your destination, your age and health status, whether or not you will be staying in rural areas, the nature of your trip, the season of the year, and your previous immunization history. For example, a person traveling to South Asia should consider receiving typhoid vaccine to protect against this waterborne illness, and depending on age, a person traveling to India may consider receiving a booster of polio vaccine as poliovirus is still circulating in that region.

Some vaccines are not just recommended, but are required. For example, for entrance into endemic zones such as sub-Saharan Africa and tropical South America, you will need to show proof of immunization against yellow fever as required by International Health Regulations. For complete yellow fever requirements and the location of your nearest authorized yellow fever vaccine clinic, consult CDC's web site at www.cdc.gov/travel. Another required vaccine is meningococcal vaccine: as of October 2009, meningococcal vaccination is required by the government of Saudi Arabia for travel to Mecca during the annual religious pilgrimage of Hajj.

It is also wise to consult the "Travel Notices" section of the CDC web site, which will give you up-to-the-minute reports of ongoing disease outbreaks for which travelers may be at risk. For instance, in January 2011 it was announced by the CDC that the northern district of Uganda is experiencing a confirmed yellow fever outbreak, the first since the 1970s. Yellow fever is always a risk in Uganda; however, this current outbreak suggests an elevated risk for travelers. Other recent outbreaks include an increase in rabies cases (animal and human) in Bali, Indonesia, and yellow fever illness in four districts of Côte d'Ivoire (West Africa).

In addition to vaccine-preventable illness, there may be other potential health risks to travelers. In some areas of the world, there is an increased risk of malaria, a mosquito-borne illness that can cause serious health problems. Your doctor may prescribe medicine to take before, during, or after your trip to decrease the chance that you will get malaria.

For comprehensive information on recommended travel vaccines including yellow fever requirements and up-to-the-minute travel health precautions, visit the CDC web site at: www.cdc.gov/travel or call your health care provider for information and availability of recommended vaccines. The Garrett County Health Department is not an authorized yellow fever vaccine site, nor does it prescribe or offer typhoid vaccine or malaria medications, but it offers a wide variety of recommended child and adult vaccines. For more information call 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Kelsey L. Perando, daughter of Richard A. Perando and stepdaughter of Jessica Perando, Oakland, recently enlisted in the U.S. Navy under the Delayed Entry Program at Navy Recruiting District, Pittsburgh.

The program allows recruits to enter the Navy and take up to one year to complete prior commitments such as high school. Using recruiters as mentors, this program helps recruits ease into the transition from civilian to military life.

Perando will report for active duty to undergo basic training at the U.S. Navy Recruit Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Perando is completing her senior year at Southern High School.

Energy Assistance Applications Still Being Accepted

The Office of Home Energy Programs located at the Garrett County Community Action building, Oakland, is currently taking applications for households that have not applied since July 1, 2010. Applications will be accepted until March 31.

The GCCAC Energy Assistance programs promote the agency's goal of increasing the number of families and individuals who are economically self-sufficient and able to live independently in the county.

Those interested in submitting an application should contact the office at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403.

Maryland Children Now Entering Kindergarten With Improved Skills

Maryland children are entering kindergarten with a far stronger set of academic, physical, and social skills than children of a few short years ago, according to a new report by the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE).

"Children Entering School Ready to Learn – School Readiness Information for School Year 2010-2011," a report by MSDE's Division of Early Childhood Development, reveals steady progress across all demographic subgroups. Maryland students entering kindergarten fully prepared for learning increased by 3 percentage points from 2010 to 2011, rising to 81 percent. That is an increase of 32 percentage points since the baseline year of 2002.

"The importance of strong early childhood development has never been more apparent," said Nancy S. Grasmick, state superintendent of schools. "By providing our youngest learners with a solid footing before they enter kindergarten, we can expect big leaps as they move through school."

The annual MSDE study reflects assessment information on kindergartners' readiness levels in social and personal areas, language and literacy, mathematical thinking, scientific thinking, social studies, the arts, physical development, and health. Trained kindergarten teachers review work samples and observations in making their determination of readiness.

Kindergarten readiness has improved significantly since all early childhood programs were brought under the MSDE banner in 2005. Since the Division of Early Childhood Development was established six year ago, the number of accredited childcare programs has grown significantly, and MSDE has established several quality initiatives to improve the early learning opportunities for all children.

Also significant has been the reduction in the achievement gap between students of different ethnicities, the report notes. For example, African American children have made dramatic strides since the initial report, rising 39 percentage points overall and narrowing the gap with white and Asian peers. Improvement by Hispanic children also has been dramatic, increasing 31 percentage points.

The MSDE assessment of incoming kindergarten students, known as the Maryland Model for School Readiness (MMSR), found improvement across demographic categories in the percentage of students ready for kindergarten work. For example:

•School readiness levels for English language learners have increased 33 percentage points since 2002, rising to 68 percent deemed as "fully ready."

The improvement in school readiness for low-income children – students receiving free or reduced price meals – has jumped 39 percentage points since 2002, to 73 percent.

•The number of special education students considered fully ready for kindergarten improved 26 percentage points since 2002, to 56 percent.

Strong MMSR results also translate to better results in the Maryland School Assessment by the time students reach third grade. Children who enter kindergarten fully school-ready are far more likely to be proficient in both reading and math by grade three.

The MMSR study results continue to emphasize the critical importance of high-quality early learning opportunities. Children who emerged from structured early-care settings started school better prepared for learning than those who remained at home or in the homes of relatives, the research found.

Children enrolled in public school pre-K programs (81 percent fully ready for kindergarten), child care centers (87 percent), and non-public nursery schools (92 percent) the year prior to kindergarten exhibited stronger school readiness levels than those who were at home or in informal care settings the year prior to kindergarten.

There also were significant gains for children who were enrolled in Head Start centers, whose readiness increased from 29 percent in 2001-2002 to 72 percent in 2010-2011.

Maryland's annual school readiness report is the result of legislative action to gauge the progress on school readiness skills of incoming kindergartners. Each year, more than 2,000 kindergarten teachers use an age-appropriate portfolio-based assessment to evaluate their students' performance on 30 indicators of learning in their classrooms during the first eight weeks of school. The assessment information in the report reflects scores for each of the seven domains of learning, such as literacy, math, and social skills, as well as the composite score of all domains.

The complete School Readiness report will be available soon on the special MSDE web site at www.MdSchoolReadiness.org.

ROTARY DONATES TO CANCER SOCIETY — Jim Carmack, president of the Oakland Rotary Club, is seen here presenting a check for $1,000 to Brittany Friend of the Garrett County branch of the American Cancer Society. The society is one of many organizations supported by the Rotary Club through its french fry sales.

BROAD FORD ADDS UP IN MATH-A-THON FUNDRAISER — Broad Ford Elementary School recently raised $5,500 to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital through the Math-A-Thon fund-raiser program. For the program, members of the Oakland community sponsored students by pledging an amount-per-problem or a one-time donation to the more than 75 who participated. The top three student fundraisers for the hospital are pictured with Julie Duvall, parent volunteer coordinator. Shown, from left to right, are: Kerri Kordyban ($150+), Matthew Mayhew ($150+), Keegan Brooks ($800+), and DuVall.

Chinese Cooking Class Scheduled At G'ville Center

DR. QING YUAN

A course in authentic Chinese home cooking will be offered by Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at the Grantsville Senior Center on Mondays, April 4–18, 5:30–7:15 p.m.

The instructor, Dr. Qing Yuan, will demonstrate preparation of traditional Chinese cooking for holidays, as well as everyday meals, without spending a lot of time and money.

Students will participate in the cooking processes and be able to take dinner home with them. The cost of this class includes food.

For more information on this class and fees involved, persons may e-mail Sarah Friend at sarah.friend@garrettcollege.edu or call 301-387-3069.

Accident Library Plans StoryTails Event For April 7

The Accident Library will hold StoryTails, a program in which children read to dogs, on Thursday, April 7, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. The program is designed in an effort to help children develop confidence in reading.

At the event, each child will read to a dog for 15 to 20 minutes, with the dog's handler sitting nearby to give reading assistance if necessary. All dogs are certified by Therapy Dogs International.

Those interested in further information may call the Accident Library at 301-746-8792. A listing of library programs and services is available on the web site www.relib.net.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

FITNESS AFTER 50

by Tiffany Weeks

Now that it's March and most of us have given up on our New Year's resolutions, it's time to get down to the business of having some fun. Did you know that exercise promotes better sleep, and that it boosts your energy level? I know that some of you are probably thinking that exercise is too much like work, but would you consider bowling, horseback riding, or taking a leisurely walk work? How about taking your grandchildren to the park and instead of just watching them, push them on the swing or catch them on the slide? When you are moving, it counts as exercise. If you get bored with what you are doing, try something else. Pick a partner; people who join forces tend to remain at the activity longer.

According to the Mayo Clinic, exercise:

•Improves your mood – Exercise stimulates brain chemicals that can leave you feeling better after your workout than you did before. This can boost confidence and self-esteem, and help prevent depression.

•Helps combat chronic disease – Physical activity can help prevent or manage high blood pressure, heart disease, osteoporosis, and Type II diabetes. Exercise boosts good cholesterol and helps decrease triglycerides, which can help lower the build-up of plaque in your arteries.

•Helps manage weight – Physical activity burns calories, which can help you manage your weight or lose weight. Park farther away from the store, take the stairs instead of the elevator, or take a walk outside instead of watching TV.

•Boosts energy level – Exercise delivers oxygen and nutrients to your tissues and helps improve the cardiovascular system. By improving the cardiovascular system, it works more efficiently to make daily tasks easier.

•Promotes better sleep – Regular physical activity can help you fall asleep faster and have more deep sleep. A good night's rest can help improve concentration, productivity, and mood. However, if you exercise too close to bedtime, you could be too energized to sleep.

Come to Flowery Vale Senior Fitness Center in Accident and see what we have to offer to help you get started with physical activity. Call us at 301-746-8050.

The fitness center promotes the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of creating environments that enable older adults to have access to health care and remain physically active, thereby increasing the number of individuals who are able to live independently.

Garrett Memorial Celebrates Patient Awareness Week

Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently joined with hospitals around the country to celebrate Patient Safety Awareness Week (March 6-12).

This annual event was sponsored by the National Patient Safety Foundation and was designed to raise awareness of patient safety practices and encourage open communication among providers, patients, families, and communities. A spokesperson stated that patient safety is also about ensuring that patients receive the right care at the right time from their health care provider and health care organization.

For the event, GCMH sponsored a number of educational activities and displayed patient safety information in the hospital's lobby. This year's display included general information on the goals of the NPSF and highlighted a number of safety initiatives under way at GCMH. The lobby display also included educational materials on the importance of hand washing with samples of hand sanitizing gel.

GCMH is joining other Maryland hospitals in standardizing the colors used to alert caregivers of special patient needs, such as allergies, fall risk, and limb restrictions.

Natural Resources Police Arrest One

The Natural Resource Police charged Brian William Cromer, 31, Swanton on March 15 with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while impaired by alcohol, driving while impaired by drugs and alcohol, and driver consuming an alcoholic beverage on a highway.

Cromer was stopped on Savage River Road near Savage River Reservoir. His trial date is yet to be determined.

Garrett County Board of Realtors, Inc.

Did you know that...?

Garrett County maintains an assessable real property tax base of more than $4.6 billion?

Garrett County's budget depends on real estate taxes more than any other source of revenue?

More than 65% of the FY2011 county budget is funded by real estate taxes?

More than $3 billion of assessed value (60+% of the tax base) comes from the Deep Creek Lake and McHenry tax districts combined?

The Deep Creek Lake district represents 60% of the tax base, but it has less than 25% of the total number of properties in the county?

Almost 40% of county services are funded by taxes paid by residential and commercial property owners on and around Deep Creek Lake?

No one likes paying taxes. However, revenue obtained from paying property tax is used to provide vital services. Local real estate is important to our economy and for the growth of our communities. Local governments rely on property taxes as a main source of revenue to fund infrastructure projects, schools, and parks. Property taxes fund projects that enhance a community's value.

In Garrett County, with our well-maintained parks and recreational facilities, the value of homes and property increases as more people invest here, especially after being attracted by our scenic beauty and natural resources.

PREVENTING INSPECTION DELAYS

No matter how much you prepare, closings just seem to take longer these days, often up to sixty days from the date of the initial offer. A recent survey of REALTORS® reveals that ten to fourteen percent of pending sales don't get to closing, while another twenty percent experience unplanned delays before being finalized.

Delays fall into three major categories: financing, title research, and inspections. Getting estimates and negotiating repairs can really hold up a transaction, but there are ways to speed up the process.

One option is for sellers to procure a pre-listing inspection and make repairs before the first potential buyer sets foot in the home. However, this can be a costly expense for sellers, especially when buyers will almost certainly hire their own inspector after making an offer, and there can often be great differences between two inspection reports.

A better alternative is for the listing agent to walk through the home with the sellers, noting the age and the condition of major components of the home and securing estimates for potential repairs. Sellers may not have to fix the problems, but having an idea of the cost of repairs will help them price the home fairly, as well as reduce the time necessary for buyers to negotiate the costs. This is an excellent preventative and proactive step towards a successful closing.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

DNR Announces Results Of Off-Road Vehicle Trail Studies

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has concluded three studies on the environmental impact of trails on state-owned lands and announced that comments would be solicited at a meeting held yesterday in Owings Mills from stakeholders and off-road vehicle (ORV) enthusiasts.

"Our primary mission is to properly manage and protect the natural resources on the lands we oversee," said DNR Secretary John Griffin. "However, we are also very much interested in providing sustainable recreational opportunities on our public lands for a wide spectrum of outdoor experiences."

DNR officials said that they would meet with stakeholders and ORV enthusiasts to start a dialogue, and along with the department's findings, take the actions necessary to close or reconfigure trails, as well as identify possible new trail opportunities. The results of the studies and the meeting dialogue will have a direct impact on the future use of ORV trails on DNR lands, according to Griffin.

This report is available for review and to make comments at dnr.maryland.gov/forests/orvreport.asp. The comment period will end on April 30.

DNR provides trails for ORVs in Garrett, Potomac, Green Ridge, Savage River, and Pocomoke state forests. An ORV is defined as a motorized vehicle designed for or capable of cross-country travel on land, water, snow, ice, marsh, swampland, or other natural terrain. Off-road vehicles include a four-wheel drive or low-pressure tire vehicle; an automobile; a truck; a motorcycle and related two-wheel vehicles; an amphibious machine; a ground effect or air cushion vehicle; a snowmobile; and a golf cart.

The three reports documenting environmental concerns included a Statewide Off-Road Vehicle Trail study conducted by DNR's Wildlife and Heritage Service, a High Conservation Value Forest (HCVF) study performed by DNR's Forest Service, and a study of the impacts to eastern brook trout from the Poplar Lick ORV Trail performed by DNR's Fisheries Service.

"We conducted a very rigorous review of these trails via the HCVF assessment," said Steven W. Koehn, director of the DNR Forest Service and state forester who oversees the management of state forest lands where trails are located.

The Statewide Off-Road Vehicle Trail Assessment indicates there may be potential opportunities for designating new trails on DNR lands.

"The assessment provides a starting point for dialogue with ORV trail users to explore possible options for future off-road trail sites," said Paul Peditto, director of DNR Wildlife and Heritage Service.

Off-road vehicle trails were first authorized to be established on DNR lands by the legislature in Maryland in 1974, and DNR designated the trail locations in 1976. No additional trails have been designated on DNR lands since that time.

WHITE OAK, BLACK CHERRY ARE STATE CHAMPS – A white oak (Quercus alba) tree, shown above, and a black cherry (Prunus serotina), at right, both located in Mtn. Lake Park, have each been named champion of their species in Maryland, according to Justin Hunt, Garrett County Master Gardener coordinator. The Maryland Big Tree Program certifies the largest tree of each species in the state. Hunt measured these large specimen trees, which are located on the property of Bob Schaffer. Hunt said he appreciated Schaffer's assistance in finding these trees. Any local persons who know of large trees that could be "champion" species should contact the University of Maryland, Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6977 or jhunt123@umd.edu.

Family Portrait Fundraiser Set For Area Relay

A fundraiser for the American Cancer Society 2011 Relay for Life of Garrett County will feature Family Portraits by Design. For a $15 donation, each household will receive a free 8-by-10-inch portrait.

The fundraiser is sponsored by Naylor's Hardware Helpers and Friends for Hope.

Portraits will be taken on Friday, April 15, at Meadow Mountain Mennonite Church, 6116 Bitttinger Road, from noon to 8 p.m.; on Saturday, April 16, at Family Rental, 114 S. Third Street, Oakland, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Sunday, April 17, at Kitzmiller Elementary School from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

To make an appointment and receive the free certificate, persons may contact Donna or Sue at 301-334-6306 or Rick or Donna at 301-387-9868.

Ruth Enlow Library To Offer Online Newsletter Service

The Ruth Enlow Library will offer a book newsletter service called NextReads™ a free service for which no library card is necessary, just an e-mail address. The goal is for patrons or visitors to subscribe to any of 25 different subject and genre newsletters, including titles for children and teenagers.

The newsletters cover topics ranging from biography and memoir to fantasy to New York Times bestsellers. They are sent on a regular basis and include up to 12 book titles, along with brief descriptions written by NextReads librarians. Subscribers can link directly to the library catalog from books of interest in the newsletters and place a hold on or request a title immediately.

Some newsletters include a read-alike section focusing on a particular author, book, or series. The read-alike annotations include an explanation of why a particular selection would be appealing to the reader looking for alternatives. Some newsletters contain a thematic section that lists titles by themes tied to the newsletter topic or genre.

"We see the introduction of the NextReads service as being an important part of our outreach to the community. It allows the library to bring news to our patrons even when they cannot visit our facilities," said library director Cathy Ashby. "Our newsletters will be our opportunity to bring the library to them–whether they are at work, school, home, or on the road. Connecting our readers and listeners with books has always been a priority for us."

Those interested should visit the Ruth Enlow Library web site at www.relib.net and click the NextReads link. Members may choose which newsletters they want to receive. Those with questions should call the main library at 301-334-3996 or a local branch.

NextReads is a service from the creators of NoveList®, an online resource that helps readers learn more about books and authors through feature articles and book discussion guides. NoveList also is available to Ruth Enlow patrons in the research/literature section of the library's web site.

Regular Meeting Slated By GGBA

The Grantsville Greater Business Association will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, March 30, at Penn Alps Restaurant beginning at 8 a.m.

The guest speaker will be Thomas Fram, who has worked in sales for Atlantic Bingo Supply in Odenton for 15 years. The company is the fourth largest bingo supplier in the United States.

Fram and his wife and son have lived in Grantsville for 13 years.

The GGBA plans to sponsor a "basket bingo" to raise money for its high school scholarship fund.

APRIL SUN – As April begins, the sun appears in front of the stars of Pisces, drifting a degree a day eastward relative to the stars. The sun moves into the star group Aries on April 19, where it stays through May 13. (These dates correspond to the actual star group boundaries, not the dates of the astrological signs.) The star group Taurus can be seen low in the western dusk. On the other side of the sun is the star group Aquarius, appearing briefly in the southeastern dawn sky. Venus is in Aquarius for most of the month. In early April, sunrises in Garrett County are at about 7 a.m., while sunsets are at about 7:40 p.m. (12.7 hours of daylight). Around the end of April, Garrett County's sunrises are at about 6:20 a.m., and sunsets occur at about 8:10 p.m. (13.8 hours of daylight). So during April, the brighter stars are last seen around 5:45 a.m. (early dawn) and then reappear about 9 p.m. (late dusk). .

APRIL MOON – On April 1, the moon appears as a razor sharp crescent to the left of the brilliant planet Venus low in the 6:30 a.m. southeastern dawn sky. In midday on April 3, the moon swings from the morning to the evening side of the sun. On April 4, a very slender moon may be seen low in the 8:30 p.m. western dusk. The evening moon will appear half full on the evening of April 11. For a few days before and after this date, the moon's craters and mountain peaks are at their best through a telescope or binoculars held steadily. Along the left edge of the lighted moon, the rising sun catches the rims of the craters and mountain peaks; their surroundings are still in darkness. The nearly full moon appears near the planet Saturn on April 16, then appearing in western Virgo. The next evening, the moon is full, then appearing near the star Spica of Virgo. By April 26, the moon will be rising after midnight and appear half full (like a reversed "D") in the southern dawn. On April 30, the crescent moon will appear above and to the right of the brilliant planet Venus at dawn.

APRIL PLANETS – The five nearest planets are easily seen by eye during the year, four of them shining steadily in contrast to the twinkling stars. (Mercury, only seen close to the horizon, may flicker as heat currents move past it.) Saturn is splendid in April, being closest to Earth on the evening of April 3. Late on April evenings, Saturn is high enough for good views of its rings through a small telescope. Saturn appears as a steady point of light above and to the right of the star Spica (of Virgo) in the southeastern evening sky. The brightest planet is Venus, shining low in the southeastern dawn and rising about an hour ahead of the sun during April. In the last week of April, two planets emerge very low in the southeastern dawn. Below and to the left of Venus is the planet Mercury. Yet farther to the left and lower is Jupiter, rising a scant 35 minutes ahead of the sun. The best time to see these three planets in the last week of April will be about 5:50 a.m. from a place with a very flat eastern horizon.

APRIL STARS – The Big Dipper is high in the north and upside down. Its two leftmost stars point downward to the North Star, a modest star about halfway up in the north. (As the Earth's north polar axis nearly points to the North Star, all the stars, planets, and the moon seem to move in circles about the North Star.) The same two stars point rightward to the sickle of Leo the Lion in the southern sky. Easy to spot in north-northwest is Cassiopeia, a zig-zag pattern of five moderately bright stars. Orion, the night sky's brightest star group, appears low in the west as darkness falls in April. Orion's belt of three stars (in a row) points left to Sirius, the night's brightest star. In the northwestern sky is the bright golden star Capella.

APRIL PROGRAMS – The Frostburg State Planetarium is open most Sundays, with free programs starting at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. on April 3, 10, and 17. The Planetarium is in Tawes Hall 203, across the street from the Compton Science Center and near the Performing Arts Center. The April program is titled "The Sun's Neighbor Stars," focusing on the nearest stars to the sun. Also included is an introduction to the April and May evenings skies. Persons are advised to come early, as seating visitors after the program starts is difficult. To receive a Planetarium schedule (or bookmark), persons may telephone 301-687-7799 and give name and mailing address. Persons may also access the Planetarium section of the Frostburg State web site at www.frostburg.edu/planetarium.

Dr. Doyle writes this column for those who like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards.

Zaloga To Speak At Garrett Health Fair On April 16

Anthony Zaloga, head athletic trainer at Frostburg State University, will serve as keynote speaker at the Garrett County Health Fair scheduled for Saturday, April 16, at the Wisp Resort. Zaloga will address injury prevention for the physically active.

"For anyone who is engaged in physical activity, injuries are a real possibility. The risk of injury is relatively high for competitive high school and college athletes. There is also a significant risk of injury for people who are older and physically active," explained Zaloga.

"Regardless of age or activity, the physically active should be aware that steps can be prevented, or if not prevented, the severity of these injuries decreased. Injury prevention will hopefully make the overall exercise experience more enjoyable and rewarding."

In the presentation, Zaloga will discuss the basic biomechanics of many musculoskeletal injuries. Various procedures will be explained that may be used to decrease one's risk of injury. There will also be a discussion on the prevention of heat related injuries. A question and answer period will follow at the end of the presentation, which is scheduled to begin at 9:15 a.m.

Zaloga has been with the athletic department of Frostburg State University since 1978 and has extensive teaching experience with athletic training, biomechanics, sports medicine, first aid, personal wellness, and evaluation and prescription of exercise.

The speakers scheduled to follow Zaloga will be: Dr. Ronel Williams at 10:15 a.m., Dr. Charles Walch at 11:15 a.m., Dr. Margaret Kaiser at 12:15 a.m., and Dr. Donald Richter at 1:15 a.m.

Those interested in further information and/or booth registration may call 301-533-4178.

Public Invited To Join Local Pastor To Holy Land

Rev. Mel Menker, one of the pastors of Divine Hope Church, Oakland, will lead a 10-day Holy Land study journey, which will depart on Nov. 7 from Washington, D.C. (Dulles Airport). This will be Menker's 11th trip to the Holy Land, and the public is invited to join him.

The primary goal of this pilgrimage is to allow Christians to experience firsthand the land of their biblical roots. The program includes sightseeing, worship at selected places during the journey, and informative lectures. For those needing continuing education credits, two units are available.

This "Jesus and the Galilee" tour will include stops at various sites in Bethlehem, Jericho, Nazareth, and Jerusalem.

The cost of the trip is $3,312 per person based upon double occupancy. This cost includes round-trip airfare, deluxe motor coach, guided sightseeing, entrance to sites visited, first-class and superior class hotels, buffet breakfast and dinner daily, a Bible study guide, and an evening teaching series.

To obtain a brochure or to ask questions, persons may contact Menker at 301-334-5906 or hmenker@verizon.net.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Farmers' Market Training Session Set For April 11

To help farmers understand the recent changes and addition of new federal nutrition programs that can be accepted at farmers' markets, the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) is partnering with the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) to offer training for both the Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (FMNP – WIC and Seniors) and the Fruit and Vegetable Check (FVC) Program. This training is mandatory for farmers who want to accept checks from participants at authorized farmers' markets.

Training participants will learn about the different federal nutrition benefit programs, be provided with the policies and procedures for both the FMNP and the FVC program, and upon completion of the training will receive new signs to display at their market stands.

The training date, time, and location for Garrett County will be Monday, April 11, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension office, 1916 Maryland Highway, Suite A, Mtn. Lake Park.

Persons planning to attend the training session and/or who desire more information are asked to contact Amy Crone at 410-841-5776 or via e-mail at croneag@mda.state.md.us.

VISIT RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE – Members of the Allegany Farm Bureau Women's Committee recently visited the Ronald McDonald House in Baltimore. Members attending were Wilma Mallow, Hattie Brode, Jean Blubaugh, and Carolyn Ganoe of Garrett County. Donations of paper products, food, and soda tabs were given to support the services provided to children and parents while medical services are provided by the local hospitals. Pictured above presenting soda tabs are, from left, Sandy S. Pagnotti, executive director; Carolyn Ganoe, chairman of the Allegany Farm Bureau Women's Committee; and Deborah Hood, vice president of development. The Northern Garrett Republican Women's Club has also adopted the collection of soda tabs as a special community service project.

4-H Club News

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS

Twelve members and eight parents met on March 14. Haley Rocha read Psalms 23:1-4 as devotions. Sydnee Vandevender led the pledges. The program on Home Safety was postponed until the April meeting.

The health activity for this month was on listening and was presented by Jackie Blamble. The club decided to meet on March 27 at Pizza Hut before going to a movie as a group. Stacey Evans will get the information for this event.

County 4-H Day on June 11 was discussed. There are events scheduled other than the traditional visual presentations and public speaking events. Members are encouraged to participate.

The date chosen to pick up trash along the Eglon Road is April 18. The club will also be cleaning up the grounds at the Smallest Church this spring and at Farmers' Wildlife Club on April 11.

Stephanie Arnett has volunteered to coach a horticulture judging team. Members interested should make a decision by the April meeting, as competition on the state level is in July.

Time was spent on learning how to fill out the 4-H activity record prior to adjournment. Project talks were given by Wesley Spaid on "Breeding Hogs Using AI" and Danielle Blamble on "My Goat Projects." Demonstrations were given by Danielle Blamble on "How to Use a Camera" and Sierra Evans on "Easy Pizzas."

Savannah Arnett and Brooke Uphold led the group in singing "I'm a Nut." Sydnee Vandevender led recreation. Attending in addition to those mentioned were Daniel Conrad, Trevor Lipscomb, Jesse Schalker, Trevor Spaid, and Nathan Davis.

MONOLOGUES TO BE PRESENTED – Annie Oakley, left, and Sandra Day O'Conner, right, are among the women who will be highlighted during the presentation of "Making Waves . . . Making History; Women's History Monologues," slated at Garrett College as part of the Joan Crawford Lecture Series. See story.

Women's History Will Be Focus Of Crawford Lecture Series Presentation

by Peggy Santamaria

Students from Friendship Collegiate Academy, a charter public school in Washington, D.C., took a trip to western Maryland last week to tour Garrett College. The visit was coordinated as part of the school's GEAR UP (Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs) program, a federal initiative to mentor and facilitate student acceptance and success in college.

The GC tour was arranged by Calvin Ruffin, interim director of the GEAR UP college prep program at Friendship.

"We expose our students to the college admissions process through workshops, seminars, and college tours," he explained, adding that all juniors have the opportunity to select a college tour.

Friendship's visual art teacher Happy Olmstead accompanied the 18 students who traveled from D.C. to McHenry. She noted that some of the students were a bit skeptical about the distance and change in scenery into the country, as this was the first time that all of the students had visited Garrett County.

Apprehension, however, was short-lived, Olmstead noticed.

"As soon as they got off the bus and were greeted by the friendly staff and students, saw classrooms, and especially got to tour the dorms and glimpse campus life, they were impressed by Garrett College and excited about the possibilities there," she said. "As they boarded the bus to head back home, they were buzzing about how 'cool' this college is," she said, adding her thanks to the GC staff for giving the Friendship students such a positive impression of college life and the school.

"The Friendship visit illustrates the importance of the college visit," said Rachelle Davis, director of admissions for Garrett College. "Getting a feel for the campus and speaking to college staff, faculty, and current students are all essential to ensuring that the college of choice is a good fit."

Individuals interested in visiting Garrett College have an opportunity to attend two open house events, scheduled for Saturday, April 16, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and Tuesday, April 26, from 6 to 8 p.m.

For more information about the open house schedule of events, persons may call 301-387-3044 or go online to www.garrettcollege.edu. Prospective students who are not able to attend either of the open house events are encouraged to contact the Garrett College Admissions Department to set up a personal visit by calling 301-387-3044.

Washington, D.C., Area Students Pay Visit To Garrett College Campus

The second presentation of the Joan Crawford Lecture Series, "Making Waves . . . Making History; Women's History Monologues," is scheduled for next Wednesday, March 30, at noon in the Garrett College auditorium. The program is open to the public and free of charge.

This production will highlight the accomplishments of American women in various walks of life. Actors will deliver monologues based on the words and statements of each character. Women to be presented include: Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony, Ameilia Earhart, Eleanor Roosevelt, Alice Paul, Rosalind Franklin, Annie Oakley, Sandra Day O'Connor, Gloria Steinem, and Annie Lebowitz. Several musical numbers will also be featured in this multimedia production.

Terry Kasecamp, professor of psychology, is coordinating this production.

"Students in my Psychology of Women class are actively involved in this event," she said. "Several of the monologues will be performed by these students, while others will be performed by staff and faculty members."

For more information on the Joan Crawford Lecture Series, persons may telephone Kasecamp at 301-387-3005 or contact her via e-mail at terry.kasecamp@garrettcollege.edu.

AURORA/EGLON

BUCKWHEAT DINNER

A buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be held this Saturday, March 26, at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren from 3 to 8 p.m. There will also be an accompanying bake sale. Donations are $7 for adults, $4 for children ages 5 to 12, and free for those younger. Proceeds will benefit the Family Life Center.

LENTEN SERVICES

The Union District Lenten service for April 6 will be held at Brookside Church of the Brethren. Chaz Stoner is scheduled to speak at the 7 p.m. service.

AURORA SCHOOL

A new program for Aurora School pre-school children and their parents/child care providers will begin in early April. PAPP (parents as Powerful Partners) will offer a time weekly for preschool children to be in the school library for storytime and book selection for at-home reading and will also establish Friday play groups. Time will be given to share information with parents concerning the skills needed to guide their child(ren) to develop academically in order to be ready to enter their first year of formal school prepared to learn. Plans are to hold some evening session for parents on topics relevent to child development at these early stages. Those with children in this category and would like to register should call 304-735-3781.

The Aurora School Parent Advisory Committee is establishing an Academic Boosters Club for adults to support academic needs at the school. The current goal of this group is to help provide funding needed to purchase necessary technology items to be used for classroom instruction. These items would help students understand the skills needed in using different methods than they currently do.

Anyone willing to help this group is asked to contact Principal Varner at 304-735-3781.

AUTISM WALK

Leonard Parsons is again forming a team to participate in the annual Walk for Autism, slated for Saturday, April 9, in Cumberland. Those wishing to contribute funding for research should contact Parsons at 304-735-3301 or 636 Maple Spring Highway, Eglon, WV 26716. Donations must be sent by April 5. Checks should be made payable to Autism Speaks, for Leonard Parsons.

AURORA CEOS

Ressie Conrad hosted the recent meeting of the Aurora Community Education Outreach Service. She also presided over the meeting in the absence of the president. Opening devotions were given by Jeannie Whitehair.

"The Seven Wonders of the World" was a discussion concerning seven countries: Western Australia, Chile, Guatemala, Mexico, Spain, Samarkand, and Swaziland. In her presentation, Ressie Conrad used each of the six members to aid in the study, from which these suggestions were made: Learn a foreign language, cook a foreign dish, check out books from the local library, and/or do a computer search. Of the six present, two had visited foreign countries and added their comments on what had been outstanding to them personally.

Achievement in Kingwood will be attended by Jeannie Whitehair, Ressie Conrad, Opal Myers, and Martha Bolyard. Relay for Life is set for July 1 and 2.

A reflection on the benefits of spring included tips to enjoy them. Spend time outdoors. Get organized and clean or rearrange. Ressie Conrad used this as a special feature and also noted that March is National Nutrition Month. They suggested that everyone get their house organized and cleaned, stock the refrigerator with healthy vegetables and fruits, and then go outside.

The next meeting will be held on April 19 at Jeannie Whitehair's home. She is in charge of the lesson.

80TH BIRTHDAY OPEN HOUSE

An open house will be held on April 3 at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building to honor Peggy Myers, who will celebrate her 80th birthday. It will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Those unable to attend may send a card to 29245 George Washington Highway, Aurora, WV 26705. The family asks that no gifts be given.

BLOODMOBILE

A bloodmobile will be set up on Friday, April 8, from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Union Ambulance building, Aurora.

YARD SALES

The annual Rt. 50 yard sale is slated for May 21. Any donations are appreciated. Those with items to give that need transported should contact Dan Spaid at 304-735-3475, Mark Teets at 304-735-3481, or Devin Hauser at 301-334-3702 for pick-up. There will be an accompanying chicken barbecue beginning at 11 a.m. All proceeds will benefit the Family Life Center fund.

Maple Spring Church.

A garage sale will be held during the Heritage Days celebration, which will be held in July. The Aurora Historical Society is still seeking info and sports photos from Aurora High School.

PERSONAL

David and Delores Stemple and Dorothy Wiles recently went to Buffalo, W.Va., where they joined a tour to southern Ohio, Amish country. David's sister, Wanda Melton, invited them to join her on the trip.

Word was received on Sunday, March 20, of the death of Pastor Glenn Nissly, Long Island, Va. He was pastor at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. He and his wife recently took their youngest son Mathan to the Cincinnati Children's Hospital for surgery on his trachea.

Stacy Sisler, Rowlesburg, daughter of George and Bonnie Friend, Aurora, was recently invited to join the National Society of Collegiate Scholars for her academic performances at Kaplan University. She has also been on the dean's list since her enrollment at Kaplan in July 2010. She is expected to graduate March 2012, with an associate's degree in medical transcription.

NOTICE
(Minor)
(DOM REL 65)

The above Petitioners have filed a Petition for Change of Name in which they seek to change the name of a minor child from Terry En Lewis Shiflett to Terry En Lewis. The petitioners are seeking this name change for the child for the following reason: "When Terry was born, the parents were not married. They are now."

Any person may file an objection to the Petition on or before the 18th day of April 2011. The objection must be supported by an affidavit and served upon the Petitioner in accordance with Maryland Rule 1-321. Failure to file an objection or affidavit within the time allowed may result in a judgment by default or the granting of the relief sought.

A copy of this notice shall be published one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county at least fifteen (15) days before the deadline to file an objection.

Notice to Residents of Mountain Lake Park
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
on April 7, 2011

The Town of Mountain Lake Park will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on community development and housing needs, and to offer citizens the opportunity to hear and review plan for applications which the Town of Mountain Lake Park proposes to submit to the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development for funding through the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program. The hearing will be held at the Mountain Lake Park Town Hall located at 1007 Allegany Drive, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland, on April 7, 2011, beginning at 6:00 p.m.

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development, in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development.

The Maryland Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

(1) give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;

(2) aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;

(3) meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

Efforts will be made to accommodate the disabled and non-English speaking residents with a five-day advance notice by calling Judy Paugh, Clerk Treasurer, at 301-334-2250.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AND ANY IMPROVEMENTS THEREON
65 Brobst Rd.
Accident, MD 21520

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Tracey L. Espada and Eric D. Espada dated June 24, 2009, and recorded in Liber 1452, Folio 291, among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $407,000.00 and an original interest rate of 5.00000% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., located at 203 S. 4th St., Oakland, MD, at the East Alder St. entrance, on March 28, 2011, at 1:30 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with any buildings or improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, and any improvements thereon, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $41,000 in cash, cashier's check or certified check is required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public and/or private charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incidental to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall pay all applicable agricultural tax, if any. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay, attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if ratification of the sale is denied by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $395.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for preparation of deed and review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER
Town of Oakland Has Levels of Disinfection Byproducts Above Drinking Water Standards

Our water system recently violated a drinking water standard. Although this is not an emergency, as our customers, you have a right to know what happened, what you should do, and what we are doing to correct this situation.

We routinely monitor for the presence of drinking water contaminants. Disinfection byproducts are formed by a chemical reaction of chlorine with the organic material in the water, such as leaves and algae. esting results show that our system exceeds the standards, or maximum contaminant levels (MCL) for Total Trihalomethanes and Haloacetic Acids. The standard for Total Trihalomethanes is 80 parts per billion (ppb), and Haloacetic Acids is 60 ppb.

The average level of Disinfection Byproducts over the prior year (January 2008 – December 2008) was:

Total Trihalomethanes	84 ppb
Haloacetic Acids	85 ppb

What should you do? You do not need to use an alternative (e.g., bottled) water supply. However, if you have specific health concerns, consult your doctor.

What does this mean? This is not an immediate risk. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately. However, some people who drink water containing total trihalomethanes and haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

What happened? What is being done? Recently, the State of Maryland, Department of the Environment has made the byproducts limitations more stringent. Oakland has been working to lower the levels of total trihalomethanes and haloacetic acids over the past couple years in anticipation of the new requirements. Unfortunately, we have not been able to bring the levels down to meet the new guidelines. As a result, we have completed a study on our water system to determine what changes or improvements are necessary to bring our system into compliance. We previously awarded a contract for the design work necessary, to make improvements to our water plants which should bring our levels into compliance, based upon the completed study. The design work is nearly complete, and we expect to award a construction contract as soon as the design plans have been submitted to and approved by Maryland Department of the Environment.

For more information, please contact Randy Sharpless, Oakland Water Superintendent, by phone at 301-334-3836, or his mailing address is: Oakland Water Department, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

NOTE: Please feel free to share this information with all other people who drink this water, especially those who may not have received this notice directly (for example, people in apartments, nursing homes, schools, and businesses). You can do this by posting this notice in a public place or distributing copies by hand or mail.

This notice is being provided to you by the Town of Oakland, State Water System ID # 011-0008.

4-H'ers Take Part In 2011 Public Speaking Event At Garrett College

4-H members, parents, and volunteers met on Friday, March 11, at Garrett College to participate in the county Communications Event, also known as the Public Speaking Contest. Presentations by the youth, ages 8 to 18, were provided in four categories.

First were prepared speeches that the 4-H'ers wrote and practiced prior to the event.

Second were extemporaneous speeches that required the youth to select a topic at the site. They then had 15 to 30 minutes to plan and present their speech.

The third option was to prepare and present a 30-second radio spot to promote 4-H participation.

The fourth option was interpretation, which can be a dramatic, humorous, or poetry presentation.

Participants received the following awards:

In the prepared speech category, junior division, Anna Holtschneider, Country Kids 4-H Club, received a champion ribbon, and Madison Spurrier, Country Explorers, was the reserve champion.

In the senior division, Cameron Newman, Grantsville 4-H Club, was named champion.

Other participants were Megan DeBerry, Country Kids; Megan Harsh, Country Explorers; and Isaac Brenneman, North Star 4-H.

In the extemporaneous speech category, winners were Madison Spurrier of Country Explorers, champion in the junior division; Andrew Hauser, Country Explorers, champion in the intermediate division; Katelyn Gnegy, Country Explorers, champion in the senior division; and Kelsey Skipper, Red House 4-H Club, reserve champion in the senior division.

In the radio/public address speech category, winners were as follows:

In the junior division, Megan Harsh of Country Exporers was the champion, and Isaac Brenneman of North Star was the reserve champion.

In the intermediate division, Kaya Rinker of Country Explorers was the champion, and Sunni Royce of Country Explorers was the reserve champion.

In the senior division, Zach Frick of Country Explorers was the champion and Katelyn Gnegy of Country Explorers was the reserve champion.

Other participants were Country Explorer members Madison Spurrier, Lane Savage, Gertrude Tesar, Jacob Hauser, and Kenya Rinker.

There were no participants in the interpretation speech category.

All 4-H members named as champions are eligible to participate in the state public speaking contest on April 30 at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Judges for the county event were Sandi Flockhart, Marvin Beckman, Joyce Joslin, and Sherry Padovini.

Oakland's Divine Hope Accepted As Extension Campus

The Divine Hope Church in Oakland and the World Harvesters of Huntingdon, Tenn., have announced that the local church will serve as an extension campus of More Than Conquerors School of Theology.

MTC, which is recognized by Accrediting Commission International, has described the school as one of "practical knowledge," which assists students in becoming more effective servants of Jesus Christ. Though a professional student of theology may look to the gospels for Christian doctrine, MTC contends that a student of "practical theology" is trained to meet life's everyday challenges.

"Practical theology is for everyone. MTC is training men and women who understand that the great commission demands that we represent Christ, not only in the jungle villages, but also in the corporate boardrooms, the inner city, and everywhere in between," stated a spokesperson.

Classes at the extension campus Divine Hope Church are scheduled to begin on Thursday, April 28. The first class will be titled Knowing God's Voice.

Those interested in further information or a student packet may contact Rev. Mel Menker at 301-334-5906 and leave a message or e-mail hmenker@verizon.net.

New Germany Park Cleanup To Be Held April 9

New Germany State Park invites volunteers of all ages to participate in its annual Spring Cleanup Day from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, April 9.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for students to earn service learning hours for school while helping to keep their local park clean and beautiful," said Luke Mongrain, New Germany park ranger.

Volunteers will work together with park staff to help clean up and prepare the park for the upcoming summer season. A free pizza lunch will be provided for the volunteers, courtesy of the Friends of New Germany.

Volunteers are encouraged to pre-register by contacting Ranger Mongrain at 301-895-5453 or lmongrain@dnr.state.md.us. For more information about New Germany State Park, persons are invited to visit http://dnr.maryland.gov online, or call the ranger station at 301-895-5453.

According to a recent study, conducted in partnership with the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, and the Maryland Association of Destination Marketing Organizations, Maryland state parks have an estimated annual economic benefit of more than $650 million. In 2010, visitors directly spent more than $567 million locally, or $25.56 locally for every dollar the state invests in state Parks, during their visits. In addition, 94 to 95 percent of visitors said that they had their expectations met or exceeded during visits.

On Dean's List At Grove City College

Ashley Walters, a senior business economics major at Grove City College, has been named to the dean's list with distinction for the fall 2010 semester. Walters is a 2007 graduate of Southern High School and is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Daryl Walters of Mtn. Lake Park.

To be eligible for the distinguished dean's list a student must obtain a grade point average of 3.85 or higher.

Swanton Man Receives Eight Years In DOC

A 56-year-old Swanton man was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court by Judge Daniel Moylan (ret.) to a total of eight years in the Division of Corrections for two cases.

In the first case, Samuel Matthew Storey pleaded guilty to reckless endangerment and was sentenced to five years. He then admitted to violating his probation and received an additional three years.

Storey was originally charged on Sept. 9, 2010, by Garrett County sheriff's deputies who responded to an apartment building in Mountain Lake Park for a shot being fired. Investigation revealed that Storey was in an altercation with a man in an apartment across the hall from where Storey was visiting. After the altercation was over, Storey re-entered the apartment where he was staying and fired a shot through the door of that apartment that also went through the wall of the apartment across the hall. Four people were present in the victim's apartment.

Storey was on probation from a 2007 arrest on motor vehicle offenses. He was found guilty in Circuit Court in September 2008 of driving under the influence and driving revoked. He was sentenced to a total of 4½ years, with three years suspended.

After completing the 18-month jail sentence, Storey was on probation for five years. The events of Sept. 9, 2010, at the Mtn. Lake Park apartment violated that probation, the state's attorney noted.

In an unrelated Circuit Court case this week, Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Michael Lynn Ware Jr., 31, Oakland, to five years in the DOC for a felony theft charge. Sherbin then suspended all but 12 months of the sentence.

After his release from the Garrett County Jail, Ware will be on probation, with conditions that include the payment of fines, costs, and restitution of approximately $2,600.

Ware was arrested in June 2010 after investigation by Garrett County sheriff's deputies led to him being identified as one of two men inside an Oakland business removing items, including a laptop and various tools. The burglary/theft report was received by the Sheriff's Office in December 2009. Investigation had

A FURNACE MALFUNCTION has been determined to be the cause of a fire that resulted in major damage to a Crellin business and attached apartment. Volunteers from several area fire departments responded to Bud's Liquor Store, located along Rt. 39 in Crellin, early Sunday morning and found heavy flames coming from the attached apartment. The part of the structure housing the business also sustained significant damage. There were no injuries reported. This was one of two structure fires in the county over the past weekend, as a mobile home in the Friendsville area was also heavily damaged on Saturday. See story for details. Photo by Kyle Lantz.

Marcellus Shale Lecture Series To Continue April 7

The University of Maryland's Extension's lecture series on Marcellus shale education will continue at the Eastern Garrett County Fire Department, Finzel, on Thursday, April 7, at 7 p.m. The topic will be safety policies implemented by the industry since drilling began in 2007 in Pennsylvania.

Since last fall, the University of Maryland Extension has provided educational programs related to natural gas extraction from the Marcellus shale to citizens of Garrett and Allegany counties. With the potential passage of Maryland's Safe Drilling Act, Marcellus shale drilling may be delayed until an interagency study concludes that adequate regulations are in place to minimize potential adverse environmental and socioeconomic impacts.

"University of Maryland Extension (UME) plans to continue offering educational forums throughout this regulatory development process," noted Dr. Jennifer Bentlejewski, area extension director. "UME plans to continue to compile and share research related to drilling so that citizens of western Maryland may make

Local Lawmaker To Serve As Md. Budget Conferee

Del. Wendell R. Beitzel (R–Dist. 1A) has been selected by House leadership to serve as a conferee on the Fiscal Year 2012 Operating Budget, and as an advisor to the conferees on the Budget Reconciliation and Financing Act (BRFA). This is the second year in a row that Beitzel has been named as a conferee.

"This is a great opportunity to provide meaningful and effective representation for the people of Garrett and Allegany counties," said Beitzel.

He was selected by House Appropriations chairman Norman Conway and is the only Republican selected to be a conferee or advisor from the House. Conference committees are convened when there are differences within the House and Senate versions of any measure, and where the bodies do not wish to yield to the opposing committee's position.

Members of the House and Senate are selected by leadership to meet and work out the differences between the bills.

"There are some items in the budget that I disagree with, but it is the product of input from both political

Mobile Home, Crellin Business Ravaged By Fires Over Weekend

A mobile home in the Friendsville area and a business location with an apartment in Crellin sustained major fire damages in two separate incidents this past weekend.

Friendsville, Accident, and Addison, Pa., firefighters were summoned to 201 Sand Spring Road at 10:16 a.m. on Saturday when fire broke out in a single-wide mobile home with a wood-frame addition.

Property owner Sherry Vansickle discovered the blaze in an interior bedroom and called 911 for assistance. The cause of the fire remains under investigation, according to a report filed by Deputy State Fire Marshal Jamie Rodeheaver.

It took the 28 volunteers about 20 minutes to bring the fire under control. There were no injuries reported. Rodeheaver estimated the loss to be $15,000 to the structure and $5,000 to contents.

Fire units remained on the scene for about two hours. Also responding were the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad and the Maryland State Police.

Anyone with additional information about the incident is asked to telephone the fire marshal's office at 877-890-0199.

Some 50 firefighters from the Oakland, Deer Park, Deep Creek, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Gorman volunteer fire departments were called to 2370 Hutton Road in Crellin at 12:24 a.m. on Sunday, when fire was discovered in a one-story structure that houses Bud's Li-quor Store and an apartment.

According to the report filed by DSFM Rodeheaver, the fire originated in the interior of the apartment on the west side of the wood-frame structure, and was determined to be the result of a furnace malfunction.

It took about 45 minutes to bring the blaze under control, and units were on the scene for about three hours.

Francis Williams, the owner of the property, discovered the fire and called for assistance. The Southern Garrett Rescue Squad also responded. There were no injuries reported.

Rodeheaver estimated the loss to be $25,000 to the structure and $10,000 to contents.

READING COUNCIL MEETS COLLARD, GEARS UP TO WELCOME HIM – Garrett Reading Council (GRC) officers attended the annual State of Maryland International Reading Association Council (SoMIRAC) conference this week in Baltimore, and had the opportunity to meet and talk with author Sneed Collard III. Collard will be visiting Garrett County next week as the special guest at GRC's 10th anniversary celebration. The author will present his story as scientist, author, and publisher at GRC's free program in the Garrett College auditorium on Monday, April 4, at 7:15 p.m. The public is welcome and encouraged to attend. Collard will be available to sign his books. Pictured from left are Erica Foley, GRC vice president and Young Authors Contest coordinator; Liz Rees Gilbert, president; Collard; Randee Craig, GRC founder; and Donna Deal, past president.

Comm. Rejects Bill To Rename Negro Mountain

The Senate Education, Health and Environmental Affairs Committee yesterday rejected Senate Joint Resolution 3, a measure that would have established a commission to change the names of Negro and Polish mountains, Del. Wendell Beitzel (R–Dist. 1A) announced.

"This measure has been overwhelmingly opposed by the District 1 Delegation," he noted.

All of the members of the delegation testified in opposition during the Senate hearing. Beitzel and Kevin Kelly (D–Dist. 1B) also recently testified before the House Rules and Executive Nominations Committee in opposition to the House version of the bill, House Joint Resolution 8.

"It is rewarding to know that the effort of a few to rename our mountains has been rejected by the Senate committee," Beitzel said. "I am grateful to Chairman Conway and the members of the Education Health and Environmental Affairs Committee for hearing the voices of many from western Maryland on this issue."

The measure, sponsored by Baltimore City Senator Lisa Gladden (D–Dist. 41), would have required the governor to establish a commission that would have submitted its findings to the General Assembly on or before Dec. 31. Gladden was joined by eight co-sponsors, all of whom are from Montgomery County, Prince George's County, or Baltimore City.

"It is my hope that this will put this matter to rest so that we can move forward with the pressing issues of the state," concluded Beitzel.

BOE Will Hold April 5 Meeting At Southern Middle

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, April 5, beginning at 4 p.m. The meeting will take place in the cafeteria at Southern Middle School.

Following the opening of the meeting at 4 p.m., the board will meet in closed session until 5:30 p.m.

After the closed session, public agenda topics will include action on the 2011-12 proposed school calendar and the date for the 2011 retirement dinner.

Information items will include the 2012 budget update and school closing recommendation.

At 7:15 p.m., the board will recognize the designer of the 2010 Christmas card.

Time will be set aside at approximately 7:45 p.m. for public comment and participation on any topic. The BOE invites the public to attend.

BEACHY NAMED COMPETITION WINNER – Sean Elliot Beachy, DMA, Grantsville, recently won the fifth annual Anthem Competition of the First Baptist Church of Worcester, Mass. The winning anthem, titled, "A New Birth" and based on the assigned competition text from I Peter 1:3-6a, garnered a $1,300 prize. Beachy was raised in Grantsville and attended Alderson-Broaddus College in Philippi, W.Va., where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in applied piano. In May 2002, he earned a master of music degree in composition from Shenandoah University. Beachy recently graduated from West Virginia University with a doctor of musical arts degree in composition. He has had pieces premiered and performed throughout the United States. In 2007 he won the first annual Anthem Competition at First Baptist with "Then I Saw a New Heaven...." Beachy is currently a freelance composer and accompanist. He is the church organist at Frostburg United Methodist Church and is also the accompanist for various local high school choral programs and instructors at Frostburg State University and West Virginia University. In addition, he is a staff accompanist at Frostburg. He resides in Grantsville with his wife Debi, 7-year-old son Evan, and 1-year-old daughter Ella. Beachy's anthem will be premiered by the Chancel Choir at First Baptist Church on May 1 during the 10 a.m. worship service as part of its Music & Arts Weekend.

Bloomington Man Charged In Connection With Area Burglaries

A man who had been living in Garrett County since being released from prison less than three months ago is back in custody after Maryland State Police investigators uncovered a theft scheme that is believed to involve burglaries in multiple counties and at least one neighboring state.

Edward A. Morton, 57, Bloomington and Swanton, has been charged with theft scheme over $10,000 in Garrett County, and multiple charges are pending against him in other jurisdictions. He is incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail on $2.5 million bond.

In late February, Maryland State Police at the McHenry Barrack received information indicating Morton, who had been released from prison in early January, was receiving checks from pawn shops in Maryland, Washington, D.C., New York, and North Carolina that amounted to tens of thousands of dollars. Troopers knew Morton had been in prison for committing multiple burglaries in which jewelry and coins were stolen.

Troopers began an immediate investigation that included calls to multiple pawn shops. In early March, state police investigators learned a pawn shop in Charlotte, N.C., had received a package of jewelry from Morton. The pawn shop owner gave troopers a description of the items, including a 1970 Damascus High School ring.

With just the graduation year and the initials inside the ring, a state police investigator called Damascus High School and then made multiple calls to members of the 1970 graduating class. Within days, he had identified the owner of the ring as a woman who lives in Frederick. He contacted her, and she confirmed the ring had been stolen along with other items during a recent burglary at her home.

Troopers contacted investigators from the Frederick County Sheriff's Office with this information and enlisted their assistance in identifying burglaries in Frederick County. Police served search warrants at the residences of Morton and his brother in Garrett County. A large amount of coins and jewelry were found in Morton's apartment in Bloomington.

Morton was arrested by Maryland State Police last Friday morning in Garrett County. Additional charges against him are pending.

At this time, he has not been connected to any burglaries in Garrett County. Police are reviewing cases in Frederick County and West Virginia. They are also continuing to follow up with pawn shops that Morton is believed to have sent items to in an ongoing effort to recover stolen property.

LOCAL BOARDER TO COMPETE NATIONALLY — Sixteen-year-old local snowboarder Colin Lynch will participate in the United States of America Snowboard Association's National Championship at Copper Mountain in Colorado on Saturday. Lynch qualified for the national competition by taking the top overall position in the junior boys' 16-17 division in the USASA Appalachian Series, a regional league which encompasses Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, and Virginia. He competes in all five competitive snowboarding disciplines: slopestyle, halfpipe, boardercross, slalom, and giant slalom. This year after 21 regional events, Lynch will make his fourth trip to the competition at Copper Mountain. When not contending at the national level, the honor student is a coach and a member of the Deep Creek Winter Sports Team, a member of the Southern High School soccer and tennis teams, and a participant in the Model UN Club. He is the son of Elyzabeth Savage and the grandson of Drs. William and Ruta Savage of Swanton.

State Superintendent Of Schools Grasmick Announces Retirement

Maryland State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick announced yesterday her intention to retire this summer, which will end her nearly 20-year tenure at the helm of the nation's most honored public school system.

Dr. Grasmick, 72, has served as state superintendent in Maryland since September of 1991. She currently ranks as the nation's longest-serving appointed state schools chief. She will retire June 30.

Maryland this year has already received several national accolades. Education Week in January named Maryland the #1 school system in the nation for an unprecedented third straight year. The College Board in February followed up by citing Maryland student success in the rigorous Advanced Placement exams as the nation's best, also for the third consecutive year.

"Our students and our schools have made tremendous progress over the past two decades, and stand on the edge of even greater progress," Dr. Grasmick said. "It has been my great honor and privilege to work with our state's outstanding educators to provide our children with the educational system they richly deserve."

For seven consecutive years, Maryland's school systems have raised scores in both reading and math, and there has been strengthened achievement across racial subgroups. Student achievement also has increased for students receiving special services, such as low-income and students with disabilities. At the same time, MSDE data reveal a reduction in many achievement gaps between subgroups, especially at the elementary-school level.

Maryland has seen significant improvement in other areas. Its work in the Advanced Placement program has been cited, logging the nation's greatest increases in the percentage of students scoring at college mastery levels in the exams. Graduation rates in the state have risen steadily over the past 20 years, while dropout rates have fallen.

Determined to strengthen school performance across the board, Grasmick led the state to initiate one of the nation's first accountability systems, predating the federal No Child Left Behind Act by several years and receiving national recognition along the way.

In other pioneering efforts, MSDE initiated what may be the nation's first state division for leadership development, designating the principal as instructional leader for each school. The department four years ago launched the nation's first statewide award to honor parents who contribute to school improvement. The state more than a decade ago set in place the nation's only service learning graduation requirement.

Grasmick has also put a special focus on early childhood development. The Maryland Model for School Readiness, which charts the preparation of students as they enter kindergarten, has earned a reputation as a national model. Over the past nine years, the percentage of children deemed to be fully prepared for kindergarten has risen from 49 percent to 81 percent. During that span, Maryland has moved all early care programs under MSDE, and the department initiated an innovative curriculum for pre-school students linked to the state's K-12 curriculum.

Last summer, Maryland was awarded one of the U.S. Department of Education's 12 Race to the Top grants, a $250 million program designed to take the nation's top school system to a new level of excellence. The grant is directed at continuing the improvement of the state's lowest performing schools, redesigning teacher tenure, strengthening data collection, and constructing a new system of teacher and principal evaluation that puts student performance at its heart.

Grasmick's career in education began as a teacher of deaf children at the William S. Baer School in Baltimore City. Over the next 30 years, she served as a classroom and resource teacher, principal, supervisor, assistant superintendent, and associate superintendent. She is the only person in Maryland history to hold two cabinet-level positions simultaneously; in 1991, she served as special secretary for children, youth, and families while also serving as state superintendent of schools.

A graduate of the Baltimore City Public Schools, Grasmick holds a doctorate degree from the Johns Hopkins University, an M.S. from Gallaudet University, and a B.S. from Towson University. She served on the President's Commission on Excellence in Special Education and has garnered numerous awards, including the Harold W. McGraw Jr. Prize in Education; the College Board's first President's Award for K-12 Leadership; the Maryland State Conference of the NAACP's Community Service Award; the Johns Hopkins University's Woodrow Wilson Award; the James Bryant Conant Award from the Education Commission of the States; and the American Academy of Pediatrics' Child Advocacy Award.

Grasmick recently served on the American Academy of Sciences task force that produced "Rising Above the Gathering Storm," a report that spotlighted math, science, and technology education in this country. She has been inducted into the Daily Record's "Circle of Excellence," an honor bestowed only on those named to the newspaper's Top 100 Women list, more than three times. Just last month she was named along with developer David Cordish as the first two inductees into the Daily Record's "Circle of Influence," honoring influential Marylanders who have a positive impact in the state "in a wide variety of ways and settings."

"I want to thank Dr. Grasmick for her service to the children, parents, and educators of our state as she steps down from her role as state superintendent," said Governor Martin O'Malley following her retirement announcement. "From her days teaching deaf children in Baltimore City, to now serving as the head of America's #1 public school system, Dr. Grasmick has been long regarded as a champion for many of the progressive reforms we've implemented in Maryland. These same reforms have helped build the foundation for the nation's top-ranked schools.

"I want to wish Dr. Grasmick the very best in her future endeavors, and thank her for her years of service to the people of our state."

Oakland Lodge To Host Open House Saturday

The Masonic temple of Oakland Lodge #192, Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, located at 3 South First Street, will conduct an open house this Saturday, April 2, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The event is held as part of the Maryland Grand Lodge's statewide project titled "Ask A Free Mason Open House."

For the first time in its history, the Oakland Masonic temple will be open to the community in an effort to welcome perspective members and provide information on local Masonic organizations. Representatives from all affiliate organizations will be available to answer questions about their respective groups.

These organizations include Oakland Masonic Lodge #192, Oakland Order of the Eastern Star, and the Order of Rainbow for Girls. Each group will have an information table, and representatives will be available to answer questions and provide membership information.

The goal for the Grand Lodge of Maryland is to have 25,000 members by 2025. In the past several decades, membership in Freemasonry and its affiliates has been facing a steady decrease, as are many organizations. In 1961, there were 49,000 members, and by 2009, that number had dropped to 17,000.

Lodge members hope this event will help dispel any misconceptions about the organization, while heralding its benefits and history, according to Tom Tressler, current Worshipful Master of Oakland Lodge #192.

"Freemasonry is the world's oldest and largest fraternal organization," said Tressler. "It is believed to have been started by a stonemasons guild during the Middle Ages. The organization was formally introduced in the U.S. in 1715. The Grand Lodge of Maryland was founded in the same year as the U.S. Constitution. In fact, 13 of the signatures on the Constitution are those of Masons, and 15 U.S. presidents have been members of the brotherhood."

Tressler said that Freemasonry is not a religion, but in fact respects all religions.

"The idea that Freemasonry is a secret society is also untrue," he added.

Masonic organizations are public supporters of various charity and community initiatives. Masons raise money and donate more than $1.4 million every day in the United States.

Additional information on this membership initiative can be found at www.mdmasons.org.

FLL TEAM TO HOST DONATION DINNER – The NeXT GEN FLL Team will host a taco salad and baked potato bar donation dinner at the Pleasant Valley Community Center this Friday, April 1, from 4 to 7 p.m. The dinner will feature robot demos, research presentations, 50/50 raffles, great food, and fun. GCSO Seeking Info On Two Area Burglaries

Investigators with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office are investigating two residential burglaries in the Steyer Mine Road area that occurred around noon on Monday.

Deputies first responded to a residence when a homeowner reported that as she was returning home, she observed a man on an ATV exiting her property. After she entered the home, she discovered it had been burglarized, with currency missing. As deputies were conducting a neighborhood check, one additional burglary was discovered at a residence located on the same road.

The suspect is described as wearing a camouflage jacket and riding a dark colored ATV.

Garrett County Crime Solvers Seeking Info

Garrett County Crime Solvers are seeking information in several vandalism, theft, and burglary cases that have occurred over the course of the last few weeks. It is unknown if the following cases are related.

Several traffic safety devices were stolen from the area of Finzel Road and National Pike sometime between March 12 and 13. Numerous red cones and large orange construction signs were taken from the Carl Belt Construction site.

Several items were stolen from a Valley Road residence sometime during the daytime hours of March 21. Electronics valued at approximately $300 were taken.

Multiple residential yards were damaged during the nighttime hours of March 25 and the following morning. An unknown vehicle reportedly drove through yards along Garrett Road.

The vandalism of several vehicles in the Mtn. Lake Park is currently under investigation. Unknown person(s) threw eggs at numerous vehicle sometime on March 26, causing paint damage.

The vandalism of a mailbox in the Shady Dell Road area is under investigation. Between the hours of 9 p.m. on March 27 and 7:30 a.m. the following morning, a mailbox was struck by an unknown vehicle.

Anyone with information regarding any of the above-mentioned incidents is encouraged to contact the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911 or leave an anonymous tip online at www.garrettcountycrimesolvers.org. Tipsters may eligible for a cash reward.

Sanitarians Provide Vital Services For Local Communities

Garrett County Health Department personnel recently presented an update report on environmental health issues to the county commissioners, including food service inspections, rabies clinics, and water well permits.

Health officer Rodney Glotfelty noted the Environmental Health Division currently has six full-time and one part-time sanitarians who perform a wide variety of tasks for the county.

"Sanitarians are licensed professionals who do environmental work related to public health in our department," Glotfelty explained.

They are required to have a bachelor's degree in science, with a emphasis in laboratory courses. They must also have two years' experience before they can take the sanitarian test and become licensed.

"The advantage of our staff is they've been here a long time," Glotfelty said about the sanitarians. "If you look at some of the other counties, environmental health people come and go. It's rare to keep somebody for more than two or three years in some of big counties. We have years and years of experience."

The health officer noted that he started his career as an environmental sanitarian and still maintains his license.

"The things that the environmental health staff does really contribute to this community," Glotfelty said.

He added, however, that few people realize how much they come into contact with the staff's work on a daily basis, from drinking water to eating in a restaurant to flushing a toilet.

"It's important work," the health officer said. "If you look at the advances we've made in life expectancy in the last 100 years, a lot of that is because of environmental engineering and some of the regulatory work that goes on day-in and day-out with environmental health."

Tina Buckle, assistant director of environmental health, presented data from some of that work. Food service inspection is one of her division's biggest programs. Currently, 295 permanent facilities are licensed, she noted.

"We license all of the restaurants, schools, bars, hospitals, health care facilities,

In loving memory of
HAZEL L. ROUNDS
April 4, 1931 – June 27, 2005
In Our Hearts
We thought of you with love today,
But that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday
And days before that too.
We think of you in silence.
We often speak your name.
Now all we have is memories
And your picture in a frame.
Your memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part.
God has you in his keeping.
We have you in our heart.

"Hear, Hear," Jay

An editorial in this past Sunday's Baltimore Sun by Jay Hancock strongly urges the Maryland legislature to reject the offshore wind farm project being pushed so strongly by the governor, referring to the proposal as "O'Malley's folly." He suggests that the effort by Gov. O'Malley is primarily the result of his great desire to win the race between Maryland and some other East Coast states to be first to complete such a project. Hancock alleges that O'Malley wants to win this race because he believes it will score major points for his own political career.

Hancock agrees that additional energy production is needed in Maryland, and that replacing polluting coal-fired plants is a good idea, but then points out that a 2007 study commissioned by O'Malley's own regulators found that offshore wind is the single most expensive way for the state to accomplish this. The report said that producing offshore wind entails "much greater costs" than even onshore wind production, and that the economic payoff for an offshore project would be "extremely negative."

He goes on to note that the cost of installing and operating offshore turbines is proving substantially higher than early estimates, and growing all the time. Seems that the engineering required to anchor the pylons in the deep ocean waters, along with the extreme corrosive nature of sea water are among the things that those who originated idea had not really considered, or at least grossly underestimated.

Hancock uses as an example a wind farm located offshore in England that is similar in size to the one proposed for Maryland. That project had cost overruns over more than $160,000,000. Another example cited was the capital cost estimate for a project off Massachusetts (another state "in the race") that is now $2.5 billion, or more than twice the original estimate.

Money to pay for Maryland's project would come from a significant monthly surcharge on the utility bill for every Marylander for decades.

The Sun writer then states that, while the cost of producing electricity with wind turbines has continued to spiral, the cost of natural gas has been decreasing dramatically, and is expected to remain low for a long time. Electricity production via gas-powered plants is not as clean as that from wind turbines, but is considerably cleaner than even our most modern coal-fired plants.

Hancock concludes his column with, "Stop O'Malley's folly. Let other states win the offshore wind race. Let their governors soak their ratepayers. Let their citizens wake up with the rue felt in Massachusetts, where a post-mortem examination by the [Boston] Globe found a political process that sounds a lot like what's going on in Annapolis."

Given all that has been shared in this column on the various negatives surrounding wind farms (to some, no doubt, ad nauseam), in response to Mr. Hancock's thoughts, this writer says, "Hear, hear!"

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

At the Candidates' Forum held at GC last October (you were moderator, I think) Delegate Beitzel was asked about the fact that he owned land that he wanted to lease for natural gas drilling in the Marcellus shale. I believe that he acknowledged that fact and said he would abstain from voting on any legislation concerning that.

I think he recently voted No on HB 852, which would provide for a moratorium on the drilling in Marcellus shale in Maryland. Have I missed something here? How would this not be considered a conflict of interest?

Phil Perry
Friendsville

To the Editor:

I would like to know why Wendell Beitzel is voting on and placing amendments on a bill that calls for a two-year moritorium on drilling for gas in Maryland. He owns property that is pending a lease with the gas companies and has a personal interest in this issue. Isn't that a conflict of interest? He should recuse himself from the vote, or am I missing something?

Charlie McLaughlin
Oakland

To the Editor:

The Marcellus shale frackers are poised at our borders ready to invade while our local leaders render aid and comfort to them, leading the charge bearing that infamous flag, the double standard.

Red-bees (real estate developers and builders) oppose wind power: a clean, relatively benign, source of energy.

The Garrett County commissioners, in an ingratiating nod to red-bees, are changing language in the CCP (county comprehensive plan) that pertains to ridgeline development. Said changes will result in more "McMansions," sometimes misleadingly called "cabins," with their larger footprint and bigger impact on the environment than wind towers.

U.S. 219, the former "Scenic Highway," is littered with huge billboards, mini-amusement parks, sprawling strip malls, garish red, flashing signs, and denuded ridgelines covered with ugly, tank-like structures sans trees and natural vegetation so owners can have others look up to them while they look down. So much for scenic beauty.

The commissioners are considering rolling out the dreaded Z-gun again, one of the most destructive weapons ever conceived by "bigger" government. Don't be fooled; Dems and Repubs use the same weapons. Zoning suits them both, as they seek even greater power. Zoning is simply the distribution of favors to the well-connected.

The Chamber of Commerce opposes a small minimum wage increase, while some fat cat greedbags continue to rake in the money.

Capitalistic socialism, the latest iteration of democracy with its taxpayer subsidies to the military industrial complex, promises a huge debt for future generations.

The G.C. school superintendent proposes closing two elementary schools. Apparently, "thinking" is not in his lexicon of problem solving.

Am I the only one who feels like an unwilling extra in a B-grade horror flick titled "Democracy Denied"?

George Falter
McHenry

To the Editor:

To the gentlemen of the commission:

I'll move heaven and earth supporting your decision to hold or reduce taxes. If you believe closing schools is inevitable, let them do it now while blame falls where it belongs – on the incompetents who let the situation deteriorate. This isn't political; it is letting the chips fall where they belong. Postponing it, then closing them anyway is going to put you in the crosshairs and will be a distraction from some of the other things you might be able to accomplish.

Best regards and good luck,
Bill Welch
Gortner

To the Editor:

The title of last week's editorial – "Bite that Bullet, Gentlemen" – caught my interest in a most pleasing way. By the end of the first sentence, though, where you described the obscene wallowing in an exponentially increasing river of cash that got our last commissioners expelled from office as "holding the line on the property tax rate," I realized that biting the bullet, in the mindset of this detestable nanny state we've become, means raising taxes.

My wife works for the state of Maryland. In the last year not only have her benefits and real wages been cut, but her work load has increased due to reduced staffing. My own business is down more than 40%, with no improvement in sight. We work longer hours, eat out less often, partake of fewer movies, don't replace our clothing or vehicles, and go on fewer and less expensive vacations. That, sir, is what biting the bullet means to me.

Now that our local government has to exist on a "mere $244,000" increase, and the excess from the fat years has been squandered in yet more government growth, the whining begins, with "our own children" and "our own future" [emphasis yours] held hostage.

Parts of your editorial are absolutely correct: Yes, we are a generous folk, and yes, talk of raising our taxes provokes a negative response. The success of our futures doesn't lie in government; it's becoming increasingly clear, however, that all of our futures may be ruined by our government's insatiable appetite for spending.

My advice to our new commissioners is the same as yours: Bite that bullet, gentlemen. Don't be fooled into believing that it's "courageous" to raise taxes. Learn to live within your means, as do the rest of us, or you will quickly join your predecessors as we voters search for someone who will.

To the Editor:

I know a young man who was a volunteer firefighter in Kitzmiller and a volunteer for Southern Rescue Squad. He had been given the opportunity to save lives by fire truck and ambulance. This is a proud choice he made and expected nothing in return for his volunteer service.

This young man also used to work for Garrett Medical Transport and Buster's Tree Service. He is 42 years young, lives in Kitzmiller, and can no longer work to provide for his family. He can no longer volunteer to save lives. A viral infection took all of this away from him in October 2010. This infection moved into and affected his heart; he had congestive heart failure in February 2011. Doctors operated to place a defibrillator in his chest to restart his heart each time it quits. His heart functions at about 20%, he is on 13 different medicines daily, visits the doctor often, and does not know if he will be alive today or tomorrow.

This is a terrible situation for such a young man so full of life, but it gets worse. His wife is also suffering from a debilitating disease that does not give her the ability to work. She also makes lots of trips to the doctor. Their old cars are paid off or they would've been re-possessed. They are living with his wife's mother to have a roof over their head. Their younger son is in high school, and their older son works to contribute to help cover his parents' necessities.

This is the life of the Kenny Haught family. There will be a benefit dinner for Kenny Haught on Saturday, April 9. The ham dinner will be served in the Donald Browning hall of the Southern Rescue Squad from 4 to 8 p.m. Carry-outs will be available. For more info, please call 301-334-3000.

Thank you,
Elaine Hinebaugh

To the Editor:

I attended the meeting on March 24 in regard to the potential closing of Kitzmiller Elementary School. Closing the doors of KES not only will close the doors of our school, but also the doors to our children's education, library, and community. It will also decrease family time.

I learned that several families moved to Kitzmiller because of the reputation of this small school and its involvement in the community. I also learned that the KES parents and families have over 2,000 hours of volunteer time this year. That shows you that our community is behind our children. So, I ask, "Where are you?"

Let me share with you the benefits that Kitzmiller Elementary School has to offer.

THE STATE OF OUR BIZ...

The America East Technology and Operations Conference took place a few weeks ago in Hershey, Pa., also known as the Land o' Chocolate, of course. My husband John and I made the trip up there and stayed two days, as the conference was all about the newspaper and journalism industry. We felt the effort to get there and take part was important, to obtain pertinent information and converse with our professional peers, and to bring what we learned back to our company, and to our community. We must do what we can to keep this 134-year-old newspaper and commercial print shop chugging along, even in this time of constant, daily change in our industry, so the trip was worth it. And of course there was the chocolate...

One of the most important things I felt I should relate to the folks back home is that the newspaper industry, contrary to its own national reports, is not dead. There are some growing pains going on, no question, and they are similar to the ones that I think Dr. Bruce Banner must feel when he's really angry, or perhaps those of a werewolf in the throes of his nasty change-over. There are contortions and writhing and yes, some howling. But the industry is indeed alive, and is actually thriving in some ways.

We were especially happy to learn that one particular type of publication has a fairly solid niche so far, and that is the home-town, community newspaper. We were pleased to see through a range of examples how newspapers like The Republican continue to serve a solid purpose for readers, and how even 20-somethings, with their lightning-speed consumption of instantaneous news, feel some affection for their good ole' county papers. Now, how they read their "papers" is a topic all itself, but the information they can and do receive from their home-town publications is important to them. They can all get national and international headlines in about two seconds on their iPods and Smartphones, their iPads and Nooks. But they must still look to papers like ours for their own community's events and happenings. We certainly plan to continue to provide that information for all our readers, including our younger set. And yes, we are working on the "instantaneous" part.

One of the big topics of the conference was the issue of online subscriptions. I must say that we in The Republican newsroom have been aghast and frustrated with this from day one. When papers started coughing up their stuff for free online, we railed against it. And we, thank you very much, were right. You might be noticing that the big boys are now going paid, at least to a degree. The New York Times, as of a few weeks ago, allows readers to access up to 15 articles a month for free. After that, they must pay. And does that not make sense? I always say that before the Internet, no one – and I mean no one – came into our office, pointed at our paper, and said, "Give me that." But thanks to the big papers throwing all their hard work out there for free to the masses, the masses now feel entitled. Never before the Internet did people say, "Why do you charge for your paper? Can't you just survive on the advertising?" Firstly, no, we can't, not nearly as well; and secondly, why in the world should we give away our product? That cheapens it entirely. A newspaper takes work. A writer goes to an event, school which is the nucleus of the community. A small school in which literally everyone must participate in order to make a project a success. This promotes among students a sense of belonging and pride, not only in their school, but more importantly, in themselves.

Discipline is usually not a serious problem, thereby resulting in an increase in time spent learning.

Low pupil-teacher ratios allow for more individualized instruction and more attention given to students. This promotes high morale for teachers and the students.

Parents, families, and community are very involved in and devoted to their children and school activities. This instills in the children the importance of getting an education.

A world of knowledge is provided in the library, the school's and community's resource for books, computers, and Internet service.

I feel that some of you making the final decision have not had the privilege of growing up in a small town, going to a small school, and living in a small community. You have not had the privilege of knowing that sense of pride, that attitude and sense of personal possession, and being involved in a community that is centered around their school. If you had grown up with all of this, then the pieces to the puzzle would not be that difficult. Your decision should represent our children, education, family, and community. It's the American way, and when it comes to our children's education, future, and well-being, it should be without a price tag!

I pray that you will take into consideration the whole picture when you make your final decision.

To the Editor:

I continue to read and hear all the complaints about drilling for natural gas in Garrett County. I also continue to hear people complain about our young people moving away because of the lack of jobs and the bad economy. I, too, hear that the gas drilling provides business growth in the area it's in, jobs for local people that pay well in that field, that don't require a college education, and provide a boost to the local economy.

I do not understand why we should want to ignore the opportunity to enrich our community by making it more difficult for people to be successful by denying companies access that can help us.

Our county's main focus is tourism. The economy is very bad. Eventually people may not want to come here and support our local businesses. Then what? Restaurants, stores, and motels go out of business. That's what we need in a county that's already a joke to the rest of the state. More failure.

In W.Va. and Pa. where they have been drilling, 57,000 jobs have been created directly from the drilling. That's a lot of jobs. I don't know why we want to be dependent on foreign oil, and those people who hate us, when we have a solution in our own back yard.

I don't understand what the problem is, fellow citizens. Do we want to be poor and dependent? Are you people so narrow-minded you'll let an opportunity that could help all of us get away? It makes me furious.

We put up with a lot during the summer and winter months with traffic, waiting and being talked down to by so many people who we "serve" to make our economy prosper. Our prices are higher and our stores cater not to the locals, but those who make this their home part of the year. I'm glad tourism can give jobs, but we have the opportunity to have so much more. Don't fight what can make us a strong community. Change is necessary.

To the Editor:

I would like to bring to the attention of the taxpayers of Garrett County some discrepancies in the Garrett County Detention Center. According to the GCDC web site, a law library is available to the inmates. However, no such law library exists. The question to you, the taxpayer, is if GCDC publicly claims to have a law library, then wasn't funding probably allocated to pay for it?

If there is no law library, then where is the money? In fact, a detention center staff member has stated that the law library in question is located in the state attorney's office. At the present time I am unable to research this; however, why would GCDC fund a law library for the state's attorney? Wouldn't the state's attorney also be given funding for a law library? Once again, where are your tax dollars?

This is not the only instance where there may be inconsistencies. These issues may or may not resonate with you, but in the end it is your tax dollars that are in question. The current administration is not to blame but should be held accountable and needs to investigate this matter.

As a current inmate, I am not asking you to take my word for it. Please do your own homework and find out where your tax dollars are going. Fraudulent and frivolous spending needs to be reigned in and it begins at the local level. In the age of government excess and abuse, we need to hold our local officials accountable.

You hear about a lot of kindness in the world, but until you experience it you never really understand it.

During the last two years, Joyce Spiker of Boynton, Pa., was fighting endometrial cancer, but ultimately lost her fight on March 1. During this timeframe, people throughout her workplace and the community did everything they could to help with her situation.

Her only daughter Courtney L. (Spiker) Wilt was left with a large responsibility at the young age of 20. From the time that Joyce received the information that her cancer had returned, a large number of people pulled together and started lending a helping hand to the family.

Joyce's dream from the time that Courtney was born was to see her get married, so Courtney and her fiancé Barry Wilt, who had been together for four years and engaged for two years, started to plan the wedding. The wedding was pulled together in three weeks with help from many people, including Betty Beitzel from Grantsville, Courtney and her fiance's family, and countless other friends. Joyce got to witness her dream come true on February 20.

Joyce's co-workers from Merkle Response Services in Grantsville sponsored a benefit auction and dance on March 12 to help Courtney and Joyce with the massive medical bills. Brenda Ritchie had pulled the auction together, which helped the family immensely.

All in all, Courtney and Barry Wilt and family would like to thank everyone for the numerous cards, donations, and help that they have been blessed with in this rough time. They would like to thank the community, employees at Meyersdale Area School District, Meyersdale Church of the Brethren, Saint Paul's Church, and employees at Merkle Response, as well as those who attended and brought gifts for the wedding, attended the benefit auction. Thanks also to all friends and family of Joyce, Courtney, and Barry.

Thanks,
Barry & Courtney Wilt

To the Editor:

My husband and I recently had the fortunate opportunity of visiting the Deep Creek Lake area, which is filled with many treasures. One treasure that may not be well known to many was our ultimate favorite! We had the privilege of spending a Saturday morning with Husky Power Dog Sledding, just two short miles off Rt. 219, and it was incredible!

Owners Mike and Linda shared their knowledge, expertise, and experiences with us and, yes, their amazing team of husky sled dogs. Mike and Linda were such gracious hosts. Linda took 100 pictures of us "mushing," while Mike guided us through the hands-on mushing of the team. After we returned from our run, they answered questions and provided hot beverages to warm us up. Then we got to do a meet-and-greet with each one of the dogs. They are all wonderful and friendly, and Mike told us something special about each one. I was in awe of the whole experience!

Linda made us a disc of the pictures she had taken, something that I never expected! We couldn't wait to get home to view them. Once we made prints, I went on the Huskypower dogsledding web site to match up their names so I can remember them always.

When we got in our car, my husband leaned over and kissed me and thanked me for planning such a wonderful adventure. Truthfully, I can not take any of the credit. Mike and Linda Herdering are the ones to be thanked, and we publicly thank them for sharing with us so much of what they love to do. The dogs are incredible athletes and get superior care from Mike and Linda. The concern, love and passion they have for the dogs is so obvious, from what they feed them to build muscle to how they keep their living quarters clean. Oh, and by the way, they are a non-profit organization.

If you are a dog lover, this is a must-do, incredible adventure!

Thank you, Mike and Linda, for showing us the time of our lives. We will be back! Hug all the huskies for us, including the little ones!

To the Editor:

The bears are coming to Garrett County! The Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers Inc. (WGCSPVI) is bringing 20 carved and painted wooden bears out of hibernation in time for the summer season in Garrett County.

This new and exciting program, "Discover the Bears, Carve a Memory; Only in Garrett County," was launched to raise funds to support the construction of the forest canopy walkway at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

The bears are being created by many of our talented local artists and will be in their new locations in time for Memorial Day weekend. Want to see all 20? Then grab a Bear Trail log book, head out into the summer sun, and seek them out! Log books will be available on the web site, at the Discovery Center, and at bear fostering locations. Those who find all 20 bears and complete the log book will be eligible for a grand-prize drawing.

In addition to supporting the forest canopy walkway project, these beautiful, original, natural-wood bears will benefit many in our community. Local artists and local businesses will both gain exposure as bear trail participants search out all 20 bruins. For our business sponsors we will be offering media, web support, merchandising and increased traffic through the bear trail and the chance to be one of only 20 bear foster businesses in this unique program! Bear sponsorships are going fast, so contact us today!

The bears will be auctioned off in the fall during a gala event so there is an additional opportunity to support local art and the forest canopy walkway.

If you are an artist interested in painting a bear, a business person who would like to foster a bear for the season, or someone who wants to follow the bears as they are created or want to participate in the bear trail, please go to our web site at: www.discoverycenterdcl.com, or follow us on Facebook at Discovery Center/Deep Creek Lake State Park.

WGCSPVI would like to thank those businesses that have already fostered a bear, and the artists sharing their talents to create the bears. We also give special thanks to Honorary Committee co-chairs Dr. Richard MacLennan, president, Garrett College, and Nicole Christian, president, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, for their support of the project.

Sincerely,
"The Bears are Coming" committee members
John Pucciano,
Chairman

observes, listens, takes notes, comes back to the office and writes, rewrites, edits, and proofs. That is a job, you know. A career, even. Ad people work hard, too. So why should that become something someone does just for fun?

One of the seminars I attended involved a panel of four 20-somethings who were involved in journalism in some way, and they were there to answer questions about what today's younger generation wants and expects in obtaining news. I had to laugh at one of the young women who said she was a writer, and also maintained that she did not want to buy her news. Before I could ask the question, someone else said, "So how exactly do you intend to make a living?" She was slightly stumped for a minute, and never really answered the question. And what I found most interesting about that seminar was that while all four said they checked their national news on mostly free sites, they all agreed they would be willing to pay for an full online subscription to their community papers, and the specific range they gave was $50 to $100 for that. Interesting...

The mistake the big papers made several years ago by going free online has haunted them ever since, and they are now struggling to get back on their feet. Even they can't rely entirely on advertising, although their advertisers are huge corporations who do pay through the nose to be on the sites. The biggies did not do us smaller publications any favors by giving total access, either, since now we have people who absolutely demand to know why they can't have our product free of charge. My answer: We are a private business. We make money by building a newspaper for our community, by writing the stories, by obtaining advertising, by putting it all together every week. We have no public subsidizing, we have no big CEO fat cats in some clandestine board room raking in the dough. Nope. It's just my brother, my husband, and I steering the ship, with a staff of really fine folks – folks who love their home and their community, and who work hard to do a good job to serve that community. So yeah, we're going to set a price for our efforts. Absolutely.

On another front, we found amongst our peers at the conference that we are not alone in our constant chase to keep up with technology. And it is one mad chase, lemme tell ya. We are straddling a chasm right now, changing over completely from the antiquated paste-up technique to the total computer set-up of our pages. This is a radical change – just one of many this company has gone through in the past 134 years. But it used to be that a change made in the past would have some staying power. Once we switched to the latest technology, we could generally stay in that mode for years – even decades. Not so much these days. Technology and the publishing world change on a daily basis, with rapid, mind-boggling ramifications and fallout. Of course there is an element of excitement, too, in a job that can become rather repetitive and wearisome. Learning something new is both exhausting and inspiring, depending on the how well the change is going at any given time. Considering that the average age of our staff of 28 people is about

BOBBI JO HANLIN

Bobbi Jo Hanlin, 41, Elk Garden, W.Va., died Sunday, March 27, 2011, at her residence.

Born on Feb. 5, 1970, in Oakland, she was a daughter of the late Harold Eugene and Adeline Goldie (Whitacre) Hawk.

Bobbi Jo owned Maddie's Place–Home of Pretty Little Things, Keyser, and was also the co-owner and operator of Heritage Stone in Elk Garden. She also started the Coal Bucket Cafe in Kitzmiller. In her youth, she attended the Mount Storm Presbyterian Church and was affiliated with the Hi-Way Assembly of God Church in Kitzmiller.

She enjoyed caring for the elderly and was an inspiration to all of the young people that she came in contact with. She was an active and ardent supporter of the local school community and for many years, sponsored both the men's and women's Heritage Stone softball teams.

She is survived by her husband of nearly 22 years, Richard L. "Rick" Hanlin; four sons, Justin, Jordan, Jacob, and Joey Hanlin, all at home; one granddaughter, who was the light of her life, Madison Hanlin; two brothers, Loren Hawk and wife Sandra, and John Hawk and wife Brenda, all of Kitzmiller; three sisters, Jeannie Browning and husband Robert, Oakland, and Carol Ashby and husband Tom, and Melissa Brady and husband Jeff, all of Kitzmiller; her mother-in-law, Jeannie Hanlin, Elk Garden; one sister and brother-in-law, Lynn and Mike Wood, Elk Garden; and a large number of nieces and nephews.

Friends will be received today from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m. at Smith Funeral Home, Keyser Chapel.

A funeral service will be conducted at Loch Lynn Church of God, Oakland, on Friday, April 1, at 1 p.m., with Rev. John Friend officiating.

Friends may also call at the church one hour prior to the service.

Interment will be held in the Garrett County Memorial Gardens, Oakland.

The family requests that memorial contributions be directed to the Hanlin Family Fund, in care of Grant County Bank, P.O. Box 849, Keyser, WV 26726.

Condolences and personal reflections to the family may be left after Bobbi Jo's obituary at www.smithfuneralhomes.net.

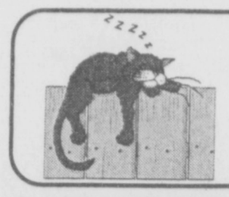
Adorable Adoptables



STRAY PETS LOOKING FOR THEIR HOMES – Housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter this week are two dogs that were picked up together along Old Crellin Road. One is a dark colored Corgi mix (far left), and the other is a black long-haired mix. Also at the facility is a small female Jack Russell terrier (center right) that was found in the Finzel area not wearing a collar or tags. A very nice female tabby was also brought in from the Steyer Mine Road area. "She must belong to someone, as she is very loving," said a GC Humane Society spokesperson about the feline. "A few dogs went to rescues via HART, including the two Labs featured in last week's adoptables. No adoptions took place this week, but there were a few owner reclaims. Please put a collar and tags on your pet so the animal shelter or the person who finds your pet can call you." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday. Photos courtesy of the GC Humane Society.

In Memory of

who passed away on March 31, 2006

Sitting here looking for the perfect words to say
Yet knowing no matter what words are used
We won't get to see you roll your eyes
Or feel your touch today.
These past 5 years
Have held many tears
Losing you has hurt me
But I know where you are.
You're totally happy.
Missing you so much
Longing for your touch
Brings tears to our eyes
Yet we know God comforts us
& He hears all our cries.
As time goes by
Our hearts are still not healed.
The empty space since you have gone
Is still tender and so real.
Although 5 years have gone by
Every month, minute, hour, and second's been noticed too.
It hasn't made life any easier living it without you.
But I know you're in Heaven
The only perfect place.
But I can't help but say
I miss your embrace.
I can't wait until the day
That we'll be together again.
But until that time comes
Our hearts God will mend.

Sis, we miss you so much– each and every day.
Our love for you will never go away.
Loving, missing & thinking of you always!
Love, Holly-Ree

The Arts

WVU PRESENTING GUYS AND DOLLS – The next stage show at West Virginia University's Creative Arts Center will be a co-production of the Division of Theatre and Dance and the Division of Music. Guys and Dolls, the musical by Frank Loesser, Jo Swerling, and Abe Burrows, will be presented in the Lyell B. Clay Concert Theatre April 14 to 17. The show relates a musical fable of Broadway, and includes classic tunes like "Take Back Your Mink," "I've Never Been In Love Before," and "Luck Be a Lady." "Based on short stories by famed writer Damon Runyon, Guys and Dolls is a singing and dancing extravaganza that spans the gritty streets of 1950s New York City to the nightclubs and casinos of decadent Havana," said director and professor Lee Blair. The original 1950 Broadway production ran for 1,200 performances and won five 1951 Tony Awards, including the award for Best Musical. WVU's production will feature four graduating seniors in their final performances at WVU: Chasdan Mike Ross as Sky Masterson, MaryJoanna Grisso as Sarah Brown, Brandon Pro as Nathan Detroit, and Laura Peters as Miss Adelaide. The music is being directed by professor Robert Theime and choreography by Dr. Yoav Kaddar. For tickets and/or information, persons may call the WVU Box Office at 304-293-7469.

J. Skeweris To Perform Senior Oboe Recital

Frostburg State University student Jaclyn Skeweris will perform her senior oboe recital, the Soprano of the Double-reed Woodwinds, accompanied by pianist Hannah Lagno, on Sunday, April 10, at 3 p.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall of FSU's Performing Arts Center.

Skeweris will begin the recital with an introduction to the oboe with Georg Friedrich Handel's Sonate Nr. 3 Es-Dur, performed with oboist Emily Madsen and Vaughn Williams' Oboe Concerto. She will open the second half of her recital with a playful combination in which the oboe intertwines with a variety of percussion instruments and piano, performing Sy Brandon's "Divertissment," assisted by percussionist Justin Smith and pianist Erin Wheeler. The composition has six movements that express different scenarios in nature and society. Each piece has its own individual character; some portray dances and marches, and others the night and day.

She will conclude the recital with Jack Vees' "Apocrypha" and "I Will Be With Your Mouth" by Edward Rosenberg III, using samples of live sounds, including birds, horses, marching, and electronically produced sounds. The vocal line is recorded by Tom Burre and is used to tell the story throughout each movement.

Skeweris, an FSU music major who plans to graduate in December 2011 with a bachelor's degree in music performance and psychology, has studied with Emily Madsen and Amy Galbraith. She is a member of Delta Omicron music fraternity and is first chair oboe in FSU's Wind Ensemble. She was also named to the dean's list. After graduating, she plans to attend graduate school for music performance, perform in a professional band or orchestra, and study performance anxiety. She is the daughter of Denny Skeweris and Sue Halterman, Oakland, and is a 2007 graduate of Southern High School.

For more information, persons may contact the FSU Department of Music at 301-687-4109.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. To request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, persons should call 301-687-4102 or use a voice relay operator at 1-800-735-2258.

MORBHEANNA TO OPEN FOR IONA – The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) will open its 2011 season on Friday, April 8, with a concert by IONA, a Celtic band from Washington, D.C., as announced in last week's issue. Opening the program will be a performance by Morbheanna, a local Celtic group, with members Kenny Braitman, Annie Bristow, Lynn McClive Farnsworth, and Marci McClive, pictured above. Morbheanna plays a blend of Celtic and modern Scottish and Irish music on the "small" pipes, which have a lighter sound. GLAF is dedicating the night's events to Dr. Richard L. MacLennan, the 10th president of Garrett College, who will be inaugarated in a celebration on Saturday, April 9, at 11 a.m. at the college. Tickets for the Friday evening event are $20 for adults, $7 for students, and free for children 5 years and younger (tickets are required). Tickets may be purchased by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082, or through the GLAF web site, located at www.artsandentertainment.org. To obtain reservations for Saturday's inaugaration celebration, persons may call the college at 301-387-3131.

GIRL SCOUTS MEET UP WITH SHREK – The members of Oakland Girl Scout Troop #55004 traveled to Pittsburgh two weeks ago to see Shrek on stage, and, in the words of leader Elizabeth Huxford, "a funny thing happened on the way out the door." Scout Emily Huxford asked where the cast entrance was, hoping to obtain an autotgraph from Shrek portrayer Eric Peterson. To the girls' surprise, the doorman allowed them backstage to meet the actor and to get a tour of the studio. "It was a very Disney moment," Huxford said. Pictured from left are Rachael Huxford, Emily Huxford, Peterson, Emily Huxford, Quinn-Marie McClean, and Elizabeth McClean.

parties and from all areas of the state," Beitzel said. "It is an honor to work with my colleagues from both political parties to finish the work on the FY 2012 budget."

A decision has not been made as to the conferees on the FY 2012 Capital Budget. Maryland is constitutionally required to have a balanced budget presented and approved by the end of the 90-day session; therefore, the conferees must reconcile the differences on the budget between the House and the Senate by midnight on April 11.

informed decisions about their natural resources in an environmentally responsible manner."

Drilling is currently taking place in neighboring West Virginia and Pennsylvania, with several Garrett County businesses being affected. These businesses include local motels and restaurants and excavating and engineering firms. Job opportunities created by this industry are increasing, according to Bentlejewski.

"In fact, we just lost our Marcellus shale program assistant Mikal Zimmerman to the industry," noted Bentlejewski She has been a great asset to our outreach program over the last several months, and we wish her the best in her new career." Zimmerman resigned her position at UME effective April 8 to take a public relations position in the industry.

"Our plan is to hire a qualified individual for this position as soon as possible so that programming can continue. We have already reached more than 500 residents, but the need for additional education still exists," said Bentlejewski. "The slower pace enables us to work with Garrett County government and concerned citizens to identify specific needs then develop and implement long-term educational goals to meet those needs."

University of Maryland Extension programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, gender, disability, religion, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or national origin. Those with a financial/disability need that requires special assistance for participation in any of the programs should contact the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Sanitarians Provide

grocery stores," she said. "If you open food and sell it, we license you. If you now sell potentially hazardous food – which is milk, anything you have to refrigerate – we license you."

Buckel said the type of food served/sold determines the number of inspections that are made. Last year, sanitarians made a total of 659 food service inspections, which included 183 temporary sites at festivals and other events.

"We are the regulatory branch of the Health Department," she said. "In this program, I like to lead by education and voluntary compliance."

But, she stressed, regulatory action is taken as needed.

Another important Environmental Health program involves rabies issues. The division conducts 16 rabies vaccination clinics at 13 locations each year for cats, dogs, and ferrets.

"We go to the people," Buckel said about the multiple locations. "We're one of the few counties that still do that. Most of the counties have one central location, everyone comes to them, or they very seldom have one [clinic]. We are required by regulation to have at least one or two rabies clinics."

When an animal is suspected of having the rabies virus, sanitarians decapitate it and send the head to the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Rabies Laboratory in Baltimore for testing. Last year, Buckel's division submitted 23 rabies specimens, six of which tested positive for the virus. So far this year, one animal, a raccoon, has been found to have rabies.

Nearly 900 pets were vaccinated at Health Department rabies clinics last year. In 2009, there were 879, and in 2008, 947 were vaccinated, Buckel reported.

Environmental Health personnel also conduct percolation tests and issue well and septic permits. As these tasks are tied to home and commercial construction, their numbers have decreased in recent years because of the economic downturn.

Last year the division issued 136 well permits, compared to 348 in 2001, and issued 97 septic permits, compared to 207 in 2001.

Health Department sanitarians are also responsible for licensing/inspecting local transient vacation rental units (TVRU). The county currently has 985 units, which are inspected on a two-year cycle. Last year 421 inspections were made, compared to 322 in '09, 379 in '08, and 298 in '07.

In addition, Environmental Health issues open air burning permits; reviews and approves subdivision plats; permits and inspects public pools, bathing beaches, and campgrounds; investigates animal bites; monitors water supplies; and handles community emergency preparedness issues.

"Our sanitarians are generalists," Buckel said. "In a lot of the counties down east, your food people just do food; your sewer people just do sewer. In our county we're generalists. When you go to work, you don't know what you might do that day."

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan G. Sussman

Despite the urging of my daughter to get it over with, Boo is the only member of our happy family still with me. I still cling to the hope that she can enjoy one more spring. But with the last snowfall, it seems a very long time in the future. At least we don't have horrible cold with heavy snow and bitter winds. I worry about her when she goes out, and in that kind of weather, that maybe she wouldn't be able to find her way to my front door.

I didn't want her to die alone outside in those terrible conditions. But it was totally impossible for me to go out and look for her. So I had to either worry for a long time until someone showed up with her, or as a last resort, I had to call someone who might bother to come over for Boo's sake. That is one worry I am forced to endure every day.

Spring break at WVU allowed Caitlin and Mere to come home, but I never saw a week go by so fast. Today, they were picked up by Caitlin's roommate, a lovely young woman who is now co-anchor of a WVU television news program. We watched some of the stories she did, and she was simply pitch perfect in every way. I envision a bright future in broadcasting for her.

Caitlin and Ashley have only about one month of college left. I'm not sure of the exact date of their graduation day, but I assume it will be in either mid or late May. I must go to it, no matter how hard or inconvenient it is for me.

The day Caitlin graduates will be the most important day in her life so far. I belong there. And Caitlin won an important award as an outstanding senior in her general program. In the huge WVU arts and science college, only 10 graduating seniors won that award.

I remember a time when Caitlin believed she wasn't smart, so she doubted her ability to graduate from college. But in the last couple of years, she discovered the truth, that she is outstanding in many ways. She showed me a letter of recommendation by one of her professors for the position of graduate assistant, and it was glowing about how committed she is to really helping people. It also spoke of her excellent performance in the classroom.

I imagine anyone who encountered her as a social worker realized that she wouldn't judge them, and that she has an extremely warm heart, plus a completely open mind to people of different cultures or backgrounds.

I liked Tim Watson's letter to the editor praising the hard work of all social workers, whose mission is to help people hit hard by circumstances beyond their control – like homeless people and families who can't afford a decent diet for their children, or like me, who just happened to become disabled enough so that I can't support myself for the first time in my life. A couple of local social workers are helping me at home, which means everything to me. But these are the people whose jobs are threatened by government budget slashing. Many others are now in need as a result of budget slashing.

Continuing to cling to oil as our primary source of energy will only lead to more dictators in the part of the world that produces most of the oil. And let's face it, it is mainly oil money that allows the changing power. It is a little tough to pay over $3 per gallon for gasoline, but it has been higher in the past.

One corporation is able to create fuel from algae that can run vehicles, so why are the people investing in oil only to reap some windfall profit? Why not invest in our future, not in the past?

Nuclear power is clearly not a perfect solution, as the recent events in Japan have shown. We could generate a huge amount of electricity from wind and solar power. We simply need an update on the storage of energy.

Another group of workers so important to America's future is our teachers. I mentioned how proud her kindergarten teacher, Sharon Platter, was to see how Caitlin had grown up, with such excellent writing skills and so self-assured. She came a long way since she was in Mrs. Platter's class, when she was a scared little girl whose mother simply disappeared one day and landed into an ICU close to death. But Mrs. Platter gave her every bit of love and comfort she needed. That kind of extra effort can't be measured by standard tests or any currently used evaluation system.

But it seems today that America blames our teachers for often lackluster performance of spoiled, lazy, disinterested students coming into our school from many homes. People believe a good teacher can make up for many failings of parents. The key stage to inspire a love of learning is in early childhood. Without that, it is hard to teach a child. It is a crying shame that the budget cutters in Congress want to cut two excellent sources for that early learning experience.

First of all, there is Head Start, which helps children from low-income families be able to start school as well prepared as a child from an upper middle class family. The other is public broadcasting, because many children learned their ABCs and how to count while they had fun watching Sesame Street.

But some people in Congress are so "above" ordinary people, especially those who are very poor. They can't act in the best interest of America. They only know who hands them big checks. So they continue to heap more and more benefits on those who do not need them.

I was wrong when I said that the other day's hailstorm didn't have a thunderstorm accompanying it. There was a bit of thunder that I did not hear. Brenda Ruggiero said she was taking a walk with her daughter Jenna, and they heard a few rumblings of thunder and decided to turn back and head home. When they got home, hail started bouncing off their porch.

Wednesday afternoon we got hit by a major thunderstorm, and there was a rainbow toward Rodney's house. Mere said it was a really big one, but I couldn't reach the back room to see it. I wanted to, because rainbows always make me feel more hopeful.

However, while I was riding in our car in our lane when I at long last was going home, I saw a double rainbow. That gave me some false hope about how my life post-aneurism would turn out.

Do you know what the largest denomination is among Christians in America, as well as Christians around the world? The answer is Catholics.

I grew up questioning whether I should ever date a Catholic young man, because it was a widespread belief that they are vastly different from other Christians. But the majority support same-gender marriage and support gay couples being allowed to adopt children. And their support of the idea of pro life is at best lukewarm, unlike many pro choice believers who want to give a valuable option to young women who are facing an unplanned pregnancy.

About 70 percent do not believe that sexual relations between consenting adults is a sin. And they are not as hard-line anti-divorce, and many accept birth control.

But in America, some ultra-conservative evangelical Christians make no effort to bring America together, or extend rights to more people.

In our Declaration of Independence, it states that this new nation should be a place of liberty and justice for all. That surely includes choosing religious faith and conducting this life as their personal faith directs them.

Take the traditional marriage vows that had the bride promising to obey her husband. That sometimes leads to things that are very bad, like the kidnapping of Elizabeth Smart. That crazy man held her for a very long time, aided by his wife, who was faithfully obeying him. She did nothing to stop this horrible mistreatment of a young girl. He contended that "God told him" to take Elizabeth and then father many children with her.

Even the Ten Commandments can be interpreted differently by different people. Do the Ten Commandments forbid lying? Actually, the Commandments deal with that by saying, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neigh-bor." Of course, it is never positive to lie to loved ones, or people with whom you have a significant relationship.

And how about "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Most people interpret that as a religious figure, but it also can and often does mean valuing anything more than God. One of the most common false gods is wealth. Clearly, many people value money more than they value God.

The only direct mention of any sexual behavior in the Ten Commandments is "Thou shalt not commit adultery." What does that mean? Is it any sexual activity outside of marriage? Is it premarital sex, gay sex, or what about a widow or a divorced person? I believe very strongly that it means that you shouldn't violate your sacred marriage vows.

A major sign of spring happened at just exactly the right time, since spring began on March 20. The big flock of blackbirds arrived in my line of big pine trees, and once again, they made a real racket. But it doesn't feel like spring yet.

When my Claire wanted to take Boo to the vet to get her put down a couple of months ago, I urged her to let her live her last days at home and die on her own terms when she was ready. I really hope that she can see another spring. I simply can't bear to lose her. She is the last one from our former happy family that is with me now. I had severe regrets when I was forced to decide to put down my beloved horse Little Joe, but he could hardly walk at all, and that is a big problem for a big animal like a horse. But that meant that I lost my best friend, and actually chose it.

Ironically, the week when spring was almost in sight, Boo had a couple of bad days. She was really slow because of the pain she was feeling when she walked around. I don't want to watch her suffer. She is really is Claire's dog, but she is part of the family.

I tried to get in touch with Claire, but that is kind of tough since she is now working two jobs. She finally called me today. Caitlin told her that Dr. Rick Jenkins was supposed to come to the farm either Friday or Saturday to end her suffering, which is what I said we should do. But then I couldn't face it, especially since this morning she seems so much better, and even smiled at me. So I called Pineview and told them to forget it, but it would be a big help to have good pain medication.

But Claire wanted to talk to Rick herself, so if she can get off work this evening maybe she will come up and get it done. She believes that it's important that she's here for it. I just hope she will not want to take her to the vet. I'd much rather that she could die here at home.

It's clear that there is no cure for what Boo is suffering. No medication can cure that she is over 100 years old in dog years. They say that you should multiply a dog's age by seven. She is about 20 years old, which is quite old for a large breed dog.

We have a grave ready for her, dug by my brother-in-law Kevin Bass with his new toy – a small tractor. That was a big worry during winter when the ground was frozen solid.

Since the jackpot of the Mega Millions lottery reached over $300 million, I plan to have Caitlin get a couple of tickets when she is on her way home from work. I know several families who would get a major boost with even half a million dollars. It would make my life so much better and easier if I was not forced to worry about money every minute; especially the last week of every month.

Mid-week Lenten services in the Bittinger Lutheran Parish will continue with a Taize service at Emmanuel in Bittinger next Wednesday, April 6. The service will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by soup and bread.

During Lent, the children's Sunday School class at Emmanuel will collect offering for God's Global Barnyard, a program which gives help to needy families by providing them with farm animals.

Order forms for Easter lilies at Emmanuel have been distributed. It is requested that all orders be returned by Sunday, April 17.

Emmanuel Women of the ELCA will meet at Emmanuel on Monday, April 11, at 7 p.m. All women of the parish are invited. Those attending are requested to bring a favorite Bible verse which will be incorporated into the program being presented by Jenny Hady and Margie Brenneman. Items for personal care kits and baby kits will be collected at this meeting also.

State Lawmakers OK Local Road Money Infusion

by David Saleh Rauf
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Maryland counties and municipalities are set to receive a one-time $13.2 million infusion to help maintain and repair battered roads under spending plans recently approved by the House and Senate.

State budgets approved by both chambers set aside the money for fiscal 2012 to help offset a series of funding cuts in recent years that have drastically slashed state aid dedicated for county and city road projects.

The $13 million injection amounts to a minor victory for the state's local governments that in recent years have been forced to tap emergency funds, revert to a series of "patchwork" fixes or shelve road projects altogether, said Michael Bennett, president of the Maryland Municipal League. But the money doesn't come close to restoring funding levels local governments once enjoyed.

Counties and municipalities use state money for day-to-day road upkeep that includes everything from snow removal to pothole repairs.

"We've been working anybody and everybody we could to get some money back," said Bennett, who also is mayor of Aberdeen. "All we're trying to do is keep roads passable."

The state allocates money to local governments for roads through a pot called Highway User Revenue that is estimated in fiscal 2012 at $1.6 billion. The funds, generated from a mix of vehicle fuel, titling and registration fees, are divvied up among local governments and the state.

The lion's share, roughly 91 percent, goes toward funding the Maryland Department of Transportation. In recent years, Democratic Gov. Martin O'Malley has used hundreds of millions to plug budget holes.

The state's portion of the funds it gives to local governments has dropped from about $555 million to an estimated $137 million between fiscal 2007 and fiscal 2012, according to legislative analysts.

Under the recently approved one-time grant, Maryland's 157 municipalities are set to receive an extra $8.2 million for road projects on top of the $1.6 million they were originally allocated.

The state's 23 counties will split an additional $5 million on top of the $8.2 million originally allocated under the state's formula for highway user revenue.

"This is important for municipalities that have really been shortchanged the past several years and are in desperate need of those funds," said Sen. James DeGrange, an Anne Arundel Democrat and a key Senate budget writer. "The counties also need a little boost and this will help."

Lawmakers have chipped away at the amount given to local governments for roads since 2008, but in fiscal 2010, the Board of Public Works slashed highway user revenue funding for most local jurisdictions by roughly 95 percent, according to the Maryland Association of Counties. The General Assembly made the reductions permanent in 2010 and also tweaked the funding distribution formula to reduce local governments' share of highway user revenue from 30 percent to about 9 percent.

O'Malley also has diverted about $675 million in highway user revenues to the state's general fund since fiscal 2010, according to legislative analysts. O'Malley is slated to tap about $320 million of road funds this session to balance the budget, and another 19.3 percent of the total highway user revenue pot in fiscal 2013.

Former Gov. Robert Ehrlich, a Republican, also transferred highway user money into the state's general fund.

A panel tasked with studying Maryland's transportation network recommended in a February interim report to the General Assembly that lawmakers work to restore hundreds of millions in highway user revenue used to balance the budget.

Currently, there are no plans to replenish highway user revenue money O'Malley has shuffled to the general fund. Democrats defend the governor's use of the funds, describing the money distributed to local governments as grants that have diminished during tough economic times.

"We don't have to pay it back. How do you pay back a grant?" said Delegate Tawanna Gaines, a Prince George's Democrat who chairs the House subcommittee in charge of transportation funding. "This is a wake-up call for them."

Under the current distribution formula, counties and municipalities were set to receive 0.6 percent of the highway user pot before the one-time boost. By fiscal 2013, local governments are slated to get 1.7 percent of the total pot, but that won't be enough to fully fund road projects across the state, said Aberdeen's Bennett.

That leaves local governments with few options outside of tapping emergency funds, bonds, or raising taxes to pay for road projects.

"Those kinds of things affect elections," said Bennett. "If I went in and said I'm going to a do a 1½-cent property tax increase, I could plan on not being in office in November."

HALL TAKES COMMAND — The JROTC program at Southern High School recently performed a cadet battalion change of command ceremony. In the ceremony, Christina Hall, a junior, accepted command of the cadets from James Rolf, a senior. Hall will now assume responsibility for the conduct and character development of the cadets enrolled in the JROTC program. In her remarks during the ceremony, Hall stated that she was honored to assume her new position and proud of the work the cadets have been doing. In the photo above, from left to right, are: Rolf, Lt. Col. Ralph Sheaffer (ret.), Hall, and Jesse Paugh.

Prescription Drug Abuse Predicted To Grow In Maryland Without Legislation

by Jessica Harper
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – By October 2009, the Maryland State Board of Physicians had heard numerous complaints from pharmacists across the state about abusive prescription practices.

So news that came late that month about Dr. Nicola Tauraso overprescribing the pain killer oxycodone – an addictive and often-abused sythetic opiate – from a barn on his residential property in Frederick came as little surprise.

Dr. Peter R. Cohen, medical director for the Maryland Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration, said Tauraso, whose license was suspended in August 2010, is indicative of a growing problem in Maryland: doctors who overprescribe pain killers to patients.

"This is where we're most vulnerable," said Cohen. "Unregulated pain management treatment without appropriate standards or guidelines."

Overuse of prescription drugs causes addiction, leads to increased hospital visits, and is potentially deadly, particularly when the drugs are mixed with alcohol or other substances, the medical literature indicates.

In the short term, painkiller abuse can prompt lethargy, an inability to concentrate, nausea, vomiting, and breathing problems, according to theantidrug.com. The site lists Vicodin, Tylenol with codeine, and Percocet, in addition to OxyContin as some of the most commonly abused medications.

Prescription drug abuse is rampant in the U.S., according to a late February report from the Washington Post. Cohen said a prescription drug monitoring program law is the best solution to this escalating dilemma because it would ensure that the state addresses not only abuse, but also addiction.

Florida leads the pack in phony prescriptions, with medical practitioners purchasing 41.3 million oxycodone pills in early 2010, according to the Post report. And while it has a prescription monitoring law on its books, the regulation is not being enforced because of resistance from Gov. Rick Scott.

Maryland hasn't even gotten that far. Maryland is not among the current 43 states, including Florida, that have passed a prescription monitoring program law, according to the National Alliance for Model State Drug Laws. The question facing Maryland health professionals is whether their state is on its way to catching Florida's record.

Gene Ransom, executive director for the Maryland State Medical Society, said he doubts Maryland will eclipse Florida in overprescriptions, despite its lack of a prescription monitoring law.

"We are not in a similar situation," said Ransom. "People who do this in Maryland are punished. And in some ways, we might be a little too aggressive in going after them."

One of the chief ways overprescribing is discovered in Maryland is from complaints from pharmacists, and Ransom said the Maryland State Board of Physicians takes those complaints seriously. Still, one area the state can improve is its implementation of clinical monitoring programs, he said.

"This is a very complex issue, and it would be nice if there were a tool that (clinicians) could use to make sure the people who are in pain get what they need," Ransom said. "If people have an ailment unrelated to pain, we want to make sure they are not misdiagnosed and (given medication they don't need)."

Cohen disagrees, contending that clinical monitoring programs only skim the surface of this issue.

"MedChi is making an argument that is three years old," said Cohen. "It doesn't move the conversation forward at all. (Proposing a clinical monitoring program) is the best they can do to respond."

The Maryland General Assembly passed a bill legalizing a monitoring program in 2006, but then Gov. Robert Ehrlich vetoed it. Renewing momentum, several Maryland officials testified before the state's Senate Finance Committee in Annapolis last week about the need for a prescription drug management program and declared their support for measures HB 1229 and SB 883, both pro-painkiller management program bills.

The measures would establish the Prescription Drug Monitoring Program in the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and create an Advisory Board on Prescription Drug Monitoring that assists in the design, implementation, and evaluation of the program.

The Maryland Advisory Council on Prescription Drug Monitoring released a legislative report on December 31, 2009, in which it made several recommendations for the state. These recommendations included identifying the prescription drugs to be monitored, identifying the types of dispensers required to submit information to a prescription drug monitoring program, and determining the process for submitting prescription drug monitoring data to a prescription drug monitoring program.

Maj. Vernon J. Conaway, commander for the Maryland State Police's Drug Investigation Command, said the number of prescription drug trafficking cases now nears the tens of thousands in Maryland, with the most significant one occurring along the I-95 corridor in June 2009. That's when a Maryland State Trooper stopped the driver of a Florida-registered Toyota en route to New York, transporting 34,000 oxycodone pills, he said.

Conaway said lax attitudes about prescription drug abuse contribute to this uptick in trafficking.

"There's this misconception that the abuse of prescription pills is somehow less harmful than the abuse of harder drugs," he said. "That's incorrect." Conaway said both pose tremendous dangers.

Doctor shoppers or patients who hop between various medical practitioners for prescriptions present another problem, the experts said.

"We don't have the kind of data mechanisms in place that would allow a pharmacist to alert a physician about doctor shopping," said Cohen. Such a mechanism, he said, would make it easier to detect and suspend the licenses of faulty practitioners.

Library News

In celebration of National Library Week, April 10-16, the Terra Alta Public Library will host special events each day of that week.

Monday, April 11, is Character Day. Guests are asked to dress as their favorite characters and come to the library from 6 to 8 p.m. Guests will be asked to guess each other's characters. They can be fictional, sports, heroes, idols, or the portrayers' own family members.

Events on Tuesday, April 12, will be focused on bike safety. Brian Schoolcraft will be a guest speaker. All are invited to bring their bikes to the library. At 3:30 p.m., the laws, trails, and equipment will be discussed, and handouts will be distributed.

Wednesday's event will include a talk by Nancy Hoffman, who will review the longetivity and activities of the library at 3:30 p.m. She will be accompanied by guests who have been affiliated with the library for a few years.

Thursday is "Older Folks" day. Events will begin at 9 a.m. with Carl and Joanna Schoolcraft.

Friday will be the Afternoon of Fun. Games, stories, crafts, and activities will be available for all. Everyone is invited and encouraged to attend any and all of the week's events.

Local painters will have some of their work displayed during Library Week as well. Works by Nellie Lothry, Donna McCloud, Patty Miller, Phyllis Metheny, and Donna Dunson will be exhibited.

Redwood and Gold by Jackson Gregory was presented to the library in memory of Victor H. Kope by Charles and Phyllis Feather and family.

Construction To Begin On Park Side Apartments

Terra Alta mayor Charles Feather has announced that construction on the planned Park Side Apartments will commence in the coming week. To be located at 1 Shobez Street, this 20-unit development will provide affordable housing to area seniors. The structure was designed by Lakeside Architecture Inc. and will be constructed by Devlin Inc. It is scheduled to be completed by spring of next year.

The building project will be funded with $2,308,600 provided by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and an additional $1,100,000 provided by the West Virginia Housing Development Fund. Once completed, the apartments will be owned and operated by Park Side Management Inc., which is a private, non-profit corporation created by the North Central West Virginia Community Action Committee and the Garrett County Community Action Committee for the purpose of developing and managing the project.

Both organizations have worked in concert on the project for nearly eight years. A celebration of the ground breaking is planned for Friday, April 8, at 2 p.m. on Maple Avenue. If the weather is uncooperative the event will be relocated to the pavilion in Terra Alta's community park. The mayor encourages residents to join the festivities.

HEADED TO NATIONALS – Southern Mat Club member Devan Hamrick, a 7th grade student at Southern Middle School, recently brought home the MDWAY Wrestling Championship Title in the 12/under, 75-pound class. This has qualified him to compete in the NUWAY Nationals in Naperville, Ill., on April 9, along with qualifying opponents from 18 other states. Devan, who has competed since he was 4 years old, participated in 15 tournaments this past season, in which he placed among the top four in each one. His win/loss record for the 2010-2011 season is 34-8.

Lakers Drop Two Of Three In Final Games Of Spring Break

The Garrett College baseball team concluded its spring-break southern "tour" this past week with a pair of losses and one victory at Myrtle Beach, S.C. For the week, the Lakers won two of eight games.

The Lakers lost to Parkland, 12-2, and to Jamestown, 8-4, last Thursday before recording a 6-1 win over Jamestown in their final game of the series on Friday. The results left the Lakers with an overall record of 6-15.

Against Parkland, the Laker bats managed to record only three hits against winning pitcher Ryan Capley, who went the distance in the five-inning game. Meanwhile, the Parkland offense cranked out 14 hits against three Garrett pitchers.

The Lakers recorded eight hits against Jamestown, but never led in that contest either.

No other details of those games were received.

In Friday's game against Jamestown, Laker Willie Poteat smacked a two-run triple and had two singles to lead an eight-hit team effort. Jose Soto added two singles and two RBI for the Lakers.

The Laker defense played errorless ball for the contest.

Alex Frapart tossed the first six innings for the Lakers, giving up six hits and no runs, while striking out six. Patrick Carter took over in the seventh and allowed one run, but closed the side to preserve the win.

Bobby Burens had two of Jamestown's six hits, and his team's only RBI.

The Lakers were slated to play Allegheny County (Pa.) South in a doubleheader on Sunday, but that encounter was postponed. They are scheduled to host Allegany College of Maryland today, play a doubleheader at Prince George's CC on Saturday, and entertain Potomac State College in a twinbill on Sunday.

Huskies Open Baseball Campaign With 6-3 Win Over Bishop Walsh

Behind a strong pitching performance by Steven Holtschneider, the Northern varsity baseball team opened its season Monday with a 6-3 Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference victory over host Bishop Walsh in Cumberland.

Holtschneider started on the mound and tossed into the seventh inning, allowing only two hits, walking two batters, and striking out 11. Teammate Cody Rodeheaver took over in the seventh and recorded the final two outs to earn a save.

Kevin Myers virtually matched Holtschneider's effort for the Spartans, as he pitched six innings, yielded only two hits, fanned 11 batters, and walked one. He gave up four runs, but only one of them was earned.

Rodeheaver finished with two hits, the first of which was a run-producing single in the top of the first inning when the Huskies took a 2-0 lead.

The Spartans rallied for two runs in the bottom of the fourth to tie the score, but the Huskies earned the win in the sixth with two runs. Jared Fike hit an RBI single in the sixth.

The only hits by the Spartans were a double by Colton Mathews and a run-producing single by Myers.

It was the third loss in as many starts for Bishop Walsh.

The Northern junior varsity also opened the 2011 campaign with a 3-2 win over their BW counterparts. The contest had to be suspended after 4½ innings because of darkness.

The Northern varsity is scheduled to play again this afternoon at Allegany, host Salisbury this Saturday, entertain Southern next Tuesday, and travel to Fort Hill next Thursday.

Archery Range In State Forest Opening Saturday

The Potomac-Garrett State Forest 3-D archery range will open this Saturday, April 3, and remain open through Sept. 25.

An individual league will start April 16 and have competition for 12 weeks. A person must shoot at least eight times to qualify for the end-of-season awards, and a new class will be offered this year for those who are new to 3-D archery.

The range is open to the public, and one does not have to join the league to shoot at the range. The cost is $7 for adults, $5 for those ages 12 to 17, and free for those under 11.

The range is located along Potomac Camp Road behind the forest headquarters. For more information, persons may telephone the headquarters at 301-334-2038.

Northern Girls Fall To Tornados, Then To Falcons

The Northern High softball team opened its season this past week with a pair of Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference losses, getting blanked by host Keyser on Friday, 9-0, and then dropping a 13-3 contest to Frankfort at Short Gap on Monday.

The Huskies managed just four hits off Keyser pitcher Sam Hoban, who went the distance for the win, striking out five.

The game was scoreless until the bottom of the fourth inning when the Golden Tornados scored three runs to take the lead for good. They added two more in the fifth and four in the sixth.

Keyser freshman Lexi Carr rapped a solo homer, Carrie Riggleman recorded a triple and a single for three RBI, and Hoban aided her own cause by driving in two runs via a triple and a single.

The win evened Keyser's overall record at 2-2.

After 1½ scoreless innings on Monday against Frankfort, the Falcons recorded four runs in the bottom of the second. The Huskies rallied for two runs in the top of the third, but Frankfort responded with seven runs in the bottom of the third. The contest was called after four innings because of the 10-run rule.

Taylor Rice was the offensive leader for the home team, as she went 3-for-4 with a double and two singles. Savannah Hose provided two singles and two RBI, while Mikala Miller hit two singles for one RBI and also scored three times.

Taryn Brenneman, who took the loss on the mound for the Huskies, hit a single and scored once.

Alex Northcraft struck out five and allowed four hits to get the win.

LITTLE RAMS FINISH 14-2 – The Southern boys' freshman basketball team finished the 2010-11 season by winning the Mtn. Ridge Freshman Tournament, topping Allegany in the championship game, 45-37. Reese Haskiell led the Rams with 15 points, followed by Derek Hinebaugh and Kyle Sherbin with 14 and 10 points, respectively. Earlier this season, the Rams won the first Jim Broom Christmas Tournament in Keyser by defeating Fort Hill, 29-26, and Keyser, 33-28. Sherbin and Haskiell were named to the All-Tournament Team. Coached by David Ritchie and Bob Mayles, the Rams finished with an overall record of 14-2. Pictured from left, front, are Cody Teets, Ryan Wilburn, and Sam Jones. In the second row are Lucas Ritchie, Justin Ashby, Greg Baker, Derek Hinebaugh, and Kevin Harris. In the back row are Coach Ritchie, Reese Haskiell, Kyle Sherbin, and Matt Mayles. Not present for the photo was Coach Mayles.

Northern Netters Fall To Miners Before Splitting Match With Alco

The tennis teams of Northern High School were defeated by host Mountain Ridge on Monday, and then split a match with visiting Allegany on Tuesday.

Against Mountain Ridge, the Northern girls were edged 3-2, while the NHS boys were blanked 5-0. In Tuesday's matches against Allegany, the Northern girls won 3-2, and the Husky boys were topped 4-1.

Cara Stough and Ashley Miller both won their singles matches against their Mountain Ridge opponents, but all three of the Northern doubles squads were soundly defeated.

Singles winners for the Mountain Ridge boys were Jacob Bittner and Nathan Haberlein.

Stough and Miller were again victorious in singles against the Campers of Allegany, and Jasmine Francillon teamed up with Kylie Mauricci to win in doubles for the Huskies and give them the team victory.

David Hall won his singles match for the Northern boys, but would be the only Husky victor in that competition.

Alco's Corey Knipple was the other singles winner.

The Huskies (2-1 girls, 0-3 boys) were slated to play at Hampshire yesterday, but that contest was postponed because of weather conditions.

NORTHERN NETTERS IN ACTION – The 2011 tennis season is under way for the Northern High School girls' and boys' teams, as is evidenced by these photos taken during a match on Tuesday between the Huskies and Allegany. The Northern girls won by a 3-2 score, while the NHS boys were defeated 4-1. Above left is Northern's #2 singles player Ashley Miller, who is undefeated so far in the young season. Below is the Huskies' top-ranked player, also unbeaten, preparing for a forehand return. Above right is the #2 singles player for the Southern boys, David Hall. Rams Slip In The Fourth, Fall To Sentinels

The Southern High School varsity baseball team suffered a tough loss, 6-5, at Sentinel Field as Fort Hill's Ryan Briner singled home the go-ahead run in the fourth.

The two teams entered the fourth tied at 5-5, but the Sentinels' Mark Kelly was walked to start the top of the inning. He then stole second and scored on Briner's two-out single.

Southern, which had only four hits, grabbed a quick 4-0 lead with Shane Peck hitting an RBI single and Corey Helbig an RBI double in the first inning.

Kelly and Mike Moyer began the five-run Fort Hill first with a single. Matt Propst had a two-run single, Briner an RBI single and, after a walk to Evan Harden, Mike Austin smacked a two-run single.

Fort Hill's Jordan Rowe came on in relief with the bases loaded and no one out in the Southern second. The Rams tied the game on an infield error, before Rowe got a groundout, strikeout, and a pop-fly out to close the inning. He fired six shutout innings in all, allowing one hit, and striking out five Rams. He walked no batters.

Southern (0-2) is scheduled to play Frankfort on Friday.

46, we are not all 20-somethings who have grown up with the technology at our fingertips. However, I must say that the majority of our folks are willing to learn, and are quite able. It's just that the constant barrage of changes occasionally makes us all want to go home and crawl back into bed.

That's almost how John and I felt when we entered the America East Expo – an enormous ballroom with so many vendors of so many new technologies. We were instantly overwhelmed, being invited to everyone's display table by smiling sales folks, handed a gazillion pens and even more Hershey Kisses to stuff in our goody bags, and receiving more requests for our business cards than ever in our lives. (And on that topic, one printer looked at my embossed card and said, "Wow, this is one of the nicest looking cards I've seen here." Woo! Go, Sincell Publishing!)

We saw stuff that was truly mind-boggling. Every kind of online-savvy company we could imagine, new inserting and tying machines that require very little human assistance, the latest in printing technology that is "greener," (although that term was eshewed quite a bit for some solid reasons – see below), and even a publisher selling his program that prints individualized papers for each subscriber. Don't like sports? No problem. None in your issue. Hate the arts? Fine. We'll remove that pesky section from your paper... Each paper tailored for each customer. Crazy, man.

As we wandered around the expo, trying to absorb and understand as much as possible, I could not help recollecting the experience of my great-grandfather, B.H. Sincell, who traveled in 1893 to the Chicago World Exposition. The second editor of this newspaper, he was awed by the newest printing technology there, too – a linotype. This was a machine equipped with a melting pot in which bars of solid lead were lowered by chain, and as the operator typed on a keyboard (which was different from a typewriter "qwerty" board), those keys would make the various cogs turn and pour the molten led into the shape of letters and words, which would come out in lines of type on a tray to the left of the operator. It was a fascinating machine, and 24-year-old B.H., who was at the time hand-setting each letter of type for the entire paper each week, knew he would have to have one eventually. And after years of saving money, he reached that goal. Funny how we continue to look ahead that way. John and I saw a plate-maker that outpaces our equipment hands-down. We hope to obtain that piece of machinery, too... after we raise the money.

As for green technology, we were enlightened a little on that front as well. John attended a seminar in which the speaker expounded on the idea of what is "green" and what isn't. He stressed that while it might be easy to claim that a total online newspaper is more "green," this is simply not the case. In order to have something online, and in order to access it, there is a great necessity for energy. Something has to power those computers and servers. Chiefly that energy comes from oil and gas, with a tiny amount from wind or solar. Meanwhile, our newspaper, as millions of others, is printed on recycled paper, with biodegradable soy ink. Our product is made with a renewable resource, already recycled. And our product can be further recycled as well. So if you have felt guilt over purchasing a paper thinking you have destroyed a tree, do also take into consideration that if you view your news totally online, you are using up non-renewable resources in the process. Something to consider.

Finally, a great deal of conversation was centered on today's social media. Facebook, Twitter, Groupon, Hootsuite, RSS feeds, blogging, posting – it's all the rage, internationally. The news world once simply told the consumer the news. Now the consumer expects and wishes to reply to it; to comment and debate and ask more questions. The face of the industry has most definitely changed, morphing into a more social entity. We at The Republican do have a Facebook presence, and will soon join Twitter as well. We are testing the waters to see what works for us, and for you, our readers. If you "like" us on Facebook (our name is Sincell Publishing/The Republican Newspaper), you will see at least weekly updates, and you are invited to join in on discussions, found on the "discussion" tab on our FB site. We will engage with you, if you wish. The convention leaders stressed the importance of that, although, as with every other topic, there were differing opinions about what is the best course of action. Funny how in one seminar, the woman pointed her finger at us and said, "You must join Facebook!" and then at the expo, a man at one of the display tables said, "Don't fall for Facebook!" Ah, everyone has an opinion, especially us news folk.

The use of the word "social" was interesting. Two things about that. One: The majority of people attending this huge multi-state press association event were men. I'll bet attendance was 80% men and 20% women. I thought that was odd, especially considering our leadership here at Sincell Pub. Our managers of advertising, circulation, billing, and our commercial shop are all women. I'm one, too, and I co-manage the entire staff. So it was a surprise to me to see mostly men there, and it did set up a sort of uneven social situation. And again, "social" – the older men, probably those over, say, 45 – gathered in the hotel bar in the evening, talking and joking with each other. The younger set, though, sat farther away, alone, but typing away furiously on their iPads and laptops. They were being social, too, but not to anyone's face. Only to their keyboards and screens. That was both fascinating and daunting to me. Face-to-face socializing seems to be diminishing, with the draw of the Internet pulling people in. Social skills are already lacking among the younger set, and I think that's a sad thing. But that is fodder for another column someday.

So, we were indeed enlightened, and talked all the way home about the state of our industry, and felt a tiny bit sick – although I think that was just all the chocolate. To our readers, I can tell you the following "things to come" from our company. We hope that within the year or perhaps a tad longer we will be able to offer the entire paper online for a subscription price, and make it available for iPads, Nooks, Kindles, and the like. The smaller version, which we offer now for about a penny a week, will be offered as well, but perhaps pared down a bit. As noted, we are online via Facebook, and will expand our "social media" presence, perhaps through blogs and/or inviting comments on articles, and through Twitter. We will most certainly continue to print our own paper, as another assertion made at the conference was that print is still very much in demand, despite the Internet. (One publisher of a large York, Pa., paper kept saying that his company's print version was its "bell cow." I was furiously looking that up on my iPod Touch while he talked because I had never heard that expression before, and was later relieved to find out that most of my co-workers hadn't, either... I suspect any farmer can tell me it's just the cow with the bell – the leader, the important one. Got it.)

To conclude, finally, please just know that we are definitely working to keep up, and we are paying attention. To make big changes in procedures and programs is complicated for us, since we are constantly under a deadline, basically every day, and it is easier to do what we know. But we are writhing and contorting, and howling a bit, to remain in place as your community news source, to carry on the legacy of the Sincell Publishing Company, and, most importantly, to continue to celebrate this wonderful, vital county and surrounding areas. Thank you for reading, and for looking forward to our paper each week. It has been a long and pleasant relationship that we hope to maintain for many years to come.

DNR Implements Changes To Spring Turkey Season

Maryland's statewide spring turkey season will begin Saturday, April 16, with the one-day Junior Turkey Hunt. The regular season will open Monday, April 18, and continue through Monday, May 23.

Hunters should note that several regulations have changed for the upcoming season. For the Junior Turkey Hunt and the last two weeks of the regular season, hunting hours have been extended.

"This year, spring turkey hunting hours have been extended to provide more opportunity while minimizing any negative effects from additional hunting pressure," said Bob Long, DNR wild turkey biologist.

"Our school-aged hunters will particularly benefit from this change as they will now have the ability to pursue turkey after school."

On Saturday, April 16, and May 10 through 23, hunting will begin a half-hour before sunrise and end at sunset.

On Sunday, May 1, turkey hunting will be permitted on private and public lands in Allegany and Garrett counties. Turkey hunting on all other Sundays and in all other counties is still prohibited.

Shot size restrictions for turkey hunting have been changed to allow shotgun loads containing any shot sizes that are #4 or smaller.

The DNR encourages adults to take young hunters out for the Junior Turkey Hunt. This one-day hunt allows licensed hunters aged 16 or younger to hunt wild turkey when accompanied by an unarmed, licensed adult of at least 21 years of age.

The DNR reminds hunters to be sure to positively identify his/her target as a bearded turkey and to remove the colors of a gobbler's head (red, white, and blue) from their clothing.

Hunters are also encouraged to wear a fluorescent orange cap while moving and to tie an orange ribbon around a nearby tree while calling.

Complete regulations, turkey check-in procedures, and information on public land hunting opportunities may be found at http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide or in the 2010-2011 Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping, issued with each hunting license.

JUNIOR GIRL SCOUTS EARN BRONZE AWARD – Junior Girl Scouts from Crellin Girl Scout Troop #55005 recently earned the Bronze Award, the highest honor a Junior Girl Scout can earn. To earn the designation, the girls chose to build three "salad tables," which are shallow wooden framed tables with mesh bottoms developed by the University of Maryland Extension to be used as portable container gardens. The tables were then donated to Crellin Elementary School so that the students could grow and eat their own salad vegetables during the school year. Through this process, the Girl Scouts and Crellin students learned about healthful eating habits, saving money, and how to grow food in small spaces. Pictured with their finished tables, from left, are Heather Frick, Nichole Snyder, Angel Michaels, Bobby Jo Baker, Georgi Powers, Alexis Spiker, and Jaden Reese. GED Advising Sessions Slated At Oakland Ctr.

Students who wish to test in June at Garrett College for their Maryland high school diploma are invited to attend a free assessment at the Southern Outreach Center in Oakland.

Advising sessions to help determine the need for adult basic education classes prior to taking the GED test will be held at the center on Mondays, April 4, 11, 18, and 25, at 12:30 p.m.

"Our Adult Education Program can help people prepare for the GED test and also increase job skills," said Patricia Baer, coordinator of the Southern Outreach Center. "Some people take the classes to brush up on reading and math skill so they can help their kids with homework."

Adult basic education classes are free to all students and include books and materials. Students are given individual instruction at their own pace, and classes are offered at a variety of locations and times.

Students who earn their high school diploma by taking the state exam also qualify for the Garrett County Scholarship Program.

Those interested in these advising and assessment sessions may call 301-334-8304.

Garrett College Slates AutoCAD Classes At CTTC

Two levels of AutoCAD courses will be offered this spring by Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development at the Career Technology Training Center (CTTC) in Accident. The first course, "An Introduction to AutoCAD," will run from 6 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, April 5 – April 21.

In this six-session course participants will develop the skills in Computer Aided Design (CAD) to produce professional 2D drawing, design, and drafting projects. Students will learn basic AutoCAD commands and how to navigate the user interface.

Topics will include menus, drawing tools, basic blocks, symbols, dimensioning, and basic text commands. Previous computer experience is required.

The second course, "Intermediate AutoCAD," will run from 6 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. on Tuesdays, April 26 – May 31, at the CTTC. Building on the introductory skills, this course will also include drawing format advanced techniques and the use of paper space and model space.

Skills developed will lead to a final project such as designing a shed or a deck.

For additional information to register, persons may call 301-387-3069.

Deputies Charge Two Drivers With DUI, DWI

Two men were arrested this past week by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drinking and driving charges. The following incidents are unrelated.

A deputy stopped a vehicle driven by Bruce Allen Liller, 36, Mtn. Lake Park, last Wednesday evening because the deputy knew that Liller was driving on a suspended license. A juvenile passenger was also in the vehicle. Liller was charged with driving on a suspended license, as well as driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while impaired, DUI while transporting a minor, and DWI while transporting a minor. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

In a separate incident, deputies stopped a vehicle on Mayhew Inn Road for numerous traffic violations on Sunday. Investigation led to the arrest of Ronald Lee DeWitt, Baltimore, who was charged with DUI, DWI, and failure to drive right of center. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Democrat Club Plans Regular Monthly Meeting

The Garrett County Democratic Club has scheduled its regular monthly meeting for Thursday, April 7, at 7 p.m. The meeting will take place in Room 204 of the Garrett College Continuing Education Building located on Mosser Road in McHenry.

The meeting is open to the public. The group plans to discuss an update on the progress of the upcoming Jefferson-Jackson Dinner with Attorney General Doug Gansler as keynote speaker, fundraising, and important issues affecting the county.

Those interested may contact Rosalie Finch at 301-334-4076 or Zelma Neary at 301-334-4643.

"Wills & Probates" Class To Be Held At Outreach Ctr.

A class titled "Understanding Wills & Probates" will be offered by Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at the Southern Outreach Center in Oakland.

The session will be held on Wednesday, May 11, 6–9 p.m. Garrett County's register of wills, Rita Watson, will instruct this class, which will cover topics including the definition and purpose of a will, how to draft a will, and how to choose an executor.

Anyone seeking additional information or wishing to register may contact Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 or 301-387-3781.

Children Invited To Choose Their Own Adventures

The Oakland library invites children ages 5 through 10 to celebrate National Library Week with a "Choose Your Own Adventure" story obstacle course on Thursday, April 14, from 4 to 5 p.m.

The event is based on the Choose Your Own Adventure book series, in which the reader assumes the role of the main character and makes choices that determine the outcome of the story.

"Will you jump through the ring of fire to escape the lions or write a coded message to your secret partner?" Asks Keela Pfaff, children's specialist. "Will you cross the rope bridge and risk falling into the canyon below or to run the tower? The choice is yours."

After the story obstacle course, participants will be given a blank journal and access to art supplies so that they can write and/or draw their own stories – an activity that celebrates the National Library Week theme of "Create Your Own Story @ Your Library."

All participants will be entered into a drawing to win one of three boxed sets of Create Your Own Adventure books. Also, every child attending will receive a free chapter book.

Because space is limited, registration is required. Interested parents are asked to contact Pfaff at 301-334-3996, ext. 115, or keela@relib.net.

A listing of events and services at the Ruth Enlow Library is available at relib.net.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

THE EQUINOX
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. The daytime and the nighttime are supposed to be the same length of time on the equinox, March 21. But the day when sunrise and sunset are exactly 12 hours apart is March 17, not March 21. Why don't the times match up on the right day?

A. The explanation for the discrepancy has to do with the Earth's atmosphere and the finite diameter of the sun as seen from the Earth. Sunrise is defined as the moment when the first rays from the very top of the rising sun hit where you're standing, and sunset is the moment when the last rays of the setting sun are seen.

On any day of the year, the top of the sun becomes visible slightly before the center of the sun in the morning, and the last edge of the setting sun is still visible after the center of the sun has gone below the horizon. If the sun were just a single pinpoint of light (as from a faraway star) then you might expect March 21 to be the day having exactly12 hours between sunrise and sunset.

However, there is another contributing factor: As the rays from the sun traverse the Earth's atmosphere at a steep angle (at dawn or dusk), they are refracted (that is, bent) as they travel along. Refraction is easily demonstrated when you stick a pencil into a glass of water, and it looks like there is a sharp bend right at the surface of the water. The index of refraction of water is 1.33, which makes the speed of light in water about 3/4 of its value in air. The speed of light in anything is slower than in a vacuum, and even air has a slower speed of light than the vacuum of outer space. The index of refraction of air is 1.0003, so air will bend light waves a little bit. The effect is so small that it's only noticeable when rays of sunlight travel along a path containing a lot of air, which is exactly the case at sunrise and sunset.

At sunrise each day, the rays from the sun enter the atmosphere at a steep angle, are refracted and bent slightly toward the Earth, reaching the surface earlier. When you first see sunlight you call that "sunrise." That happens a couple of minutes earlier than a straight-line drawing would indicate because of the gentle bend in the path. Late in the day, similar refraction enables you to see rays for a couple of additional minutes.

It's easy to calculate that, as the Earth rotates, an angular change of only one degree corresponds to four minutes of time. A slight bend in the path of light rays can add five minutes to either end of the day.

After the autumn equinox in September, the day that's exactly 12 hours long is about September 25, again because of refraction and the finite size of the sun.

Dr. Sheahen lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS
by Laura Smith, reporter

The Trailblazers 4-H Club met for its recent meetings at Kiddie Korner. Jorden Sines read thank-you cards and collected all re-enrollment forms and record books. Members were reminded of the 4-H Ski Day and officer training at Southern Middle School. The club planned the 2011 year and set a Spirit Day at DQ for April 11 from 5 to 8 p.m.

Achievement Night will be held at Northern High School on April 2 at 6:30 p.m.

The spring weigh-in and District Show will be on June 10 and 11, and 4-H Camp is set for July 25 to 29.

Members also gave their speeches.

On March 15, club members met at the Extension Office.

The rabbit workshop is planned for May 21 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, and the goat show is set for May 21 at Allegany County Fairgrounds.

The next meeting will be at Kiddie Korner on April 19 at 6:30 p.m., and will include demonstrations.

Two-Part Wills, Probate Course Slated In G'ville

Garrett College will offer a course titled "Ten Most Often Asked Questions About Wills and Probate" on Mondays, April 18 and 25, at the Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

"An estate plan provides the legal mechanism for disposing of property upon death in a way that recognizes your wishes and the needs of your survivors, while minimizing taxes," said a spokesperson. "For many, it can means planning for the handling of affairs in case of disability, and the personal medical choices to be made as life nears its end."

This two-part course will address the common questions regarding wills and trusts. Part one will center on wills and probate.

The class will focus on such questions as: What is a will and what does it do? What does it take to draft a will? How do I choose an executor, and what percentage of my assets do they take as a commission? What is the probate process and is it necessary for my estate?

Rita Watson, register of wills for Garrett County, will instruct this class.

Part two will focus on trusts. Included in the discussion will be trust basics with a definition of terms and its variations. Some other topics will include comparing living trusts, testamentary trusts and wills, disposition of property outside of probate, some related tax issues, and specialized trusts and estate planning tools.

This portion of the course will be instructed by Kim Conroy of Susquehanna Bank.

For additional information, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center director, at 301-895-4700 or via terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for this course, one may call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

A neglected house in need of paint looks tired and worn. Regular maintenance can keep it from getting to that point where the gleam has dulled and decay has set in. A fresh coat of paint is like a second chance; just a touch-up and things look bright and shiny again. Our spiritual lives can fade, too. We need regular nourishment and preservation to keep ourselves from feeling spiritually neglected. Get a "touch-up" for your spirit at your local house of worship and you will shine brightly.

Ask for Favors

Many of us are reluctant to make requests or ask favors of others, but good leaders are seldom shy about making requests of others. Good leaders are almost continually delegating, requesting, and otherwise asking others for help. We simply cannot do it all by ourselves, and so we should stop trying to go it alone and ask for help. The surprise for many of us is that most people actually appreciate being asked for help. It lets them know that we respect them and value them enough to ask for their assistance. Think about your short, medium, and long-term goals and how others might help you reach them. Then enlist their help and support, and don't forget the most significant source of assistance, namely God. It might be a bit presumptuous to think of delegating tasks to God, but humbly asking for His assistance is always appropriate.

And I tell you, ask,and it will be given to you;seek, and you will find;knock, and it will beopened to you.

R.S.V. Luke 11:9

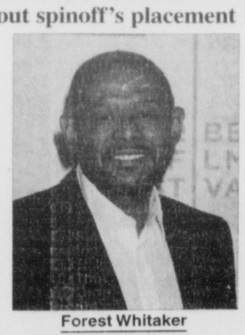
Nothing 'Criminal' about spinoff's placement

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Forest Whitaker

Q: I have seen the new "Criminal Minds: Suspect Behavior," and I wonder if the real "Criminal Minds" is coming back. –Kathi Nelson, Ann Arbor, Mich.

A: Well, the "real" – or original – show hasn't gone anywhere. It still runs right before the new spinoff series Wednesdays on CBS, and since the second drama usually starts immediately after the first one ends, we're a bit surprised you haven't seen that the parent show is still there. The network's idea was to put the Forest Whitaker-starring spinoff show right after the original, as it had done to great success with "NCIS" and "NCIS: Los Angeles."

Q: I have noticed that Thomas Gibson's name is now listed in the credits of "Criminal Minds" last as " ... and Thomas Gibson." He used to be the second lead, then when Joe Mantegna came in, there seemed to be a change in the credits. Why? –Jakki Kantor, Greenacres, Fla.

A: Speaking of the original show, Gibson got that positioning as an acknowledgment of his stature on the series when Mantegna acquired first position upon his arrival. Gibson's coming last might make it seem differently, but the " ... and" billing is meant to give him special, added attention as a regular cast member.

Q: What happened to the game show "Million Dollar Money Drop"? It was on for a short time, then gone. –Ellen Kutscher, Lynnwood, Wash.

A: Fox was scheduled to air the Kevin Pollak-hosted show only briefly, at least initially. At this writing, it hadn't been renewed officially, but the ratings and attention it generated make a renewal seem likely.

Q: What happened to "FlashForward"? Please don't tell me it was canceled. –Barbara Romano, Bohemia, N.Y.

A: It was, about a year ago. Shortly after what turned out to be its only season ended in May, ABC announced that the series wouldn't be back. All of the existing episodes are available in a DVD set.

Q: I was a big fan of "The Gates" on ABC. Can you tell me if it will be returning anytime soon? –Darlene Jakielski, Bothell, Wash.

A: We can tell you that it won't be returning anytime at all. ABC canceled the supernatural-flavored drama shortly after the finale of what turned out to be its lone season last year.
